

Subject Line: Getting Your Website To “Gain” More Sales

Salut, GAINZ

Firstly, I want to acknowledge that your website is pretty well built compared to other small businesses in the supplement industry.

However, I have a few suggestions that could potentially enhance your website and drive even more sales.

An important one of those suggestions is improving your homepage.

The problem with it is that it lacks compelling words that truly captivate readers and drive them to purchase your supplements.

This is a big problem since this is the first thing a customer sees when they visit your website, making it basically your whole reputation.

If your homepage uses good words that build authority and trust with the reader, they'll likely purchase your products and tell their close ones about you, leading to massive sales.

As a strategic partner in this market, I would be glad to rewrite your entire website using proven to-work skills that I've analyzed from top players in the market like Muscletech and Myprotein.

Writing good words not only increases trust and authority but also increases engagement and takes revenue to NEW HEIGHTS.

Here's an example of my work:

I would be happy to schedule a call whenever both of us aren't busy, to discuss how we can work together to take GAINZ to another level.

Best regards,
