

As York made his way over to Mrs. Carpenter's, he realized it wasn't the right time to set up the gatorman, she needed to be inside the house for it to be effective. Realizing this, he made his way into the hotel to get and get his shower fixed. He talked to the concierge who suggested a specialist could fix it next week, but he did remember something about valve on the third floor. When York gave it a spin, it didn't fix our non-functional shower, and the concierge suggested that York talk to the bellboy for another suggestion. Realizing David changes between his occupations depending on the time of day, York headed outside by Mrs. Carpenter's house to smoke to kill some time. As he was deep into a smoke, York was stopped by Patti saying she was going home. York, being thrifty, decided to salvage items off the nearby ground and to go squirrel hunting for the next hour and a half to save himself from burning through his cigarettes. When it was the right time, York placed the gatorman and was interrupted by Tyrone Sanders, the pastor in town and the resident across the street from Mrs. Carpenter. Tyrone makes it clear he doesn't approve of Mrs. Carpenter's lifestyle, and he seems to keep a close eye on her. After talking to Tyrone, York decided to check out the nightlife in Le Carré and visited the bar, the Owl's Nest (after killing more of the local wildlife).

When York entered the Owl's Nest, he was greeted by the barkeeper, a man named Xavier who was wearing a cowboy hat, cowboy boots, and his briefs. Xavier quickly catches on that we are looking for information on Lise, and he reveals that girl he loves was Lise's best friend. Xavier makes it clear he is going to wait until he knows York better before he reveals more about himself. York learns that the bar has a unique drink for every night of the week, and that the bar is owned by a woman called Professor R, but Xavier runs it. With some liquor in him, York swerved his way back to the hotel and shot some gators along the way.

In the morning, York talked to the bellboy and learned of the water valve on the second floor. Upon turning it there was no change in his shower, so he planned to talk to the chef later to see if he knew anything about the last time this happened. With that business taken care of, York made his way over the Alexis's Diner & Lane to try and "fell ten maidens". Luckily, the trap with Mrs. Carpenter worked, unluckily York is a bad bowler, so it took him a while to finally get a strike. Upon getting a strike, Mrs. Carpenter made it in and told York that Lise was becoming a bit of a druggie and getting into a drug that sounds suspiciously like Saint Rouge, and she suggests it was Galena's bad influence that led to her to drug use.

As York made his way out of the restaurant, he received another "oracle" from Houngan. "When the sun awakens, catch the tip of the baby bear's tail at the false altar, and the entrance to the otherworld will reveal itself to you. York quickly deciphered that the false altar is where Lise Clarkson's body was discovered, under the bridge on the north side of town, and he needed to be there in the morning and looking North. As York left the building, he got a radio message from Melvin and he overheard that Galena had been missing since that morning.

York decided to take on some odd jobs to get some cash from shooting down UFOs to punching out 30 swarms of killer bees to pass the time. While doing these odd jobs, York was approached by Raven Yahoo, a woman starting up her own cab/lyft service who suggests York use it to get around town since he only has a skateboard. While passing the time, York also talked to the chef and after turning the water valve on the first floor he got the shower to work correctly in his room. While hunting down the killer bees, York met an odd man in the graveyard, Lewis the Gravekeeper who greeted him with beeping noises. Lewis suggested York search for the Fleur-De-Lises in town and gave York a photo album with some of the places they had been in the past. York ended the night by getting the drink of the day in the bar, and heading back to the hotel.
