Please point out any inaccuracies in this chart. I will probably have some.

For the Dead category, check second post of the mission thread for the Mortuary.

That from this what you will, but if everyone in HMRC is stasised at this very moment, the idea that very few people survive HMRC suddenly makes a lot more sense. I know that those numbers are because people did not have time yet to complete the missions, but still. I have to say I was a little taken aback to find out that our super-heroes Jim and Milno completed less than half the missions! Wow, there's a lot of time still for you to die guys, he he he.
