Discovery Challenge Academy			The Academy is a free 22-week residential, quasi-military style residential program that gives high school students (age 16-18), who are behind in credits, the chance to catch up and return to school or earn up to 65 high school credits that will enable them to earn their GED. In addition to academics, the Academy offers workshops and activities that develop life skills that build character, instill responsible behavior, promote career readiness and enhance health and physical fitness. These personal growth opportunities improve self-esteem and confidence. There are two sessions each year that begin in January and July. Eligible students must attend an orientation and complete a questionnaire before they are invited to complete a full application. After applications are reviewed and approved, prospective Cadets will be invited to interview for a spot in the program. This is a voluntary program, and Cadets must have the desire to enroll and complete the program. Click here to learn more. Classes are available in Spanish!
