INTRODUCTION (Capital, 12 pts, bold)

A strong introduction engages the reader in the problem of interest and provides a context for the study at hand. In introducing the research concern, the writer should provide a clear rationale for why the problem deserves new research, placing the study in the context of current knowledge and prior theoretical and empirical work on the topic. Moreover, the novelty of the research should be explained in the paragraph (Times New Roman, 12 pts, single space, justify alignment.)

METHOD (Capital, 12 pts, bold)

In both quantitative and qualitative research, the use of appropriate methods of participants sampling, study design, measures, and statistical analysis critically influences the study's methodological soundness. A good methodology should be clean and clear. Clean means the use of appropriate, valid, and unflawed methods of sampling and use of instruments, procedures, and analysis. Clear means the ideal method is written in a clear manner, such that another researcher could duplicate the study (Times New Roman, 12 pts, single space, justify alignment).

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION (Capital, 12 pts, bold)

The results section should include a summary of the collected data and analyses, which follows from the analytic plan. All results should be described, including unexpected findings. Authors should include both descriptive statistics and test of significance. (Times New Roman, 12 pts, single space, justify alignment).
