

Imagine This Women's Film Festival 7th Edition Announces Award Winners

The Justice of Bunny King wins Best International Film and Essie Davis wins Best Actress

In Her Name wins Best Feature Film and Philip wins Best Actor

New York, NY (Oct 3, 2022) – The 7th Annual Imagine This Women's Film Festival, presented 136 films and 17 screenplays from 26 countries in a hybrid form with screenings in person at the Regal Essex Crossing and online, wrapped up Sunday, October 2, and has announced the winners of the festival's awards.

"We were excited to introduce Imagine This Women's Film Festival to a whole new audience who might not have had the opportunity to enjoy some of the boldest and thought-provoking films and stories made by women and non-binary filmmakers and storytellers while we continue with our mission to amplify and empower independent and aspiring filmmakers from around the world, especially during these of times," said Patrice Francois, Founder, and Festival Director.

Prizes were sponsored by: Final Draft, International Screenwriters' Association - ISA, Florida Studio

And the winners are:

Best Narrative Feature

In Her Name directed by Sarah Carter

Best Documentary Feature

At Your Cervix directed by A'magine

Best Short Film

Dorlis directed by Enricka MH

Best Documentary Short

54 Miles To Home directed by Claire Haughey

Best International Narrative Feature

The Justice Of Bunny King directed by Gaysorn Thavat

Best International Documentary

Marianne directed by Valentina Canavesio

Best International Short

Twa Fèy directed by Eléonore Coyette

Best International Documentary Short directed

Taste Of Refuge by Felisha Pederse

Best Director

Meagan Noel Fulps

Best Horror Short

Pinged directed by Aahana Ardey

Best Comedy

Anaconda directed by Chelsea Gonzalez

Best Romance

First Date directed by Carly Usdin

Best Drama

Housemaid #2 directed by Roxanne Stam

Best Thriller

God's Gift directed by Jasmine Siddall

Best Sci-Fi

Hummingbird directed by Lindsey E. Gary

Best Animated Short

Dear Diary directed by Yulong Jones

Best Web Series

How To Hack Birth Control directed by Sassy Mohen

Best Music Video

Jeete Raho Music Video directed by Kathleen Sheehan

Best AD directed by Giulia Achenza

The Mirror

Best Experimental

Meshes Of The After directed by Meg Case, Brad Porter

Best Cinematography

The Window directed by Sarah Kaskas

Best Emerging Storyteller

Alaa Zabara

Best Student Storyteller

Shira Sznaider

Best New York Film

Me and You

Best Actress

Essie Davis

Best Actor

Philippe Caland

Audience Award

Anaconda

Best Screenplay

Amy And Angel

Best Short Screenplay

For Laughs

Best TV Pilot

Kill The Lax Bro

HONORABLE MENTIONS

Honorable Mention: Lilian

Honorable Mention: Birds, Bees, and Threes

Honorable Mention: Exceptional Talent

Honorable Mention: Rearranging Skin: A Love Letter to the World

Honorable Mention: Hound of Love

Honorable Mention: Ages of Men

Honorable Mention: SPIT

Honorable Mention: Dawn

Honorable Mention: Our Story

Honorable Mention: MATKA / POLKA

###

About Brooklyn Imagine This Women's Film Festival (ITWIFF):

Imagine This Women's Film Festival is dedicated to providing women and non-binary storytellers and filmmakers with a platform to encourage and develop creative projects. With Imagine This Women's International Film Festival and Girl Power Film + Media Summit, Imagine This aims to amplify and empower independent and aspiring filmmakers from around the world. The goal of Imagine This is to support women by sharing their work with the public, promoting equal opportunities for BIPOC womxn and the LGBTQIA+ community, providing educational support and professional development, and serving as a resource information network.

For ITWIFF press inquiries contact: Tiffany Barnett, ITWIFF PR coordinator, press@imaginethisprods.com.

For more info about the festival and the 2022 winners please visit here.