Dear Diary,

Today is my brother's graduation ceremony. I am glad that he finally graduated from school.

To begin with, the Principal, who is a nice man, stood on the stage and gave a speech to encourage the graduates.

Next, the principal gave the students who graduated from school some graduation certificates on the stage. Since this was my brother's first time standing on the stage and facing the audience, he felt very nervous and scared. Luckily, he did not fall down from the stage.

After the graduates had collected their graduation certificates, they sang the graduation song together. While singing, most of them felt so touched that they cried.

When the song was finished by them, everyone sitting under the stage clapped for them. In my opinion, the show was not only very fantastic, but also very touching . Finally, my brother and the other students were very joyful while they were taking photos with each other and their dearest teachers.

I had a wonderful time joining my brother's graduation ceremony. I felt satisfied and touched. So, I will never forget it.
