

Four Week Terms Amendment

Preamble

Whereas: The current term length of two weeks does not give elected officials enough time to effectively serve the public.

Whereas: Three week terms result in unequal gaps between presidential and senatorial elections.

The following amendment is hereby proposed.

Article 1: Amending Term Lengths

§1. Article 2 §3 shall be amended to say: “§3. The Senate shall be elected in its entirety every four (4) weeks.”

§2. Article 4 §2 shall be amended to say: “§2. Presidential elections shall be available for twenty four (24) hours, occur every four (4) weeks, and be held by the Secretary of Elections.”

§3. Article 12 §5 shall be amended to say: “§5. The members of the Economic Council shall serve four (4) week terms, two (2) days before each budgetary cycle.”
