Recordings & Blogs for January-March 2023 activities

- Anti-oppressive Pedagogies in Online Learning, María Miguéliz Valcarlos. In this webinar, Maria talked about a paper she co-authored titled 'Anti-oppressive pedagogies in online learning: a critical review'. She discussed what it means to draw on critical pedagogies. Drawing on several works around anti-oppressive environment, Maria established that a good place to start is to allow opportunities for critical dialogues that promotes social awareness and to find ways to redress the power imbalance between the educator and student (March 9, 2023) - Read the Blog
- Creating visibility for POC LTs in junior roles, Dr Teeroumanee Nadan. This meeting was centred around discussing ways to address the disparity in the progression opportunities for POC staff in junior roles. Issues discussed include the lack of representation of POC at senior levels and the reticence of White allyship who can provide the right sponsorship for junior POC staff. It was agreed that sponsoring junior staff to increase their visibility within and outside their institution was a step in the right direction. (February 23, 2023) - Read the Blog
