

Page Contribution

For this page, there are two parts. Scroll down to view part 2. Both parts are due Wednesday, 7/10 by 11:59pm.

Remember for Grade Goals, you must pass the following number of Page Contributions: This story is about a woman, who was young and naive when she met a man, that becomes her abuser. He made her involved in drug dilling business with him. And when he got caught, he could plea a deal, so she wouldn't go to jail, but he didn't.

- 4 out of 5 for an "A"
- 3 out of 5 for a "B"
- 2 out of 5 for a "C"

Part 1: Humans of New York: Inmates Stories

1. Choose the most noteworthy inmate story on the Humans of New York: Inmates page. Then, summarize the story in 2-4 sentences. Add your summary to the first column.
2. In the second column, in 3-4 sentences, explain how your chosen story connects to our novel The Other Wes Moore.
3. In the last column, add you name to receive credit.

Summary of Chosen Inmate Story	Connection to TOWM	Name

Part 2: Connecting Alexander's "The New Jim Crow" to TOWM

1. In the first column, write a paragraph in which you connect an idea from Alexander's "The New Jim Crow" to The Other Wes Moore. Include at least one quote from each text to make your connection. Be sure to explain how the two ideas relate.
2. In the right column, add your name to receive credit.

Connection	Name
-------------------	-------------

