Ground forces combat dropping onto Xi Geminorum A-II. Estimated hostile ground forces strength at 1080.

After securing the System, salvage ships are dispatched to clean up the wrecks littering the system for valuable materials and technology.

[Over the next year, the ground forces of the Terran Federation wage a prolonged battle against the ground forces of Xi Geminorum #141. During that time the shipyards of Xi Geminorum A-II have attempted to produce military ships in order to engage friendly forces holding orbit of A-II. Unfortunately they were successful in managing to launch orbital bombardment missiles against friendly troops on the surface before being blasted to atoms by the powerful laser cannons of the Kodiak Class Battleships.]

The last ground forces Xi Geminorum #141 have been defeated.

The army now turns its sights on the second race in the Xi Geminorum system. A group of aliens called "Space Dick's" by members of the armed forces. They were the first race to openly attack the TFS fleet while passing through peacefully.

After Action Thoughts:

The difference in speed of the Archer and Spear missiles allowed the enemy point defense to tackle each split wave of missiles. New York class will likely see an upgrade to S8 missiles.

S3 Dart Mk 3 missiles underperformed against engaging enemy commercial shipping. Will likely see revisions in throw weight or missile size, and warhead MSP.

Super Falcons performed well in Anti-Fighter/Anti-FAC ops. Will look into increasing range of their Sidewinder missiles.

Raptor's lasers performed averagely. Will look into upgrading calibre.

Marines performed well. Additional boarding craft and marines will be added to fleet mix. A number of vessels had to be destroyed due to lack of boarding parties.

It also helps not to fuck up your minimum increments and eat 1000+ missiles to the face.
