Your name: Tyler Gray

Hyperlink to the draft under review

https://docs.google.com/document/d/1U82oPCgdl9 EQ-2eudJsO5DyrVaMyMx4 L BNcKLoLH4/edit

Audience
How effectively do you feel this draft convinces the reader to agree with the argument being made, on a scale of 1 to 10? Try to keep in mind the kind of reader the argument seems to be targeting.
13-	67	910
Totally	Moderately	Extremely
ineffective	effective	effective
the draft to justify the grade for Deadline 1 the writer needs to w	igher than 5 and you cannot cite at least TH at score, I'm going to deduct one point from 2. If you give a score lower than 5 and can ork on for this category, I'll award you an error Deadline 12. If your overall peer review g	n YOUR peer review cite TWO specific things xtra point towards YOUR exceeds 20, I'll apply the additional points towards recent missing and/or low-rated blog posts. I reserve the right not to award points for under-explained or banal feedback.

Your rating for audience: 5

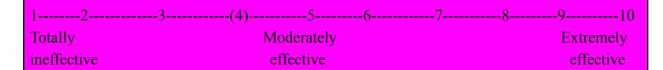

Please explain the reason for your score in at least 3 to 5 clear sentences. Cite specific details from the rough draft to explain your score: I think that you show pretty clear understanding of your audience, as evidenced by your more personal tone, especially in the opening sentence and introduction. However it feels like a shallow acknowledgement later on. I think that you could take them further into consideration in the body paragraphs which felt lacking at times.

Purpose
What kind of public argument do you think this is? Check one (and only one) of the argument types below:
X This argument establishes an original pro position on an issue of debate.
This argument establishes an original con position on an issue of debate.
This argument clarifies the causes for a problem that is being debated.
This argument proposes a solution for a problem that is being debated.
This argument positively evaluates a specific solution or policy under debate (and clearly identifies the idea I'm supporting).
This argument openly refutes a specific solution or policy under debate (and clearly identifies the idea I'm refuting).
How effectively do you feel this draft achieves the purpose for the argument type you identified above, on a scale of 1 to 10? Refer back to the type descriptions in the instructions for Blog Post 10.7 if needed.
128910
Totally Moderately Extremely
ineffective effective effective
If you give a score higher than 5 and you cannot cite at least THREE specific details from the draft to justify that score, I'm going to deduct one point from YOUR peer review grade for Deadline 12. If you give a score lower than 5 and can cite TWO specific things the writer needs to work on for this category, I'll award you an extra point towards YOUR peer review grade for Deadline 12. If your overall peer review grade for this assignment exceeds 20, I'll apply the additional points towards recent missing and/or low-rated blog posts. I reserve the right not to award points for under-explained or banal feedback. Your rating for purpose:5_ Please explain the reason for your score in at least 3 to 5 clear sentences. Cite specific details from the rough draft to explain your score: I think that you establish your points very well with the headings. But there is some room to expand within these, and the implications of your argument should probably be more central. For example I thought that the ambien example was a good way to show this.

Argumentation

Refresh your memory about the three different kinds of rhetorical strategies we read about for Project 2: Emotional appeals, Ethical or credibility-building appeals, and Logical or rational appeals.

How effectively do you feel this draft uses rhetoric to make its argument? This might mean balancing different kinds of appeals, doubling down on one category or something else. There's lots and lots of different ways authors can use these strategies... So, what do you think of how this draft made use of these three categories of appeals, on a scale of 1 to 10?

If you give a score higher than 5 and you cannot cite at least THREE specific details from the draft to justify that score, I'm going to deduct one point from YOUR peer review grade for Deadline 12. If you give a score lower than 5 and can cite TWO specific things the writer needs to work on for this category, I'll award you an extra point towards YOUR peer review grade for Deadline 12. If your overall peer review grade for this assignment exceeds 20, I'll apply the additional points towards recent missing and/or low-rated blog posts. I reserve the right not to award points for under-explained or banal feedback.

Your rating for argumentation: __4_

Please explain the reason for your score in at least 3 to 5 clear sentences. Cite specific details from the rough draft to explain your score: I think that your argument is in the right place but lacks substance. There should probably be more examples in general because it feels a bit short, but I am not entirely sure if that's just what you are looking to do with this project. I honestly think that all three points need to be extended a lot. The example with ambien was good and I think that the other points needed important things like that to support it.

	_
You will need to rea	Genre ad/look at the hyperlinked examples in the stee this category.	tudent author's Blog Post the examples they mind that this is ab	you feel this draft follows the genre convolution on Blog Post 11.3, on a scale of out how well this draft would fit - visually and author is designing their argument for.	of 1 to 10? Try to keep in
13	367	8910
Totally	Moderately	Extremely
ineffective	effective	effective
the draft to justify to grade for Deadline the writer needs to peer review grade exceeds 20, I'll app	higher than 5 and you cannot cite at least THE hat score, I'm going to deduct one point from 12. If you give a score lower than 5 and can convok on for this category, I'll award you an extension of the point of the points towards recent missing the right not to award points for under-explained of the points for	YOUR peer review ite TWO specific things tra point towards YOUR adde for this assignment and/or low-rated blog from the rough draft delivery is where it f	e:5 cason for your score in at least 3 to 5 clear sente to explain your score: I think that the genre is falls short. In my opinion the three sections dor w within the examples too that could be done be	structured properly, but the n't feel equal. I find that

Other comments? My biggest qualm with the project is the way it seems to be missing enough supporting information.	