Ivory's muscles burned as he walked his sword and dagger kept as his hips a belt holding the weapons up that felt like they were now large heavy weights even though he knew they were actually light. He just felt so thirsty his mouth was just so dry.

He was so hungry, so thirsty.

He was just glad that it was night time now he had spent the day walking through crowded streets his thankfully large and thick cloak being the thing to protect him from the sun. Unlike his mother the sun never burnt him but that didn't mean that it didn't make him feel uncomfortable.

And he was pretty certain that it only made his hunger stronger, the past through days have been hellish he had been avoiding feeding on people ever since he ran away from his mother not wanting to hurt anyone else.

But the past few days have quickly made it clear why he needed to feed, it started with him feeling more tired a little more breathless. And then his body started to become sore, it took longer to heal he had cut his palm on glass running away and normally that would have healed in less than a minute. And yet it was still bleeding as if the cut was fresh even days after.

All the strength by now had sapped from his leaving him weaker than even a normal human the only saving grace was that it was finally night time meaning that he could move without worrying about the sun.

His eyes normally so adept at seeing in the dark were unfocused and tired fighting to close as he walked making him unable to avoid the figure that he was about to bump into.

Her heart was pounding. The feeling of her bare feet on the ground stung with each step yet she couldn't give up yet. The feeling of adrenaline rushed through her veins faster than it ever did before. She could still hear their screams in her ears, echoing deeply as she forced herself forwards. She had been terribly lucky to escape when she had but the sounds of their cries had left her numb.

To be an animal-person in a city where stronger races reigned higher than all meant you were nothing more than scraps on the side. Aria had always wished that their society would change and yet it seemed that there was nothing that she could do to change it without strength and power. Power was everything in this world and without it, it seemed there was absolutely nothing you could do to change the circumstances you were handed.

Yet that didn't mean that they had to do what they had. It didn't mean they had to hunt them with the goal to turn them into slaves. Aria had been one of the lucky ones. She ran before they could catch her. She ran faster than she ever had and ignored their calls as she desperately pushed her body past its limits to escape. She would not let them have her nor harm her and she would do what it took to lose their trail, even if it meant traveling into the busiest parts of the city where she had no security nor safety.

Aria feared most other creatures. Raised to try and keep her head down to the best of her ability, her parents had always emphasized doing what she could to avoid getting on other's nerves. She would keep her head down and stay silent if she had to, if it meant survival. Yet that didn't mean it felt awful to abandon fellow animal people who were also in harms way. Guilt dragged its claws through her as she sprinted through the forest. She deserved the pain that was pounding through her feet with each step. Take it in. Feel it. For they will feel much worse.

She gritted her teeth and kept running, tears dripping down her cheeks as she desperately forced air into her lungs. Down into her lungs and out through her nose. Hair clung to the back of her neck. She kept sprinting without any clue as to where she was going.

Finding her foot tangled in the cobblestone, Aria went flying. Tumbling forward she yelped out in pain as the rough rocks scratched into her soft and supple skin. She winced at the feeling of dirt and gravel pushing into her knees. Softly, she pulled up her dress to peek down at her torn up knees. They stung, pain biting into her softly and leaving its marks. Blood dripped down her leg as she stood, lowering her dress and ignoring the pain. Heavy ragged breaths pushed through her lips for several moments as she stared down at the ground. She had to go. She couldn't sit here. She was sure they hadn't given up on her just yet.

Forcing her body up, Aria started to walk again. Her legs felt as wobbly as a newborn fawn's for several moments. Her hand clutched at a nearby wall of a building. She couldn't hear them anymore in the noise of the city. Her ears twitched as she listened, pausing as she tried to listen to the sounds. Would she be able to make out the exact sounds of their feet? No. It was far too busy to do so. She quickly pulled her cloak over her head and looked around, about to push off her feet and start running again when she crashed into another young man. @JackWhitexDaisy

The last thing that he had really noticed before he felt a body crash into his was the sickly-sweet smell of blood that filled his senses making his eyes widen and his mouth water as part of him thought that he was just imagining it. Like a man dying of thirst finding water in a desert it just felt too good to be true. He was so hungry that he had lost control of his fangs a while ago making his teeth sharpen the sight being clear to anyone that looked at him.

But when he felt a body crash into the smell of blood quickly filled his senses again as the force almost knocked his weakened body to the ground but with his arms wrapping tightly around her hips to hold her still, he was able to stabilise himself.

When he got a good look of her, he couldn't help but think that she looked beautiful his tired eyes quickly scanned her features spotting her blonde hair that was framed by ears that he thought were cute and yellow eyes that were filled with fear.

He was about to ask her If she was okay before he noticed the blood that was dripping down her leg and well, he lost control. His arms grabbed onto her hips and he picked her up off the ground as if weighed as much as paper holding her close, he had her pinned up against a wall with a vice grip so that she wouldn't be able to escape from his cold body pressed up closely to hers.

His fangs glistened before he bit at her neck his intentions clear but at the last second, he stopped himself just before his sharp teeth sunk into her neck making them just brush against her warm skin as he barely kept himself from actually biting her.

Thrust forwards into the man, Aria felt herself lose her balance. Her tail shifted to the side as she navigated herself, trying to stay on her feet as she nearly fell to the ground. Yet as he pushed against her and wrapped his arms around her, Aria found herself able to remain on her feet.

She gasped and looked at him, her eyes wide with surprise. Aria was beautiful, her ears perked and alert as she quickly turned to look towards the alleyway with fear. "S-shit--" She cursed under her breath, Aria winced as he picked her up easily. "P-Put me down--" She whimpered, flinching away from him as he pinned her to the wall.

She was stuck.

This was it.

Fear overwhelmed her as he held her tightly up against the wall. Her gaze shifted to the side as she caught the sound of their yells once more. They were close and there would be no escape this time. She struggled against the young man, whimpering as he leaned in towards her neck.

If she didn't die here, they were coming to kill her afterwards. "Let me go--" She whimpered, flinching away from him as he leaned forwards ready to bite her. "P-Please---" She pleaded, her voice gentle and weak. She had a pretty voice, one that sounded like a bell on a clear day.

She had a delicate frame, her body even lighter than expected. Her ears twitched slightly as she could hear their footsteps growing closer. She struggled against him, trying to push him off of herself weakly as they got closer. "P-Please--" She begged desperately. She didn't want to be caught by the bounty hunters. It was the worst possible thing that could happen to her if he wasn't going to kill her here and now. "I'm begging you--"

"THERE SHE IS!" A voice could be heard coming from the very end of the alleyway. From the looks of the man running towards them, it was a bounty hunter who was ready to catch his prey. She was his prey. Aria stiffened against him for a moment, pure fear washing over her as she heard their voices. Her ears pressed down to her head and nervously as she started to struggle more hastily, trying to escape his grip.

He met her gaze when he heard her gasp guilt quickly filling him as he realised that he was scaring at her. But even as she told him to put her down he couldn't he was just too hungry but he kept himself from biting her fighting his instincts as he barely heard the yells.

He tried to make himself let her go feeling how small and delicate she was in his arms. He wasn't like his mother the strong should protect the weak. But right now he was just so weak to his urges that he couldn't step away all he could do was keep his fangs from sinking into her neck letting them brush against her soft skin instead as he heard her beg.

Another voice was thankfully enough to snap into focus as he realised that there were more people chasing her. He glanced back at the bounty hunter before he looked at the woman his hands growing more soft as he cupped her face with one hand making her look at him.

"I'm sorry for scaring you, I promise that I will protect you but first I'm gonna need to take a little sip." He admitted to her whispering the words into her ear before with surprising gentleness he let his teeth sink into her neck.

He ignored the yell of monster coming from the bounty hunter simply focusing on staying true to his words only taking a small sip of her blood from her collar before he pulled back feeling revitalised not realising that he had marked her as his.

"Stay behind me." Was his simple order before he used his dagger to parry the blow lashing out with speed that seemed impossible his teeth sinking into the man's armoured shoulder as easily as biting through paper leaving the man to fall to the ground limp a second later.

His chest was still moving up and down to show that he was still alive but it was clear that he wasn't nearly as gentle as he was with the woman.

"Take my hand and I'll keep you safe." He urged her using his tongue to lick the blood from his lips before he held his free hand out for her to take.

Fear flashed over her as she struggled against the young vampire. She didn't know much about vampires other than that their strength was undeniable. She struggled against him, her golden eyes a window to her heart. It was obvious she was mortified. She whimpered against him as he held her there, unable to let go of her.

Their screams sent shivers down her spine. If he didn't kill her then and there she was sure he would hand her right over to the bounty hunters. Aria didn't know what was worse. To die here by the hands of a vampire or to be sold into slavery. Both were terrifying and horrific fates to the young girl. For so long her parents had taught her to keep under the radar and yet now without them she had found herself in a very sticky situation.

"I'm sorry for scaring you, I promise that I will protect you but first I'm gonna need to take a little sip."

His voice came soft. Softer than she would imagine. Her scared gaze returned to him for a moment. Her golden eyes connected with his for only a moment before he dipped towards her bare neck. She tensed up nervously, her head shifting to the side hesitantly as his teeth sunk into her neck. A soft gasp escaped her lips as she felt a feeling of warmth brush over her.

It didn't hurt.

The warmth that had come over her was comforting and somehow felt good. Her body relaxed ever so slightly against him as he sucked the small amount of blood from her before putting back and placed her down.

Once more on the ground, her legs wobbled and her vision blurred for a few seconds. She blinked several times, the overwhelming fear of weakness scaring her as he stepped in front of her in order to protect her.

It all happened so fast. In the mere blink of an eye he had taken over the battle, parrying the armoured bounty hunter and biting into his shoulder. Most didn't stand a chance to a vampire and it was clear that this was the same. Yet why had a strong vampire helped someone as helpless as Aria.

Had he killed him?

Aria stared as the bounty hunter fell to the ground limp as if no more than a mere lifeless doll. To Aria, the bounty hunter had been one of the strongest people in her life. Yet now he laid on the ground motionless as if his life had been drained from him.

"Take my hand and I'll keep you safe."

She didn't understand why he was helping her but she couldn't reject it. Her hand shyly reached for his, softly wrapping around his fingers as she held onto him. "T-thank you." She spoke for the first time since begging, her ears pressed down to her head in fear as she hesitantly reached for his help. It was scary to give in to someone so strong but his help wasn't to be ignored. It was the only chance she had.

Even as he stepped away from her and drained the man of blood, he still couldn't get the taste of her off his brain. Off his mind he loved the way she tasted part of him just wanted to pin her down again and drink more of her blood.

The moment that her hand reached for his he wrapped his hand around hers his fingers suddenly much warmer as they threaded with her digits protective. Unlike his vice grip before he didn't hold her so roughly his grip was still too tight for her to break but it wasn't painful anymore.

"Come on then." He told her his voice low as he pulled her in close before he scooped her up in his arms his arm hooking under her knees to pick her up not letting her go.

Before anyone else could catch up with them he then leapt up into the air using the cover of the dark to hide them as he pushed off of a wall to help him get to the roof.

The blood that was leaking from her neck was quick to heal but still a couple drips leaked out making him groan before he leaned forward to lick her neck clean of blood.

"Stay quiet I'll get us somewhere safe." He told her before he ran jumping from rooftop to rooftop before they reached an abandoned warehouse letting him smash the window to get them both inside careful to protect her from glass before he walked with her setting her down on top of a wooden table.

"Let me take care of your knees." He ordered her knowing that if she continued to bleed, he might just lose control."

Heavy breaths escaped through her lips as she brought her hand up to softly touch the wound on her neck. She had heard rumors of people turning to vampires if their blood was sucked yet she did not know whether that was the case, after all, she knew very little of the very illusive powerful creatures. They had often come off as quite mysterious without many people knowing the consequences of their powers.

As his hand firmly wrapped around hers, Aria swallowed, her eyebrows furrowing. He was much stronger than her, even his grip strong enough that she couldn't break free even if she wanted. She moved towards him, her tail nervously tucked low underneath her cloak so it wouldn't be noticed.

He quickly pulled her up and scooped her into his arms, her eyes widening. She was a light little thing, after all, she was much smaller than him. Her frame was frail and delicate in comparison to his taller build. She was light and easy to carry, her body not weighing much at all. She anxiously clung to him as he hooked his arm under knees and held her to him.

Why had he helped her?

Her mind was still tangled tighter than a ball of yarn. She had no clue how to comprehend what she was going through. She gasped and closed her eyes tightly as he pushed into the air, climbing up onto the roof.

Aria had always hated heights, her eyes shut tightly as she clung to the man who was holding her. She hoped he wouldn't drop her. She was sure that wasn't his intention but she couldn't do much to protest against the much stronger being.

As his tongue pressed against her neck to lick away the dribbles of blood that had been leaking from her wound, Aria let out a shaky gasp. She looked at him, her cheeks hot and red as he cleaned the wound with his mouth. Her ears pressed down shyly as she nodded, her heart pounding as he asked her to be quiet as he brought them somewhere safe.

Now in safety, Aria could feel herself coming down from the rush of adrenaline that had rushed over her

. She let out a soft sigh as he placed her down onto the table. She looked at him, shaky breaths escaping her lips. "T-Thank you for saving me." She said softly, her gaze softening as he knelt down and asked to take care of her knees.

"O-Oh... okay." She said softly, lifting the hem of her dress to reveal her torn up knees. They weren't bleeding too badly but there was in fact a bit of blood dripping down her knees. She quickly realized the scent of her blood must've been bothering him. She wondered if it smelled good to them, just as a warm meal did to most other creatures.

If he had noticed her tail then he didn't show it really, he didn't care all that much he could tell by her ears that she wasn't human. He called tell by her scent, the taste of her blood even tasted off, but it was addictive. He wanted to bite her again but he just couldn't.

She was just too small in his arms too soft; he felt a tenderness with her that he never really felt with anyone before. He just wanted to hold her close in his arms and never let her go. In reply to her tight grip, he simply gave her body a gentle squeeze as he barely noticed how red her face was in reply to him licking her neck. He had heard her gasp but he simply ignored it focusing on keeping them both safe.

And of course, once they were safe, he relaxed staying sat down on his knees between her legs "Thank you for saving me if I didn't get to feed off you then I wouldn't have made it long myself." He admitted to her.

At her thanks he simply nodded back at her is hands gently gripping her knees right under where the cuts were once, she lifted her dress before he gently made her spread her legs a little for him. He didn't spread her legs enough to see her underwear or too much of her skin only enough to see what he needed.

"Not too bad." He told her before he leaned forward to lick her legs clean of blood his tongue rubbing against her thighs before he reached the cuts and instead of biting, he let his tongue brush against them as well making the cuts tingle but there was a soothing aspect to it as he cleaned her up the bleeding slowly stopping thanks to his saliva.

Once he was done cleaning it was difficult to keep himself from taking any more blood it wasn't even that he was that hungry, he just wanted her in a way that he never felt before. it was like a blood lust but at the same time it didn't feel like a normal lust. Slowly he pulled himself to his feet once he was done his eyes scanning along her features before his eyes widened noticing the teeth marks on her collar.

He had meant to bite her neck he lunged forward with a gentleness one of his arms wrapping around her to pull her up again so that her chest pressed against his and she would have either had her feet dangle or she'd need to wrap her legs around him as the other hand moved up her body to gently cup her neck feeling where he bit her.

"Are you okay?"

Aria was a nekomimi, a creature that was half feline and yet at the same time half human. There were many other human animal creatures that existed in the realms, those who were half dog, those who were half bear, those who were part bird. Of course, there were many half animal creatures that were strong, yet on the other hand, nekomimi were considered to be one of the weakest, not far off from those who were half rabbit half human. They weren't known for having many combat abilities nor outstanding constitution. Due to this, many of the race were considered to be easy to sell into slavery. Moreso, due to their delicate and cute appearance, many liked to display them as easy pets.

Of course, Aria knew not of the taste of her blood nor why this vampire had saved her. It made very little sense for him to have taken her under his wing other than for the goal of sucking her blood. She had little to offer him and truly he had only dragged her into her own problems.

As he softly parted her legs so he could kneel in between them, she looked down. "I--Well I didn't exactly have a truth." She said softly, seeing as she had been unable to fight him off as he had held her up to the wall in such a grip. She had been utterly helpless to fight him off.

The feeling of his tongue on her knee sent chills up her spine. She shivered and looked down, watching as her wounds slowly seemed to stop bleeding. She had never been aware of the healing qualities that Vampiric saliva had. She knew they had the power to suck blood but it was strange that they had the ability to heal as well.

She paused and looked at him as he stood to his feet once more. Her gaze softened as she parted her lips to speak once more. "Thank you... I appreciate your help." She smiled, tucking some of her blondish hair behind her ear.

Before she had time to finish speaking, he lunged forwards to wrap her in his arms. Her heart began to pound as he lifted her off of her feet. Her arms clung to him nervously as he held her there, her legs wrapping around him. She swallowed, her cheeks hot and red as he cupped at her neck. "Y-Yeah... I'm alright." She said softly, slightly overwhelmed by his sudden movement.

When she thanked him again he looked back at her and smiled at her softly watching her tuck her hair behind her head. "I'm sorry about scaring you so much when you bumped into me I hadn't fed for days and you were bleeding so I lost control." He told her softly once he picked her up.

One of his arms wrapped around her back holding her securely in his arms as he felt her cling to him as he felt her legs wrap around his hips.

The sound of her heart pounding filled his senses making him bit down on his lower lip as he saw how red faced she was. "I don't like feeding on people without their permission." He admitted to her his free hand rubbing soft circles into her neck to soothe where he bit earlier.

"I can protect you but I can't if I'm hungry I get weaker when I'm hungry and I lose control of myself." He wanted her, he wanted to sink his teeth into the skin of her neck he wanted to claim her.

Looking back he didn't know why he bit her there but he couldn't undo it and now thoughts of sinking his teeth into her inner thigh filled his head, thoughts of filling her and claiming her in the most permanent way filled his head.

He wanted her.

"If I promise you my protection will you allow me to drink your blood? I'll find you food and shelter and I promise that I won't take too much." He whispered to her his voice gaining a slight huskiness to it but he hoped that she would just believe it to be his hunger for blood.

In the man's arms, Aria truly felt how small she was for once. She was much tinier than him in comparison and his frame was broad and masculine. She looked up at him with a flustered expression on her face, still slightly surprised to have been brought into such an intimate hug. Her ears pressed down shyly as he securely held her to his body, not relying on her clinging.

She swallowed and looked up at him, her eyes softening as he admitted that he felt bad for feeding on her without her permission. She looked down and nodded. "But you didn't have a choice." She replied, "You were desperate." She gave a weak smile, hoping he understood that she was doing her best to understand him.

Her ears lifted as he said he could protect her. "I--" She paused, her eyebrows furrowing. Her tail softly swaying back and forth as she watched him. "Why are you willing to protect me...?" She asked aloud, her curiosity getting the best of her. She couldn't help it. A stronger creature had never been willing to protect or help her out in the past.

Safety had never been ensured in Aria's life. She was always teetering on the edge of danger. Especially since her parents had died three years ago, she had consistently trying to keep under the radar in order to avoid any potential danger.

Yet being on guard at all times was exhausting, as was always trying to make sure that you were running under the radar. It was a game she had to play with herself to make sure she was never noticed and it had quickly grown rather exhausting.

If I promise you my protection, will you allow me to drink your blood.

His voice whispered into her ear softly, a slight growl and huskiness evident in his tone. She swallowed and looked down. It was a deal that ensured her safety. It ensured that she would never have to run from a slave trader again and it meant that she never even had to worry about danger again. "I..." She paused, biting her lip. When he had sucked her blood earlier it hadn't hurt, moreso it had even felt kind of good. And even though the wound was slightly sore, the feeling of his fingers softly rubbing circles around it eased the pain.

Her ears softened slightly as she thought about it, weighing the pros and cons to creating a relationship like this with him. The pros drastically outweighed the cons and she wasn't even aware of many of the problems that could arise from it yet. Aria was naive and young and she didn't yet know or understand much about the world. She didn't yet know enough about vampires and their tendencies to properly understand even the weight of being bitten on her neck.

She paused and let her lips part to speak, "Mhm" She said softly, her golden eyes lifting up to him. "I-I'll let you drink my blood... if you promise to protect me." She spoke quietly. Aria certainly had a pretty voice. It was clear and sweetly pitched and when she spoke it sounded like it cut through the air like the sound of a bell or wind chime on a clear summer's day. She softly looked at him for his reaction, now having calmed down in his arms.

Something about having her in his arms just felt right as he didn't let her go not wanting to ever let her go. He met her look by gazing into her eyes as he saw how shy she was, not sure if she agreed with him about not having a choice. He still bit her maybe if he had asked beforehand if he had tried.

When he noticed her ears lift and her tail starting to move, he tilted his head humming as he heard her question before he sat down where he had placed her earlier allowing her to sit on his lap. One of his hands stayed on her hips as he sat up the other cupping her face before he moved it up further.

"Because if your able to fight then you should protect those who can't" he told her before he let his thumb rub against one of her ears feeling how soft it was as he let his curiosity control him.

He really hoped that he didn't scare her when he asked if he could drink her blood worried about the way that she looked down his hand rubbing her ear absentmindedly as he felt it soften. He was really worried that she would turn down his offer, if she did then he would need to leave her before he lost control, and he needed blood.

But when she accepted, he smiled at her softly gently using the hand on her ear to cup her face instead tilting her head so that her neck was exposed to him right where he bit her. "Thank you, I promise that no harm other than my feedings will come to you while you're under my protection." He promised her before he pressed his lips against her neck around the area he bit.

To her it would have felt more like a kiss, and since he had hardened without realising poking against her leg it would have definitely come across as him kissing her but really, he was finding where to bite his teeth brushing against her skin.

Really, he shouldn't be biting her collar again but he couldn't help himself it was as if that was the perfect place for him. It just felt right.

He then opened his mouth and sunk his sharp teeth into the soft skin of her neck the effect being the same as before the tingles going through both of their bodies but this time it was so much stronger as he slowly drank her blood making sure not to take enough blood to make her ill before he pulled his teeth away from her neck and licked the warm skin of her neck clean.

"Thank you." He whispered to her his lips still moving against her neck.

Aria had never been held like this before.

Held safely and affectionately into the arms of someone who cared about her. She glanced down softly, feeling a little flustered about suddenly being in his arms. She didn't know what to expect. She still didn't yet fully understand why he had protected her. Before his offer, she had simply thought that most vampires would simply bite and leave their victims stranded.

Yet that didn't seem to be the case.

If you're able to fight, then you should protect those who can't.

It was a sentiment that Aria had hoped people would one day understand. She thought it would never happen seeing as society was so heavily based upon power. And yet here she was in the arms of someone who wanted to protect the weak.

She softly sat in his lap, her cheeks flushed as he softly cupped her face to lift her chin. She nodded softly, "I...didn't know that anyone strong lived by those terms" She admitted softly, her cheeks flushing deeper as his thumb brushed against her ear.

Her ear twitched slightly at his touch, her tail starting to sway more as he toyed with ear. The fur was soft and fluffy on her ear, the velvety fur clearly taken well care of. As a matter of fact, all of her hair was silky and smooth and well taken care of.

While most would feel a little uneasy about their deal, as he continued to speak, Aria found herself thinking that it wasn't a bad idea at all. It might be naive, yes. But for her, ensured safety wasn't something to simply be ignored. There was nearly no other way to protect yourself otherwise. Sure, she carried a dagger on her but she was rather lackluster with it and didn't have the skills to properly fend off any intimidators if need be.

The feeling of his fingers absentmindedly rubbing at her ear sent tingles up her spine. For nekomimi, the ears and tail were rather sensitive spots. They were rarely touched by anyone other than themselves for grooming and thus when touched they were very sensitive. It felt good though. Even though it flustered her, she would be lying if she claimed to dislike the feeling of his hands softly toying with her ear.

Softly, he leaned into her neck once more, tilting her head up so her neck was exposed to him. She kept her head tilted, her ears pressing to her head shyly as he promised his loyalty to her and pressed his lips to her sensitive skin.

It felt like a kiss. Gentle enough to send butterflies rampant within her stomach. She blushed and looked down, her eyes closing as she felt him harden against her leg. She chose to ignore it, her heart pounding as his teeth brushed against her skin.

The feeling that came over her was much more intense than earlier. His teeth sunk into her neck and he began to drink her blood once more, a flush feeling brushing over her rather gently. Tingles teased up her skin in a wave of feeling as he drank her blood. She had never expected the feeling of a vampire sucking her blood to feel good, and yet as he did so, her head lifted slightly to allow him even easier access.

Her eyes opened when he pulled away, his tongue softly licking her skin to clean the wound. She let out soft shaky breaths and nodded, still softly placed on his lap as he gently spoke into her neck.

He found himself strangely happy to have her in his lap. His hand gripping her chin a little more firmly but still not hard enough to hurt her. Something about her face blush just made her too pretty too cute. He wanted to hold her close and never let go, to never let anyone but him go near to never let anyone hurt her.

His attention had gone to her ears as he saw the way that they twitched finding her even cuter especially as he saw her tail sway from behind. With how dishevelled she was he really wasn't expecting her fur to feel so soft.

Once her neck was clean of blood, he gave her skin one last lick finding that he just liked the taste of her not just her blood. He looked up at her lips for a second wondering how they would taste before he shook his head.

His hardness was still pressed up against her leg while she sat on his lap making it clear that at least his body wanted more from her than just her blood not that he would tell her of course not if she didn't realise.

His hands then went back to her hips gently lifting her up off of him before he set her down gently pushing her so that she could lie down so that she could get comfortable.

Thoughts of her in that position filled his head as he imagined taking more of her blood by biting her soft thighs then his thoughts changed to pushing his tongue inside of her.

He had to go before he did something he couldn't take back.

"You just stay here I'm gonna go and find something that we can both eat and whatever else I can find in this place." He told her softly taking off his cloak to wrap it around her in case she ended up getting cold.

"If you need me just yell out for me." He told her softly trying to keep the lust he felt out of his voice before he left.

Being this close to a male was nerve wracking to the small girl. After all, she knew the implications that came with being this close to another. After all, most nekomimi wouldn't get this close to a male unless they had been enslaved, bought as pets, or were in love.

Her heart throbbed deeply in her chest, pounding as she lifted her gaze to his eyes. Her eyes were stunning when one looked at them properly. At first glance, they appeared merely yellow on the surface. Yet in the proper lighting it became ever clear that they were not yellow but golden. Speckled hints of sunshine seemed to have been interlaced in the color, the hue overwhelmingly vivid as she looked into his eyes.

The soft feeling of his tongue sent chills up her spine as he gave the wound the last lingering affection before pulling away. She bit her lip softly and looked at him, wondering what blood tasted like to a vampire. She assume they liked the taste just as another would enjoy their food. Yet he was still so polite to keep control of himself, so she wondered if it even tasted all that good.

As she sat on his lap, she was ever so aware of the hardness pressed against her leg. At first, she had tried to ignore it, but as she felt it pressing up more and more, her cheeks simply darkened in color. While rather naive about men, she was aware of what the movement meant.

It seemed fitting that he quickly lifted her off of him before he stood up and claimed he would be on his way. Perhaps he had been flustered by his own reaction. She, too, was quite flustered. She sat up pin straight on the seat as he warned her that he was going to go.

"O-Okay..." She nodded quietly, her eyes softening as he gently wrapped his cloak around her. It was much warmer than what she wore herself, the insides lined with fur. She gently wrapped it around her and nodded, her eyes slightly filled with concern. "You... won't be too long, right?" She asked, seeming worried that he would either abandon her or that some one would find her.

He had never seen anyone with eyes as pretty as hers, he had seen red eyes full of bloodlust he had seen soulless black eyes, he had seen clear blue eyes and so many more but he had never seen eyes that were as captivating as pretty as hers were.

Instead of mentioning her red cheeks he had stayed silent wanting to give her that privacy and besides if he knew why she was so flustered maybe he would lose control of his own impulses. He simply smiled at her when she said okay looking back at her as he made sure that she was safe and snug in his cloak noticing the way she hugged it.

At her question he simply shook his head stopping to reach forward to grab onto her hand "no I promise I will return as quickly as I can just try to relax for me." He whispered to her before he hummed.

"My sword is very important to me." He told her softly before he drew it revealing a black sabre the handle containing a ruby gem and while the blade was clearly well looked after it had shown clear signs of use. The blade had scratches on it even a couple chips on it while the leather handle had become pretty pale at points from use white creases more prevalent where his hand would grip it.

"I will leave it with you whenever we separate as a promise that I'll return." He whispered leaving it at her feet so that she could pick it up if she wanted before he actually left the room in search for food and other resources that would aid them.

The feeling of his hand on her head brought a wave of warmth over her. Her ears softly pushed down towards her hair, twitching ever so slightly as he ruffled her hair, whispering to her to try and reassure her that she was completely safe and that he wouldn't abandon her.

Aria didn't want him to think she was completely reliant on him, yet she also feared abandonment. Feared that he would leave her and never come back now that he had used her for what he needed. She didn't know him all that well and it wouldn't be the most surprising thing in the world.

"O-okay."

She smiled softly and nodded, her ears perking up as he asked her to relax for him. She hadn't realized it just yet, but having her blood sucked had seemingly sapped her energy just a tad. Her eyes seemed softer in comparison to earlier and she seemed like she may be feeling tired. She didn't admit it though, her ears perking up as she looked at him, trying to reassure him in her own way.

Aria's gaze softened on the sword, watching as he laid it down in front of her. A promise. She nodded softly, "Okay..." She smiled warmly, her cheeks rosy and warm as she looked at the sword. "Be safe."

Alone once more, Aria felt the exhaustion slowly settle into her body. It didn't hit like a wall. It slowly sunk in like the sand in a hourglass. Not all at once and yet accumulated until she found her eyes drifting closed.

Yet sleeping in such a place held many dangers. She knew he would protect her. But she wasn't sure how far he may be from her. She bit her lip softly and wondered if she were alright to rest for a few moments. Her gaze fell down towards the sword, protection. It was his promise.

Her hands grasped around the sword and she lifted it, bringing it close to her body before she sat down again. She softly placed it next to her, taking a deep breath before wrapping his cloak around her once more. Protected and warm, it didn't take much longer for Aria to drift off into sleep.

When he would return

, he would find the small girl asleep, his cloak wrapped around her and one hand still on his sword. Her ears twitched ever so slightly in her sleep, her tail occasionally flicking back and forth in her rest.

It didn't take him too long to look around the abandoned building it seemed like the place was some kind of mass living area he had found rooms full of beds some a bathroom with a shower room connected separated by just a curtain.

And he had found a kitchen area that was full of food, it was probably their best stroke of luck in a while except maybe for finding each other.

Knowing to come back in the morning he left a lot of the food there instead grabbing the food that was easy to eat before he took it into one of the bedrooms placing it down on a bed.

Once he did that he then started walking back to where she was waiting for him

By the time he got back to her she seemed to have already fallen asleep and he couldn't help but smile. When he first met her she was so scared and now she was sleeping softly wrapped up in his cloak.

She was cute he couldn't help but think it wasn't the first time he had thought it but finding her curled up in his cloak holding his sword like it was her life line while her tail seemed to move back and forth was a sight that he didn't think he would ever get tired off.

"Come on let's get you to a bed." He whispered to her before he hooked his arms underneath her knees and her back after he had carefully took his sword back of course and gently picked her up, and if he held her a little closer to his chest then he had to then he didn't think that she'd blame him.

Unable to stop himself while he walked he leaned forward to gently press his lips against her temple giving her a soft kiss as they reached the room making his way to an empty bed before he lifted up the blanket and tried to put her down into the bed.

Aria rarely slept very soundly. It was a skill she had taught herself when her parents had died. You're never safe, even in your home. Aria had lived in a rundown apartment that only had one room. It was small, cramped and the area was far from safe.

She had often heard fighting outside her window. It wasn't rare for a brick to be thrown and hit one of the apartments. A few times intruders broke in and the landlord had simply shrugged it off and told each resident to move if they felt unsafe.

So Aria had taught herself to sleep lightly. Yet by the time he had returned, she was fast asleep, feeling much safer than she had in a while. Maybe she was simply tired out from having her blood drunk, but she also seemed to feel safe in his soft cloak with his sword available to her.

As he hooked under her knees, Aria's ears softly twitched against him, her head lulling gently against his chest. Her hand easily slipped from the sword, falling to her side as he held her. She was very light, though he had already recognized that earlier. She was a tiny thing that clearly didn't weigh very much at all.

Against his chest, she let out a soft hum in her sleep, gently nuzzling into his chest. Warmth. Her tail flicked back and forth under her dress, the gentle sound of her breaths filling the room as he leaned down to press his lips to her temple. While asleep, she still seemed to smile softly at the feeling, nuzzling into him once more.

Slowly, he brought them back to the room. She remained asleep the entire time, her chest slowly raising and falling as she rested. Her hand slightly wrapped around his shirt as he went to place her down in bed. She shook her head and pulled towards him, letting out a soft noise of protest. "Don't go..." She whimpered, her sleepy eyes opening ever so slightly. She nuzzled back into him, clearly wanting to be close to him.

He smiled at her as he felt how softly she slept he did feel bad about biting her still but he knew that she didn't seem to mind all too much and he knew that he would be able to make it up to her.

He had no idea how long he would protect her for, how long she'll need him that was a question for a different time. But for now he would just make sure that she'd be safe. That no one would be able to hurt her. That no one would be able to touch her.

He did his best to push down his thoughts that were quickly becoming possessive, wanting and instead he put her down.

Or at least he tried to with the way she nuzzled into him he didn't want to put her down and with her hand gripping his shirt he was pretty sure that she didn't want him to either.

When he heard her words of protest while she shook her head he knew that he was right his heart melting when she nuzzled back into him.

"Don't worry I'm not going anywhere he promised her before he lifted her up again to gently lie down onto the bed letting her rest on top of his chest an action that came with so much ease it worried him. "Just get some sleep well probably have to leave tomorrow."

Safe in his arms, rest that night was peaceful. The last words she heard before going to sleep were: "Don't worry. I'm not going anywhere." Another promise sweeter than the one before. She felt safe in his arms, unbothered by him having drank her blood. To her this was a symbiotic relationship. They were both gaining something from staying with one another. It was a fair trade. While it may seem naive or silly for her to think, it was how she saw it.

Aria had a dreamless night for the first time in a long time. She rested peacefully in his arms, lulled back to sleep by the sweet lullaby of his heart beating. Her ears softened and she curled up against him, her hand remaining on his chest as she held onto him.

When Aria awoke, it was morning once more. Birds chirped their sweet songs outside, singing sweet wake up cries to the world. It was still only dawn, the sky painted in swatches of oranges and red. Aria peeked up, lifting her head and seeing the sleeping vampire she had been using as a pillow.

Her cheeks reddened slightly, realizing she had cuddled him nearly all night. She hoped he hadn't minded it. She had always gotten rather clingy and cuddly when she was tired.

Seeing the shower in the other section of the room, Aria's eyes brightened. She was sure she looked like a mess seeing as she had ran out rather suddenly and hadn't had anything to keep her appearance nice. She normally would never let anyone see her in such a state. She stood and glanced back towards the vampire, walking away from the bed quietly. She didn't want to disturb him.

Quietly, she would turn the shower on, jumping ever so slightly as water burst to life through the pipes. Her gaze flicked back towards the vampire who still lay sleeping, just double checking that she hadn't awoken him. A soft sigh of relief escaped her lips before she ducked behind the curtain to change. She undid her cloak and dress, gently leaving it on a nearby chair before stepping into the warm water to c lean herself.

He fell asleep not much time after he had lied down sleeping with her just made him feel more relaxed than he had ever been in his life loving the way she cuddled up against him and clung to his body. Right before he slept, he leaned forward and pressed his lips against her cheek in a soft kiss before he fell asleep.

His arms wrapped around her more tightly hugging her against his chest as he curled up against her one of his hands holding the back of her head cradling her against his chest while the other was wrapped around her lower back. he hugged her close making sure that no one would be able to hurt her.

He didn't wake up till after she did let out a light growl when she escaped from his grip making him roll onto his front making it seem like he was still awake but he wasn't the sound of water running make certain that he wouldn't be able to sleep again.

Like he was in a trance he pulled himself to his feet and stood up straighter the shower making him thinking that it was his which was why he was quick to pull off his shirt followed by his trousers before finally he stripped himself of his underwear revealing a large morning wood his body chiselled with strong defined muscles and broad shoulders.

He didn't really realise that she was in the shower until he had stepped in fully putting his body on full display to her as he got a good look at her his gaze going to her golden hair at first before he looked down seeing her breasts that were bigger than he expecting a before he looked down further checking out her legs that looked so soft to the touch before his gaze went to her crotch liking the way that her legs were met with a small mound of blonde hair that framed her perfectly.

To try and ignore it he hummed before he walked over to her his hand brushing against her side as he made sure that there was enough water. "Good morning, we should probably shower quickly." He told her trying to save face even as his gaze kept going down her body checking out her breasts, her legs her sex that was covered in a mound that he found cute.

Aria hummed softly to herself as she stepped into the shower. While she must've seemed rather a mess to him, Aria was truly normally a well kept individual. She was normally very clean, thus her soft hair and fur. She showered often and was sure to make sure that she was without any poor scent. Bathing was one of her favorite things in the world, one of the places where she could truly relax.

Stepping under the water, Aria closed her eyes and let the water trail down her body. It was warm. The kind of warmth that didn't just hit you but completely enveloped you in it. She closed her eyes, her ears pressing down to her head as she let the water drip down her naked form. Many assumed cats didn't like water, but that wasn't the case for Aria. She seemed to enjoy it and treasure it as one of her favorite times of the day.

She was so entranced by the warmth of her shower that she barely even heard his steps as he undressed himself and headed towards the shower. Her eyes weren't even open, her head tilted up towards the sky as she basked in the enjoyment of the hot water dripping down her body.

She only opened her eyes when she heard his voice, her gaze shifting back down towards him as she stared in surprise. Her entire body was on display for his view. She froze at first, her cheeks paling before turning a dark hue of rose. She swallowed, a knot tightening in her throat as she struggled to find the words. He could see her body on display in a way that she had never let anyone else see before.

Aria had a beautiful figure. She had a thin waist and yet still had a lovely hourglass figure with child-baring hips. Moreso, she had easily hidden her chest size in her cloak the day before, yet now it was clear to him that she was bigger than most would expect, her small figure leading most to assume her to be flat chested. She swallowed, shifting slightly, squeezing her thighs together.

Along her body, she had several cute moles along her nearly unblemished skin. One was right on her perky rear, a few trailing up her back in a small constellation, the most notable was leading right into her beautiful cleavage.

She blushed and looked down as he spoke noticing his rather perky member. She swallowed, staring at it as he brushed against her side so that he could join her in the shower. "I--" She stuttered, completely overwhelmed. Her heart was pounding, racing even. "G-Good morning." She said, stumbling over her words as she tried to hide how nervous and flustered she was.

He thought that he would become used to see her blush but well he wasn't and now he didn't think that he ever would. She was cute normally and that cuteness just became even cuter when she was blushing. But getting a good look of her he was quick to realise that she was more than just cute.

His eyes scanned along her figure checking out her breasts that looked like they would be perfect in his hands, in his mouth. He shook his head to try and fix his thoughts but made the mistake of looking lower seeing the way that her thighs squeezed together.

Her moles against her pale skin just made her look cuter in his mind part of him wanted to tell her to turn around so that he could get a better look but he forced down the thought stepping so closely to her that she would be able to feel his body warmth on hers.

And if she stepped forward, she would probably be able to feel his hardness that stood at full attention the long length pointing towards her as if to say that he wanted her. If he wasn't hard already from morning wood then he would be by now.

His body was framed by large muscles that looked firm like she could poke them and they wouldn't budge. He wasn't the biggest person out there his frame was more built for being quick after all but he was toned, his skin unblemished of scars thanks to his healing powers.

He glanced between lower not noticing that she was looking down at him too focused on looking at her before he looked down between her legs part of him wanting to grab her leg and make her uncross them so he could see what the pretty bush of hair above her crotch lead to.

"Good morning." He repeated finally pulling his eyes off of her body to meet her eyes when he heard her speak keeping his gaze on her face now. "How did you sleep I slept better than I have in a while." He asked her letting himself give in to what his body wanted.

Or at least giving into some of the stuff, if he had given into everything, she would have been bent over the shower wall to be fucked until she couldn't walk. His fangs were starting to grow a little but he wasn't all that hungry so he pushed them down and instead wrapped his arm around her hips possessively.

Normally he would never act like this but around her he just couldn't help himself as he pulled her in with his arm making it so that her body was pressed firmly against his, his excitement pressing against her stomach.

It was easy to tell how flustered Aria was.

From the way her cheeks had been dusted in such a hot hue of rose, from the way her tail softly tucked between her legs and her ears pressed down to her head. Unlike human beings, Nekomimi also expressed many of their emotions and feelings through both their tail and their ears. It wasn't incredibly far off from the body language of a cat, her ears pushing down shyly as his gaze wandered down her body.

Aria had never been with a man before. Moreso, she hadn't even known many men prior to meeting him. She had known her father well, but she had been rather isolated as a youth in order to keep her head under the radar. She shifted, squeezing her thighs together anxiously as she felt his gaze trail down her body.

He was excited. She could see that simply from the way his member twitched and grew, now completely erect. She swallowed, her gaze lifting back up to him as she tried to not mention it. He didn't seem flustered by the situation at all, instead he seemed to be enjoying it.

As he stepped closer, Aria let out a shaky breath, his erect member now nearly touching her. She glanced down, her tail tucking between her legs nervously as he made it clear that he wanted her. Her heart had quickly begun to race, speeding up until she feared he may be able to hear it.

His body was attractive. He was strong and well-toned, his muscles defined and strong. She couldn't help but allow her gaze to wander down his body, her gaze taking in his thin yet toned build.

"I--" Aria paused, stumbling over her words slightly as he stepped even closer, wrapping his arms around her hips possessively. "I slept well..." She said softly, her heart pounding as she stepped closer to him, feeling his excitement throbbing up against her stomach. She bit her lip and lifted her gaze to him, feeling her own body growing warmer and it didn't seem to be from the hot water.

It was so difficult to keep himself from not forcing her to spread her legs for him as he saw how shy she was, the way that her ears went down the same as her tail was just too cute as he looked at her red face.

The shaky breath she left out set his body alight making him struggle to work out why especially as he heard her heart race. He was needy for her he could tell that pretty clearly but he wasn't thirsty for blood.

She was nervous he could tell that but he hoped that he wasn't scaring her his arm wrapped her hips even more firmly when he heard her speak before he bit down on his lower lip when she stepped closer to him feeling the way that her stomach rubbed against his shaft from her sudden movement.

He looked up at her eyes when she gazed at him before he leaned forward so that his forehead pressed against hers his back arching to get closer to her while he was pretty certain that he could smell that she was becoming aroused herself, and that just made things harder for him.

His hand that wasn't wrapped around her hips then went up her body to cup her face as he stepped forward pushing them both under the water so that it went ran over both their bodies soaking them with the warm water helping to relax their muscles. He was about to say something before he realised something as he gently tilted her head up to make sure that she was looking at his face.

"We never shared names so I'm Ivory, Ivory Litt." He told her softly before his grip on her waist relaxed a little making it so that she would be able to break free if she wanted to.

"I'm not thirsty but I feel like if this goes on for any longer, I will lose control." He started to say before his lips went to her neck but instead of biting, he kissed her skin his fangs only brushing against her "go get out of here now if you don't want this." He urged her lust unmissable in his voice.

It was silly to think that she hadn't know his name until now.

Even though they had met in quite an uncommon name, it hadn't even hit the young lady that she hadn't introduced herself.

Her parents would have scolded her for the mere idea.

Her eyes widened as he introduced himself, her sweet gaze lifting to him as his thumb gently tilted her head. She swallowed, her ears perking up in surprise. "We..." She furrowed her eyebrows and smiled slightly, surprised at herself. "Aria. My name is Aria Reva." Her voice was ever so pretty when she spoke. Her voice was stunning, like a windchime on a sweet summer day. It gently cut through the air in such a sweet harmony that you couldn't help but be mesmerized.

She could feel him up against her, each soft breath of hers pressing up against the erect member that was pushing into her stomach. His arms made him safe as he held her firmly to him, his grasp around her gentle and not too forceful.

Her eyes connect with his as he held her up against him, water showering them in warmth as they grew lost in the moment. She seemed to relax as she looked at him, soft breaths pushing through her lips as he held her close to him.

Aria didn't fully understand the feelings she was feeling. She felt warm, not only from the water but from the inner depths of her body. Her cheeks were stained red, her ears pressing down submissively as she looked at him. She was turned on and she didn't know how to express that.

Yet she didn't truly need to express it to him, after all, his next words were enough to give her the option to express it. She softly lifted her chin as he dipped his head towards her neck, softly planting a kiss against her sensitive skin. She let out a shaky breath, her eyes closing for a moment as he warned her.

Her heart began to pound, her eyes opening once more as she leaned into him, pressing up against him and gently moving onto her tip toes to gently press her lips to his cheek. She didn't need to speak. Her motio n was enough to give away how she felt about it, clearly wanting to stay with him and clearly wanting more than that.

He loved the look of her smiling face when she looked at him it was a relief to see that she was able to smile that he wasn't scaring her right now and when she told him her name, he smiled even stronger. From the feeling of her stomach rubbing against his member from the way that she was breathing he couldn't help but bite down on his lower lip in want.

Part of him was sure that he was just imagining the smell of her arousal, he hadn't smelled it from her before and with how badly he wanted her to want him he was sure that his body was just trying to trick him into taking her. It didn't help with how submissive she was, from the way her ears were drooping low and her face was bright red.

His lips gently moved against her neck as he looked down at her before he stopped when he saw the way that she was starting to move waiting for her to try and break free from him which was why he felt so relieved when she kissed his cheek instead telling him that she wanted this.

"I'm so glad you did that, because I can't hold back any longer." He whispered to her his voice dark with lust before he moved.

It was like a flip had been switched he had quickly gone from moving slowly and carefully to wrapping his arms around her hips more tightly before he picked her up as if she was a paper weight and then he pulled her in so that their hips pressed even more closely to his hard cock rubbing against her core, rubbing against her own arousal as the tip poked free rubbing against her belly making him glance down feeling the way the mound of her soft hairs caressed his length

He walked forward until her back was pressed up against the wall trapping her between it and him. "I want more than just your blood Aria, I want every part of you I want to make you mine." He growled at her his voice full of lust before he leaned forward to claim her lips with his own. The kiss he shared with her conveying all the need he felt towards her.

The feeling of arousal was very much new to Aria.

Yet it spread over her faster than she had ever imagined.

It had taken over her, her heart pounding as she felt his member rubbing up against her stomach. She shyly bit her lip and glanced down, wondering if her heart would pound right out of her chest with how fast it was going. This was all such a new experience and yet she wasn't afraid. No. She was excited.

As she gently leaned up and pressed her lips to his cheek, she surely hoped that she had gotten her message across. Aria hadn't exactly known the proper words to say in a situation like this. Moreso, she was sure that if she spoke she would stumble over her sentences due to how shy she was. Actions speak louder than words, after all.

Shyly, she pulled her lips away and returned back to her feet, no longer standing on her tip toes. Her gaze softly lifted to him as he leaned towards her ear, whispering hotly to her.

I can't hold back any longer.

She swallowed, a knot tightening in her throat as he quickly picked her up and pulled her up against him. She let out a surprised gasp, the pace having increased drastically. He no longer was taking his time, his cock pressing up against her course and teasing at her arousal. She shivered, a shaky noise escaping her lips as she anxiously wrapped her arms around his neck to hold onto him.

She was wet. Wet and clearly not just from the water. He hadn't been incorrect, he could smell her arousal and it was clear with the rubbing of his hard cock against her that she was increasingly growing needy.

Pressed up against the wall, Aria let out a shaky breath, her cheeks stained hot red as he growled at her. She softly leaned into his lips, her eyes falling closed as he took control of her. "I-" She whispered against his lips. "I'm yours." She hummed softly, pressing into his lips and drifting into the passion of the moment.

Now that he knew that she wanted him to he quickly realised that he wasn't imagining the smell of her lust, of her neediness for him. It made his cock throb as he thought about just thrusting into her knowing that she would allow it, that she wanted it as well.

He fought it for as long as he could not wanting to move things too quickly as she was pinned up against the wall "You have no idea how much I wanted to hear you say that." He said against her lips before he quickly deepened their kiss, kissing her with more pressure as he rubbed his tongue against her lips seeking entrance into her mouth.

His hands gripped her ass firmly as they went down from her hips wanting to make sure that his grip was firm enough before he thrust his hips forward making his hard cock rub against her pussy, the tip brushing against her belly smearing precum against her soft skin as his hands then quickly went back up her body again to go to her chest as she was pinned down his fingers needily sinking into the soft skin of her breasts loving how they felt in his hands as his palms rubbed against her nipples his lips never leaving hers lost in his passion for her.

He then broke their kiss but didn't move his face away from hers as he started into her eyes. "You are the most beautiful person that I have ever met, I've never felt like this for anyone else before." He admitted to her his voice full of lust.

Aria's heart had surely never pounded so.

She shivered as she looked into his eyes, the look of lust nearly tangible in his gaze. He wanted her and she was very much aware. Her chest rose as she took a deep breath, the cold tile of the shower against her back.

His kiss sent shivers down her spine, her arms softly wrapping around him as she felt him deepen the kiss. Her eyes drifted closed and her head tilted slightly to the side, deepening as his tongue pushed towards her lips. Gently, her lips opened and allowed it inside, her cheeks hot and red as she felt his tongue up against her own for the first time.

The feeling of his hands on her skin felt hot and passionate, his hands sliding from her hips to grip at her ass roughly as he thrust up against her. A soft hum of surprise escaped her lips as he did so, nearly a moan as she leaned deeper into the kiss.

His hands quickly shifted from her rear to her breasts, gasping as he groped at her breasts and teased at her nipples, her body eagerly responding to him. She let out heavy breaths into the kiss, her cheeks stained hot and red when he pulled away from her to speak. Lifting her gaze, she bit her lip, "I-I've never felt this way either." She admitted, her heart pounding as she looked into his eyes softly, vulnerably.

He smiled back at her as he saw her shiver while looking at him his grin quickly growing larger as he felt her wrap her arms around him his eyes closing with hers as he loved the feeling of her lips moving with his. He tilted his face head slightly too when she opened her mouth to deepen the kiss able to feel the heat coming from her cheeks from their kiss feeling how close their faces were as he rubbed his tongue against hers.

The noise that she let out that sounded like it was caused by a mix of surprise and pleasure as he felt her lean into him. The sound of her gasp made him smirk as his fingers sunk into her breasts more firmly loving the way her soft skin felt in his hands before he noticed the way she looked at him so softly.

His hands gave her breasts a gentle squeeze as he broke their kiss reluctantly glancing down at the trail of spit that connected their lips making him smile loving how breathless she was. "You are so beautiful, so sexy you make me want to just bend you over this shower wall to fuck you until your legs are failing." He growled against her lips before he leaned forward and gently pecked her lips.

"But I know this is your first time, it's my first time too. Our first time." He whispered to her his eyes never leaving hers.

"But I promise that tonight will be painless, that I will get you ready for my cock because I don't want to harm a single hair on that beautiful head of yours." He promised her before he leaned forward to kiss her again but this time, he didn't push his tongue inside of her mouth wanting to give her the chance to initiate it if she wanted it his hands going back to playing with her breasts squeezing them before his fingers found her nipples pinching them teasingly.

Aria wanted to be close to him.

She leaned into his lips, feeling his tongue slide against hers as he deepened the kiss. She let her tongue press up against his, her hair slipping out from over her shoulder as she leaned into the kiss. She could melt against his lips. The wall of the shower was cold and yet Aria didn't feel cold at all as she kissed him.

No one had ever touched her the way he did. Her legs shifted against him slightly as he let his fingers sink into her breasts firmly, groping her as she pulled her lips from his. Heavy breaths escaped her lip as spit trailed from his to hers. She directed her gaze to him, gentle and sweet eyes focused on him as he spoke.

His words set her body afire.

She had never been told anything like that. She blushed deeply and leaned into his lips once more, surprised when it was no more than a peck.

Our first time.

Her ears perked up slightly. She seemed slightly surprised that this was his first time seeing as he was leading the way rather confidently. She smiled, nodding as he reassured her that she wouldn't feel any pain. "Thank you." She whispered before leaning into his lips, wanting to resume where they had left off. Her tongue softly pushed against his lips as if trying to part them as she leaned into him, her body up against his and the wall as she clung to him. She gasped out as he pinched her nipples, her legs tightening around him as she reacted quickly to the feeling, her nipples growing harder in response.

He smiled against her lips as he felt her lean into the kiss, feeling the way that she melted into him as his tongue rubbed against hers a moan of pleasure leaving his lips when she shifted her legs enjoying the friction, she gave him as her heavy breathing made him just want to slam into her and fuck her until she blacks out as he met her gaze.

When she thanked him, he simply smiled at her letting his lust lead him as he felt her lips press against his feeling her tongue brush against his lips making him smirk. It was just what he wanted her to do. He opened his mouth as she moaned before he let his lips seal around her tongue sucking on it as he felt how hard her nipples grew.

"Mine" He growled against her lips before he released her tongue his own tongue quickly coming out to play kissing her possessively while his tongue tangled with hers "tell me how much you want me and I'll tell you the same." He whispered before one of his hands went down from her chest.

It slides down her body rubbing soft circles against her stomach before it reached the point between her legs as he leaned back a little so that his hand could get to her core his finger running through the soft hairs on her crotch before he went even lower eagerly pushing his finger against her sex as he felt how wet she was his thumb rubbing soft circles into her soaked pussy.

Mine.

His rough growl made something tighten in her chest. She swallowed, breathing heavily as he released her kiss. She had never kissed someone in such a way but she had certainly enjoyed it. She enjoyed being intimate with him, an excitement swirling up in her stomach. An excitement she didn't fully understand but still wanted to feel.

She blushed deeply as he spoke once more, his hand traveling down her body as he spoke. Soft circles on her stomach before dipping down in between her legs. Her breaths grew heavier as he teased her crotch. She swallowed, letting her lips part to speak. "I-- I want you really badly." She spoke shyly, her cheeks hotly stained red.

A shaky gasp escaped her mouth as his finger dipped in between her folds, teasing and rubbing circles into her wet pussy. She was clearly wet from water but he could easily recognize that she was quite turned on, eagerly responding to his touch. A soft moan escaped her lips, "Ivory--" She begged his name, her gaze focused on him wantingly. She couldn't help herself, biting her lip anxiously to try and conceal the noises she was making.

He smiled back at her happily when he saw how happy she was to be intimate with him loving the sight of her blushing face as he heard her breathing grow faster as he rubbed her crotch with his hand hearing her swallow loving his reaction to him teasing her. In reply to her words, he as she told him how much she wanted him he simply leaning forward to gently kiss her lips.

The gasp she let out making his cock pulse as he saw the way that she looked at him feeling how soaked her pussy was for him before he moved his hand up her face when he caught the way she was trying to hide her moans one of his hands staying down between her legs the other hand going to her face as he pushed his thumb between her lips not wanting her to silence her moans anymore.

"I don't want you to hide your moans for me." He whispered into her ear his thumb rubbing against her core more firmly before he thrust his thumb forward pushing the digit deep inside of her pussy. "You are just so beautiful Aria, I want you to touch me too, tell me do you want to play with my cock?" He asked her whispering the words into her ears before he let his lips attack her neck except, he made sure not to bite down on her neck hard enough to draw blood only biting down hard enough to leave a hickey on her pale skin.

This was all so new and exciting to Aria, her heart pounding as she was pressed up against the wall in such a position, her arms still tightly wrapped around Ivory so that she wouldn't fall, her legs around his waist. She shivered a bit as took control of the situation, her ears pressed down to her head as he leaned in and kissed her back. That was enough, he didn't need words to tell her how he felt, his kiss passionate and loving and very much portraying his want for her.

She let out a shaky breath as he pulled his lips away from her and started to touch her again, his finger between her legs making her pussy throb in pleasure. Her legs shifted slightly around him, her cheeks staining deeper as he pushed his thumb into her mouth. She swallowed, her lips parted as she looked at him.

I don't want you to hide your moans for me

She most certainly couldn't, a shaky moan escaping her lips as he rubbed up against her more firmly before suddenly thrusting his finger into her pussy. Her back arched and her legs tightened around him in response, her breaths heavier. "I-I do." She nodded, her hand slipping from around him nervously to move down towards his member, her heart pounding as he fingers wrapped around it. It was a hard movement in the position that she was in, her other arm still holding onto him for security as her fingers started to rub against his cock, first shyly but finding the proper movement right as he leaned into her neck and started to kiss it.

Each kiss he placed on her skin brought about another shaky breath or hum, her reactions quiet and shy but effective. She responded quite eagerly to him, her body unable to hide it's reactions to him. She let out a shaky hum of pleasure as he bit into her neck, not sucking her blood but instead forcing a bruise, surprising her just a little bit as he bit and sucked on the sore spot.

He smiled back at her as he saw the way that she was pinned against him, hearing her hate race as he saw her shiver looking at the rise and fall of her breasts with eyes full of lust. Eyes full of need he wanted her so badly.

The feeling of her pussy throbbing against his finger had him grinning as he felt her legs shiver loving the way that her cheeks gained a greater flush as he pushed his digit into her mouth feeling the way she swallowed.

She seemed to get what he meant when he heard her moan loving the way that her back arched making his attention go to her breasts as he saw the way that her breathing became faster feeling the way that her legs wrapped around his hips.

When he felt her hand wrap around the length of his cock, he quickly moaned loving the feeling of her fingers wrapped around him as he saw how shy she was. He wasn't upset about her shyness quite the opposite it was just endearing to him about her. It made him want to pull her into his arms and protect her to make sure that no one could threaten her, her body however made him want to fuck her until she was a drooling mess, until she was filled to the brim with his seed.

He gently nipped at her neck as he kissed it enjoying her reactions, liking the way that she shivered underneath him as he heard her moan and hum out of pleasure biting as he made sure to mark her in hickies before he lifted his head up so that his face was level with hers his eyes meeting hers.

He pulled his hand back so that only the bridge of his knuckle was inside of her before he thrust it forward pushing the digit deep inside of her again his eyes never leaving hers watching for her reaction.

"My Aria I'm going to ask you this now before I'm unable to ask any more questions. Do you want to be taken right here and now, or do you want me to bring you over to a bed to claim you in?" He asked her as he pulled his thumb out of her mouth waiting for her reaction his hand gently cupping her face.

She needed him as much as he needed her.

With the way he was teasing her body, Aria could hardly think straight. She shivered against him in pleasure, her body beyond responsive to each time he touched her. She didn't seem to be able to hide it either, each response making it very clear that she wanted this. She wanted to be his.

Ivory had quickly taken control, which was good for Aria who was still figuring herself out. She was a very shy girl and taking initiative didn't seem to be her highest skill. Yet once he had guided her hand to his member, she slowly began rubbing, blushing as he moaned out in pleasure.

Quickly, her fingers would begin to explore his length, rubbing up and down from the tip towards the base, slowly beginning to find a decent rhythm. Due to the wetness of their shower, she didn't need anything to help her smoothly rub up and down it, her hand easily gliding along it. It was warm, a feeling that she had never felt before. She could feel him twitch against her as he enjoyed the feeling of her hand against him.

Yet she didn't have a ton of time to focus on the feeling. Feeling him nip at her neck, biting and kissing it roughly, Aria let out soft moans, gentle hums as she shifted against him. Her skin was sensitive, red marks already forming along her pale skin as he marked her as his territory and no one else's.

"I-Ivory--" She moaned out as he pulled his hand back only to thrust his finger back in but deeper, her cheeks stained red as she moaned out in pleasure. Her breaths were growing heavy, her body clearly growing more and more increasingly turned on. She was getting needy, unable to hold back. "I- I want you." She begged softly as he removed his finger from her mouth. "I want it now. I want you, Ivory." She said softly, her cheeks stained red but the look in her eyes clear.

As he felt her fingers explore the length of his cock, he was quick to moan as he felt the way she rubbed him, his tip twitching slightly as she rubbed the tip precum leaking onto her fingers as he attacked her neck with kisses.

"you're so pretty Aria, your beautiful when you blush." He whispered against her neck looking the sight of her neck covered in hickeys that told anyone that looked at her that she belonged to him. Vampires were always territorial, possessive towards their mates and being a dhampire he wasn't an exception to that.

He loved the way that she moaned out his name as he thrust his finger deeper inside of her loving the clear pleasure that was on her face as he felt her wetness with his fingers and in reply to her words, her begging he simply smiled at her pulling his finger out of her before he moved it up to his face. "And you're going to have me my Aria." He whispered to her before he pushed his finger into his mouth licking it clean as he felt like he could get addicted to the taste of her.

Once he was done tasting her, he leaned forward to claim her lips with his kissing her passionately as he gripped his cock with one hand the other cupping her face, with his hand he aligned the tip of his cock with her pussy.

"Tell me one more time do you want this, Aria?" He asked her keeping himself from thrusting into her "because we can't go back from this." He told her his eyes never leaving hers as he pressed his temple against hers leaning into her.

He thought she was beautiful.

To most, nekomimi weren't beautiful.

Cute.

Aria had never been called beautiful. She didn't think it was a word that could be used to describe her. Her chest tightened as he spoke, her hand pausing it's rubbing as she blushed deeply. The butterflies in her stomach were running rampant again. She could feel them eagerly buzzing around, swirling up her stomach. She wanted to be his and only his. Vampires were possessive but Aria wanted to be possessed by him, she didn't want anyone else. All that existed was him in her eyes.

Yet she didn't have a ton of time to focus on one specific thing, gasping out as he pulled his fingers out of her and moved it towards his own lips, pushing it into his lips to taste her. Her cheeks stained deeper, watching as he licked and tasted her juices. Such an action was new to her, a flustered expression on his face as he tasted her.

She sunk into his lips, her hand shifting around his neck and rubbing his shoulder and back as he firmly gripped his cock and lined it up with her pussy. She shivered, letting her hand slip away from his cock, moving back to his body as she leaned deeply into the kiss. She wanted to be close to him, her pussy wanted him. She shivered a bit as he lined it up, the tip hovering so close to her entrance.

"I want this." She confirmed, her eyes focused on him earnestly. "I-- I really want you, Ivory." She whispered, her body still sandwiched between him and the wall. She swallowed and leaned in to kiss him once more, hoping to tell him how much she wanted him. She was serious, she wanted to do this.

He meant it when he called her beautiful it wasn't just to make her blush but he couldn't deny that he liked her reaction. She was cute, and pretty, and so sexy he meant his words no one had ever left him this needy before. Whether it was his marking of her or just them sharing a steamy shower he didn't know for sure what was causing this but he didn't care. Not with the way that she was looking into his eyes.

He simply smirked at her when she blushed from him tasting his finger knowing that he would be enjoying flustering her in the future too. "You taste so addicting." He whispered to her as they kissed feeling the way she shivered as he felt both of her hands on his upper body loving the way she melted into their kiss. The way she even tried to deepen it.

When she told him that she wanted it too he simply smiled back at her loving the way she looked into his eyes. "Your mine." He whispered against her lips when she kissed him part of him loving how she was starting to initiate stuff.

He was unable to hold back any longer, and he didn't want. He wanted her.

His hand gripped his cock more firmly as he pushed the tip against her slick walls feeling how soft her entrance was, feeling how soaked she was before he started to slowly move forward. As his lips kissed hers, he carefully pushed forward starting off by pushing just the tip inside of her before he added more going inch by inch until his cock was bottoming out inside of her.

From her tightness he moaned against her lips as he slowed the kiss down to simply brushing his lips against hers as he waited for her to get used to his size.

The two of them certainly had some sort of chemistry. It was undeniable. From the moment they had first met, they had both had a chemistry that was surprising, though neither of them were aware of it. Aria certainly wasn't aware of it. She was more focused on the fact that she was his and that she hoped that it wouldn't change.

Her hands slid down his back affectionately as he whispered loving affection into their kiss, her eyes soft and focused on him. She wanted him so badly and she certainly didn't want to look away from him. She leaned into his neck, planting gentle kisses along his neck and shoulder. Unlike his marking, she simply planted sweet kisses along his skin, teasing at the sensitive neck affectionately.

Yet she seemed to pause, lifting her head and letting out a gasp as he pushed the tip against her entrance. She shivered, her legs wide from the position he was holding her in, an easy entrance. She softly leaned into his lips, closing her eyes as he pushed the tip in. She was tight. Very tight. Her hands clasped at his back slightly as he slowly began to move into her, taking his time to let her adjust.

As he had promised, it hadn't hurt. While it was a discomforting feeling at first, he handled her body carefully, not causing her pain by taking it slow. She let out a slight whimper of a moan, her legs shifting against him as he finished, his entire cock resting inside of her as he kissed her. Her body adjusted quickly, heavy breaths pushing through her nose as she grew lost in the distraction of the kiss. Before she knew it, she didn't even feel uncomfortable with him inside, her body easily adjusted to fit his large size.

She looked at him with so much care and devotion that it made him just want to hold onto her and never let go she was his. For a moment he tensed from the feeling of her lips kissing his neck and shoulder before he quickly relaxed loving her affections.

His eyes quickly went to her eyes when he heard her gasp making sure that it wasn't a sound made from pain as he felt how tightly she squeezed his cock for a moment he was worried that he was hurting her, but she didn't look like she was in pain. He glanced down between her open legs as he pushed the rest of his length inside of her committing the sight of her to memory as the moment that he was fully inside of her he stopped moving feeling her hands on his shoulder as he heard the whimper that she let out but it didn't sound like a pained whimper.

With his hands free he moved one hand to her hips holding onto her closely as the other went to her face cupping it as he held her with care before he leaned forward to gently press his lips against hers again, kissing her with care their embrace lacking any real lust. Only devotion and care.

Aria had no doubt that Ivory would take care of her. Even in such a moment, he was able to show restraint in order to make sure she didn't feel even an ounce of pain. Such consideration was clear. She couldn't help but be very grateful to him, grateful for the fact that he was willing to protect her and wanted to spend time with her. She trusted him, trusted that he would never hurt her in any way within his control.

She shivered as he pushed his entire length into her. He was bigger than she expected. Or at least, he felt bigger now that he was pushing into her, his length making her feel rather small. Her body was tight and unused, taking some time to adjust accordingly to his size and girth.

She sweetly leaned up into his kiss, her eyes falling closed as he held her tenderly. He touched her as if she were made of glass. Glass that was fragile. If he moved too soon she may crack. She had never been touched in such a gentle way, her eyes softening as he pulled his lips away from her, his forehead pressing against her own.

Her gaze connected with his as he whispered sweetly to her. Her breaths softened after a moment, her body growing used to him and his size. "I.. I'm ready." She said, her pussy wet and eager for him, eager to have her excitement satisfied and his as well.

There was something about her shivering under him as he thrust into her that just stoked his lust for her. Then again, he was finding that a lot about her was stoking his lust for her and her tightness didn't help as he felt how she squeezed him loving the way that she leaned into their shared embrace.

He simply smiled back at her happily when she told him that she was ready as he felt how soaked she was his lips pressing against her cheek in a gentle kiss. "You feel so good Aria." He whispered to her before he leaned forward to claim her lips again his tongue rubbing against her lower lip seeking entrance into her mouth.

His hands gripped her hips firmly making sure that he was holding onto her securely as he barely noticed the water running down their bodies his hips pulling back as his cock slid out of her until only the tip remained before he thrust forward again pushing his cock deep inside of her like it was before. It felt like it was where he was supposed to be.

"Mine." He whispered against her lips possessively as he stayed deep inside of her for a moment before he started to slowly pull out of her again repeating the moment from before as he fell into a slow pace. Part of him wanted to just slam into her over and over again but he wanted to get her used to his size first then he can go wild.

Ivory had a way with her that was very much unbeknownst to Aria.

He had a chemistry with her. She was a shy girl and yet he was easily bringing her out of her comfort zone. Perhaps it was because he was willing to be so gentle with her, not minding explaining things to her and slowing down if need be. Even in such a situation most guys would want to ravage and thrust roughly, yet he was controlling himself as to take it at her pace.

You feel so good

She blushed deeply as he whispered against her cheek, moving to kiss her once more. She shifted into the kiss, closing her eyes and humming softly. "You do too..." She whispered softly against his lips. "I want to be yours." She said sweetly before leaning into the kiss, easily letting his tongue push into her mouth.

She shivered as he gripped her hips and lifted her, pulling out before pushing back into her. She let out a soft moan at the feeling of him filling her up once more, his member sitting deep inside her as he held her there for a moment. Heavy breaths escaped her nose as she kissed him, her breaths unsteady as he began to pull out of her again and started to find a pace.

Each thrust brought another soft moan, her lips connecting with his as she hummed out in pleasure. "Yours... All yours." She confirmed, leaning back into the kiss, her hands travelling his back as she leaned into it, her movements and reactions letting him know that she was growing more used to it, enjoying it rather than feeling pain. While it had taken a few moments, she was acclimating rather well.

As she blushed again, he simply smiled against her lips as she kissed him back, his eyes closing with hers to let himself get lost in their kiss as he enjoyed the way that she let his tongue inside of her mouth without any kind of resistance his tongue eagerly seeking out hers as he let his tongue play with hers coaxing it over to him as his hips slowly moved.

He loved the sound of her moans as he felt the way that her pussy squeezed his cock almost as if it was trying to make him reach his limit straight away. As if it was trying to milk him of his cum. He loved her breathlessness as he kissed her hearing her hum before his smile against her lips quickly grow larger when she confirmed his words his lips reluctantly leaving hers to kiss her temple as he felt her lean into his thrust almost telling him that she wanted more.

Wanting to take things further he leaned forward to press his lips against her neck, gently nibbling on her skin as he pulled out of her before he slammed his hips forward again pushing deep inside of her this time thrusting more roughly as he started to move quicker since she was enjoying it. "I'm going to protect you always my Aria, I'm never going to let anyone touch you but me." He promised her his hands going to her hands his fingers threading through hers before he pinned them to the wall lost in the feeling of having her close to him.

Drifting into the heat of the kiss, her tongue teased against his own, beginning to play with it as he continued to slowly thrust into her. Each thrust brought out a soft moan of pleasure, her body beyond responsive to him. Each action he took had an equal opposite reaction from her. She couldn't hide it at all, giving him every soft moan, shaky breath and more.

She gasped out as he pulled his lips away from hers, her head leaning forwards as he thrust into her more. "Mmmm" She moaned out in pleasure. Her chin raising as he moved towards her neck, starting to nibble on her one more. She was sinking into the pleasure of it when he slammed his hips forwards roughly, a loud shaky moan escaping her lips. It had been the lewdest noise she had made so far, her head falling backwards a bit as he started to speed up.

Aria let out shaky moans as he began to thrust into her roughly, her cheeks stained red with color. His fingers intertwined with her own, pushing them above her head before pinning them to the wall, leaving her vulnerable to his every move. Lost in pleasure, lost in his lust for her. "You feel so good my love." He told her groans of pleasure leaving his lips.

"Tell me you're feeling good too, I want to make sure you're feeling good too, I'm going to make you mine by filling you with my cum." He whispered against her neck his mouth being gentler as he kissed her neck only nipping lightly before he kissed down his lips pressing against her collar bone. "Do you want me to get rougher? Tell me what you want." He ordered before he sucked on her collar bone nipping it lightly loving the sight of her blushing face.

His thrusts started to grow faster as he felt how easily she was taking his cock now, his fingers threading with hers gently as he felt them pull a little trying to sooth her by holding her hands with care as he fucked his lover. "tell me how you want to be woken up tomorrow? I'm giving you permission to do anything you want to me. I'm yours and your mine." Ivory certainly had a way with her, patiently guiding the naive nekomimi while he had his way with her. She gasped out as he praised her. "Y-You do too... You feel--" her voice cut off as he noted that he was going to fill her with his cum. "You feel really good..."

She seemed to be getting much more into it, her moans growing slightly louder as he began to kiss and nip on her neck and collarbone. "Mhm-- I-I want it harder." She bit her lip hard, flustered and overwhelmed by the level of pleasure she was beginning to feel.

His thrusts sped up, her hands tightening around his as he threaded his fingers with her. Her hand pulled into a tight fist as he thrust into her roughly, sliding in and out of her. "I--" She started, her voice cracking as he began to suck on her nipple. Her voice broke into another moan. "I-I want to make you feel good. I-I want to please you, Ivory." The feeling of him speeding up drove her crazy. While she heard his words, she gasped out in pleasure each time he roughly slammed into her, struggling to speak. Her head fell against his shoulder and her hands shook against his back in pleasure, clinging to him to her best ability. She couldn't even catch her breath, her moans filling up the shower as he continued to plow into her.

She shivered, her toes curling in pleasure as he continued to play with her, biting at her nipple and teasing her. "I--I would--" She let out a breathy moan, her cheeks stained red. "Wa-wake you with my mouth." She moaned out hotly, her ears pressing down in embarrassment. She gasped out, "I-I would suck on you until you felt so good that y-you just had to wake up."

With the way he was slamming into her, it started to become abundantly clear that Aria may not last much longer. Her pussy began to clench around his cock, tightening as she grew closer and closer to her climax, struggling to hold back. He felt her shiver underneath him loving how clear her pleasure was on her face, loving her.

When she told him that she would please him with her mouth to wake him up he smirked his lips leaving her breasts kissing up her body before he kissed her lips one of his hands cupping her face as the other gripped her hips. He moaned as he felt the way she got tighter as he felt the way she clenched around his cock his thrusts only becoming more quick, more erratic as a sign that he was getting close to his own orgasm. "Cum for me Aria, I'm going to cum too lets cum together." He whispered into her ear before he kissed her lips again thrusting into her a couple more times before he found himself finishing his cum busting deep inside of her as he made sure that she came too by moving one of his hands between her legs to rub her clit firmly with his thumb.

Aria's face lit up as he teased her about saying it with a straight face. She had barely mustered the courage to say it, her flustered expression only growing as he continued to tease her with his actions, gentle kisses traveling along her body. "S-Shush--" She whined in complaint, though he continued by telling her that he wanted her to do that if she were to wake up first. Her cheeks grew even hotter, her eyes falling closed as she leaned into the kiss.

She had always been a shy girl. There were many less nekomimi boys statistically, though occasionally one would be born. Outside of nekomimi, most other creatures were higher on the pecking order of society than them. That meant that most other males were slightly scary simply due to the fact that they were dangerous and had power over their race. Then again, vampires were near the top of the pecking order in society, amongst the strongest only challenged by mages, warlocks, and werewolves.

She let out a shaky moan as he continued to speed up, his erratic speed overwhelming her. "O-Okay--" She shuddered as he continued thrusting. She didn't seem like she would be able to hold back even if she wanted to, her legs squirming around him as she reached her climax. Her toes curled and she moaned as his hands moved down to rub her clit, only lengthening her climax as she moaned against him, her own juices mixing with his inside of her.

He grinned back at her when she told him to shush loving how cute she was when she complained knowing that she wasn't serious knowing that she was putty in his hands, that she was his especially as she blushed again and leaned into the kiss, he gave her. He knew she loved the attention he gave her and well he loved to spoil her like this.

"you're so beautiful I'm going to make sure you spend every night, every morning making sure you know it." He promised her as he felt the way she squirmed underneath him, as he felt the way that her pussy got even tighter around him as they both came together his cock throbbing deep inside of her as he finished filling her with his warm seed.

He took a moment to catch his breath as he finished cumming his kiss becoming gentler as he kissed her softly before he broke their kiss resting his forehead against hers his hand cupping her face. "Aria, I love you." He whispered to her not pulling out of her just yet as he looked into her eyes his free hand resting on her hips while he held her up against the wall protectively.

His words were sweeter than she had ever heard anyone tell her before. She blushed softly and looked into his eyes, her body filled to the brim with his juices as he held her there. She let out heavy breaths and nodded. "Me too... I want you --" She let out a shaky breath, her body tired from the interaction, "I want to spend every day showing you how much I care about you."

She gently leaned into the kiss, her eyes falling closed and only opening once more when he pulled away and pushed his forehead to hers. Both of their bodies were warm, water still trickling down their skin. Mostly his though as she was against the wall. She blushed deeply and leaned to press her lips to his once more. "I love you too."

She had never said words like that before. Well, she had to her mother and father but that certainly was a different type of love. Butterflies swirled in her stomach anxiously as she had finally said it to someone that mattered. He mattered. He was all that mattered in this moment and she hoped she never had to leave his side.

After a little bit of cleaning up, the two would make their way to bed. They both needed the rest especially after such an active session. Curled up against him, Aria would quickly fall asleep, relaxing in his arms once more.

He smiled at her happily when she blushed loving how heavy her breathing was it was a sign that he did well as he held her lose listening to her speak with eyes full of care while they kissed feeling the way that she leaned into him even as he rested his forehead against hers eagerly kissing her back when she leaned forward to kiss him happy to hear that she loved him too.

And he definitely loved the way that she was getting more confident the way that she was starting to kiss him unprovoked was amazing to him as he held her close his hands rubbing soft circles into the skin of her back having never heard those words before, having never said it before. He wasn't even sure if he loved his vampire mother. He definitely didn't think that she loved him.

But with her he didn't care about anything else as he leaned forward to gently peck her lips before he helped with the clean up taking care that she was as clean as possibly even holding her under the shower as his hands helped to clean the area between her legs before he carried her to the bedroom.

The moment he reached the bed he flopped down pulling her into him as he cuddled her until he felt her all asleep against him making him smile. "Sleep well my Aria, my love." He whispered to her before he kissed her temple and he let himself fall asleep as well the blanket being pulled over them both.

Rest came to her much quicker than normal.

Sweet sleep kissed at her eyes and brought dreams to her once more.

She hadn't slept well in a long while, her dreams usually filled with nightmares of being caught. She had always feared it and today it had finally happened. Without him she would have never been able to sleep so sweetly and peacefully. She nuzzled into his chest, listening to the sound of his breaths as he held her to him.

She seemed to be rather peaceful in his arms, her ears occasionally twitching and her tail curling around her leg sleepily. She was safe in his arms and with him there to protect her, she knew no one else would hurt her or bring harm to her. She was always safe if she was by his side.

As morning peeked in through the windows, Aria's eyes fluttered open tiredly. She lifted her head and blushed as she noticed he was still sleeping, his chest tiredly rising and falling. He looked peaceful. She gently leaned up and kissed his forehead softly, pushing his hair back. "Good morning." She whispered, biting her lip as she remembered their promise. She swallowed and moved the blanket off of them.

Crawling in between his legs, she softly leaned down and took his member into her mouth, starting to suck his cock so that he would wake to the pleasure he had asked for. She softly bobbed up and down on it until it grew hard in response, starting to tease and pleasure him dotingly.

He smiled as he fell asleep with her in his arms sleeping like the dead as he felt her body cling to his loving the way that she felt in his arms as his hands rubbed soft circles into her back while they both slept. His nature was to sleep late after all, he may not get burned by the sunlight like his mother but that didn't mean that he didn't share any traits with the woman. He smiled in his sleep when she kissed his temple his hand cupping her face out of reflex before it released her again.

He groaned slightly when the blanket was pulled off of him as he felt the loss of warmth, missing the feeling of her body pressed up against his more then he missed the blanket before he was quickly placated by the feeling of her lips wrapping around his cock moaning loudly in his sleep as she sucked him off and started to bob her head up and down on his hard length.

"Yeah, just like that my love." He moaned in his sleep before he slowly opened his eyes feeling like the could fall in love with the sight of her lips wrapped around his length as she leaned forward between his legs.

"Hey good morning, Aria, I thought you might be too shy for this." He admitted to her as he leaned forward using his hand to keep her hair out of her face as he let her, please him however she wanted.

While shy, Aria certainly enjoyed to please.

She was an utter people pleaser and over that, there was no one she wanted to make happier than him. So while shy, when she had remembered his request, she found it rather hard to not fulfill it. She bit her lip and anxiously moved down in between his legs. Her heart was pounding. She swallowed and glanced back up at him, making sure he was still resting as she placed her hand on his member and started to arouse him.

It started by placing the tip in her mouth, her hair slipping to hide her face as she began to bob up and down. She blushed as he moaned out in his sleep, still not fully awake as she found a rhythm of sucking his cock. It was a strange sensation for her, yet she didn't personally dislike it. Moreso, she liked his reactions. He urged her further as he praised her in his sleep, opening his eyes tiredly.

Her gaze lifted, her ears perking up and her cheeks growing ever so slightly red as she continued, taking his cock into her mouth deeply with each movement. She paused for a moment and swirled her tongue around the tip of his member, trying out and testing different things for new reactions. Her tongue slowly teased the tip, focusing all of it's attention on it for several moments before lowering and taking as much of his member into her mouth, working hard to please him.

He sighed in pleasure during his sleep as he felt her soft hand grip the length of his cock loving the dotting service, she was giving him as even in his sleep he was receptive to everything she did to him loving the way that she took the tip of his cock inside of her mouth before he started to bob her head up and down his thick cock dripping precum into her mouth into her mouth.

He smiled back at her when he was awake able to quickly work out what was happening with was why he smiled at her full of love. "Just like that honey your doing so well." He praised her as he moved one of his hands to her chest giving one of her breasts a firm squeeze to try and give her some pleasure in return for her pleasing him. "How did you sleep my love?"

As he spoke, he used his free hand to grip the back of her head keeping her hair out of her face for her while she sucked his cock. "How about when your done I can return the favour I want to make you feel good too." He told her right as he pinched her nipple firmly with his finger wanting to make her feel good as she pleased him.

Aria had never done anything like this. It was much bolder than she normally would ever be. Yet since he had requested it, she wanted and hoped to make his dreams come true. Affectionately, she would slide her mouth along his member, servicing him well as his precum dripped into her mouth. She swallowed and continued, swirling her tongue and licking along all the way from the base.

Seeing him smiling, Aria's gaze lifted, her cheeks hot and red as he praised her. She clearly enjoyed making him happy. It was that alone that urged her on, wanting to please him in any way shape or form possible. She gasped out against his member as he squeezed her breast, taking his member out of her mouth to speak to him. "W-Well... I don't think I've ever slept better." She admitted, her gaze falling back to the cock she was servicing.

Leaning back down, she continued to move up and down, her lips sliding along his member affectionately now much faster. She hummed against it as he pinched her nipple, giving a slight "Mhmmmm" in response to his question. But now she couldn't focus on that. She was focused entirely on making him happy, hoping she could bring him to his climax.

He moaned as he felt her mouth slide down his cock, if he didn't know already that it was her first-time last night then he would have thought that she was experienced with how well she was pleasing him but it seemed like eagerness really did make a bit difference and he knew that he would never trade her for anyone else especially as she looked up at him loving how red her cheeks were making him grin back at her.

Her gasp made his cock twitch from the vibration his hand resting on her breast while she spoke smiling as he heard her words. "Aria from now on I'm going to make sure that you spend every night falling asleep in my arms." He promised her with a smile his fingers running through her hair before he went back to enjoying the pleasure, she gave him letting out louder moans as she got faster loving the way that she bobbed her head up and down.

"Fuck yeah just like that." He told her as he felt her hmm her every noise sending vibrations along his cock that made his pleasure grow higher and higher. "Aria I'm going to cum soon, keep doing what you're doing and I'm going to fill your beautiful mouth with cum." He told her as he let his hand go to her other breast giving her a firm squeeze before his fingers found her nipple pinching it hard enough that she wouldn't be able to ignore the sensation.

For Aria, this was mostly experimenting. She had very little clue on how to pleasure him in reality. She had never done anything like this and quite frankly she knew very little about sex prior to their experience. As she sucked his cock, she seemed to pay a lot of attention to his reactions, taking note of what he liked so that she could please him. Her eagerness was certainly a quality that was clear, her goal being to please in most cases.

As he spoke, Aria's gaze lifted. His words were pure and sweet and were everything she truly needed to hear. She was safe. Moreso, it was a promise that she could trust him and rely on him. She didn't have to worry about being abandoned. She hoped that she could forever be by his side as she was already falling quite hard for him.

His praise was a warning on it's own, his pleasure increasing to where his cock was beginning to twitch and throb in her mouth. Of course, his warning was also necessary, as the young nekomimi was still learning the different sensations and warning signs of his member. She sped up as he pinched her nipple, her eyes widening as she moaned out. As she moaned against his member her lips vibrating, easily bringing him to his climax.

His moans were loud as he felt her eagerness to please him, loving the way she doted on him as he smiled back on her feeling the way she sped up with her mouth loving the way that her soft lips massaged his cock precum dripping into her mouth as he thought about pleasing her himself once he came wanting to return the favour for her. Wanting to please her. He let one of his hands relax on the back of her head gently running his fingers through her soft hair his palm rested on her cheek gently as his other hand gently played with her soft breast.

The feeling of her moaning against his cock was what brought him to the edge as he wasn't able to hold back any longer the vibrations bringing him to the edge keeping him from being able to hold back any longer. He wanted to get her permission before he came inside of her mouth not wanting to upset her but the sudden pleasure was too much for him his hand gripping her hair more firmly while he finished filling her mouth with his cum, his thick warm load filling her mouth completely as he let out a loud moan his hand squeezing her breasts much like her hair while he came before he slowly caught his breath.

Slowly he let his hand relax from her hair not gripping her hard enough to keep her head still just to cling to her not wanting to let go of her. "I'm sorry I didn't mean to cum in your mouth, you just did so well." He told her softly his fangs were slowly starting to grow as he leaned forward his hands gripping her hips once she pulled off of him to gently set her down on his lap "I'm sorry I don't have anything for you to spit into so I can take you into the bathroom or you can swallow it." He told her softly his fangs glistening. He was hungry but he was still able to control himself he would have a couple days before he would start to lose control.

The feeling of his member throbbing in her mouth was strange and new, her eyes widening as his fingers gripped her hair firmly and held her to the base of his member. She tried her best to relax her throat as his thick warm load exploded into her mouth. It shot down her throat and filled her mouth, some slipping out of her lips as he reached his climax into her mouth. She swallowed softly, the salty taste overwhelming as he pulled his member from her lip. She shook her head, swallowing what she could, only a little dripping down her lips and chin. Heavy breaths pushed through her lips and she moved off of him, letting him set her down on his lap.

"I-It's okay..." She said softly, still out of breath. Her cheeks were stained red, not only from embarrassment but also from the amount of effort it took. She swallowed and looked at him, rubbing the excess cum from her lips before leaning her head on his chest. "Good morning, Ivory." She said softly, her gaze soft and loving.

"Did I do alright?" She asked after a moment, knowing that she may have done poorly as it had been her first time. She looked up at him, her ears perked up attentively as she shifted on his lap, curious about whether she had done well enough with pleasing him the way he had asked for.

He moaned as he filled her mouth loving the pleasure, she gave him as he watched he swallow his cum. There was something about it that filled his thoughts full of lust her heavy breathing reminding him of what they had done together last night as he let her rest on his lap. Even if they weren't being intimate there was just something comforting about having her on his lap of having her on his body. His hand moved up her body to gently cup her face as he watched her clean her lips of cum. "good morning my love, you did amazing, you are amazing." He told her softly as he felt her shift on top of his lap.

His gaze wasn't quite as innocent as hers was but it was still just as soft, just as loving as he leaned forward to claim her lips softly with his own his hand sliding down from her face to wrap around her hips hugging her body close to his chest not wanting to let go off her never wanting to let go off her. Their kiss was only gentle as he held her in his arms his lips slowly moving against hers before he pushed her down onto her back his body straddling hers.

Slowly he broke their kiss and let his lips kiss her cheek before his lips went down to her neck playfully nipping at her skin "I love you Aria and now I want to return the favour, it's my turn to make you feel good." He whispered to her his lips continued to kiss her neck as his hands went to her breasts gently squeezing them while his lips then switched to her collar to playfully nip at her soft skin.

Their relationship was growing with each day, each minute that they spent together.

Aria felt safe with him, resting against him as he gently held her and let her rest for at least a bit. She smiled softly as she regained her composure, her breaths growing steadier and less ragged slowly. She smiled softly and lifted her gaze as he cupped her face, lifting her gaze up. His praise seemed to make her happy, her lips tugging upwards. "I'm glad...I was trying my best."

She blushed softly as he leaned into her lips, her eyes falling closed as she leaned into his affectionately. It was a sweet kiss, not overly passionate but intimate and sweet as his hands wrapped around her and pulled her up against him before pushing her to lay down onto her back. She looked up at him with a blush, her hair sprawled along the bed messily. She looked sweet like this underneath him, her gaze focused up on him.

As he pulled from her lips, she let out a shaky breath with each nip, her chin lifting softly for him. Her neck was covered in the tiny bruises from the night before, her skin easily stained with the marks he had caused. "I love you too--" She said softly, gasping out as he kissed her neck playfully and massaged at her breasts, easily beginning to turn her body on.

"I want to taste you." He told her after lightly nipping at her nipple his mouth sucking on her to soothe her before he did the exact same to her other breast his hand teasing her nipple. His kisses then continued to move downward. His lips kissing her stomach his tongue leaving his mouth to push inside of her belly button before he continued to kiss downwards his hand sliding up her body to squeeze her breasts with both his hands.

His lips then then continued to kiss downwards as he reached her crotch his lips kissing her mound feeling the light blonde hair that framed her entrance perfectly as he felt the way her arousal made them damp before he moved down further kissing her thighs as if he was rubbing a doormat before he let his lips go too her arousal giving her crotch a playful kiss before he pushed his tongue forward licking her before he moaned loving her taste.

She shifted, her tail curling and swaying in pleasure as he planted tiny sweet kisses down her body. She was ever so sensitive, her stomach pulling in as she took a sharp breath as he teased it, her legs squeezing together so slightly.

As he moved lower and lower, she shyly parted her legs, spreading them for him as he kissed at her mound and teased her damp arousal. She had clearly gotten turned on by pleasuring him and his advancements, her body eagerly responsive to him. She couldn't help it, seemingly wanting to please him more than anything.

She gasped out as he kissed at her thighs, teasing and winding her up. It was clear she was enjoying herself, soft hums of pleasure escaping her as he worshipped her body, pleasuring her. Aria shivered weakly as he teased at her body, twisting and twirling his tongue around her sensitive bits. It was clear that he was figuring her out slowly but surely. She couldn't help herself. As he figured out the different things that made her tick, it was much easier to overwhelm the small girl with the pleasure that he wanted to provide her. Just as she had, he was able to find new ways to make her beg for it, leaving her helpless to the sheer amount of pleasure he was pushing onto her.

"I-Ivoryyy-- you feel so good--" She whimpered through moans as he pushed his tongue even deeper into her, his lips vibrating against her folds as he teased and rubbed at her clit. Her toes curled as pleasure crashed over her, her back arching as she began to reach the climax. She moaned out as she orgasmed, her juices spurting forwards from her pussy as he rewarded her earlier efforts with a pleasure much like that of the night before.

Moments later she was laying breathing heavily as she came down from such a high feeling. Her head still fuzzy and her breaths unsteady, she looked at him, "W-Wow..." She muttered, not seeming able to say much else as she came down from the intense pleasure he had given her.

Breathing heavily, Aria found the wave slowly pulling away, coming down from the intense pleasure that she had felt. It had come and swelled with such passion as he gently leaned up and reminded her, lifting her chin so he could kiss her. She softly wrapped her arms around him and cuddled into him, her head leaning against his chest, her eyes lifting up to him with a hazy sweet look as she came down from the pleasure.

"Mmmm Good morning Ivory." She smiled up at him sweetly, her gaze lingering as she noticed the sharp fangs having formed in his teeth. She paused, unsure of herself before she looked at him. "You can drink whenever you like...." She noted softly, sitting up slightly as she looked at him. "I don't want you to starve yourself. I'll... be okay. I just might be a little more tired." She smiled sweetly, clearly wanting to care for him.

After all, Ivory had taken her under his wing. He was taking care of her in a way that no one other than her family ever had. And even the way her family had cared for her had been different from the way that he was taking care of her. He was bringing her a love she had never helped him. Yet as she spoke, her stomach growled. Perhaps she was hungry afterall, having to replenish the energy she had used.

He smiled as he heard her try to catch her breath loving the soft lips against his feeling her cuddle into him as she rested on him. "you're so beautiful my Aria." He told her softly before he leaned down to kiss her temple rolling her over to hug her against his chest rolling letting her lie on top of him. He listened to her speak before he said anything else his hand rubbing gentle circles into her back when he heard her stomach growl his eyes glancing at her neck before he looked up at her eyes again.

He moved his free hand up her body to cup her face gently making her look at him. "Maybe after we eat, and if I do, I won't take much I got my fill from the hunter that was after you last night." He admitted to her softly before he started to sit up his arms wrapped around her before he picked her up and gently made her turn around so that she could sit on his lap his back facing hers. "Every part of you is perfect." He whispered to her leaning forward to playfully kiss her neck his arm wrapping around her hip to rub soft circles into her belly.

"We'll need to get out of here soon if anyone is following us then I want to make sure that we're out of here first. I don't want anyone finding us." He told her with a gentle smile as he sat on the edge of the bed with her on his lap. "Hey why don't you get the food for us I don't want us to move from this spot." He told her playfully getting as close to the other bed as he could so that she could lean forward to grab their food without having to get up from his lap.

Ivory had a way about him of making Aria feel safe. It was clear simply by the way that the young nekomimi acted around him that she felt a level of safety, her tail swaying back and forth as he pressed his lips to her temple. Feeling him roll them over, she smiled, cuddling into him affectionately. Truly, she was an affectionate girl, more affectionate than many as she sweetly cuddled and nuzzled into him. Perhaps it was because she was a nekomimi, though it seemed that it could potentially just be that Aria truly trusted him whole heartedly without any doubts.

Feeling him lift her head to look at him, she nodded. "Mmm... okay." She paused, simply wanting to help him. She knew that him sucking her blood too often could be unhealthy for herself, but she was willing to accept such things to make sure that he was healthy. She looked at him, smiling as he picked her up and shifted her on his lap. She shifted slightly, her gaze shifting slightly as he placed her how he preferred her. She seemed easy to do this with, light and flexible on top of the fact that she seemed rather easy going.

"Oh... right." She nodded, nearly having forgotten that there was a chance they could be caught where they were. Feeling him push towards the edge of the bed, she nodded, leaning forwards from his lap as she struggled to try and reach the food. While she seemed to have fairly skilled balance, even she seemed to have to reach for the food as her tail playfully swayed back and forth, her ears perky as she finally grabbed it but nearly fell in the process. Giggles escaped her mouth as she did so, falling back onto his lap with a satisfied smile. "I win!"

He thought that it was pretty cute the way that her tail swayed back, the way she cuddled into him loving how affectionate she was. Growing up he wasn't close to anyone affectionate; his mother definitely wasn't and she was the only person that he really knew. He never knew his father and if he had to guess he either didn't know that he existed or she had killed him. His mother always said that being vampires they were better than other people but even if he had agreed with her, he wasn't a vampire but a dhampire. Where did that put him? Was he better than humans but lesser than actual vampires to her. He never asked never really wanting to know.

With her on his lap he smiled his lips pressing against her cheek as he felt how light she was feeling her shift on top of his lap. "I love you." He whispered into her ear as he watched her lean forward to grab the food being kind of impressed from her balance as he found her features cute. The way that her ears perked up and her tail swayed his hands gripped her hips ready to support her if she did fall not letting her hit the ground, when she fell onto his lap, he bit down on his lower lip his cock quickly growing from her movement poking against her core.

His arms wrapped around her under her armpits when he heard her words not missing the satisfaction in her tone before he helped her to sit up straighter. "Good girl you did great." He praised her whispering the words into her ear before one of his hands hooked under her legs picking her up in his arms as if she weighed nothing. "Okay let's eat my Aria but first." He whispered aligning her so that his tip rubbed against her core before he slowly brought her down onto his cock careful not to hurt her until she was sat down on his lap again his cock fully inside of her.

If anything was clear in their budding relationship, it was that Aria trusted him. More than she would others even. Even as she leaned forwards to reach forwards, she felt safe and supported by the feeling of his hands on her hips. She felt like he would catch her if she fell and she wasn't worried about hurting herself. She seemed to have a very high level of balance and trust in her own flexibility yet she also fully trusted that if she were to slip he would catch her. After all, so far, that was who Ivory had been for her.

In society, there was a clear hierarchy. Vampires and werewolves tended to be amongst the strongest. They had a rivalry that was fierce and not to be trifled with. Sorcerers and warlocks were also quite strong. Dwarves, elves and so forth were middle ranking. They were strong but also had weaknesses. At the very bottom of the totem pole were nekomimi and other half-human half animal mutations. Usually looked down on, they had always tried their best to stay out of the way of those who were higher up.

"I love you too--" She said with a smile as she sat back down, her gaze shifting over her shoulder as he leaned into her to hotly praise her. She smiled sweetly and gasped slightly as he picked her up once more, placing his member against her and rubbing it against her core before lowering her onto it. She gasped out slightly as it entered her body, her cheeks growing hot and red. She swallowed and looked down as she sat down on his lap once more, his cock fully sheathed inside of her. She bit her lip and looked over her shoulder at him, flustered but not saying anything.

He loved how she trusted him, he loved her trust even more than the feeling of her sat on his lap, then the feeling of his hands on her soft skin. He didn't really care about hierarchy to him it was stupid. Sometimes he hated the way he was. Too kind to be cynical and calloused and too experienced to be naive. He didn't want to be with anyone but her, she was amazing the kindest woman that he had ever met. He loved her smile making him grin as he leaned forward to gently press her lips against hers.

"You're amazing my love." He whispered to her as he heard her gasp biting down on his lower lip as he felt the way that she squeezed his cock slowly set her down his hard cock going deep inside of her his length stretching her out. "Your mine, let's eat our breakfast together then we can get ready to go." He whispered to her before he gently kissed her jaw. One of his hands rubbed soft circles into her stomach. "I will never let anyone hurt you." He promised her.

He gently leaned forward once he was done talking to grab the food before he opened up one of the bars revealing a pack of cured meats. "I wish that we were outside so that I could grab us some proper food in the wild but right now this is all we have. Cured meats some bread and some dried fruits." He explained to her before he quickly ate a pack of one of the cured meats before he held the other pack out for her to take.

Aria had clearly not expected him to push into her, a shaky unsteady breath escaping her as she lowered onto his hard member. She swallowed and took a deep breath, feeling her body adjust once more to his size slowly. She looked at him and nodded, her cheeks hot and red as he gently kissed her jaw. "All yours." She whispered in confirmation, her ears pressing down to her head sweetly. Her ears and tail seemed to be a fairly easy way to figure out how she was feeling. Even if she wanted to lie, it seemed that she couldn't hide their responses.

As he grabbed the food and apologized, she shook her head. "I don't mind... I like this." She said softly, relaxing into him as he idly traced circles against her stomach as they ate. She rested into him, feeling safe and protected as she ate, eating the pack of cured meats quietly. "Ivory... what's your family like?" She asked, wondering if he was fond of them or not. "My parents died... so I've been on my own for a while now.... I was just curious... are you on your own as well?"

She looked over her shoulder at him with a curious look. Aria wasn't even fully aware that he was a dhampire and not a vampire. She didn't necessarily know the differences physically but she did find it strange that he could be in daylight when she was fairly sure that vampires could not do such. She had simply assumed perhaps it was a rumour that had been stretched by time and misunderstood.

He couldn't help but grin as he heard the shaky breath that left her lips not missing the way that her face reddened from him kissing her cheek before he bit down on his lower lip in reply to the way she squeezed him. He loved the way that her ears were pressed down, it was cute. She was cute really cute. They may not have been sleeping together right now but he loved being with her as she rested against his chest only one of his hands resting on her belly.

When he heard her question, he tensed not sure how to answer as he saw the curious look, she gave him. At first, he considered lying to her, he didn't really have any positive memories of his family and he didn't want to ruin the mood. He didn't want to upset her but even more so he didn't want to upset her. He leaned forward while she looked at him to buy time by gently pressing his lips against hers.

"I don't know about my father; he might be dead he might not be." He started his forehead resting against hers while he looked deep into her eyes. "My mother she's a vampire, now Aria my love I'm going to make sure that you never have to meet my mother." He promised her the seriousness clear in his voice. The care clear in his voice while he looked back at her. "I love you Aria I won't let anyone hurt you not even her."

As she looked into his eyes, Aria was well aware that he didn't truly enjoy speaking of this. It was clear in his eyes and the fact that he was hesitating. This was a sore subject for him and she had forced it out of him. She just didn't know how to avoid it when she wanted to get to know him so badly. She paused and looked at him, nodding. "You've never met him?" She asked, wondering if that was due to his mother. He made it clear he didn't have a great relationship with her.

"I... understand." She said softly as he said she would never meet his mother. She wondered what was so bad about her or perhaps was it solely because she was a vampire? She hesitated and looked into his eyes. "Perhaps... I can be your family then?" She asked, her ears perking up just a little.

Aria wanted to be his family. She wanted him to lean on her for things and for him to trust her. She hoped that she could be that important partner who he trusted and felt secured by. Even if she wasn't the strongest she hoped that he felt safe with her and knew that she would always be there to listen or to help in any way she could. "If you wouldn't mind... I just... want to support you. Just like you have for me."

He smiled at her softly when he heard her question simply nodding as he pressed his lips against her temple glad that she realised how serious he was being his hand gently cupping her face when she said she understood before he smiled at her more widely when he heard her suggestion seeing the way that her ears perked up. They were cute like that.

He let his other hand stay on her back rubbing gentle circles into her skin to remind her that he was there for her that he cared for her. Instead of replying with words he leaned forward and gently pressed his lips against hers. A happy smile on his face, "I love you Aria, I love you so much." He told her his lips kissing her again simply giving her quick gentle pecks lacking any real heat. Any real lust.

"I would love for that; I've never really viewed family highly but I think you can change that." He admitted to her as he pushed her down onto the bed his arms wrapping around her to hug her to his chest. "Let's start our own family one day, but right now Aria I think you're my everything I have never cared for anything as much as I care about you." He whispered to her before he gently kissed her cheek.

At one point in time, Aria had thought she would be alone for the rest of her life. Isolation had taken its effect and she started to think that perhaps she was entirely unlovable, and even if she was lovable, she would never meet her match. She had read many stories about fated lovers but she had never expected she would meet anyone who could love her like Ivory did. As his lips pressed to her temple, she looked up at him and smiled, "I love you." She whispered, biting her lip and turning around, her gaze falling as he continued to peck her with kisses, reminding him of his feelings. They were entirely on the same page.

Love.

It was the truest love that she knew. She giggled and leaned into him. "I love you too." She looked at him, her eyes shining as he kept kissing her. Giggles escaped her lips as he barraged her with the onset of tiny sweet kisses. "I love you so so so sooooo much." She looked up at him and kissed him on the cheek several times.

"Can we really?" Her eyes lit up at the idea of starting a family with him. She smiled widely, her face lighting up at the idea of being with him forever. "I want to be yours. Always and forever." She looked at him, sincerity seeming to drip from her words as she made eye contact with him. "Don't ever leave my side, okay?" She tilted her head slightly, cocking into the side sweetly as she looked at him for an answer.

He smiled as he kissed her hearing her say that she loved him too as his hands rested on her hips enjoying her laugh as she leaned into him. She was beautiful and hearing her say how much she loved him over and over again never failed to make his smile grow wider as he loved her giggles his arms wrapping around her more tightly as she started to kiss his cheek making clear that he didn't want to let go off her. That he never wanted to let go off her.

"of course, we can my Aria." He promised her with a smile thinking that she looked perfect when she was happy loving the way that she made eye contact with him seeing the way that her smile lit up her face as he loved the way that she was speaking to him not missing the way that her head cocked to the side when she asked him the question.

In reply he gently pushed her onto her back and leaned forward to gently claim her lips, the sudden movement making him push deeper inside of her but that wasn't why he did it. His lips moved against hers gently before he broke their kiss and pressed his lips against her nose. "I promise Aria, nothing will ever keep me away from you, and if we do separate, I promise that I will always find you." He whispered to her.

"Your beautiful Aria, you have no idea how beautiful you are. You are my everything." He whispered before he claimed her lips again.

With Ivory, everything felt alright.

Time moved slowly, as if when she was in his arms, nothing could harm her at all. They didn't need to be doing anything in specific for her to enjoy herself, she could simply slip into the fact that in this moment, she was his and nothing more. She didn't need to worry about society or what anyone else thought, she was his and that was all that mattered. Moreso, he was hers and he would always take care of her.

As he leaned into her lips, she melted once more, smiling as he whispered sweet promises and nothings to her. For a moment, she nearly forgot that they were supposed to be eating breakfast and planning to leave. They nearly forgot that they had to get out of there in order to make sure that they were safe.

After several kisses she giggled and fell against him, "Iiiiiivorrriyyyy" She whined, wiggling slightly against him as she playfully tried to get his attention. "We've got to gooooo" She poked at his cheek, playfully swaying her tail back and forth as she tried to make sure that he was ready to go. "Come on! Let's get ready!"

In reply to her words, he sighed gently pressing his lips against her jaw as she poked his face before he heard her say that they needed to get ready.

He leaned forward and pressed his lips against her lips again pinning her underneath him, his hands going to hers to pin them behind her head. "Are you sure we can't just have five more minutes before we leave lets to a little more stress relief." He whispered back to her before his lips went to her neck playfully nipping at her skin.

"I have a small safehouse that we can visit quickly, we can't stay there but I keep essentials there." He whispered to her his lips going from kissing her neck to kissing her cheek then finally her jaw. "I love you so much Aria." He told her his hands going to her ears to gently rub them something that he had wanted to do for a while. "Let's take advantage of having a bed one more time and maybe the shower." He whispered to her before he pressed his lips against hers again.

In his arms, Aria was weak to his whims. She shivered as he pressed his lips to her jaw, kissing her sensitive skin and teasing at her. She couldn't help it, slowly lifting her chin as he kissed and nipped at her jaw. Aria couldn't help herself, her heart rate speeding up as he leaned into press his lips to her. She let her eyes fall closed as he pushed her back onto the bed, pinning her hands above her head and holding her there.

She swallowed and looked up at him, her cheeks growing hot and red as he asked her if they could stall a little longer. She nodded softly, a quiet noise of surprise escaping her lips as he nipped at her skin playfully. "Ivvvorry." She whined, though she clearly wasn't going to say no, her body language making it clear that she didn't mind.

Trilled kisses tingled at her skin as he teased at her neck, her heart pounding as he held her hands and moved on hand to rub at her ears. Her ears twitched in response as she blushed and nodded. "Mhm... let's do that..." She nodded, leaning in and kissing him affectionately.

He smiled against her lips when she leaned in to kiss him, his lips gently moving against hers his thumb rubbing her ear with more pressure before he broke their kiss. Once more, her heart began to race at such a pace she could hardly keep up. Her gaze locked up at him, squirming underneath her as he pinned her down, her arms still held above her head as he teased at her skin and loved on her. "I--" She bit her lip, flustered as he gently teased her ears which pushed down in response, twitching slightly. Looking at him shyly, she nodded, "I love you too."

Gently, they leaned into a sweet intimate kiss before he pulled away from her. The feeling of his hand against her ear made her shiver. She blushed deeper and nodded, "I-it feels good..." She admitted, her gaze falling shyly, a soft gasp escaping as he pulled out of her. She nearly thought that he was just teasing her to get her hot and bothered yet he quickly thrust back into her, taking her by surprise.

She let out a shaky moan as he pushed into her once more, completely surprising her. She shivered and lifted her chin as he overwhelmed her, thrusting into her slowly while planting sweet and tender kisses along her jaw. "I want to make you feel good too. He loved the way that she flushed as he teased her seeing the way that her ears pushed down as she said that she loved him as well. "Mine." He whispered back to her before he kissed her lips, his lips gently moving against hers as he felt her shiver loving the way that she blushed. "I want to make you feel good." He whispered to her his heart racing as he heard her gasp and moan.

His teeth gently nipping at her jaw careful not to break the skin and hurt her. Part of him wanted to tell her that he didn't want to use her, that this was never him just using her but he could tell what she wanted and so he let his hips move more quickly thrusting in and out of her at a steady pace his cock plunging deep inside of her. "I'm going to make love to you my Aria, I would fuck you until you can't walk but I know I can't do that right now. Maybe one day when we're secure I'll tie you to the bed and use you until you're a drooling mess. Until your nothing but a toy to be fucked." He whispered the words into her ear huskily his thrusts only getting faster and faster as he slammed in and out of her.

He got so rough that she was starting to be lifted off of the bed, his hand on her belly pushing down was the only thing that kept her from going off the ground but it also made her feel his cock more heightening her pleasure. "Tell me my love would you want that? I'm going to make sure that your safe, either way but would you want to be a slave to my cock and my cock alone? I want to make you feel good." "Y-You are--" She shivered as he began to move against her, her cheeks stained hot and red as he pushed into her and slowly began to grind his hips back and forth. She was such a vulnerable little thing underneath him, the look in her eyes so loving and doting on him, it was clear she would do anything for him. Maybe it was naive, but she was willing to do what she could to make him as happy as he was making her.

As he began to thrust into her at a steady pace, her moans grew a little louder, her cheeks hot and red as he whispered such words into her. She looked flustered, probably more flustered than he had ever seen her, her face red and her heart pounding as he mentioned what he wanted to do to her. She parted her lips to speak but she seemed to be unable to speak, letting out a shaky moan as he began to speed up, overwhelming her with pleasure.

His roughness stirred her up, her back arching as he grew so powerful in his thrusts that he was lifting her off of the bed. She shivered underneath him, her breaths ragged and her moans loud as he asked her if she wanted to be his slave. It was clear that perhaps she had used the wrong words and was just a tad out of her depth. Feeling him nibbling on her ear she let out a soft hum, squirming underneath him a little, her moans loud. "I--I want to make you feel good, a-anything to make you feel good." She struggled to admit, her expression shy and overwhelmed.

He grinned as he felt her shiver underneath him loving the blush on her face as he saw the way that she was doting to him. His hands moved round her body to gently cup her face making sure she looked back at him. It was true that she would do anything for him and at the same time he would do anything for her he would never let go off her. "So beautiful." He told her with a smile loving the way that she moaned out for him seeing how flustered she was hearing the way her heart raced while he slammed in and out of her.

He loved the way he made her back arch before he leaned forward to take one of her breasts between his lips sucking on one of her breasts his tongue rubbing against her nipple. "No." He reprimanded her as one of his hands slide down to her chest squeezing down on the breast that wasn't in his mouth. "Aria honey I asked you what you want, I want you to tell me your fantasy's I want you to tell me what makes you feel good." He growled back at her.

His thrusts quickly grew quicker as he roughly slammed in and out of her his thrusts only getting quicker his cock roughly slamming in and out of her "give me a real answer." He ordered her pinching one of her nipples with his fingers loving the feeling of her pussy squeezing his cock. "And if you try and dodge it, I will bend you over my knee and spank you until you can't sit down."

Perhaps, Ivory was showing Aria a side she hadn't seen yet. As he reprimanded her, her gaze shot to him as if unsure of what she had did wrong, her gaze uneasy. She let out a shaky breath as he began to suck on her breast, teasing her nipple as he grabbed and groped at her other breast with his hand. She couldn't focus, her mind racing as he continued to thrust roughly into her, his hips clapping into her thighs. "I--" She whimpered through moans, her cheeks stained hot and red.

"I-I don't know---" She moaned out, her head falling back as he sped up even further, stirring up her insides with each deep thrust that slammed into her body. "I-Ivory--" She whimpered as he ordered her to give him a real answer, her cheeks staining hot and red. "I-I don't know I don't know--" She whined as he pinched her nipple roughly and teased at it.

Aria was a naive little thing, she had hardly explored anything at all prior to meeting him, so as he ordered her to tell him what her fantasies were, she grew overwhelmed. Her ears pressed down and she struggled to keep focus as he roughly slammed into her. "I-Ivory--" She moaned out, her gaze uneasy as she looked up at him with stained cheeks. "I-- I ...really like pleasing you though..." She whimpered, unsure if that was good enough.

His lips pressed against her collar while he continued to kiss up her body kissing her neck before he kissed her jaw then he let his lips brush against hers. Anxiety curled it's spiny fingers around Aria's neck as he ordered her to tell him what her wildest fantasies were. It tightened it's grip and slowly pulled the strings that made her chest feel tight and forced air out of her lungs. She didn't know how to answer. Half of the problem was the overwhelming fear that he wouldn't like that he heard, that he would think she was strange for the things she wanted. The other half was the fact that she was relatively sheltered and still was very much naive in the realm of sexual desire. She was still very much learning and hadn't much experience when it came to desire. Therefore, she wasn't even fully aware of her own wishes and desires.

Yet she fully understood that it felt good, the rough thrusts driving her nuts as he slammed into her dripping wet pussy. She shivered underneath him, her legs attempting to close as she struggled underneath him, her body taking the full brunt of his efforts. She moaned out softly as he reassured her, her breaths hot and heavy as he said he wanted to explore things with her so he could find out what made her tick. She had a lot to learn herself, a lot to understand about what she enjoyed and what she didn't, yet she was very sure that she enjoyed making him happy.

"M-me too--" She struggled to warn him, biting her lip as he asked her where she wanted him to cum. She swallowed and looked up at him, her cheeks hot and red as his thrusts grew more erratic, only making her moan a little louder for him. "On me-- I want you to cum all over me." She admitted, her cheeks hot and red as she admitted such a lewd thought, something much naughtier than she had said aloud prior.

He didn't like the anxiety that he saw on her features his look softening as he held her, his eyes full of love even through the lust as he kept thrusting in and out of her wanting to make her feel good as he felt her shiver underneath him. When she admitted to wanting him to cum all over her, he grinned before he leaned forward to passionately claim her lips one of his hands going between her legs to rub her clit quickly.

His thrusts continued to go faster as he slammed in and out of her his closeness obvious loving the way that she flushed. "Good girl I think you'd look so sexy covered in my cum." He whispered to her huskily before he broke their kiss and let his lips go to her ears kissing one of her earlobes as his finger rubbed against her clit more firmly. "I want you to cum first Aria, I want you to cum for me." He whispered to her letting his teeth nibble on her earlobe as he pinched her clit.

His lips then went away from her neck as he grew close to cumming himself doing his best to make her cum, wanting to make her cum all over his cock. "I'm going to cum too honey where do you want me to cum?" He asked her his thrusts getting rougher as he knew that he only had a few pumps left before he felt his cock twitch and throb inside of her signifying that he was at his edge before he pulled out of her and pulled her down by her legs so that his cock was at her chest as he came thick loads of his warm cum was quick to shoot out of his cock as he came painting her face and her breasts with his cum.

The soft sound of his voice was assuring enough for the small girl. While she knew he wasn't going to hurt her, Aria didn't want to let him down. She was well aware that he was most likely more experienced than her, and it seemed that he had more ideas that he wanted to explore whereas she did not. She bit her lip as he continued pounding into her, overwhelming her body as he pushed her closer to the brink of pleasure. She let out shaky moans into his lips as he pressed up against her, intimately kissing her as his fingers took over.

Feeling his fingers on her clit only made her noises grow louder, her legs squirming just a bit as she struggled and her body began to tense around his cock, clearly starting to grow closer and closer to her own climax. She hummed softly in pleasure as he kissed at her ear, further rubbing at her clit. "I-Ivory--" She moaned out as he asked her to cum, her pussy dripping as he pinched onto her clit and overwhelmed her with stimulation. As if on cue, she began to reach her climax, her juices exploding onto his cock as he continued to thrust roughly onto her.

She was mid-climax when she heard him ask where she wanted him to cum. In such a dizzying haze of pleasure, she let out one soft word, "Everywhere." She said softly, her cheeks hot and red as she shivered against him. She was just coming down from her climax as he pulled out of her and pulled her closer to him just in time to shoot his cum onto her. She flinched softly and closed her eyes tightly as his cum spurted into her face, painting her face and cleavage in the liquid. She bit her lip, tasting the salty taste of his cum on her lip as she opened her eyes, her cheeks hot and red at being in such a state.

He smiled as he realised that he was assuring her loving the way that she moaned against her lips as he felt her legs squirm and she struggled underneath him feeling how close her orgasm was. When she came, he was lucky that she didn't make him cum loving the way she moaned out his name and he felt her clamp down on his cock feeling the way that she covered his cock in her arousal. "So beautiful." He whispered to her with a smile before he came.

He wasn't sure what to do when she told him to cum everywhere, he wasn't exactly sure exactly what she meant even as he still smiled at her in lust. To compromise he decided to cum on her face his hands gripping her knees as he pulled her down his hard cock in front of her face. He moaned loudly as he did cum his hand stroking his cock before he slowly finished cumming his seed painting her face and her breasts. He didn't stop stroking himself until he was done his cum coating her breasts and her face loving the way that she flushed.

"you're so beautiful my Aria." He told her softly loving the way that she was covered in cum before he raised his hands to gently move the cum out away from her eyes making sure none of it would get into them. "You have no idea how much I would love to permanently get an image of your face like this." He told her teasingly before he moved his thumb to her lips having used his hand to clean her eyes of cum. "I'm sorry it's not everywhere, I would need to cum a couple times to cum everywhere all over you." He told her teasingly before he pushed his cum covered thumb between her lips making her taste it. "Let's clean your face and then shower. How does that sound to you?"

"Everywhere."

It was a statement that the small girl had blurted out while her mind was still fuzzy, a statement that was silly in concept as she lost focus. What she truly had meant: Anywhere. Moaning underneath him, it was clear that Aria had lost some sort of focus as she came, her body squirming against him as he held her and praised her for her beauty. She could feel her mind going fuzzy as pleasure overwhelmed her, making it hard to think straight as he pulled out and dragged her lower to him.

Slowly, he pulled her down so that his cock was in front of her face and his cum painted both her face and breasts in his sticky liquids. Still coming down from the pleasure, ragged breaths pushed through her lips as he fully coated her in his cum, it dripping down her pale skin and leaving her quite a mess as it slid down her skin slowly. Heavy unsteady breaths pushed through her lips as she opened her eyes, feeling him wipe it away so she could see once more. She had no doubt that she looked an absolute mess, cum stuck in her hair, dripping down her cheeks and breasts.

Yet he seemed to like it. "E-even like this?" She asked, her cheeks hot and red with embarrassment as he said he wanted to see her like this permanently. She flushed deeper at his words and let him push his thumb into her lips, the salty taste once more overwhelming her tastebuds. She nodded softly and let out a soft hum of acknowledgement as he held his thumb into her mouth teasingly.

The sounds of her moans were like music to his ears as he held her close feeling her squirm against his body before he had come all over feeling like he could get addicted to the site of her covered in his cum. She was just so alluring and he wasn't exactly sure why. There was just something about the sight that made him want to start fucking her again, to cum all over her face again as he heard how heavily she breathed loving how messy she looked.

"Even if you hadn't bathed in a month and you were wearing a plastic bag, I would still think that you're beautiful." He told her with a smile before he smirked at her feeling her lips and her spit coat his thumb. "I would just wash you before I fucked you until you're unable to walk." He winked playfully. His hand then went to her face again scooping up his cum from her face and her breasts to the best of his abilities dry cum still crusting on her body before he held it out to her lips.

"Tell me my love do you like the taste of my cum? Do you like having it on your face your breasts." He asked her his still hard cock rubbing against her belly getting cum over her abdomen. "If you like it use that beautiful mouth of yours to clean my hands and get a treat." He whispered to her holding the cum to her lips.

Aria had always been a people pleaser, but there was something different about this. Aria wanted to make Ivory happy, she wanted to please him in many different ways and was willing to go to lengths she never had before in order to do so. And it excited her in a way she had never expected. As he pushed his thumb into her mouth and forced her to suck the cum off of it, she willingly obliged, softly sucking on his thumb to swallow and accept his cum, her cheeks stained a slight red as she did so.

"That's silly..." She said softly, her cheeks slightly red as he claimed he would think she was beautiful no matter what. No one had ever said such a thing to her and it made butterflies curl around in her stomach, fluttering haphazardly and bouncing into one another until her stomach was all alight. As he scooped up more of the drying cum onto his fingers and held it to her lips, teasing her about fucking her until she couldn't walk, her cheeks grew hot and red. "You--" She blushed and looked down, clearly flustered at him and his continuous comments.

Yet when he asked such a question, her gaze lifted, feeling his cock hard against her belly. "I do..." She looked down, biting her lip. "I like the taste of your cum very much." She admitted softly before taking the cum into her lips and softly sucking on it in an intimate way, her soft golden eyes looking up at him as she swallowed his cum for him to see. While flustered, it was clear that she was growing just a bit more used to such actions, letting her comfort level set as she grew accustomed to such things.

She was so beautiful having her underneath him, so devoted to him as he saw her red cheeks. He had told her this already, a lot by now but he loved her. Maybe he always would. He hoped that he always would. He smiled when she called it silly simply winking at her as he looked at her red cheeks that went even redder as she heard his words. He was about to cup her face and make her look up again before he saw her chin raise before he bit down on his lower lip as he felt her suck the cum out from his hand.

"We're gonna spend a fair bit of time in the shower now." He whispered back to her before he leaned down and bit down on her neck lightly. Not hard enough to break the skin just hard enough to make sure that she would feel it. "If we didn't have to leave today the things that I would do to you." He whispered to her huskily before he got up and gripped her hips trying to pick her up in a way that would make her legs wrap around his hips.

"Come on let's get you dirtier than we'll get you clean." He whispered to her his lips continuing to nibble against her neck. "I love your body too Aria, your perfect breasts, your beautiful face and body, I could spend hours complementing every inch of you." his every word sent vibrations into her ear as he spoke to her slowly carrying her into the bathroom "I love you so much, such a beautiful smile too." He told her before he leaned forward gently claiming her lips.

Aria softly looked up at him as she sucked the cum out of her hand, her ears perking up as he said he wanted to take a long shower with her. She pulled her mouth away from his hand softly, swallowing the cum that he had hand fed her before looking up at him with a shy look. It was hard to do such lewd things with confidence after all. She blushed and nodded as he mentioned shower, "Mhm... that's a good idea--"

Her words were abruptly cut off as he bit on her neck, not hard but enough to send a jolt down her back and make her ears perk up in surprise. "O-ow--" She play whined, though she quieted as he leaned towards her ear. "W-what?" She asked, the feeling of his hot breath on her ear sending chills up her spine. The things that I would do to you. She swallowed and bit her lip, those sweet eyes curious about what he wanted to do to her.

"W-why are we getting dirty first--" She questioned, though quickly after it was clear that she understood what he meant. Her cheeks reddened and she clung a little closer to him, her legs wrapped around him as he carried her into the bathroom, slowly whispering to her. Each whisper made her want him more, his words clear and deliberate about turning her on even more than she already was. "I love you more." She whispered against his lips, glad to be close to him and even more glad to be his.

He found it kind of cute the way that she was still looking at him shyly even after she cleaned his hands of cum. It was kind of a surprise that she could still blush after what they were doing together but he wasn't complaining. She was cute when she blushed. "Sorry your skins too pretty to not bite." He whispered back to her teasingly before he heard her question. "It's a surprise." He told her quickly as he looked into her eyes lost in how beautiful they were.

When he heard her next question, he simply smirked back at her about to explain why but before he could she seemed to understand what he meant as he saw the way that her cheeks went redder making him grin. "You have no idea how adorable you are, my beautiful Neko." He whispered to her softly as he took her into the bathroom and pinned her up against the wall after stepping into the shower area.

Once he had her pinned down, he leaned forward and pressed his lips against one of her breasts. "So, tempting, so sexy." He continued to whisper to her before he opened his mouth letting one of her breasts into his mouth as he sucked on her soft mounds. He lifted his knee as she moaned using his knee to make one of her legs raise exposing her core to him before he moved one of his hands between her legs to rub his finger against her pussy, against her core. "Tell me do you want to get dirty with me my love?"

It was clear, Aria was innocent even when doing not so innocent things. She couldn't help but get flustered with the things she was doing just by knowing that they were not innocent or just knowing they were lewd. She looked at him and looked at him, "Y-You can bite me whenever you want." She softly said back, meaning in either way he preferred, though she was proving to bruise rather easily and that was evident from the tiny bruises he had created along her pale skin.

"I--" SHe pouted, puffing her cheeks out a little bit as he teased her, walking into the bathroom before pinning her up to the wall. "I-I'm not cute..." She whined, her ears pressing down once more as he teased her. "I just didn't realize..." She noted under her breath, still pouting about him seeming a little more confident than her regarding these sorts of topics.

Yet she didn't have time to focus on such, as her skin touched the cold wall, he dipped his head forwards and pressed his lips to her supple breast. "M-Mhmmm--" She moaned out softly as his tongue teased at her nipple and sucked on her soft breasts, whispering loving words into her skin. She let her leg be pushed up, her leg bending as he pushed her to expose herself to him, quickly taking advantage of her positioning as he began to rub his fingers against her. She let out a shaky soft moan and nodded. "I do. I want to get dirty with you..." She looked at him, biting her lip in slight pleasure as he teased at her.

Part of him loved how innocent she was, the way she blushed and looked up at him with eyes that trusted him as if she believed with all her heart that he would do her no harm. It was nice getting that look, to be trusted like she trusted him and he never wanted to fail her. "I still don't want to bite you too much, even if you seem to enjoy it." He whispered to her continuing to tease her as he loved the way that she pouted back at him. "Yes, you are. You're the cutest person I've ever seen." He whispered back to her.

He loved the way that she moaned out for him as he played with her breast wanting to make her cry out his name as he pleased her carefully moving her leg as he made sure that he wouldn't hurt her before his finger slowly rubbed against her wet core. His mouth rising to kiss her neck "This might be the last time we'll get to be intimate like this so I'm going to make sure it counts. I'm going to make you putty in my hands before I even start fucking you. And before I fuck you, you're going to be down on your knees sucking my cock." He growled into her ear huskily his voice only a low whimper but it was still full of promise as he playfully nipped on her ear lobe.

"I love you so much, tell me my Aria do you like how those plans?" He asked her as he kissed towards her face his lips kissing her neck, then her cheek his finger rubbing against her core more firmly remembering how tightly she would squeeze his cock. "Your mine, even if we're not being intimate, I'm going to remind you that your mine. My Neko my love." He whispered to her before he sealed his lips against hers his finger slowly pushing inside of her as he pressed his hips against hers making his hardened length press against her belly.

"S-Shush..." She muttered, flustered by the fact that he was aware that she didn't mind his biting her. Something about it was nice, it was as if she was further being marked by him. She was his and she liked that, it felt special and she didn't want to ever lose such status. She wanted to be his neko, his lover, and so much more and she didn't want to ever lose him. Aria had very much fallen for him as he had her. She only had eyes for him and was thoroughly imagining their future together with eagerness.

As he told her that she was the cutest person ever, her cheeks grew hot and she let out a shy nervous giggle. "Shushhhh" She whined through her own laughter, not wanting to admit such but being flustered and happy to hear him say such. Yet he wasn't going to let her laughter continue, her laughter quickly shifted into a soft moans as he began to slowly rub against her core, teasing her sensitive nub as he worked to turn her on properly. She shivered and let out a shaky moan. "M-Mhm.." She let out a shaky hum as he nibbled and kissed against her neck and nipped on her ear.

"I--" She shivered as he began to rub her more firmly. "I like them... I want to--" She lifted her chin slightly and let out her breathy words as she tried to keep focus while he was rubbing at her. "I want to pleasure you again...I want you to make a mess of me, Ivory." She looked up at him, not having a moment to focus before he leaned into her lips and softly kissed her, pushing his finger into her. She let out a soft hum of pleasure as he did so, her breaths shaky as he pressed into her, forcing her to feel his length against her.

He couldn't help but smile when she told him to shush loving how flustered she was, he was in love with her. He was in love with every inch of her part of him wanted to mark every part of her, she was going to be his for as long as he could have her. And if he would have it his way then she would be his until they were old and grey. No more than that before he had met her, he wasn't really the kind to have thoughts about after death growing up, he was sure that he would just be turned into a vampire. But now he was certain no matter where they went after death, he was going to make sure that he went there with her. "Such a beautiful laugh." He whispered to her as heard her giggle part of him wanting to spank her for being so stubborn but right now he just wanted to focus on pleasing her.

And when he heard her laughter turn to moans, he found that he didn't want to stop what he was doing loving the way that she shivered under neath him as he felt how needy she was. "Good girl." He praised her with a smile when she finished talking and he claimed her lips loving the way that her soaked core squeezed his finger. His finger pushed forward until it was fully inside of her, his thumb slowly, teasingly slowly rubbing against her clit. His tongue rubbed against her lips pushing into her mouth as he started to move his hand more quickly his finger pumping in and out of her as his tongue sought out hers.

It was only a quick but passionate kiss, his tongue rubbing against hers possessively to remind her who she belonged to before he broke their kiss, his hand that wasn't at her crotch quickly went up her body before his fingers wrapped around her throat, skinny but strong digits easily clamping around her neck as if they had been made to wrap around her pale throat. "I'm going to make you cum my needy little Neko, I'm going to make you cum all over my fingers then I'm going to paint your pretty face with my cum. Of course, even though they had only known each other for a short while, Ivory was already quickly learning how to make Aria's heart flutter. His sweet whispers of love, his teases, his nibbles and the way his hands ran down her skin all had the power to make that fluttery girlish feeling return in her stomach. She bit her lip as he held her up against the wall, teasing her as he reminded her what power he had over her. He certainly had the potential to drive her nuts if he would want to do such. Yet it seemed for now, he was completely content on making her happy which in it's own right made her feel very safe and comforted by the man who she was quickly becoming to love.

Good Girl.

Why did those two words please her so much?

Her chest began to tighten as she heard it, like he was tugging on some invisible strings that were connected to her heart. For a second it felt hard to breathe and she just wanted to melt into it. She blushed and looked at him as he forced her back to reality by pressing his lips to hers. She let her eyes fall closed for a mere moment as he pushed his finger into her and began to move it. She let out a soft hum against his lips, the sound of her pleasure evident as she fell into it for several moments.

Aria was letting out soft quiet hums of pleasure into the kiss when his hand wrapped around her throat. She opened her eyes as he began to clamp around her throat, her cheeks redening as he commanded her. She swallowed and looked at him with a flustered expression. "I-Ivory--" She pleaded for a second though she couldn't help but acknowledge that she wasn't against his hand tightening around her throat. She swallowed and looked at him, "I'm yours, Ivory. I'll always be your needy neko..." She said softly, her voice coming out shyly but sincerely. "I want you so badly... I want to be yours and all yours in every shape and form.

He smiled at her happily as he felt her lean into their kiss his eyes shut during their kiss as he kissed her focusing simply on pleasuring her as he kissed her before he broke their kiss to tease her his finger staying still inside of her as he felt how tightly she squeezed his finger. Tighter then how he squeezed her neck loving the flustered way she looked at him. The way that she blushed so deeply. "My Neko." He whispered back to her as she promised him that she would always be his. His hand squeezing her throat more tightly. Not enough to bruise her skin but to make her breathing come a little more difficult wanting to have her full attention on him.

"You have been mine since the moment I first laid my eyes on you. You're my good girl, my needy Neko that begs for my cock." He told her huskily his finger started to move more quickly as he pumped it in and out of her. "I want you to be more specific for me." He ordered leaning forward to take one of her breasts between his lips his sharp fangs brushing against her nipple making his attention clear. He wanted her to feel good, he wanted her to cum all over him, he wanted to make sure she felt safe in his arms. "I love you Aria, but sometimes I just want to treat you as my needy little fuck toy. Tell me do you want that? Do you want to be filled with my cum? Do you want to taste my cock?" his words were unmissably dirty not wanting a chance for her to miss it.

"The way your needy pussy squeezes my finger is so hot, I'm going to make sure that any time you touch yourself it's to the thought of me, it's to my cock pumping in and out of you. My tongue exploring you. He let his thumb rub against her clit with that. Wanting to make her cum for him as he pressed his lips against her jaw then her cheek before he claimed her lips once again his tongue pushing into her mouth instantly.

His hand around her neck sent chills around her spine.

Never would have Aria thought that such a gesture would turn her on so much, his thin fingers tightening as he held her there, making it hard to breathe as she leaned into his lips only for him to pull away. She let out a shaky gasp, her lips parting as she looked at him with a soft tender expression, her gasps growing a little more strained as she looked into his eyes.

You have been mine since the moment I first laid my eyes on you.

She blushed deeply and gave him a shaky nod, though she seemed to quickly go distracted from his words as he began to move his fingers even more quickly within her. She shivered and nodded, "I-I'm yours. All yours." She reaffirmed, gasping and moaning out as he ordered her to be more specific about what she wanted. Her mind spiraled with different things. For while she wanted to do things with him, she wasn't quite sure that she had just one that she could pin onto. She bit her lip as he continued to finger her, shivering and nodding. "I do. I do... I want to be your fuck toy, I--I want to taste your cock and to be covered in your cum, Ivory--" Her pussy squeezed and clenched around his finger as he continued to speed up, clearly bringing her closer to the edge.

Aria let out a shaky breath as he continued to hotly whisper his desires to her ear. "Y-You're the--" She shivered, growing very close to cumming as he began to rub his finger against her clit. "F-Fuck--" She cursed softly, "You're the only one I'd ever think of--" She muttered, her cheeks hot and red as she struggled to hold back, clearly on the edge as he claimed her lips as if he were pushing her right off the edge.

"I love you so much my Aria>" He whispered to her with a fond smile feeling her struggle to breathe as he looked at her loving how deep the blush on her face was as she nodded.

Her words reaffirming his made him grin loving the fact that she was struggling with her words. "My fuck toy is such a needy little neko. So sexy don't worry I'm going to fuck you until your filled with my cum." He told feeling the way that her core squeezed on his digit making it clear to him how good he was making her feel. "It's cute how easy it is to make you cum my pet. Your beautiful body is so responsive." He praised looking at her with lust.

His lips moved against hers as he claimed her lips, his tongue quickly finding hers as he continued to pump his finger in and out of her quickly wanting to make her cum for him before he broke their kiss. "Aria my love, I don't want you to over hide your pleasure or your feelings from me. I want to hear you moan; I want to know when I make you feel good. When you find something, you want to try I want to know, and I want to make you cum." with that he let his fingers pinch her clit firmly.

Perhaps their relationship was changing.

It wasn't noticeable.

Not necessarily.

But by the moment, their relationship was evolving both physically and emotionally. A love so young often does. They say that in the beginning phases of love, it changes so rapidly that the eye cannot even decipher or understand the feelings that are growing. It's because of this that they call it falling in love it. You cannot fall softly. You fall hard and fast and before you know it you're enthralled with an entirely different beast. Aria hadn't a semblance of a clue or a hint of understanding about her own feelings, yet they were rapidly dragging her forward without hesitation. What she did understand: she wanted to be the one by Ivory's side.

"I love you so much--"

She whispered against him, struggling to get the words out as he continued to tighten his grip around her neck, making her dizzy in a way that she had not yet known possible. Dizzy in the way that you stumble when you're drunk, overwhelmed with a warmth and filled with the feeling of adrenaline. She gasped out, her lips parting as she struggled for air. Overwhelming. She couldn't focus. His soft growls and whispers were all she could hear.

I'm going to fuck you until you're filled with my cum.

Aria let out a weak moan, nodding in pleasure as his finger continued to drive her closer and closer to a limit that she had not yet reached. She shivered under his touch, struggling to contain herself as he sped the feeling of his fingers up. She leaned into his lips, moaning out loudly and shivering as he pinched her clit. Her cheeks stained hot and red and her toes curled as he pinched and teased at her sensitive bits, overwhelming her with feeling. She moaned out against his lips, cumming on his order without hesitation, though it wasn't clear whether it was because he had ordered her or if she simply couldn't contain herself. For several moments she moaned in pleasure against his lips, only coming down after several

I moments before gasping against his lips.

He loved her, he had never loved anyone like he loved her. He loved making her feel good he loved making her feel safe. He smiled at her softly when he heard her whispered words enjoying how her neck felt with his fingers wrapped around them. He loved the way she gasped and struggled her moans music to his ears.

His finger pumped in and out of her over and over again as he felt her shiver loving how clear it was that she felt good that he was making his Neko feel good. When she leaned forward to kiss him, he was kick to kiss her back feeling how soaked she was as he heard her moan against his lips his thumb rubbing her clit after he pinched it.

When he felt her cum, he let his hand release her throat allowing her to breathe again as he didn't break their kiss feeling how wet she made his fingers as he pushed his tongue between her lip's he kissed her as she came his lips slowly moving against hers as his fingers didn't stop pumping in and out of her before he broke their kiss and his fingers slowly came to a stop inside of her.

"My Neko." He whispered to her his hand releasing her throat to instead cup her face his hand on her jaw. "Come on let's let you catch your breath then I'm going to put that pretty mouth of yours to good use." He told her with a smile before he leaned forward letting his lips kiss her neck. "Honey, do you mind if I have a small drink?" He asked her softly.

Ivory was going to drive her nuts.

She shivered as pleasure filled her head and made it feel foggy with the feeling of enjoyment oozing over her. She let out a soft shaky moan, her breaths hot and heavy as he finally released her neck from its tight grip. Her mind felt fuzzy. Soft in a way that she couldn't even put words to explain. She liked it though. It was a kind of pleasure that didn't have any words, so good that even an attempt to explain it wouldn't be worth it.

She let out a shaky breath as he finally ceased his movement, pulling his lips from hers as his fingers came to a stop. Her body seemed to relax as he did, her arms no longer clenching around him as he held her, his hand cupping her jaw. "Mhm..." She agreed softly, her chest rising and falling weakly.

I'm going to put that pretty mouth of yours to good use.

Her cheeks brightened and her lips tugged into a subtle smile. "Mhm... I'll do my best." She said softly, still catching her breath from having it restricted for several moments. As he pressed his lips to her neck, she lifted her chin for him. "No, I don't mind.... you can have as much as you'd like." She whispered softly, gently running her hand through his hair affectionately as she regained her composure slowly.

Her moans were just so sexy as he felt her finish cumming loving how clear it was that he made her feel good as he slowly helped her come down from her high. And he slowly pulled his fingers out of her as he heard her agree with him with just a murmur loving how deep her blush was and she smiled at him. "My love just does it how you normally do, you haven't failed once in making me feel good." He told her softly as his lips pressed against her neck softly kissing her smooth skin as he heard her whispered words.

"I'm not going to take too much; you know that I would never want to hurt you." He told her as he started to suck on her neck his hand moving up her body that was just between her legs letting his fingers that were stained with her arousal rub against her lips. "Now honey I'm going to give you something to bite on of your own." He whispered before he pushed his fingers between her lips making her taste herself on him while at the same time his fangs bared growing sharper.

Before he carefully let his teeth sink into the soft skin of her neck, careful not to bite too much as he enjoyed the taste of her. He only took a bit, not needing much to live off before he slowly pulled his teeth out of her. "Hey do you still feel okay honey?" He whispered to her his eyes meeting hers as his tongue left his mouth licking her neck clean of blood helping her to heal more quickly.

His fingers lingered inside of her mouth before he slowly pulled them out, he let his hand glide down her body wanting to turn any pain that she might have been focusing on into pleasure as one of his hands gently cupped her breast giving her a soft squeeze.

Most would be afraid of having someone suck their blood.

After all, in society, those from the lowest tiers were always taught to avoid vampires as if their lives depended on it. And for most, their lives did depend on it. Aria was well aware of it and yet the man she loved most had entirely swapped and flipped her perspective. Softly, she lifted her neck and nodded, "Mhm." She said softly, letting out a shaky breath as he kissed and whispered against the soft skin of her neck. "I know." She said softly, aware of the fact that Ivory would never do anything to hurt her. She entirely trusted that he was in control enough to focus on not hurting her.

As his fingers pushed against her lips, she let them part, a soft noise escaping her as he pushed them into her mouth and made her taste herself. She let out a soft breath and sucked on his sticky fingers, breaths relaxing as he leaned into her neck and gently let his teeth sink into her. It didn't hurt though. Just as before, a wave of warmth came over her body and made her skin tingle for several moments. It felt almost good, her cheeks growing just a little pale as she let him take as much as he needed before pulling away.

"Mmmm" She hummed softly on his fingers as he looked up at her, her eyes gentle and sweet as she tried to reassure him. She wasn't in pain. She felt fine. It was only as if she had her blood taken for a medical test, nothing more nothing less. Perhaps a little dizzy but not enough to bother her. She was in his hands and she knew she were plenty safe. He wouldn't let her get hurt. As his fingers pulled from her mouth, she let out a soft breath push out from her lips, "I love you." She said softly, hoping he understood that she was not in pain. Yet still he was focusing on pushing her back to pleasure, his hand squeezing at her breast gently, a sweet hum escaping her lips. She smiled softly and bit her lip, her amber eyes lifting to connect with his. "Ivory... I want to make you feel good... I want to taste you..." She whispered to him, her cheeks returning to a rosy hue as she admitted to wanting him.

Part of him was worried that at some point he would take too much, normally he would feed off different people but because he was only with her, he felt as if he was taking too much. When they were out, he would figure out something better than just feeding on her. He loved that she trusted him enough to offer her blood, doting enough but he hated hurting her. Even if he wasn't taking much, he knew that if he kept taking small amounts then that would add up. He didn't think that he would be able to stop completely though, she was intoxicating, the way she sucked his fingers clean of her cum the way she seemed to enjoy how he fed on her.

He kept his fingers inside of her mouth until he stopped feeding on her blood his fingers carefully sliding out of her mouth as he smiled back at her. "I love you so much." He whispered to her softly as he saw how gentle and sweet her eyes were hearing her tell him that she loved him enjoying the hum that left her lips as she smiled at him. "You're going to get to taste me I promise I'm going to give you a lot to taste." He whispered into her ear teasingly before he leaned forward gently kissing her lips. It was only a chaste kiss his lips slowly moving against hers before he pulled his lips away from hers again his hand cupping her face.

"You have so such beautiful eyes you know that right. You're the most beautiful person that I have ever seen." He whispered to her softly giving her lips a gentle peck before he pressed his lips against her jaw. "If you want a taste then I think you know where you should be." He added teasingly before he slowly pushed her down onto her knees one of his hands going to the back of her head as he run his fingers through her hair.

With her down on her knees it was clear how hard he was, his cock at its full length in front of her face "Your mine Aria now how about you show me just how much you want to taste me. How you want to serve my cock my little Neko."

The relationship that Ivory and Aria were in contained an ounce of danger.

While neither truly wanted to admit it, the potential that Aria was willingly giving up her own livelihood was entirely there. Furthermore, Aria was the type who should one want to use, she would willingly give herself up without hesitation. Raised with the thought that giving was better than receiving, Aria was entirely used to giving her all to those whom she loved. And while Aria was unaware that it may be problematic, Ivory seemed thoroughly aware of the fact that Aria was walking a dangerous line.

Soft breaths pushed through her nose as he slid his fingers from between her lovely lips, her cheeks stained with a rosy hue as she looked up at him. "Mhmmmm." She hummed into his kiss, leaning in almost too much, her eyes opening in surprise as he pulled his lips away from hers quicker than she had imagined. She swallowed, her eyes lighting up as he brought his hands to cup her jaw.

"I--" She blushed and looked down, shaking her head as he praised her. "I'm not..." She said softly, flustered by the praise that he gave her. Ivory made her feel special in a way that Aria almost thought she didn't deserve. From what she understood, she wasn't anything special at all. She was a lowly nekomimi, it was what her parents had told her all throughout her life. And yet to Ivory she was the most beautiful. He constantly praised her for her beauty and her kindness, making her feel like she was the most special in the world. It was a feeling she wanted to hold onto... and a feeling she hoped she could give him as well.

A soft breath pushed through her lips as he pushed her down onto her knees, her gaze lifting as she gracefully allowed herself to drift down onto the ground. "Y-Yes Sir..." She said softly, her gaze drifting to his member as it stood fully erect in her face. She swallowed and bit her lip, almost surprised at how large it appeared right there in front of her. She had seen in like this p lenty of times since the night before and yet she couldn't help but blush as she leaned forward and wrapped her lips to it. Her ears pressed down submissively as she took him fully into her mouth, bobbing down deeply to attempt to take it's full length into her mouth, holding for several moments before returning to the tip. She let out a shaky breath through her nose before continuing, swirling the tip of her tongue around his sensitive member, teasing it before beginning to find a slow rhythm of bobbing up and down on his cock.

He loved her, he loved how much she trusted him. He loved how much she cared about him but he didn't love how easy it was for her to let him feed on her as looked back at her. Hurting her was the last thing he ever wanted to do. She was the most important person to him in the world. No one mattered to him as much as she did.

He loved the sight of her blushing face seeing how doting she was as he saw how her eyes lit up for him making him smile at her happily. "So cute." He whispered to her enjoying the way that she flustered as she denied the praise. "Yes, you are cute, and you have such beautiful eyes." He whispered to her his gaze full of care.

There was something just about how obedient she was that made his arousal grow, the way she let him push her down on her knees and the way she said yes sir that he couldn't stop himself his eyes full of lust as he looked back at her and as he felt her lips wrap around his cock he let out a light moan loving the feeling of her lips wrapped around his cock as he felt her go down on his cock making his moans grow louder as she took more and more of his length into her mouth.

"you're doing such a great job honey, don't stop." He praised her with a soft smile before he let his hands go to her ears his fingers gently wrapping around them rubbing gentle circles into her ears. "My Neko I love you so much."

Dropping to her knees, Aria could feel her heart beginning to pound. She wanted to make him feel good. Her mind was filled with ideas but she still was eagerly learning how to please him. Once on her knees, she could feel the heat coming off of him. She swallowed and leaned towards it, wetting her lips before eagerly taking it into her mouth. She was a doting lover, desperate to make her partner happy and it was clear from the way that she watched him as she began to bob. Each breath helped her understand what made Ivory tick.

As he moaned, her gaze flicked upwards, sweet eyes held to connect with his as she slowly slid her lips along his arousal. His moans urged her further, the easiest way to make her know that she was doing well. Eagerly, Aria began to find a rhythm of bobbing her lips around his member. Yet she didn't want him to grow bored of the movement, sliding her tongue along the underside teasingly as she moved. After several moments of bobbing up and down, she paused, her gaze falling back down to focus as she swirled her tongue around the tip.

Her tongue swirled and teased at the sensitive tip, dipping into it and applying a soft pressure as she gave it her special attention before sliding her tongue all the way down his shaft once more. She was clearly experimenting, but she was doing a fairly good job at it nonetheless. The way she slide her lips around the side of his cock and covered it in her own warm saliva most likely giving him chills. Feeling his praise, her gaze lifted again, her cheeks hot as she hummed and took it into her mouth again, humming softly as he rubbed circles into her ear. As she hummed, her lips began to vibrate around his member, sending sweet feelings along his shaft as she dotingly continued to bob up and down, attempting to take him deeply into her mouth with each attentive movement.

He could hear her heart race as she was down on her knees but he was quickly distracted by his hearing as he felt her lips wrap around the length of his cock making him moan out in pleasure as he felt her head start to bob up and down on his cock. "Come on honey just like that." He whispered to her with praise the pleasure clear. His eyes looked into hers as he smiled at her, his eyes full of a mix of love, of care and of lust as he looked down at her watching her move forward while she sucked his cock.

The steady rhythm was like bliss to him as she soaked his cock with her spit feeling the way her mouth massaged his length while he didn't move his eyes away from hers before he growled in pleasure as he felt her tongue tease the bottom of his cock. "So good my Neko, you are so good at sucking my cock." He moaned watching her look down before he felt his cock twitch leaking precum as her tongue rubbed against the tip of his cock.

"Just keep playing with my cock my neko you're making me feel so good." He moaned feeling her tongue tease his tip as he filled his mouth with the salty sweet taste of his cock his tip smearing precum all over her tongue as she teased it while he felt her head bob up and down trying to hold back on his own pleasure as she looked into his eyes wanting this to last. He smiled as he saw her deep blush still present on his cock his fingers continuing to gently rub against her ears before he twitched again moaning more loudly as he felt her hum feeling the vibrations she sent along his length.

"And here I thought that I was going to be guiding you in this, you're doing such a good job." He told her feeling the way that she was trying to take more and more of his cock each time she took him in. "Aria honey I'm close you feel so good." He moaned trying to warn her first so that she wasn't caught by surprise as his fingers gently rubbed into her ears wanting to fill her mouth with his seed as he looked down at her.

"And here I thought that I was going to be guiding you in this."

While Aria seemed like she knew what she was doing, if he watched her, she truly had no clue. It was obvious that she was watching for his reactions to what she was doing, her gaze attentive as she eagerly listened for any reaction or response to her actions. Aria wanted to learn how to please him, and that meant that she was going to have to be attentive unless she was just going to blatantly ask him for guidance... which knowing Aria, she wouldn't do. Aria wasn't bold enough to ask that of him. Instead, she would much rather try to figure it out on her own so that she could learn to please him well.

Yet his words and constant praise urged her forwards. She was doing well. He liked the way she was pleasing him even if she was very much experimenting to see what he liked. Taking him into her mouth, she would lean forwards, beginning to bob up and down at a rather steady pace. His hand on her head was a sweet reminder of his enjoyment, the feeling of his fingers teasing at her ears soft and comforting yet also almost arousing for the young neko.

She hummed softly, her gaze lifting as he tried to warn her that he was close. Yet she wasn't going to stop, only speeding up with her motions as she attempted to go deeper each time, wanting to take him in as he came. As she had said, she was going to taste him and take his cum in her mouth this time as opposed to their earlier session.

He knew that she didn't know what she was doing really, he knew from the start but that didn't matter to him. Her attentiveness and her eagerness more than made up for her inexperience, and besides it was pretty cute seeing the way that she worked harder each time he praised her. His moans grew louder as he felt the steady pace, she built to feeling her mouth envelop his length as she bobbed his head up and down his fingers carefully rubbing against her ears as he smiled looking down at her.

He was unable to last much longer as he felt her speed up, he was already pretty close but now if felt like she was just trying to make it impossible for him to hold back. He moaned loudly as he moved one of his hands down her body to her chest giving her breast a gentle squeeze his palm rubbing against her soft curves wanting to give her some pleasure. "Just like that honey, if you want to take me in your mouth my little neko then don't stop because I'm close." He told her his voice gaining a lustful tint to it as it was clear that she was making him feel good.

With that he wasn't able to last much longer, his hand didn't grab the back of her head too tightly allowing her to pull back if she wanted to but if she didn't then his orgasm would have come off inside of her mouth. He moaned loudly his hand still at her chest pinching her nipples in pleasure as he came shooting thick strands that would have filled her mouth if she didn't pull away.

When it came to terms that Aria didn't understand, it was clear Aria was most likely a service sub. It was obvious from the way she attentively worked so hard to please him. She wouldn't dare talk back to him or even debate being a brat. It just wasn't a quality that she seemed to have in her. Instead, she seemed to like taking his orders very much and wanted to succeed in fulfilling them to the best of her ability. She wanted to make him happy in any way possible.

As he told her to continue, Aria's gaze lifted, those amber golden eyes of hers lifting to connect with his as he let his hands travel down her body softly. She hummed softly against his member, letting her gaze fall back down to his member as she focused all of her attention on getting him to the point of ideal pleasure. She hummed against him as she worked him up, feeling his member begin to twitch and grow eager.

The twitching feeling of his member was warning enough. She moved her head down to the base and held it, her eyes closing as his member began to shoot thick strands of cum into her mouth. She let out a soft hum and began to swallow, shivering as he pinched onto her nipples and held her there, letting her swallow up all of his cum. Several moments later when his member had ceased movement, she pulled off of it, gasping for air. Soft shaky breaths escaped her lips as she lifted her gaze up to him once more, her lips covered in his cum. She swallowed and smiled softly. "D-Did it feel good?" She asked, clearly wanting praise.

He loved her, he loved how kind she was. How much she trusted him, how much she adored him, to him she was just perfect. He did wish that she was a little firmer with him, he was worried that she would let herself get hurt for him but it just meant that he would be the one to take responsibility for her. She was his and he would never let anyone hurt her not even himself. Certainly not himself he wanted to make sure that the only things that came from him was pleasant. She was his Neko and he would make sure certain that she was happy.

He moaned as he finished cumming his hands holding onto her body not letting go as she shivered underneath him watching her swallow every last drop before she pulled away his cock throbbed as he saw her cum covered lips and when he heard her question, he couldn't help but smile at her. "My Neko I filled your mouth of course it felt good." He told her with a soft smile as he leaned down his hands gripping her hips before he carefully lifted her onto her feet walking forward with her until she was pinned against the wall. "You did amazing Aria" he told her softly his hand going to her mouth to carefully wipe the cum off of her lips with his thumb before he pushed his thumb into her mouth letting her suck it clean.

"Now my Neko I want to make you feel good too." He whispered leaning forward to gently claim her lips with his own after he pulled his thumb out of her mouth. His hands went down her body, brushing against her breasts and her hips before they went to her thighs carefully picking her up in his arms before he stepped forward letting his hips press against hers his still hard cock rubbing against her core. "I love you Aria, I love you so much." His words were said with a smile as he gently broke their kiss leaning forward to instead take one of her soft breasts into his mouth eagerly sucking on her raised nipple.

Perhaps Ivory was correct. There was a sense that Aria would truly do anything for him without such hesitation. It was nearing on dangerous, the way that her family had raised her going just a bit too far. Aria thoroughly was raised to understand that if in the presence of a stronger hierarchy, you must be willing to serve. While that wasn't the case with Ivory, somehow their relationship had warped into that for her. She wanted to serve him, even if it meant that she would be putting herself in the line of danger.

As he lifted her chin softly and spoke, she smiled softly, heavy breaths escaping her lips as he lifted her back onto her feet. "I'm glad." She said sweetly, her smile genuinely happy as she stumbled backwards with him, gasping a little as she felt the return of the cold wall against her back. She swallowed and nodded, her lips parting as he pushed his thumb between her lips once more. She hummed softly against his finger, sucking his sweet juices off of it affectionately.

"Mmmhm." She hummed softly as she leaned into his lips. "I love you." She whispered against his lips, her arms wrapping around his neck as he lifted her into his arms once more. She felt comfortable in his arms. She trusted him, the way he dotingly slid his hands down her body before holding her between his chest and the wall. She smiled as he whispered love to her. "I love you too." She agreed, gasping out as he pulled from their kiss and moved to take her breast into her mouth and began sucking on her nipple. She swallowed and let out a shaky breath, her hands gently running down his back sweetly.

He smiled at her happily as he looked at her, hearing how deeply she was breathing loving her smile as he carefully lifted her up happy that she was happy as he heard the way she gasped and he heard the sweet words that left her lips. As he felt her suck his thumb clean of cum, he bit down on his lower lip before he let his lips claim hers feeling the way she leaned into the kiss. "You mean so much to me." He whispered against her lips smiling as he felt her arms wrap around his neck.

"Your mine." He added as he whispered against her soft breast enjoying the way that she gasped and swallowed as he pleased her feeling her hand run down his back as he focused on the feeling of her breast in his mouth. His other hand slowly slid up her body to squeeze her other breast before he bit down on her nipple. Not hard enough to hurt her but hard enough to make her feel it his free hand cupping her face as he soothed where he bit by sucking on her nipple again. "So perfect, I could play with your breasts all day." He whispered to her playfully letting his tongue lick her nipple before he lowered his lips kissing all over her breast before he went to the other.

His hand squeezed her breast that was just in his mouth, his fingers pinching her nipple as he licked her other nipple before he let his lips kiss and nip over part of her breast other than her hardened nipple. He let his hips slowly move, rubbing his hard cock against her core to try and make her pleasure increase his hips thrusting as he started to move faster sliding his length against her entrance before he moved his hips so that his cock was thrust inside of her tight embrace.

You're mine.

Aria smiled softly at the words, her eyes almost seeming to twinkle in the soft bathroom lighting. She looked at him sweetly and shook her head. "And you're mine." She confirmed, smiling at the fact that she was able to say such a thing. Aria could feel her heart fluttering with love, the intimate feeling mixing pleasure with love as he affectionately attempted to make her feel as good as she had he. She gasped out as he teased at her breast, his tongue pressing and prodding at her nipple before biting down.

A shaky moan escaped her lips as he bit down, holding onto it for several moments before beginning to suck on it once more. She let out a stifled breath, leaning into his hand as he whispered sweet words against her skin. "I-It feels good..." She whispered, shivering as he flicked at her nipple and made chills climb her spine before moving to do the same at the other.

"I-Ivory--" She said softly, feeling her other nipple growing harder as he nibbled and kissed at her breast. He was already beginning to turn her on, her heart beginning to pound as he slid his hips against her core to get her wet once more. "M-Mmm" She moaned out, her eyes widening as he suddenly thrust into her, her arms tightening around him as she shivered in pleasure.

"Such beautiful eyes. Such a beautiful smile." he whispered to her with a smile as he watched her shake her head hearing her confirm that he was hers too making him grin as he looked back at her, loving the way she gasped in pleasure in reply to him teasing her breast and her nipple her moans filling his head. If he could only hear one thing for the rest of his life then he would choose her sweet voice. If he could only see one thing again then he would choose her. She would be the only thing he'd want to touch if he had to make the choice.

The breath leaving her lips made him smile back at her as he felt her lean in loving the whispered words that left her lips as he heard her heart race feeling how soaked she was as he rubbed against her as he made her moan, as he made her shiver in pleasure and it was quickly his turn to moan as he felt how tight she was. "You feel so good Aria, so warm so tight I could spend forever inside of you. I'm going to spend my life with you." He whispered to her against her breast feeling how perky her nipples were.

His lips continued to kiss and nip at her breast as he kept his hips still wanting to give her time to get used to his length again as he held her close to him not wanting to hurt her as he slowly kissed up her body. His lips pressed against her collar then her neck, licking where he had bitten before he kissed up her face his teeth lightly nipping at her jaw on the way to her lips before he claimed her lips with his own. "Once I know we're safe I'm going to settle down with you. We can find somewhere permanent to stay, we can find a lake to swim in and maybe if you want them, we can start a family together.

The love between the two of them often was incompressible.

Ivory made Aria feel a way that she had never felt before, A feeling she hadn't even realized she ever would feel. Yet he managed to make her feel pretty when she had always felt as if she had not been. She blushed as he whispered his sweet love into her skin, loving on her with the same amount of passion as she had earlier. She shivered against his skin, biting her lip as he continued to tease at her nipples.

As he rubbed against her, Aria let her back arch in pleasure, her ears pressing down to her head as she moaned out softly. "Mmmm...Y-You feel so good." She commented back, her breaths hot and heavy as he devoted himself to her. "Good..." She smiled softly, leaning towards his forehead to kiss it. "I don't want to ever leave your side."

Her body felt hot as he held her to him, kissing and licking at her as he let her adjust to his length once more, her body still tight. She swallowed and let her chin lift as he nipped at her jaw, giggles escaping her lips. "T-That tickles..." She giggled in amusement, her lips tugged into a warm smile as he loved on her. "I'd like that." She said softly, "I want to be by your side forever... I want to have a future with you."

He loved how happy he made her feel, wanting to make her feel loved, wanting to make her feel safe, wanting to make her feel at home. He wanted to be her home and it wasn't just because she was the most beautiful woman he had ever seen. Really, he was the nicest person he had ever met and she was the kindest. She made him feel happy, and getting to make her blush from simple words just made him feel all the happier as he felt her shiver against him.

His hips pressed against hers more firmly as he watched her back arch feeling her press up against his as he loved her moans thinking it was cute the way that her ears drooped down. "You feel good too." He told her with a smile feeling her lips press against his temple. "You won't need to. I will always be there with you my Neko." He told her softly before he moaned as he entered her.

He fought the urge to start thrusting in and out of her as he felt how good she felt his teeth playfully biting at her jaw gentle not to hurt her as he loved the way that she giggled. "It does? I know just what to do then." He whispered to her teasingly his lips moving to peck hers. "So long as my futures with you I'm going to be happy I'm sure of it. So, our children would they be Neko's like you? I think a mini you running around would be adorable." The feeling of Ivory's teeth on her skin sent tiny chills climbing her spine, her chin lifting as he bit at her jaw playfully. Sweet giggles escaped her lips as he teased her, enjoying the way she couldn't help but giggle at the feeling of his hot breath on her neck. "It does--" She smiled, her ears perking back up as he kissed her lip and spoke of their future together. "L-Little me--" She blushed intensely, her gaze locking with his with a flustered expression as he brought his hand to her belly and immediately began to tickle her. She shook her head and began to laugh, the sound of her laughter filling up the room. "I-Ivoryyyy" She whined through laughter, "I-I can't breatheeee." She squealed, her laughter sweet and melodic, her attention entirely stolen from what they were doing.

Aria wanted to imagine a future with him. Whether they could have children or not, she was not sure. She assumed they would be half breeds, both nekomimi and vampire, though she didn't truly understand how it would work. After all, it was rather rare for there to be interracial couples, especially between such classes. Moreso, she understood that he was a dhampire and not a full vampire, which may have meant things would end up different. Yet it didn't matter to her. So long as she was by his side, she was sure that everything would be alright. He would protect her and any children they could possibly have and she was entirely sure of that.

"I want you to be the one to carry my children." He whispered to her.

With that he let his hands go to her hips again gripping them with both his hands before he leaned forward to claim her lips. It wasn't a lustful kiss instead it was a soft one, his lips moving against hers full of passion all the same as he tried to convey all the love that he had for her, and with that he started to move his hips again. He pulled out of her slowly, sliding out of her until only the tip remained before he thrust deep inside of her again not stopping until he was fully hilted inside of her. Mine." He whispered before he pulled out of her again and thrust back into her building to a steady rhythm as he thrust in and out of her.

Her cheeks grew hot as he mentioned wanting to make a mini her more, repeating it as she got more and more flustered. she caught her breath, her lips still pulled into a smile. "I love you even more." She said softly, pressing a kiss against his cheek. "I love you so much."

Feeling his hands slide down to her hips, Aria let out a shaky breath, her eyes falling closed as he leaned into his lips intimately, passion seeming to drip out of them as he began to move into her once more, pulling out before thrusting into her. A soft moan escaped into his lips as she felt him fully push deep into her, her arms wrapping around him instinctively as he began to find a rhythm, each thrust making her moan. "Always." She whispered softly, gasping as he thrust back into her again, building his rhythm slowly.

He grinned back at her happily as he saw her blush loving the way she got all flustered from his words. He loved her blushing face, the way she went redder and redder. The way she giggled. "Aria my love, you're the most beautiful person I've ever laid my eyes on. You're my neko, my love." He whispered to her as he started to slowly thrust his hips again building a slow rhythm as he kissed her lips. He kissed her softly his lips moving against hers before he let his lips kiss her jaw, his lips kissing the corner of her mouth.

"I'm going to make you feel good, my angel." He told her smiling letting his lips kiss her jaw playfully nibbling at her soft skin. "Once we get out of here, we can camp together Aria, we can share a bag together for warmth. We can spend our nights lying in front of the stars." He whispered back to her with a smile as he heard her gasp his thrusts quickly growing faster as he eagerly thrust in and out of her moving at a steady but passionate pace his member thrusting deeper inside of her with every thrust.

Growing up, Aria's definition of love was transactional.

Even between her parents, she watched as their love changed based on what they had to offer. In school, her friendships grew when she had something to offer. It felt as if relationships all in a way were transactional. Yet since the moment Aria had met Ivory, her definition of love was changing ever so quickly. She blushed as he whispered such sweet words to her, her cheeks still rosy with blush as he began to slowly thrust into her. She shivered and let out a shaky moan against his lips, her lips tugging upwards into a smile as he kissed her jaw and the corner of her mouth. "I love you so much..." She whispered, her nails gently sliding across his back as she held onto him affectionately.

"Mmm okay..." She hummed happily as he placed tender kisses along her jaw and nibbled at her. "Mhm I'd like that... I want to--" She shivered as he began to thrust deeper and deeper, her words cut off with a soft moan. Despite being steady, each thrust seemed to hit so deeply into her, sending chills of pleasure up her spine. "Y-You feel so good, my love..." She whispered in pleasure, leaning in to kiss him once more, lips tenderly meeting his.

He moaned as he enjoyed being inside of her his looking at hers his gaze full of care, adoration and a hint of lust. The way she blushed and the way that she moaned made him smile back at her his smile getting wider as he heard her whispered words loving how affectionate she was as he looked into her eyes. He pressed his lips against hers more roughly his hands gripping her hips as he hugged her close before he pulled out of her again his pace steady.

"That's good, I want you to feel good. I want my Neko to be the happiest person in the world." He let his hips slower build up in speed as he thrust in and out of her one of his hands sliding down between her legs to rub against her clit. "Your beautiful, you have no idea how beautiful you are." He told her against her lips before he let his lips press against hers more roughly his tongue pushing between her lips as he thrust as deeply inside of her as he could with each thrust wanting to go as deeply inside of her as he could.

For several moments, Aria began to realize that she now how a dream.

Growing up, Aria had truly never had a dream.

All she wanted was to live a peaceful and quiet life. Yet now she didn't care about that, she wanted to be by his side. She wanted to see how their relationship grew, how it would ebb and flow like the tide as they grew alongside one another. Ivory was Aria's dream and she desperately wanted to cling to it. For her dream alongside Ivory was far too important to ever let go.

As he gripped at her hips and pulled her into him, she could feel their hearts begin to beat as one, her eyes softening as he whispered lovingly to her. Love. She softened as he continued, letting him pull down another level of her vulnerability. She moaned out against his lips in pleasure as his fingers dipped between her legs to rub at her clit and tease her even more. Each thrust filled her body with pleasure, her cheeks stained hot as he thrust deeply into her. Leaning into the kiss, she embraced the pleasure and love he was giving her whole heartedly.

His eyes were full of care as he looked at her with love. Making it clear that he never wanted to be apart from her. It wasn't just that she felt good, or that she let him drink her blood.

Being around her made him feel better than he was. She trusted him more than anyone else and he didn't want to give him up. She looked at him as if he could do her no harm. Her faith just made him want to be a better man. To be someone that deserved her.

He smiled back at her as he saw her eyes softened loving the way she moaned, being vulnerable to him than anyone had ever been. As one of his hands continued to rub against her clit. His lips pressing against hers passionately his other hand cupping her face. "You're my angel, my love. You're the most amazing person I've ever met." He whispered against her lips.

"Now that I've found you, I'm never going to be apart from you again." Once the last word left his lips, he let his tongue thrust forward pushing it inside of her mouth to let his tongue rub against hers coaxing it to play as he continued to thrust in and out of her wanting to make her pleasure rise. Wanting to make her cum again all over him.

The two of them had a bond that many within their society would understand.

She didn't expect them to.

Aria well understood that the world wouldn't be as kind to their relationship as they both hoped. Many vampires were sure to dislike that he was in relations with someone of such a low tier, and many would consider her a seductress for having been claimed by him. She did not mind. For even if the world around them disapproved of them, Aria was sure that he was the only one that would ever be for her.

Aria moaned out in pleasure, overwhelmed as he continued to rub at her clit, fingers moving quickly as he pounded in and out of her, deep thrusts sending shivers up her spine as he reminded her just how much he loved her. Since the moment they had met they had been strangely intimate, even the sucking of blood being an oddly intimate and affectionate act. Aria shivered underneath him as he continued to push his pleasure onto her, making it hard for her to hold back.

She hummed out as he leaned into the kiss, her eyes falling closed as he pushed his tongue into her mouth and let it wrestle against her own. Her tongue flicked against his, beginning to play against his as she struggled to hold on. He must've been able to feel it, the way her pussy was tightening around him as she grew more and more aroused, struggling to hold back. She felt good and she clearly was beginning to struggle, her legs shifting around him as she felt herself slipping, unable to hold back. She moaned against his lips as she began to cum onto his member once more, her pussy tightening as she squirmed against him, cumming once more.

He didn't care what anyone thought about their relationship. He was happy, she was happy that was all that mattered to him.

No matter what, he was going to hold onto her for as long as he could. Forever if he had any say in it, and he was going to do everything he could to have his say in it.

"I love you." He whispered to her as he heard her moan out for him feeling how soaked she was as he rubbed her clit and thrust in and out of her loving the way that she shivered against him while they kissed his eyes closing with hers to savour their embrace feeling her tongue play with his own until she came his moans growing more and more loud as he felt her clamp down around his cock and as she came and squirmed. Unable to fight his own orgasm he pressed his lips against hers more firmly while he moaned his cock throbbing as he came filling her with his seed.

His thrusts slowly came to a stop before he broke their kiss letting his teeth playfully nibble at her nose. "Come let's get you all cleaned up then we can go." He told her softly slowly pulling out of her before he washed her body and her hair, starting by cleaning her crotch of his seed followed by the rest of her putting her down and making her turn around when needed before he turned her around again letting her wash him before he scooped her up in his arms again. "Before we go remind me to raid their rations. We're going to need to live off the land for a bit." When he was done talking, he pressed his lips against her jaw carrying her back into the bedroom where they stayed.

"I like taking care of you Aria, I like holding you close, kissing you and I like being responsible for you." He whispered rubbing a cloth into her body to gently dry her off. "And while I love the sight of you in nothing let's find you some more clothes."

Life has a way of turning things on their heads.

While things were comfortable between the two now, they had many challenges ahead that would await them. Whether they could handle the troubles ahead is unknown. Aria, on one hand, certainly didn't have any clue about the harsh discrimination that she would face for being of a lesser species in a relationship. Even worse, she has yet to learn that love cannot always protect you.

"I love you too," Words that the pair had already repeated to one another a plethora of times without truly understanding the weight of them. Neither had yet learned the power of such a phrase, having proclaimed love for one another yet so early into their relationship. As Ivory placed Aria on the ground once more, she let out a soft relaxed sigh, leaning her head back and allowing the water to fall onto her head. It was warm and she knew not when she would have the chance to shower again. Warm running water was a luxury they may be without.

She smiled and nodded, helping him to clean up dotingly for several moments before he scooped her up and walked out of the shower with her in his arms. "Mhm... rations it is." She nodded, nuzzling against him as he carried her back towards the room and placed her down once more, grabbing a towel to dry her off. "Oh right... mine are dirty." She noted, not exactly having expected to have to live in a warehouse like this for so long. She smiled and wrapped the towel around herself and started towards the door so they could look around. "I wonder what kinds of things they have in here..." She noted, humming softly as she started out of the room in attempt to find something she could wear, even though it would most likely be quite oversized on her small frame.

One of the things that Ivory found was that he couldn't stop touching her. His hands ached when they were off of her body.

Maybe it was because growing up his mother wasn't the most affectionate. She was a cold woman and he had quickly learnt growing up that if he couldn't fend for himself then she would let him die. It was probably part of why he wanted to become as different as her as possible. No if he let Aria get even a scratch or a bruise on her that wasn't caused by love making then he'd feel like a failure. He was just glad that the cuts from feeding on her would have healed to look like simple hickeys. it was just something about the way their fangs worked to keep their prey alive.

He smiled back at her softly when he heard her words, things just felt right to him his hands quickly returning to her body as he heard her sigh gently washing her body clean as he fought the urge to suggest that they just stay where they were. They had food and necessities that would last a while, beds and showers but he knew that it wouldn't be safe so he didn't suggest it.

Once he was done helping to clean her up, he carried her out of the shower, feeling her nuzzle close to him calloused hands leaving gentle touches as he helped to dry her leaning forward to kiss her temple before he let her get up once he was dry, he discarded his towel not worried about being nude in front of her as he followed her out of the room but not before he picked up his sword in one hand flipping it up as he rested the sheath on his shoulder. When he caught up with her, he smiled wrapping one of his arms around her hips. "We have the time, let's make sure we take whatever we need before we go." He told her as he walked with her taking her to the storage room where he found the food hoping that there would be clothes there too.

Two perfect halves of a whole.

Both Ivory and Aria had gone through childhoods in which their definition of love was indeed twisted from the moment they stepped into this world. Due to this, it seemed that both seemed to have their own unique ideas of what love was like and were still very much learning how to love one another.

Feeling his hand wrap around her hip, she giggled and pushed forwards, her eyes lighting up as she walked towards the storage room with him. It was curious, this warehouse. She wondered what it had previously been used for, as it didn't seem to have many things left. Perhaps it had once been a storage unit, yet then the beds did not entirely make sense. Perhaps a warehouse where people had worked long hours and needed beds. She pondered quietly as she waled, her curiosity unbeknownst to her partner.

"Where are we going to go anyway?" She questioned him, her golden eyes flicking to him as they stepped into the storage room and began to look around. She pulled from him and moved to open a box, nearly sneezing as dust propelled off of it as she opened it. She giggled and opened it, her eyes lighting up as she found an oversized white shirt that seemed to belong to someone who had worked her. In fact, the entire box was filled with his belongings including a hair brush, socks, and extra clothing. While the shirt was long, it was long enough to work as a dress on the petite neko who was eagerly holding it up. "What about this?" She asked, wondering if she could make due with it.

He smiled back at her happily as he heard her giggle while she continued to walk noticing the way that her eyes lit up. Part of him enjoyed how innocent she was, how wondrous she was. It made him want to protect her more, to keep her warm and secure in his arms. He wanted to explore the world with her to get lost with her and one day grow old with her. Maybe they'd get to have their own children.

He just wanted to give her everything, and with her he felt like he could get his everything too. His eyes looked around the storage unit they were in smiling back at her as she looked at him slowly processing her question as he let go off her hips as she pulled away from him. If he wanted to, he knew that he could keep his grip on her, but he was scared that he would hurt her his touch on her body gentle.

"Where do you want to go?" He asked her with a soft smile walking over to her as she went through the box noticing how she almost sneezed from the dirt. His hand gently rubbing against her head one of his fingers absentmindedly brushing against her ears. "I was thinking that we'd just pick a direction and start walking, to me it feels more important to create distance or to just kill anyone that tries to hunt you." He had decided that trying to create distance was the more viable option.

He knew that he could fight but he knew that he wasn't invincible, and if she was ever caught in the crossfire, he'd never forgive himself. And also, he doubted she wanted him to kill that many people.

When he saw the shirt, he made his brain switch subjects as he stepped forward gently taking it out of her hand. "I think it's perfect if it's too long for you we can use something to tie it around your waist." He told her placing the shirt down as he kissed her temple. "Your chest, will it cause your pain if we don't support your breasts? If we don't find anything that would fit them specifically, I could use some fabric to make you something." He whispered to her.

His hand then slowly slid up her body to gently cup her face before he leaned forward to quickly kiss her lips, it was only a quick kiss, chaste before he broke their embrace stepping to the side to go to a different box quickly opening it up to reveal bottles of water and canned food. The next one he opened up contained medical supplies and rope before he finally managed to find a box that would work as clothing for him.

Curiosity killed the cat.

A common saying that Aria had always ignored.

Her mother said it would be the death of her, her own curious and wondrous outlook on the world. She had always wanted to explore, even if she knew it was a luxury that she would not be granted. Most nekomimi were rather poor. Jobs were hard to get as a neko due to their frail nature and most nekomimi didn't have any magical powers to help them stand up to those around them. All in all, most neko were rather weak and Aria was raised to believe that she too fit into that box.

As he questioned her, Aria paused and looked up, her ear twitching as he rubbed at it. She smiled and nuzzled into his hand, shrugging just a little. "Everywhere." She smiled, her eyes bright as she looked at him. "I want to see the world.. and with you by my side... that's a possibility, isn't it? No one can hurt me if you're by my side." She smiled, her trust in him infinite. Ivory was strong. Perhaps not as strong as a full bred vampire but still strong enough that Aria believed that she would always be safe by his side.

She paused and looked at the shirt, giggling as she looked up at him. "Mhm... maybe rope or something will work." She looked up at him, tilting her head ever so slightly as he questioned her breasts. While Aria was tiny, she still had perky and friendly breasts, her gaze shifting. "I.... think we could make something out of fabric... perhaps uhm..." She swayed back and forth on her feet as she thought. "Some wrap or something could work." She nodded, smiling as he cupped her face and kissed her.

When he noticed the way that her ear twitched, he couldn't help but smile, feeling her nuzzle into his hand before he heard her words slightly surprised. Everywhere was kind of difficult but for her, for the smile on her face and to keep that brightness in her eyes he would do his best. He would explore the world with her if that made her happy. "I don't care where I am as long as it's with you." He whispered to her gently kissing her temple. "Your mine Aria, you're my Neko I promise you I will do whatever it takes to make sure that you stay safe." He promised her with a soft smile.

He felt like he loved everything about her. Her giggle made him feel lighter as he nodded back at her words picking up the medical supplies believing that those would work to help build her a bra. "Rope feels a little too coarse but maybe this would work as support, or at least as the first layer to protect your skin." He whispered to her before he knelt down to pack everything into one box. He took everything he thought they would need, the stuff that she found, the clothes, the food and the medical supplies and anything else that would help them survive like the rope before he picked it up.

"Come on honey, we can get dressed on a bed, and I'll help make you a bra, it gives me an excuse to touch your breasts before we go." He whispered to her the last bit being playful as he used his free hand to give her a playful slap on her ass before he wrapped that same arm around her waist leading her to where they had slept. Once he stepped into the room, he led her to a bed and sat down pulling her onto his lap

"Let's get you dressed now." He told her softly resting his chin in the nape of her neck.

@ shae 3+.

Aria's face lit up as she heard his words, her eyes filling with joy as he kissed her temple and sweetly promised her that she would be safe by his side. She grinned and happily wrapped her arms around him, kissing him several times playfully. "I love you I love you I love you!" She giggled after each kiss, bouncing against him happily. She seemed quite content with his words, her arms wrapped around him as she happily swayed back and forth. One last kiss on his nose brought her back off of her toes, giggles escaping her lips as she spun around on her foot.

She glanced back over to the medical supplies and nodded, "I meant rope for a belt, silly!" She laughed, shaking her head. "Rope as a bra sounds awful." She noted, shaking her head as she grabbed a few other rations for them, bending over when he slapped her ass playfully, catching her attention. She gasped slightly and stood up straight, smiling as she let him lead her to the bedroom.

Once back in the room, she placed what she was holding down, smiling as he sat down onto the bed and pulled her onto his lap. Her towel fell to the ground as he held her against him, her cheeks hot and warm. "Mhm. Are you going to dress me then?" She asked, looking at him curiously.

He couldn't help it, as he saw her face light up, he smiled at her happily not even wanting to try and hide his happiness as he looked back at her. He loved her smile his arms quickly hugging her back as she hugged him holding her body against his own loving her words as she said she loved him while he kissed her back each time she kissed his lips, when he heard her laugh, he simply kissed her temple releasing that did just mean as the belt. It made sense, and he was sure that she would find it painful to have a bra made from something as coarse as rope.

He found that he enjoyed slapping her ass much more then he thought he would have, the way she bent over just made him want to keep her bent over so that he could spank her more often but instead he simply led her into the bedroom guiding her with him. "I should try bending you over my knee later, I want to spank you more my Neko." He whispered into her ear as he walked letting his lips kiss her neck before she was pulled onto his lap as he sat with her his eyes looking up her body as her towel fell down.

"Such a pretty blush." He whispered to her as he heard her words before he leaned forward to gently claim her lips. "I will dress you my love, but first I'm going to take you one last time, you're going to go out covered in my scent." He whispered to her and what he meant by that was that he was going to cum inside of her before he left as his one of his hands held onto her belly the other cupping her face, but before he took her again, he wanted to have a little more fun which was why he quickly let his fingers move against her belly playfully tickling her soft skin.

Of course, Aria hadn't been bending so that he could spank her, she had been bending to pick something up, her cheeks lighting up as he teased her. She swallowed and leaned up towards him, her cheeks growing hotter as he whispered to her about bending her over his knee and spanking her. She bit her lip and looked down, ears pinning down to her head shyly as he kissed against her neck playfully. "Y-You're mean..." She whined in embarrassment, her cheeks hot and red as she grew more and more flustered by his teasing. She still had a long way to go until she grew comfortable with his attacks.

"Hmmm...." She paused, biting her lip as he leaned towards her, cupping her face affectionately. "I thought we were in a hurry." She teased ever so slightly, though she clearly didn't seem to mind his idea of taking her once more and covering her in his scent. It seemed obvious that he wanted to make it entirely clear that she was his, even though the hickeys that covered her neck did the case rather well.

She swallowed and looked at him, her gaze falling as his fingers moved towards her belly and began to tease at her skin. She seemed surprised, her eyes lighting up as she squirmed away from him. "Ivory--" She whined through giggles, her ears perking up as she was overcome by laughter. She attempted to pull his hands from her, laughter swelling through her as she grabbed at his hands in attempt to stop his teasing.

When she blushed as he teased her, he couldn't help but grin back at her noticing the way that she had swallowed her blush getting deeper before she bit down on her lower lip really if she wanted him to stop then the way that she was acting made it so difficult but something told him that she didn't want him to stop. "I think it would be mean to just say it, I would be more than happy to follow through." He whispered back to her before he gave her time to calm down as they sat down on their shared bed smiling as he heard her tease him. "I'm willing to spend a little more time before we go. We can't go back to sleep after or cuddle but we could still go one more round." He imagined what things could have been like if they had more normal circumstances.

Maybe instead of needing to leave he would push her down onto her back and take her again. He'd take her until the both of them were spent and then they could spend the rest of the day in bed together their arms and legs intertwined like threads only getting up for the necessities. Maybe if she knew how to cook, she could make something, and if not, he could try, only really knowing how to roast meat over a fire himself. Instead, they had to make do with what they had, maybe one day his fantasies could be a reality but right now for the first time in his life he felt content, and it was all because of her.

His hands tickled her soft belly quickly not letting her get away from him even as she squirmed loving the way that her eyes lit up as she whined his name, loving the sound of her laughter her excitement clear on her face, clear with the way that her ears stood up but when he felt her hands grip his he slowly stopped smiling back at her softly reminding himself of what he was already planning to do to her.

"Aria, I love you? Now do you want to be with me one last time before we leave?" He asked her his hands going to hers lacing his fingers with her own before he leaned forward to happily claim her lips with his own.

A pout curled along Aria's lips as he teased her about spanking her, her cheeks hot and red as he flustered her to the best of his ability. It did seem that she was just as easy to fluster as the day they had met, her cheeks easily lighting up each and every time he caught her off guard with a comment she didn't expect. As he held her onto his lap, Aria paused and looked at him, golden eyes flickering as he noted that he still wanted to go one more round. Aria was no one to refuse him, her gaze softening as she gave a slight nod. "Okay."

Aria certainly couldn't say no.

While she knew they had responsibilities and that the lurking danger of being found was a threat to them, Aria wished for reprieve as well. Just as much as he was fantasizing a life with her, Aria was dreaming of the opportunities that awaited them as they took on life together. She wanted to be by his side no matter what but the idea of settling down with one another sounded comforting and as they sat together she could only wish it come a little sooner.

As his fingers finally found a stop on her belly, Aria gasped for air and leaned her head against him, giggles subsiding as he held her softly, fingers lacing with his own. "Mmmmm" She whined ever so slightly, "That was mean again..." She complained before leaning into his lips affectionately, clearly not holding a grudge at his tickling. "Mhm... one last time." She agreed, her eyes falling closed as she melted into his lips lovingly.

He pouts just made him smile at her again looking back at her rosy cheeks, enjoying how easy it was to make her blush still. It was something that he hoped would never change. He wanted to spend the rest of his life flustering her smiling back at her as he saw her gaze soften his head tilting as he heard her words after she nodded before he tickled her loving the way she gasped as he played with her before she rested her head against him, his thumb rubbing against the soft knuckles of her hands.

"I love you." He whispered against her lips as his eyes shut with hers, feeling her melt into his embrace until he reluctantly let go of her hands. Instead, his hands gripped her hips easily lifting her up so that she was hovering over him, help me honey, use your hand to guide me." He whispered against her lips nodding down with his head to make it clear that he meant his cock before he broke their kiss.

"We're going to need to walk out here, so I'm going to be gentle, tell me my love. When we're free, when we don't need to hide what's the first thing that you want to do?" He asked her softly. Since she said she wanted to see the world he knew that they wouldn't be finding a place to live as soon as they were free. Maybe they could join a caravan, being part of a group would make them less noticeable.

He could imagine what they would do, maybe they'd travel for a while before they found somewhere to call home. They could settle down, start a family together. He let his lips kiss across her collar, gently nipping her skin before he kissed up her body again to claim her lips his tongue pushing against hers seeking entrance into her mouth.

"I love you too."

She repeated softly as he released her hands and lifted her by the hips, easily holding her to hover above his crotch once more. She bit her lip and glanced down, "Yes Sir." She whispered against his lips, shifting her hand to softly wrap her fingers along his shaft before lining it up along her slit before pausing and shifting to look at him expectantly for him to lower. She gently pressed her lips to his momentarily.

After pulling away, her gaze shifted to him, "I want to be by your side. I want to go on a date with you...and to be like a normal couple." She noted softly, her ears perking up at the idea. "I want to be by your side no matter what... where no one can question it." She whispered to him lovingly. "I never want to leave you." She smiled and leaned into his lips once more, finding the soft love that he gave her to be warm as he gently kissed her and pulled away to nip along her collar once more. Her chin instinctively lifted for him, soft breaths escaping as he kissed all the way up her neck towards her lips, letting his lips find hers.

While it might be hard, Aria hoped with her whole heart that she could be his partner without the worries of the world at their necks. She hoped that she could travel by his side without having to worry about gazes, hoped she could be by his side without any hesitation. It was a hard dream but one that Aria couldn't help but long for. He was the person that she wanted to spend her entire life with and while she knew that this was a reality that was out of reach, she wondered if it would ever be possible for them to live in peace. To live a life where no one raised an eyebrow about the extent of their relationship.

He smiled back at her happily as he heard her repeat his words and when he heard what she whispered he groaned against her a lust filled growl leaving his lips. Once she aligned his cock with her pussy, he looked into her eyes his forehead resting against hers. "Good girl." He whispered appraisingly before he slowly pulled her down as his lips pecked hers. as she spoke, he gently pulled her down sighing in pleasure as he felt his cock slip inside of her pussy, it didn't matter how many times they did it each time he entered her it felt like he could get lost in pleasure. He didn't stop pulling her down until she his length was fully inside of her as she sat on top of his lap.

"You will always be by my side; I will do whatever it takes to make sure that you get everything you could ever want. We can settle down one day, we'll find somewhere we can call home and with some mini you's running around that will make us go grey." He promised her his hands gripping her hips as his lips attacked the soft skin of her body. Licking wherever he nipped at to soothe her smiling as he felt her chin lift offering more of her soft skin to him as he kissed her body before he let his lips press against hers softly

He meant everything he told her, he wanted to give her everything she ever wanted, because he was pretty certain that she was everything he ever wanted. He loved her, so like as he could continue to hold her in his arms and be with her, he was content. A more selfless person may be happy so long as she was alive, willing to sacrifice their life so that the other could live but while if he had to, he was sure that he would make the choice to save her he wasn't selfless. He wanted to live with her, he wanted her to be happy with him. He wanted her to belong with him.

His tongue brushed against hers as he kissed her seeing entrance into her mouth as he picked her up by her hips, lifting her until only the tip of his cock remained inside of her before he dropped her back down onto his cock again his lips never leaving her lips while he moaned feeling how tightly she squeezed his cock. "Mine." he whispered against her lips possessively before he broke their kiss "Your mine my pet." He told her huskily one of his hands moving up her body to her throat, his long fingers wrapping around her throat, not so tight that she wouldn't be able to breath but tight enough that she wouldn't be able to ignore it. "Say it, your mine my pet."

Good girl.

She had come to love when he said those words.

Her lips tugged into a smile as he pecked against her lips praisingly, loving on her in a way she had truly come to enjoy. She let out a shaky gasp as he lowered her all the way down onto his shaft, not stopping until she sat on his lap and his member was entirely positioned inside of her. Her breaths shifted a little bit as her tight pussy began to adjust to him, not having been as prepared this time but nonetheless beginning to adjust to his length slowly.

"Mmmm" She let out soft shaky hums of pleasure as he nipped and licked at her skin, not hesitating to soothe her skin after every playful nip at her pale skin. "Good." She said softly, her ears pinning down submissively as he began to tease at her neck and chest with his teeth. "I can't wait." She whispered, ever so excited to truly begin her life with the man who she had truly begun to love. Now that he was in her life, Aria certainly couldn't imagine a world in which he wasn't by her side. Moreso, she didn't want to. She loved him and knew that her future belonged by his side.

The two of them had a love that they couldn't put into words. So deep that they would both do anything for the other without hesitation. Just as he would sacrifice his life to save her, she had no doubt that she would do anything to make him happy even if it meant her own harm or detriment. She didn't care about herself but wanted to live for him in order to make him happy. She was his just as much as he was hers. It was as if they had been made for one another and as their love for one another grew, it became evidently clear that the couple was willing to put everything on the line for one another.

As he leaned into her lips, Aria let her eyes fall closed, her lips beginning to mesh against his affectionately as his tongue pressed the entrance of her lips. She sweetly parted her lips for him, shivering as he lifted her to the tip of his cock and dropped her back down r oughly. She moaned out in pleasure at the feeling as he seemed to hit even deeper into her, her back arching in pleasure as he pulled from her lips as whispered sweet words to her. Her breaths were ragged, her cheeks stained red as he moved his hand to her throat and let his fingers tighten. She swallowed shakily and bit her lip shyly, feeling her airway restrained as he commanded her without question. "I'm yours." She confirmed airily, her breaths now sounding different as he toyed with her commandingly. "I'm your pet and I always will be. I'm yours. All yours." She whispered, her eyes connecting with his lovingly.

He was in love with every part of her, her kindness, her innocence, her unwavering believe in him, her smile, but he couldn't deny that she made him feel insatiable. He moaned as he felt how tightly she squeezed the length of his cock, and the more he of his cock he had her take the tighter that she felt, his hand on her hip keeping her still not wanting to hurt her. Before they took the time to make each other feel good but he knew that they didn't really have time. It was already risky staying longer to have one more act of intimacy.

The hums of pleasure that left her lips made it clear to him that she was enjoying what he was doing to her thinking that it was cute the way that her ears drooped down as he played with her hearing her whispered words. No matter what so long as he had her in his arms, he knew that he would be happy. So long as she was safe, he would be content. His eyes closed during their kiss to savour the feeling of his lips pressed against hers his lips pressing against hers as he made her bounce on his cock again moaning with her as he felt the friction of her movement the pleasure clear on his face.

But he didn't focus on his pleasure he focused on hers loving the way that she blushed as he gripped her neck loving how shy she was as she confirmed his words hearing her breathing hitch his eyes looking into hers. "Good girl, my pet I love you I'm going to fill you with me cum and when we're in public I'm never going to hide that you belong to me, that I belong to you. I'll hold you; I'll touch you I will do whatever I want to you." He promised her before he started to move her again.

Wanting to make her feel more pleasure he let go off her neck and wrapped his arms around her waist hugging her close making her chest press against his before he started to move his hips quickly pumping his cock in and out of her.

"I want to make you feel good, once we're safe I'll spend hours focused on pleasing you. We'll see the world, lie naked on the beach. Go into the ocean. Whatever you want to do we will do together."

It was no doubt that the two would grow old together should they face no difficulties.

Despite the fact that Ivory was bound to live longer than her, if they were to have the chance to grow by one another's side, the two had a love so deep that it was clear they would spend many years by one another's side. Aria let out a shaky breath as he gently lowered her, taking care of her as he lowered her just in case she was in pain. While the two of them faced a world outside that would be harder than expected, they attempted to savor onto the safety they had found in the warehouse.

She let out a soft shaky breath as his fingers released her neck and praised her, her gaze locked on his. His words sent chills down her spine, something about the tone of voice that he used being so smooth and suave that it could make any girl wish to swoon. Aria blushed ever so slightly as he confessed his love for her ever so sweetly, continually reminding her of the future that they would share together.

"Mhm--" She started to speak when he pulled her deeper into his arms and held her close to his chest so that he could begin moving. She shifted and let out a shaky breath at the feeling of his hips beginning to quickly pump into her. "I-I'll always be yours." She reassured, gasping at the pace that he found ever so quickly, not hesitating to use her at his leisure so that she would smell of his scent.

While it probably wasn't the reason, his scent would both put her in danger as well as protect her. In a society such as this, no one lower on the hierarchy would mess with anyone who smelled of vampire or in this case dhampire. No one would dare question her should she remain scented of him. Yet should another vampire smell her, it would enrage them in a way that he would be well aware was quite dangerous. After all, she was far below the status and unless he truly considered her as nothing more than a pet, she was sure to be frowned upon in a way that she was not quite used to.

de the warehouse the two were bound to face a world of difficulties that they had not yet known, a world in which their relationship wasn't always seen in the loving light that they hoped it would be.

ended up becoming vampires by choice. They weren't all that weaker than most vampires and with his experience fighting he was sure that he would be able to keep Aria safe from anyone that wanted to wish her harm but Dhampires weren't blessed or cursed in his mind with longevity. He saw what happens to a person when they had no natural end and he didn't want to be like that.

He wanted to be able to cherish what he had, even if he knew that it would end one day, loving every breath that left her lips loving the feeling of her tight walls squeeze his hard length his fingers rubbing circles into her skin wanting to make this last as long as he could as he spoke his eyes never leaving hers loving how she blushed and shivered.

Maybe it was a little mean that he decided to bring the intensity up right as she started to speak but he couldn't help himself and when he was rewarded by the way her breathing changed the way she gasped as he used her. "Good, I'm going to hold onto you and never let go. You are my everything my kitten." He whispered to her before he leaned forward and claimed her lips again as his hips moved thrusting in and out of her his pace only growing faster as he took advantage of their position.

His eyes shut as he kissed her, his tongue pushing against her lips wanting to explore her mouth as he moved his hands down her body to grip her ass cheeks pushing her hips down as he thrust to try change the angle of his thrusts to see if that would bring her more pleasure.

Ivory had a way with Aria that was interesting.

The dynamic in their relationship was one that continued to take a metamorphosis and change by the minute that they spent together. Protector. Lover. Boyfriend. Owner. Master. And she, protected, lover, girlfriend, kitten, and pet. She shivered at the way he spoke, his tone smooth and suave in a way that made her want to easily concede to him. She was his. His. She always wanted to be his. Whether he was possessive or not, Aria seemed to enjoy the fact that she belonged to him and always would.

Her words shook and stumbled as he upped the intensity, teasing her playfully so that she couldn't even focus on the words she was attempting to say. Aria let out shaky gasps and moans against him as he held her to his chest, the thumping of his heartbeat loud as she leaned into him. She could feel their hearts beginning to beat as one as they matched up in a unison that was much more intimate than they had before.

You are my everything

Her lips pulled into a soft smile as she leaned her head back, letting her lips press against his as he shifted his hips to thrust deeply into her. He was hitting a spot of her he never had before, shifting her hips down so that he could hit so deeply into her that she couldn't even help the loud moans that were escaping against his lips as she struggled to focus on anything at all. She couldn't even focus on kissing him as he pushed his tongue into her mouth and explored, roughly thrusting into her all the while, making it incredibly hard for her to hold on.

She was the first person that he had ever been with so if their relationship was weird, he didn't know but really, he didn't care. So, what if things were different out of the ordinary. She made him happy; he made her happy.

He loved her. He loved her like he never loved anyone else before. He wanted to make her feel good, he wanted to make her feel safe and when he held her in his arms when he took her. He wanted to make her forget about anything else. He loved the way she continued to shiver in his arms as he felt her stumble struggling to speak as he could hear how fast her heart was racing while her body pressed against his, his lips kissing hers while she moaned.

When he heard her lips grow louder when he changed the angle of his thrusts, he quickly realised that he was hitting a spot that was extra pleasurable for her making him moan as his cock twitched inside of her throbbing making it clear that she wasn't the only one lost in pleasure as he thrust in and out of her his cock pushing deeper inside of her with his thrusts. Even if she couldn't really kiss back all that well he didn't stop kissing her.

His lips moved against hers gently his tongue rubbing along her teeth, her gums every part of her mouth as if trying to map every part of her mouth to memory before he pulled his tongue back and let his teeth close around her lower lip playfully biting it before he broke their kiss dragging her lower lip with him until he released it.

"Close your eyes Aria, I want you to close your eyes and just focus on your pressure. I want you to feel good kitten." He whispered to her before he started to move his hips more quickly as he fucked her wanting to be one with her as they came together.

Pleasure.

Overwhelming pleasure hit Aria like a bus.

She shivered against him as he pulled her against his chest, holding her to him as he continued to toy with her, continued to drive her crazy. She couldn't help it, her mind was becoming overwhelmed with the feeling as he pounded into her at such a depth that she could hardly think straight. Her arms wrapped around him clutched at him as she struggled, gasping and moaning in pleasure as he roughly pounded into her G spot.

She was brought back into reality when he pulled away from her lips, biting onto her lower lip and slowly dragging it from the kiss before allowing it escape from between his lips. She let out a shaky breath, her chest rising and falling erratically as she struggled to focus, struggled to even think of something to say.

Yet he didn't need her to.

Close your eyes

She paused and looked at him, her chest lifting with every heavy breath. She nodded softly, biting her lip as she felt the way that his cock had began to throb inside of her. She swallowed and softly let her eyes drift closed before focusing on the feeling that he was bringing her. He always had a way of doing this, of taking her thoughts away and making her just feel an overwhelming amount of happiness.

It wasn't long before she could feel her body tensing around him, her pussy struggling to hold on as he roughly pounded into her gspot over and over again. She gasped out and pleasure, her ears held down submissively as she struggled to hold on. "I--" She struggled, knowing he could probably tell from the way that her pussy clenched around his member as if it were pulling him deeper in. Her legs quivered against him as he held her, her back arched as she was overwhelmed by the pleasure. "M-Master--Ivory--" She moaned out, attempting to warn him as she struggled to hold back from her own climax.

He loved the way that she shivered gently holding her body close to him as he teased her as he made her feel good her moans filling his ears making him not want to stop. Making him never want to stop while she gasped and writhed against him. She made it so hard to stop.

But he didn't want to stop, why would he.

Her shaky breaths and the quick rise and fall of her chest drew his gaze to her body unable to look away from her. Never wanting to look away from her as he watched her face after he spoke. Not having to tell her twice as he watched her close her eyes as he continued to thrust in and out of her feeling the way that her pleasure quickly grew feeling her body tense in his arms making him realise that she was close. As he heard her struggle to speak, he leaned forward one of his hands going to her ears rubbing his fingers against them wanting to make her lost in pleasure wanting her to cum.

“Don’t hold back my pet I want you to cum. I want you to cum all over my cock.” He whispered to her before he leaned forward and eagerly claimed her lips, his lips moved against hers gently as he got close to his own limit, he let his hips move more quickly thrusting in and out of her at a quicker pace his eyes closing in pleasure before he moved his lips away from her lips to move his lips down her body.

He left a trail of kisses down her jaw playfully nipping one the soft skin of her neck with his teeth before he went further down to her chest his mouth opening to take one of her breasts into his mouth. “Wrap your legs around me I want to make sure nothing is wasted when I cum inside of you.” He whispered against her back before he rolled them over so that she was lying on her back and he was lying on top of her his teeth biting down on one of her nipples lightly as he thrust until he couldn’t hold back any longer slamming deep inside of her before he came filling her with his seed.

Don't stop

Aria didn't want him to stop.

Just as much as he didn't want to stop, Aria couldn't help but cling to the pleasure he was giving her. She wanted him. She wanted him in every way shape and form possible and well knew that he would take her in the same effort.

She shivered as she felt his fingers beginning to rub against her ears, teasing at them as he continued to heighten the overwhelming sense of pleasure that was dragging her further and further down into it. Her moans shook as she tried to hold on, clearly growing closer and closer to the edge. It didn't seem like she would be able to hold back in the first place, gasping out and moaning as he overloaded her senses with the pleasure he hoped to give her.

"Mmmhmmmm...." She hummed softly against his lips as he kissed her, continuing to thrust in and out of her, his thrusts beginning to grow more erratic and faster. She gasped out as he pulled from her lips, her head tilting up as she shivered in her own pleasure, her legs beginning to shake ever so slightly as she tried to hold on just a little longer. Feeling his kisses trail down her jaw and nip at her skin, she smiled and let out a shaky breath of enjoyment.

Obediently, she nodded as he softly teased at her breast, taking it into his mouth as she struggled on the edge of her own climax. "Y-Yes Sir." She gasped airily before shifting her shaky legs to wrap around his waist to bring her even closer to him. She didn't seem like she would be able to last much longer when he bit down on her nipple and thrust in so deeply that she couldn't help but cum, shivering against him as they both began to cum in unison, once more unified in their pleasure.

He didn't want to stop either, he wanted to be with her. He wanted to take her to claim her. To cum inside of her again. She was his and he wanted to make her cum.

He loved being with her too much to stop, loving the way that she shivered and moaned loudly feeling how her edge was coming closer and closer as she struggled to hide contain her pleasure, he didn't stop wanting to make her cum all over him as they kissed loving the sound of her humming in pleasure and gasping. His thrusts didn't stop as he felt her legs start to shake while he played with her breast with his lips hearing her obedient words before she wrapped her legs around his waist just like he told her to

As they came together, he let his teeth bite down on her nipple lightly his cock thrusting inside of her pussy one last time before he came with her filling her with his cum his hips pushed forward allowing him to go as deep inside of her as he could before he pulled his lips away from her breasts to gently claim her lips with his own again.

"I love you my Neko, now let's clean you up then get ready." He whispered to her softly his lips pecking hers one more time before he slowly started to try to pull out of her again his hips pulled backwards while he picked up some tissues so that he would be ready to clean the cum that oozed out of her pussy.

"Do you like it when I cum inside of you kitten?" He asked her teasingly as he carefully cleaned up her crotch

Hot breaths forced their way from her lungs as he bit down on her nipple and thrust into her.

Final moments of pleasure overwhelmed them both as they formed into unison to find a sense of pleasure in one another's bodies. For several moments, the two of them enjoyed the feeling of their climax before slowly coming down from the wave of feeling that they they had both been overwhelmed with. Hot breaths continued to escape them as he pulled his lips from her breasts and leaned into her lips once more.

"Mmmm" She let out a soft hum as he pulled from her lips before speaking. She opened her eyes once more and looked at him, gasping slightly as he pulled out of her, cum oozing out of her pussy the moment that he exited. She swallowed and bit her lip, shifting slightly so as not to make a mess as he grabbed the tissues. Her cheeks reddened at his words, her gaze falling away from him as he carefully slid the tissues to clean the cum up from her pussy. She bit her lip and nodded ever so slightly, clearly shy about the idea of admitting it. "I... I do..." She admitted softly, "I want to always be yours...no one else's."

Aria paused softly as he finished cleaning her up, her gaze shifting to him as she stood up and went to put her clothing on. "I will...right?" She questioned, her hair slipping over her shoulders as she pulled on her shirt. "I'll always be yours no matter what." She walked up to him as he began to get changed as well, leaving their scents on one another as he had wanted. After all, this had been his idea of keeping a claim on her that he didn't want to ignore. This way everyone who had a keen sense of smell would know that he had claimed her and that no one else could dare even look at her.

He knew that he would never forget how intoxicating the words that left her lips were, he'd never want to stop causing her to make those noises, but he knew that they needed to leave so he didn't try and go another round with her even if part of him wanted. She had woken up something in him that craved her, needed her. And it wasn't her blood that he craved to taste. He let himself enjoy the way she gasped his eyes going down between her legs enjoying the sight of her pussy filled with his cum and when she admitted that she looked it he smiled at her.

"Good girl, I think my cum belongs in your pussy, I'll keep cumming inside of you. I'll get you pregnant and I still won't stop taking you." He told her possessively as he finished cleaning her before he watched her stand up quickly getting dressed while she was and before he was done getting on his pants, he heard her question making him nod before his arms went to her hips.

Not allowing her to stand up for long he pulled her in close as he sat down onto the bed forcing her onto his lap his arms wrapped around her body possessively as he picked up her underwear and slide it up her legs dressing it onto her for her letting it cover up her core. Of course, there was still some of his seed inside of her but that was by choice. He wanted his scent to be on her in the deepest way, he wanted people to know that she belonged to him, and her to know that she belonged to him. "Of course, you will be Aria, you are everything to me. I'd sooner fight Dracula himself then let go off you." His tone was starting to get more and more possessive his eyes looking at her in a way that promised that he wouldn't share her.

"I will kill anyone that tries to harm my kitten." He promised her his voice soft as he spoke to her but he said it without any room for argument, with conviction. Remembering what he had told her about making a bra he took the pillow that they he had slept on and with his arms going taught pulled on it ripping the fabric apart to make a rectangular strip of fabric. Carefully he placed it down onto the bed with the gauze before he gripped the hem of her shirt and peeled it off of her exposing her chest to his eyes again reminding him of something.

"I want to mark you Aria, I want to leave a mark on your skin that won't ever go, to tell everyone that your mine. My scent on you will fade, I'll need to keep replacing it but I want to leave a mark that won't ever go." He whispered to her his hands going to her chest as he used the fabric to cover up breasts, the gauze was then used to secure it tying it to her back and her shoulders to help her take the weight of her breasts to help keep them still. He was sure that it wouldn't hold up if a fight broke out of if she tried to run too much but for now it would do.

He leaned forward to let his lips press against the nape of her neck his arms wrapped around her stomach. "It's going to hurt more then normal my kitten, and it's going to be sore after but I promise you it's going to be okay."

Good girl, I think my cum belongs in your pussy, I'll keep cumming inside of you. I'll get you pregnant and I still won't stop taking you.

Her cheeks grew rosy at his words, flustered.

He seemed to pay no mind about saying things like that, his words lustful and demanding. Yet Aria still felt her chest flutter each time he made such demands, her gaze lifting to him as he possessively pulled her back onto his lap. "I-Ivory--" she whined in embarrassment, her ears pressing down as he leaned down to grab her underwear, sliding it up her slender legs. She blushed and shifted in her place, tail swaying back and forth as she wondered what it would be like to be pregnant with his kids. She knew well that he was serious when he said things like that. He didn't seem to joke about things like that. Her gaze fell as she thought about it, tail continuing to sway happily as she seemed pleased at her imaginations.

His words reassured her, her gaze falling down to meet his as he held her on his lap, holding her in his arms sweetly. She smiled and leaned into him slightly. "Is he real?" She questioned, feeling as if he were nothing more than an urban legend that seemed to float around. "I mean.---" She blushed, wondering if it was a stupid question to ask. It seemed that his words had slightly gone over her head, her gaze locking with his as she wondered about Dracula's existence.

"Kill them--" She questioned, her eyes widening ever so slightly. Something about his tone told her that he wasn't joking. That if she were to come to harm's way, he wouldn't hesitate to kill anyone who had brought her there. She swallowed, her gaze softening. It was the safest that she had ever felt. After years of wondering if her time in society teetered on a dangerous edge, Aria now knew that no harm could come to her.

Her chin lifted slightly as he leaned forwards and peeled her shirt up, exposing her chest so that he could help her to create the makeshift bra out of gauze and cloth. She pa used, her gaze falling down to watch him as he began to wrap her chest with the cloth before securing it with the gauze, seeming to have a decent idea of how to help give her at least a little support. She smiled and looked down, her gaze only lifting when he began to speak once more.

I want to mark you Aria, I want to leave a mark on your skin that won't ever go, to tell everyone that you're mine.

Aria paused, swallowing and nodding. "If that's what you'd like." She whispered, shifting her hair out of the way as leaned closer towards the nape of her neck. She swallowed, the feeling of his breath on her neck tickling against her skin. "If it makes you happy, it's worth it." She whispered to him, seemingly relaxed as she wrapped her arms around him and braced herself for the stinging of his teeth in her neck. A part of her even wanted this herself, thinking the permanent marking sounded rather romantic. It was like a promise. A promise she never intended to break.

When he saw her cheeks grow rosy, he grinned back at her able to hear clearly how quickly her heart raced. "You know your cute when you're like this." He whispered back to her with a smile taking the second to admire her slender legs as he helped to dress her feeling her shift on his lap able to feel how her tail swayed. With the time he spent with her he was able to talk enough about her to know that when her tail swayed like that it was a good sign. He was sure that her tail getting stiff was a sign that she was getting overwhelmed. What she was thinking about he didn't know but he could imagine that it was positive. If he had to guess she was thinking about having his children.

About starting a family with him.

His smile grew wider as he felt her lean into him before he heard her question making him laugh softly as she blushed seemingly flustered. "I don't really know to be honest. Some believe that he was the first, but no one has ever really met him, and there isn't really any proof that he did exist." He whispered to her softly. Really, he didn't really care whether the man existed or not finding out about him was so low on his list of priorities that it didn't even register.

"I wouldn't kill someone for looking at you or bumping into you, but if they try to threaten you if they hurt you then I will do whatever it takes to protect my kitten." He promised her as he made her a bra his words whispered not really expecting her to reply. He just wanted her to know that he would look after her.

He smiled back at her when she told him that she would let him and when she pulled her hair out of the way he let his lips go to the soft skin of her neck, gently kissing her skin easily able to hear her whispered words. One of his hands went to her waist his arm wrapping around her to pull her close as he kissed along her neck finding her pulse point before, he let his lips seal around her neck at a point away from her pulse. For marking her he didn't want to bite there, worries that biting deep would cause lasting damage.

Giving her neck one last kiss he let his free hand move up to her lips his thumb pushing into her mouth to give her something other than her tongue to bite on in case the pain got too deep before he carefully bit into her skin, biting down past where he normally bit to make sure he left a mark careful not to damage her muscles before he gently pulled his teeth away his tongue licking away the blood that came from her neck before he pulled his thumb out of her mouth and clamped his hand down onto her shoulder to stem the bleeding.

"Are you okay my kitten?"

Nekomimi were known for being easy to read.

Their body language much mimicked that of which they felt. Just as a cat would, she responded in similar ways while entirely unaware of it. When relaxed, her ears remained in a neutral position, her tail curled loosely. Yet when she was scared or distressed, her body became painfully aware of it. Her ears would flatten and her tail would tuck under her body in a similar fashion. Yet there were times when her body language was harder to read, especially as her fearful body language wasn't all that different from that in which she displayed when submitting to him.

She paused and looked down, her lips tugging upwards as he continued to explain that he would protect her. His Kitten Something about the phrase made her chest feel like it was fluttering. She liked it in a way she never thought she would. She smiled slightly, her tail swaying back and forth happily as he continued to form her bra until her bosom was entirely supported to the best of his ability.

A mark.

Aria paused as he leaned forward towards her neck, her gaze following him slightly as he brought his lips to her skin to kiss it ever so tenderly. She swallowed and lifted her chin, a soft breath escaping her lips as she felt him pull her even closer to his body. Aria had never liked pain. Yet not once had his bites hurt her and seemed to think this would for the most part be the same. She bit her lip slightly as he continued to kiss along her neck, his lips sweet and gentle as he seemingly searched for the proper spot to mark her. She felt shy, her heart pounding as she pressed into him, her arms wrapping around him slightly to hold onto something.

"A-are you going to--" She started to whine, her eyes widening as he pressed his thumb into her mouth, her eyes softening as she wondered what he was doing. Did he want her to suck it like he had before? Her eyebrows furrowed in slight confusion when she felt the pain of his teeth sliding into her skin. She wi nced and shifted slightly against him, her teeth coming down on his thumb in surprise. She let out a slight whimper as she felt his fangs dig deeper into her skin, the pain radiating much more than when he simply sucked her blood. It hurt, her eyes softening as she felt the taste of his blood on her tongue. She shivered as he pulled his thumb from her mouth, her skin having paled just a little as he clamped his hand onto her shoulder.

"I--" Aria bit her lip softly, "I didn't mean to bite you--" She whimpered, her ears pressed down sadly as she feared she had hurt him. She seemed fine for the most part, her breaths fine as she ignored the dull pain of her new wound.

He smiled against her neck as he heard the breath leave her lips, he loved how easy it was to get reactions from her. He wasn't trying to make her needy but he did still love the sounds that she made. He found it a little cute as he felt how impatient was feeling her arms wrap around him and lean into him another thing, he loved about her. He loved how touchy she got with him.

Maybe he should have explained to her why he pushed his finger into her mouth, but he was worried that she would object, that she would risk biting down on her tongue instead. He quickly decided that he was right in his decision when he felt her teeth sink into his thumb. He didn't make a move as she broke through his skin. It didn't hurt not really and he knew that his finger would heal quickly.

His hand stayed clamped over her shoulder glad that she seemed okay before he saw the way her ears were pressed down making him lean forward quickly licking his blood off his thumb. "Don't worry I'm okay my love. See it's already healed I was more worried that you would bite down on your tongue and hurt yourself." He explained to her softly his eyes looking into hers. He swallowed making sure that there was no blood left in his mouth worried that if she tasted herself like that she would be grossed out before he leaned forward to gently claim her lips. Unlike any of their lust filled kiss this was simply a loving one his lips gently pressing against hers to cheer her up.

"Your shoulder does it feel okay? I tried to make sure that I didn't bite you anywhere dangerous." He asked her worriedly his hand pulling away from her shoulder before he licked the blood off of it helping to stop the bleeding. "Roll your shoulder for me my love I want to make sure that you can move it fine." He told her as he pulled out the bandages planning to cover it up until it was healed. Once she did as he asked her, he gently wrapped it around her shoulder not wanting the cut to get infected.

Aria shivered as he pressed down into her shoulder, her gaze softening as he reassured her. "Oh... is that why..." She noted, a soft sigh escaping her lips. She seemed to be worried about hurting him, which seemed silly in concept as she was physically way weaker than him and probably couldn't hurt him even if she wanted to. She paused and relaxed a little bit, her golden eyes softening as he leaned into her and kissed her once more. She let herself melt into it sweetly, her hair slipping out from behind her ear as she tilted her head ever so slightly to kiss him sweetly.

She pulled away and looked up at him as he questioned her, her gaze shifting slightly to her shoulder. She could feel the pulse of the wound continuing to throb, the slight sting that remained. "It hurts a little... but not too badly." She said softly, her voice coming a little weaker than normal. "Roll it?" She frowned, beginning to roll it and wincing a little, her face twisting in a little twinge of pain. She was able to move it mostly down yet when she rolled it up, she felt a sharp pain. She swallowed and looked down, "It uh--" She bit her lip, her skin paling as she wondered whether she should tell him the truth. Or if he had noticed that she was in pain. "I think it'll be fine.." She noted, her gaze tying to the ground.

Aria didn't want to worry him.

She knew he would. He was the type to worry about her well being more than he worried about her own. She was entirely aware of that fact. He would worry and keep in his head about it. She frowned and rubbed at her arm ever so slightly as he began to wrap it with the bandages. Once he had finished bandaging it, she would pull from him, her lips tugging into a slight smile. "Shall we head out?" She rushed, seemingly not wanting him to dig deeper about the wound.

He smiled back at her softly when he saw her features soften. She seemed to calm down when she realised that he wasn't hurt and that was all he cared about. Even if he was hurt, he would take it if it meant that she would feel better. Something that they both had in common. His smile grew wider as he felt her relax in his arms loving the way she melted into their kiss feeling her lips kiss him back. If he wasn't careful then they would spend all day here again. A big part of him didn't want to leave, why wouldn't he.

But they were safer if they didn't stick to one place, and he had a promise of showing her the world to keep.

His eyes watched her carefully when she told him about her arm hearing the weakness in her voice, he was sure that it would hurt. He had done his best to make sure that where he bit wouldn't cause any lasting damage but still, he wanted to be certain. His eyes watched her face seeing the way that her features changed out of pain and he noticed that when she lifted her arm up her pain got worse making him frown. He frowned again when he realised that she tried to hide it from him watching her look away from him as he carefully bandaged up her arm.

He understood why she did it but that didn't mean that he was okay with it and when she pulled away from him, he leaned forward his hands gripping her hips to pull her back onto his lap. "Not yet." He whispered to her firmly before his hand moved up her body to carefully grip her shoulder. "I love you Aria but please I can't help you if you're not honest with me." He told her softly before he leaned forward gently pecking her lips.

"Once we're done, we can leave but first I want you to just try again my love. You don't need to lift it high but try to lift your shoulder for me and then we can finish getting dressed." He told her softly his hand staying on her shoulder that way he would be able to feel the flexing of her muscles if there was an issue beside pain, he would hopefully feel it.

Aria had never been one to lie.

It was as against her nature. Yet Aria had quickly come to understand just the extent of Ivory's concern for her. She worried that if he were to realize that she was in pain that he would beat himself up over it. He seemed like the type to grow rather upset at himself over things like that, especially due to his protective nature and the nature of their relationship. Perhaps that was why she was surprised when he spoke, her gaze falling down as he called her out for having lied. "I--" She bit her lip, her gaze falling and her ears pressing down. "I'm sorry." She whispered, falling into his lap willingly.

She hoped he wouldn't hold it against her, her gaze softening as he pressed his lips to hers softly. "I didn't want to worry you...I'm sure it's fine... just a little sore.." She muttered, hair slipping in her eyes as she avoided his gaze slightly. She didn't want this to stop their journey, after all, it was the beginning of their very special adventure with one another.

Attempting to relax, Aria took a deep breath, her eyes falling closed as she nodded, lifting her shoulder for him, the feeling of his hand on her shoulder reassuring as she gently lifted it. It was evident that she probably was just sore from the wound, no issues with the muscle as far as could be told. She might have just been feeling some residual pain from the bite still being fresh. She swallowed, wincing ever so slightly as she lowered it and looked at him, biting her lip just a little. "It's fine... right?"

He felt so bad for being so firm with her when he saw how down she was, the way that her gaze fell down with her ears and the way that she bit her lip. Of course, normally he would love her being in his lap but he wanted to feel her tail bouncing in excitement in pleasure. Not just in sexual pleasure but in happiness. He wanted her to be gleeful. But he knew that if he didn't get a clear answer that he wouldn't be able to relax at all, and he didn't want to be tense with her. "It's okay, just be honest with me next time please." He whispered back to her as he kissed her gently watching her hair fall down as he felt her relax in his arms.

"It's okay honey I don't blame you but think about if how bad would you feel now still if I kept my finger hidden from you and you didn't know if I was okay or not." He told her softly before his hand gripped her shoulder and he felt her slowly start to lift it. He didn't try and force her to lift it up high as he felt her at least try to relax on his lap and when he felt her muscles move fine, he sighed, the relief clear before he smiled at her.

"You're okay my love, we just need to be careful with your shoulder as you heal. Luckily, I planned to dote on my kitten whether she was hurt or not." He whispered to her softly his hand moving up from her shoulder to cup her face making her look at him. "I love you." He whispered to her leaning forward to claim her lips with his own it was only a quick kiss before he pulled his lips away from hers and pushed her down to gently let her lie on her back.

"Come on I'll help you get dressed." He told her with a smile before he grabbed the pants that she had chosen and lifted them up carefully slipping them over her legs expecting her to lift up her hips to help him.

Healing.

Aria let out a soft sigh as she felt herself begin to melt into his fingers once more. It was strange how safe she felt in his hands. For one who had always been on guard, allowing her guard to fall, felt strangely welcome, her gaze falling closed as she nuzzled into his hand for a moment, softly allowing him to lift her chin towards him. Something about when he did that made her heart flutter. Not in a bad way. But in the girlish way that reminded her that the butterflies in her stomach never truly would go away.

I love you.

She smiled softly, her lips unable to hide the love that she clearly felt for him. "I love you too." She whispered, golden eyes lifting to meet with his before he playfully pushed her onto her back. She fell willingly, her ears perking up as she began to wonder whether this was a game of their own. A game. Aria liked games, her tail beginning to flick back and forth as he urged her to help him dress her. Giggles burst out of her lips as she rolled over, her tail still swaying back and forth and making it harder for him to pull her pants on. She bit her lip, ears perked up as she pulled away from him, pants still around her knees.

"You'll have to try harder!" She giggled, leaning back and jumping onto the bed, now standing on the bed goofily, her eyes lit up. She smirked and let her tail continue to flick back and forth. "Come and get me." She grinned before leaning towards him and pouncing onto him, wrapping her arms around him with an eager smile. "I got you first!" She giggled, hanging onto him with a bright grin. She seemed to light up, ignoring the pain in her arm as she tried to lighten up the mood.

While they may have had to leave, he would have to deal with her first. And it seemed that she wasn't going to make it easy, the flickering of her tail making it ever so clear that she wanted to play with him.

He relaxed as he heard her sigh and he felt her relax into his hands smiling as he saw her close her eyes and nuzzle into his face. Maybe they shouldn't be spending so much time there relaxing but he didn't care. It was worth it seeing how calm she was how happy she was. Besides he would have been a hypocrite to object to it since they would have already left by now if he would stop initiating sex between the two of them, when he heard her whispered towards, he smiled happily finding it cute the way that her ears perked up happily not missing the way that her tail flipping back and forth but at first, he thought that was just because she was happy.

Which was why he was caught by surprise when she rolled over and pulled away from him surprised that she was still so nimble with pants dangling down her knees. He wasn't upset with her quite the obvious unable to hide the smile on his face, and even if he could hide it then he had no intentions too. He couldn't refuse her.

"I think you and I both know that if I wanted to try, I'd get you." He told her with a playful smile about to pounce on her but before he could she was pouncing on top of him. Which was more than find with him his arms wrapping around her hips to help support her even if he knew that she would be able to balance on him just fine. Besides with his firm grip on her hips she may have jumped to him but he knew that she was trapped in her embrace.

"Your right you do, and your reward is me dressing you." He told her with a grin before he walked back and let the two of them flop back down onto the bed his body lying down on top of hers. "I promise you that we are going to get all the time in the world to play together and while I would love to remind you that I will take you whenever I want. That I have you my kitten if we do it too many times tonight, I worry that you'll be unable to walk out of this place on your own two feet." He told her teasingly one of his hands going to her wrists trying to pin them behind her head before his other hand went to her hips to try and pull her pants up to her hips for her planning to lift her up by her pants if she didn't lift her hips.

"Now be a good girl and lift those pretty hips of yours so we can get out of her otherwise." He leaned forward to press his lips against her stomach but instead of kissing her belly he blew using his breath to try and tickle her.

Energy rushed through her veins as she pounced into his arms, giggles escaping her lips.

Her laughter was contagious.

Sweet and light as she fell into his arms, arms wrapping around hip so that he could hold her. She smiled, hair slipping in her eyes as she looked at him with an excitement and playful grin. It was a side of her that he hadn't gotten to see much yet, after all, he had seen a lot more of the shyness she could have. Yet it was clear she was beginning to come out of her shell around him now and was feeling happy enough to show him how playful she could be. (Even if it was perhaps the wrong timing).

"You could never!" She giggled, knowing well that he could catch her any day if she was running away from her. It was amusing to tease him though and she seemed to be having a good time of it, her eyes seeming to shimmer with some sort of warmth and excitement. She settled into his arms, his grip on her hips making it hard for her to wiggle free. She was entirely trapped in his embrace now. "Maybe you could..." She pouted, her lips pursing in a cute and childlike nature.

As he pushed her onto the bed with him, she let out a soft gasp, her eyes widening as he fell to lie on top of her. "Ivoryyyy.." She pouted, whining cutely as she squirmed underneath him, not able to squirm for too long before he grabbed her wrists and pinned them up above her head. She swallowed and looked up at him, her heart pounding as he teased her in a way that made her feel vulnerable and strangely turned on. She bit her lip, her cheeks reddening as he reminded her that he would take her whenever he wanted.

In a pout, she tried not to lift her hips for him, still wanting to make things harder for him if possible. Yet it seemed that her pouting was unsuccessful as when he dipped down to blow on her belly, she arched her back and lifted her hips in response. "Th-That's not fairrrr!" She giggled, helpless to his tickling.

Her giggles, her laughter as she pounced on him was just so sweet that even if he was angry at her. If she was doing something bad, then he knew that he couldn't stay angry at her. He loved reminding her that she was his, making her say it but from the start it was clear to him that the case was more him being hers.

He would do anything she asked him to do. Anything she wanted him to do. Whatever it takes to make her happy. To make her giggle to make her smile.

The look in her eyes, the excitement and playfulness on her lips just made him smile as he looked back at her. He loved how cute she was when she was shy. The way she would hide against him but he also loved this. Her playfulness her growing confidence. How happy she was.

"I not only could, but I also want to." He whispered to her feeling her settle in his embrace his arms wrapping around her waist as he gripped her hips to hug her close to him finding it cute the way that she pouted looking back at him before he pinned her down onto the bed loving the way she said his name and whined. No matter how much she squirmed he liked to think that he had done a good job at reminding her that she couldn't break free her reaction surprising him a bit. As a dhampir it wasn't just his hearing that he was sensitive his head tilting as he saw her blush being caught by a familiar scent. The scent of her arousal.

Part of him wanted to explore it but as he said they didn't have time and he knew that having sex one last time would lead to making an excuse to shower together again and that would lead to more sex. Maybe it was because their relationship was so fresh. The two of them were insatiable.

He grinned against her stomach as he blew on her belly feeling how quickly her body responded, her back arching and her hips raising just like he was expecting while he took advantage of her shirt riding up before he pulled up with her pants again sliding the pants over her hips before he kissed her stomach.

"I'm sorry my love but I have no idea what you're talking about." He whispered to her teasingly his hands letting go of her wrists so that he could dress her lower half with both hands, trying the draw strings to try and make up for how big they were for her as he blew down on her belly button wanting to tickle her again before he pulled his lips back and sat up his hands pulling her onto his lap.

"Are you ready to go now my kitten?" He asked her his hands fixing her shirt before he brought his hands to her hair carefully pushing her locks out from in front of her face.

Many animal kin bore resemblances to their animal heritage.

It wasn't strange for a inumimi, or dog kin, to be overly friendly and outwardly happy person. They grew close to people rather quickly and tended to be on the more naive side of things. They also tended to bear more physical resemblances to dogs, often being bigger and stronger if their kind was of a larger breed. While it may not have been outwardly evident, Aria, too was starting to display the qualities in which she resembled a cat.

When they had first met she had been more on guard, quieter and less friendly, yet now that they were growing rather attached to one another, she had begun to show him a side of her that he hadn't yet known. It was sweet and affectionate, it was playful and goofy. She was flowering into a very sweet girl by his side, developing a trust that she hadn't felt many times before in the past. It was different and she hoped that she would get to continue having fun by his side.

"No you don'ttttt!" She teased, elongating her words in a playful way as he held her firmly in his arms. Even though she pretended to wish for escape, Aria knew well that she never truly wanted to escape his grips. She wanted to be in his arms forever, to rest in his embrace and be carried and coddled by him in a way that made her feel safe. It was different than what she had been taught, but being his pet didn't sound so bad. She wanted to be his kitten and she knew that he would always be hers as well.

As he pulled her pants up, Aria wiggled in defeat, giggles escaping her lips. "Nooooo....." She pouted, her lips pursing in a childlike fashion. There was a part of her that didn't want to leave. After all, they didn't know the next time they would get the chance to be like this with one another again. It may be days or weeks before they find a stable place that they could use as shelter. After all, he had talked of camping out. Aria wasn't even positive where they were headed or whether he had a plan

, but she feared that this may be the last time for a while that they would get to feel so safe and entirely alone.

She sighed slightly as he tied her pants for her, them tightening so they didn't slip off of her thin hips. She frowned and looked at him, her lips only leaving her frown when he tickled her again and pulled her into his lap. "Mhm..." She looked up at him, cuddling into him slightly. "It'll be a long journey?" She asked, leaning up and kissing his nose softly. She knew it would, after all, they had talked enough about it. And while she was the one who wanted to go and see the world, part of her seemingly was scared to let go of the comfort they had known for the last few days.

He liked how affectionate she was, how excitable she was now that she was dropping her guard around him. Of course, he had thought that she had started to trust him from the start, he may have fed on her when they first met but he had also protected her and kept her safe. It had been clear from the start that they were quickly growing attached to each other, he wouldn't have let anyone else pull him into bed with him like he had let her that night after all.

And if they were anyone other than her, he wouldn't have stayed with her in that shower.

And with her the only thing he regrets was not finding her sooner.

She was more than just someone he had made a deal with, more than just his pet. He loved her, and he was going to make sure that she always knew that. "You too cute when you pout." he whispered back to her with a smile and when he heard her sigh while he tied her pants not missing her frown before he tickled her and pulled her close to cheer her up his eyes full of care when he looked at her.

His head tilted as he heard her question and when she kissed his nose, he leaned forward to gently claim her lips with a kiss of his own. It was only a short chaste kiss before he pulled his lips back and smiled at her.

"It might be but we will be oaky my love, we can spend our nights under the stars. We will still make love we will still have fun." He promised her. "Things will be harder yes; we'll need to travel and spend less time in bed in the morning. But we will be together and I think that will make everything worth it." He whispered back to her pulling her in closer to him as his lips gently kissed hers.

There was a point in a relationship where people began to truly show themselves. It was like they let go of being on their best behavior and new colors began to flourish the relationship as they begin to reveal themselves further. They show their flaws and color the relationship with tiny hints of truth that you just can't get when you don't know someone that well. Time flavors the relationship in a way that can only be grown organically.

It was clear that while he was still taking time to show more depth, Aria was starting to open up, showing him more parts of herself that she probably kept more guarded. Her eyes lifted as he whispered about her pouting, eyes glimmering in the light that continued to remind them the day was just growing on and on. They truly couldn't prolong their journey or else they truly would run out of daylight and they would have bigger problems at that point.

After all, traveling at night meant more dangerous creatures would come out including more vampires and werewolves. In reality, while vampires had long since developed tactics to avoid the sun, they still tried their best to avoid coming out in the day. Their parasols and umbrellas gave them away easily during the daylight and their pale skin seemed to glimmer in the light of day as if they were constantly teetering on the edge of danger. Of course, that wasn't the case of Ivory as a dhampire, his existence slightly easier than that.

Werewolves were in a similar boat. While they occasionally ventured out during the day, they often seemed much to prefer night, their vision being better in the dark than it was in the light. They were considered one of the other top predators, one of the few that posed an issue to vampires and yet both preferred the darkness that the veil of night posed on them than the bright light of day. In order to travel safely, it would be best to avoid their kind, both posing a strong threat to Aria.

She looked up at him and nodded softly, "Mhm... I know. Bu t you make getting out of bed so hard." She teased, nuzzling into him before pulling away slightly and finishing getting dressed, leaving her hair down since she didn't have anything to tie it up with. She smiled and held her hand out to him, waiting expectingly. "Come on then. Before it's too late." She motioned towards the door to leave, knowing that one of them had to make the decision to leave soon.

@JackWhite

He liked the new side of her that she was revealing to him, the innocent playful side. He wanted to protect this side of her, he wanted to protect every part of her of course. He didn't want her to change and he didn't want her to lose her brightness. This was the only him that he knew how to show, he was more tender, more honest with her than anyone else. He wouldn't trust anyone else like he trusted her.

But he didn't know if there was more of him to reveal. The parts of him that wasn't useful, the parts of him that his mother despised was buried so deep down that he didn't know if those parts of him could be retrieved. He remembered being so kind, so eager to help people but now. Would he have went out of his way to protect her if he didn't bump into her? If he didn't need her.

If she was someone else, he probably wouldn't have helped her, it was instant when he met her that she was important to him. He smiled as he saw the way that her eyes glimmered his lips gently kissing her temple. Once night comes, he would get them both inside again, somewhere if it wasn't inside in a bedroom then it would be in a tent thing were going to be okay, he wasn't going to let things be any other way.

He didn't care who he had to fight to keep her safe, he didn't care what he had to draw his blade against.

"You were the one that jumped onto me." He teased back before he let her pull away watching her finish getting dressed before he pulled himself to his feet. His rapier was slid onto his right side the dagger was on the other side. He was left-handed after all it would be the best way to fight.

And when she held her hand out to him, he stepped forward to gently take her hand in his. Before he pulled her in close his arm wrapping around her hips. "Come on my love. We'll head out and travel as far as we can before night comes and then I'll show you how to ward vampires away." He told her with a soft smile.

Together, the two of them would start a journey.

An adventure, even.

And while it wasn't necessarily going to be easy for them to make their way in the world, Aria was sure that by his side, she would be alright. Pulled back into his arms, Aria looked up, lifting her gaze curiously. "Mmmm okay." She grinned, weaving her fingers with his as they began to walk towards the exit of the warehouse they had been calling home for the last few days.

It was strange, the dark warehouse had become so comfortable to them that it was hard to leave. Hard to leave the safety and protection of such a dark and damp place. They even had ignored the harsh smells of mildew and lived there without question. And something about that reassured Aria. It meant that they would be fine, whether it meant that they would have to live in a tent or even sleep under a blanket of stars. They would find a way to best make themselves comfortable as long as they had one another by their side.

They walked for a while.

While she had a cloak, Aria clung close to him the entire way, her gaze held down as she clung to his arm nervously. She wondered if the guards were still looking for her. If they had continued to look for her after that day or whether they had given up, knowing their chase was cruel and unjust in the first place. As they walked outside, life felt a little different. It was strange how being outside with him was entirely different from her life prior to meeting him. She was safe. She didn't have to keep her head down or be worried, because he was there to keep her safe.

"Ivory?" She asked as they walked, "How many days of travel do you think it will be before we arrive somewhere safe?" She questioned, her voice soft as her hood threatened to fall off, her ears too perked to keep it on in a stable fashion. "Will we leave the city today and just keep going until we find something?" It seemed that while they had discussed leaving, neither of them necessarily had all that thorough of a plan and it was becoming evident. They hadn't exactly thought this through all that well.

It felt much nicer travelling with her then it was travelling alone, and it wasn't just because when he was travelling by himself, he was so hungry. No even if he didn't need blood he wouldn't have been as happy then as he was now.

With her by his side he didn't stew in dark thoughts. She was too talkative for that; she was too bright for that. Too sweet for that. Her excitement, her curiosity everything about her just made him feel light. He had always felt lonely even before he left his family and he felt like a monster. But how could he be a monster when someone as pure and kind hearted as her was so clingy to him. If it was someone else holding close to him, he would have probably grown annoyed but he didn't with her.

His lips kissed her temple, a gentle smile on his lips not missing the way that her hood seemed to stand up. He found it cute imagining her ears stood up straight with her glee. "My kitten." He answered back as he heard his name before he listened to her question. "I'm not sure, we're leaving the city today, and we'll travel until night where we will find somewhere to settle down, but I promise you no matter where we are I will keep you safe." He whispered to her before he stopped and crouched down scooping her up in his arms bridal style not caring who saw.

"If you want you can take off your hood and show your ears. You should be able to proudly display your heritage. I won't let anyone try to take that away from you."

He avoided the guards as he walked, walking through alleys, his footsteps silent before they reached the gate frowning lightly as he put her down.

His hand rested on the hilt of his sword before he made himself relax. If they tried to stop them from leaving, he didn't care he would fight every guard he had to fight.

My Kitten

The phrase seemed to make her emotions tingle in a way that she wasn't entirely used to.

Her ears perked up happily as he spoke, the hood threatening to fall off as she held it on with her index fingers while walking, her gaze lifted towards him. Their adventure had begun together and with one another by their side, they could take on the world in a way that neither felt possible prior. He would never worry again about the anxiety of being entirely alone nor would he feel the thirst for blood. Of course, she knew that was not how he was thinking about it, but it was the truth. He would never need to worry about the worry of starving should she be by his side, and it was clear she wanted to be by his side.

She paused and looked at him, nodding as he leaned down and scooped her into his arms. She gasped and fell easily into his arms. She was light as a feather, her body easy to carry should he want and his being a dhampire making it even easier. She practically weighed nothing due to her agile body and her petite frame. She blushed and looked up at him, her hood falling off to reveal her ears once more as he wished.

"I--" She looked at him, her cheeks hot and red as he literally swept her off of her feet again. He had a way with entirely leaving her without words. She couldn't help but feel flustered by the things that he did, especially as there was no end to ways that he flustered her. "Okay... as long as it doesn't bother you." She whispered softly, biting her lip a little before relaxing into his arms, finding a specific sense of safety as he held her with a clear warning for any who questioned it. She was his. And no one could change that nor should even attempt to.

As they made their way to the gate, she returned to her feet, her gaze shifting slightly behind him. Would they have an issue would leaving? There was a chance. The guards in town were known for their bad attitudes and their abuse of power. They were known to make personal issues and treat others based upon them. Aria paused and lifted her hood once more, clearly worried that it would pose as an issue did she not. As they walked up, the guards would grow alert, their eyes shifting in the direction of the two. "Oi, you two there. Where're you going? Got a permit?"

Reality: Neither needed a permit to leave city limits.

The guard's just liked to try and get people to pay money on their way out should they have the chance to. It was a large guard who first approached, his skin almost red from having drank too much and his beard looking unwashed and gross. He seemed to be at least half dwarven, his build stocky and his face looking dwarven despite his contrasted height. Dwarves were a strong folk, built to last as many would say. While not as strong as vampires, their people lasted well and made names for themselves within the city as workers and builders and occasionally guards, though their usual lack of height often posed an issue. It seemed that his half heritage left him rather strong, almost making him better than a full dwarf.

He loved the way that she gasped and fell into his arms, enjoying the way she blushed as she looked up at him, he let a smile brace his lips as he looked into his eyes feeling how light, how perfect she felt in his arms. He doubted that he would ever tire of holding her close and when her ears were revealed he leaned forward to gently kiss her cheek while she started to speak loving how flustered she was.

Maybe it was a little mean to purposely keep flustering her, but he couldn't help it. Not with how cute she looked when she was flustered. The way her cheeks went red even as her eyes stayed stood up out of her happiness making it clear to him that she wasn't actually upset.

"I like it when your ears are out like this, their cute." He whispered back to her as he felt her relax in his embrace his fingers rubbing gentle circles into her body until they reached the gate and he was reluctant to put her down at that point his hand going to hers, his grip firm as if he was promising her that no one would be able to separate them with his touch.

He didn't say anything about her fixing her hood, knowing that with the guards sometimes staying hidden was the best thing, he was calm. Until he heard the guards' words.

Looking up as he saw the large guard, a man quite larger than him, if he was human, he knew that the man would be stronger than him but as it was the only thing about the man that was stronger than the dhampir was the smell of the dwarf.

Glaring back at the guard, he let one of his pale hands rest on the hilt of his blade, the other wrapped around Aria's hips pulling her in close protectively.

"We do have a permit yes." It was a lie of course but he had no intentions on paying the guard. Not when they had allowed what had happened to Aria inside of their walls. His hand lifted up the blade slightly, not enough to unsheathe it only enough to flash a bit of the blade before he continued to speak. "But it's going to be a long day for us and getting it can be pretty draining are you sure it's needed?" He asked making sure his fangs as he spoke, glinting off the sunlight.

The threat was clear, if the guards messed with them then he would make sure they learned to regret it.

Which was why he wasn't surprised when the guards backed off. "No, it's okay there's no need sir." The half dwarf told him quickly, obviously cowered by the vampire that stood before him.

"Good, now if anyone asks you didn't see either of us leaving the city. If I find out you've spoken about us, I'm going to come back here and find you both." He threatened his voice low, his eyes glared at them both focusing on the man that smelt the most his eyes flashing with hunger before he walked forward leading Aria out the gates with him. Planning to get the far from the city before he stopped walking.

Fear.

Part of Aria wanted to cower behind him, to run and hide.

Perhaps that was partially her instincts, after all, cats weren't necessarily the highest predator in the animal kingdom. They were known to prefer stalking their enemies rather than to walk up to them directly. She bit her lip as she heard the guard's voice, his stature intimidating as he approached the pair of them with a demanding tone. Guards were intimidating to her, after all, all of the guards that she had met had been corrupt in one way or another and that often meant coming into conflict even when you didn't expect it.

She was sure that was what happened to her parents.

After all, Aria hadn't actually seen her parents in ages. She knew not whether it be by death or abandonment but at a point she had grown numb to the question. She assumed them dead, after all, what was the point of raising her for so long if they were going to abandon her. Or had they simply grown tired of the needless energy she wasted and instead wanted to start a new life together. She knew not and at a point, she had grown rather tired of wondering and simply moved on.

While rather lonely, Aria had found her way through the city, maneuvering the city as if she knew it better than anyone else. Now it felt strange, as if something had changed. She used to strictly travel the back allies, avoiding the gazes of guards and other people who might hurt her. Yet now, she had Ivory by her side and even though she knew she was safe, part of her still wanted to revert to her old ways. She anxiously shifted behind him slightly as he pulled her closer, her heart pounding.

Aria hated the adrenaline that rushed through her veins when she was in trouble.

She truly knew she was a coward in all senses of the word. No matter how she tried to act tough, she knew that she stood no chance against the men who were both bigger and stronger than her. At least Ivory was stronger than them, his threat seemingly seeping into the men's minds before they backed off. Everyone knew that messing with vampires was a permanent death sentence. And while Ivory wasn't a vampire, it would be rather hard for them to recognize that.

She paused and looked at him, following as he lead her through the gates. She seemed nervous, one hand clinging to the back of his shirt for some sort of safety. Everything about her body language said that she was scared, her gaze held down as she glanced back at the guards but continued to walk. "You don't think people will continue to bother us?" She questioned, only letting her hood slide off once more after they were out of sight. Even though they had walked plenty and were out of the sight of the guard's she still seemed worried, her gaze flicking behind her every now and then as to confirm that they weren't being followed. "No one will hurt us or... anything... or start a fight... not with you, right?"

He wanted to kill the guard just for scaring Aria, of course she didn't say that she was scared but she didn't need to. He with his sense of smell, he could tell by his sense of hearing and even if he didn't have that.

He had spent long enough with her to be able to read her body language enough to know that she was intimidated.

Maybe the reason why he didn't kill the man was because he knew that the sight would have probably upset her. Of course, there was a difference between him promising her that he would do whatever it took to protect her and him making her watch him kill a guard who possessed no real threat.

While he may not be an actual vampire, he knew that he would have no issue dealing with two guards. Actually, he could take down quite a lot of them without taking a scratch. He had always been quick, and he lacked the arrogance that most vampires had. At least in his experience.

Most of them saw carrying a weapon as cowardice, vampires were supposed to fight with their hands and their fangs.

But he picked up the blade, and with it he knew that he would be able to take off the man's head before his partner could even react.

Maybe while they were travelling, he would make sure to teach her how to fight. Or at least the basics. Yes, she may never be as strong as others, but he had learned that weapons were great equalisers. If she knew how to use a dagger, she would have been able to kill the guards herself if she needed to.

And with that they were back to walking, his hand staying on her hips while he led her out of sight. He bit down on his lower lip to hide a frown as he felt her cling to him not missing how scared she was before he stopped as he heard her question. Not missing the way, she kept looking behind herself. "I can't promise that no one will ever try to start a fight with us or even that I will always win but I promise that I will do everything in my power to keep you safe. To keep us safe. I'm going to do whatever it takes to make sure we live a long happy lie together." He whispered to her in promise before he stepped into her his hands hooking under her knees to lift her up hugging her against his chest.

"I love you so much. Now just hold onto me my kitten and let me handle everything else" He whispered his lips claiming hers to gently kiss her before he broke their kiss and started to walk with her in his arms.

He walked for a main path for a bit before he stepped into the woods following through it as it was clear that he planned for them to camp, instead of finding a settlement.

Fighting.

Aria had never been taught to fight, no it went against everything that her parents encouraged of her, even. Aria had been raised with the notion that she should always keep her head down and avoid trouble. Not fight back to it. And even though she well understood that he could protect himself, part of her was entirely aware that if he were to get hurt, there was nothing that she could do to protect them both. Aria needed to learn and to grow stronger, or else she would continue to be a dead weight to him.

Something told her that she couldn't just do that.

She needed to change if she wanted to remain by his side.

As he stopped and lifted her into his arms, she paused, her gaze softening. "I want to work hard..." She whispered softly, nuzzling into him. "So that I don't hold you back... so that I can keep myself safe so I'm not a burden to you." She continued, her words soft and delicately chosen as she struggled to come up with the words that she wanted to express to him.

Aria had always felt like a part of her hated putting her head down. It went against her own nature, her own curious and playful nature that she had always been forced to swallow down. Yet... now that she was with someone who loved her for who she was, she knew that it was okay for her to be herself. It was okay for her to learn to stand on her own two feet. "I... I'll be sure to grow strong so that I can fight on my own... so teach me what you know when you can?" She smiled, her ears perking up as he told her to hold on.

Her lips met his and her eyes fell closed, letting their moment fade after some seconds before he began to walk again. After a long while of walking when he stopped, she pulled out of his arms, letting her fingers interlace with his. "Will it be safe?" She asked curiously, unsure of what potential creatures could be roaming the woods. Werewolves or other creatures could potentially be lurking, ready for a fight. She paused and looked at him, unsure about whether this would be safe, as even a vampire would struggle against fighting a werewolf if they were to face off.

Even if she never learned to fight and he kept needing to keep her safe he knew that he would never see her as a dead weight or as a burden. He believed that those with the ability to protect should protect those that need it. Of course, before he met her, he was in no position to fight, and he was forgetting about that belief but meeting her helped to rekindle it.

As he spent time with her, he started to feel more like the real him. It was a nice feeling.

He smiled back at her softly as he saw her gaze soften letting her nuzzle into his body his hands holding her close not speaking until she finished talking and he heard her question his lips gently kissing her temple. "you'll never be a burden to me Aria and you don't hold me back. You make me happier than I've ever been before." He told her softly. "But I would happily teach you how to fight and when we get into town, we can find you a weapon you can call your own."

His smile widened as he saw the way that her ears perked up. Smiling back at her happily as he didn't miss the way she shut her eyes during their kiss as if she wanted to savour it before he focused on walking until they reached a point where he felt like they could start making a camp. Of course, he wanted to walk around for a bit longer first. He wanted to hopefully find a water source that they could bathe and drink out of.

When she started to pull out of his arms, he let her carefully setting her down onto her feet to make sure that she wouldn't fall before he let his hand grip hers back with a smile his hand gently squeezing hers as he heard her question. To answer he took a small sniff before he nodded. "I can't smell any werewolves. So, if there is one their hidden well." He told her softly.

"And it's not a full moon so we don't have to worry about it too much." He added before he started to walk forward with her his eyes looking for animal tracks to lead them to water. "Remind me to get an axe for cutting wood when we get into a settlement." He murmured.

Burden.

Perhaps it was too harsh of a word to use.

Aria knew well that Ivory would never see her as a burden. He wasn't one to be like that. He wanted her there and she was well aware of that, and yet part of her feared that if she were to not learn to fight, she would always be dead weight to him. She would be holding him back, reliant on his protection without even making efforts to grow or change. Change. Aria knew well that she needed to change. She no longer lived the life that she once had and she both needed to and wanted to change.

That was why it made her glad as he was willing to train her, her eyes lighting up at the idea. A weapon that was her own, one that she would learn to wield with confidence. Confidence. It wasn't something Aria had ever had much of, her disposition more meek and mild than anything. She had grown rather used to cowering behind others but the idea of being able to stand strong with a weapon and to know her own abilities sounded riveting to her. Another layer of her adventure that she couldn't help but grow incredibly excited for.

She paused and looked at him as he put her down onto her feet, the balls of her feet hitting the ground as he carefully placed her down so that she didn't fall. "Mmmm..." She paused, taking a few sniffs as if she was confirming his beliefs. Of course, vampires had better senses in general than nekomimi. They were known for their strong senses of perception, able to see further, smell more and even sense danger oncoming. Of course, their sense of feeling often was less, as was their emotional connection to the world, but those didn't seem to effect Ivory as a dhampire.

"Nope. No werewolves." She grinned and confirmed, holding up a thumbs up to him as his hand slipped in between hers to hold it. She paused and looked down at the ground as she walked, each step lingering as the darkness began to take over the evening once more. While it wasn't yet nighttime, Aria found twilight to be even scarier at ti mes. Perhaps it was due to the fact that she knew they were not entirely alone, even some animals posing threat to her. She hated her own weakness, clinging to his arms as he began to scan the area for animal tracks. "Mmmkay." She nodded, wrapping her arms around his for a sense of safety as she walked.

Eventually the pair found a trail of deer tracks that led towards water, both safe enough to follow and letting them know that there were animals that could be used as food within the forest. While the trail was long, after about 20 minutes of walking, they would find a source of water, a decently sized water fall that led from the mountains above into a river. Fresh water. Even fish swam within the body of water, giving them ample food options if need be.

His hand gripped hers with a gentle firmness that helped convey the fact that he would never leave her. He was going to love her for the rest of their lives together. He wanted to kiss her every fear away. To make her feel secure and safe.

But he knew that sometimes the only way to do that was to make them feel strong. To make them feel like if something happened, they would be able to defend themselves.

Sometimes a person wouldn't feel secure even surrounded by warriors if they didn't know what to do themselves. If when a fight broke out and all they could do was hide in the background, then that could make one feel frail.

He was going to train her how to fight in her own way, and he was going to get her a weapon herself that was fit for her. Maybe something like a spear or a knife or a chain. Or a short sword.

Growing up he remembered meeting a kind man when he got some time away from his mother. He was human but there was something about the man that seemed different. Ethereal. He seemed to know from the start that the boy in front of him wasn't a human or a vampire. That he was something in between. He remembered the man telling him that he could be the best of both worlds.

That he could be as powerful as a vampire while being just as kind and moral as the kind humans. That he could go above his vampiric urges. He never met that man again, but the words stuck with him.

He smiled back at her as he saw her thumbs up leaning forward to gently kiss her temple. "Yeah, we will be okay my love. I promise we will be okay." He whispered to her as his hand gently squeezed hers before he let her cling to his arms. Part of him was tempted to pick her up but it felt as if she wanted to walk herself.

When he found the deer tracks, he smiled. Following them until they reached water, but it was even better than he was expecting. The waterfall looked beautiful, and the fish seemed plentiful. When they stopped his arms wrapped around her hips pulling her flush against his chest. "I'm going to enjoy washing you in there." He whispered to her teasingly before he carefully dropped his bag. "Do you know how to hunt fish? If not, I'm going to be setting up our camp if you'd like to help." He whispered to her his lips pressing against her cheek as in his head he made a list of everything they needed to do.

Human.

In terms of power, humans weren't much above nekomimi. In a world where magic and supernatural creatures reigned supreme, not having powers meant you were rather weak. Furthermore, humans had always been known fools, apt to falling into the tricks of the other races. They were a varied race, both kind at times and cruel at others, not hesitating to bring harm to their own yet also at times standing up against powers much beyond their own strength.

Perhaps that was why it was strange to know that a vampire and a human would ever dare mate. It was almost as strange in concept as was a dhampire and a nekomimi falling in love. They were strange pairings and yet at times it proved that love defied logic, love could defy that which society could not seem to break from.

She paused and looked at him with a soft smile, her gaze lifting up to him. His words were softly reassuring. Reassuring in the way that she felt safe and knew that she could let go of her worries. They were okay. And they would continue to be okay. As long as he was by her side, no animal nor person would hurt her. That was what she wanted to believe and would continue to live by as long as she stayed by his side as she should.

As they entered a plentiful clearing, Aria's eyes lit up, her gaze shifting around with a happy smile. It was better luck than either of them could have expected. She paused and looked at him, giggling as he wrapped his arms around her hips and pulled her in. "Oh shush." She whined as he teased her, dropping his bag to the ground. She pouted slightly and nodded, "I think so." She noted, pulling from him before running towards the water's edge to crouch down and watch the fish for several moments. She paused and looked over her shoulder before pulling off her clothes, taking off what she could before looking at the fish with a daring gaze. She grinned and pounced into the water goofily, slashing at the fish with her claws. She looked a little silly but it seemed like sh e was managing rather well, catching several fish despite her flailing around.

After several moments she peeked out of the water, having caught about 5 fish of varying sizes. She was soaked but seemed not to mind as most cats might. She smiled and looked at him. "Look I caught dinner." She giggled, her hair dripping on her shoulders as she brought them over to him.

To his knowledge while humans were physically more powerful than Nekomimi he believed that the only reason why humans had a higher status than them was because they had greater numbers and because they were more adaptable. But in time he was sure that he could teach her how to hold her own. She just needed to find what her strengths were and to take advantage of them.

Maybe that was her flexibility, the fluidity you could obtain in a fight it could also be her speed. His was a mixture of his speed and his strength, being able to leave killing blows before an enemy would be able to even raise their first was always useful. It made his ability to heal quickly pretty obsolete whatever her strengths were he would help her to use them.

How his parents had met he still didn't know. There was very, very little he knew about his father. His mother never brought it up when he was with her, and he had realised early on that it wasn't really a topic he was supposed to bring up.

He didn't spend too long reminiscing thinking it was cute how excited she seemed as they got into the clearing. Spotting the happy smile on her face before he spoke to her and pulled her in close. They could stay forever here, and he would be happy so long as he would be with her. So long as he would be able to hear her whine and giggle. So long as he would get to see her smile and pout. He would even be able to accept the sound of her crying so long as he was there to help cheer her up. "Well go have fun then but be careful." He called back to her with a smile letting her break free from his eyes as he watched her race to the edge.

He would have looked away but when she started to get undressed, he let himself get distracted his eyes admiring her body until she jumped into the water watching as she slashed at the fish. But once he was sure that she would be okay he let himself look away to make camp.

They were pretty lucky with what they had managed to find. He just wished he had an axe. While he could technically cut a tree down with his sword. Or at least he could try he knew that he would have to be very careful otherwise he would damage the blade. Luckily, he didn't strictly need to cut down any trees. He could make do with the sticks he found off the ground as he set up their camp.

A thick coarse blanket was placed over the ground. It would be kind of uncomfortable to lie on he knew but it was more to keep them dry than for them to lie on directly. Blankets would be placed over it. To keep it from being blown away by the wind there were loops in sections sticking out from the edges. With his knife and some of the sticks he had collected he managed to nail them into the ground.

Going above it would be a tarp tent, made out of thick fabric quite like the base with slots for sticks and branches to hold it up. He managed to get the middle one in using a large branch that he had ripped off a dying tree before he heard her return deciding to take a break he smiled as he stepped out one of his arms wrapping around her hips to pull her close. Not missing how wet she was. He hummed she seemed fine with it, but he didn't want her getting a cold.

"I can see that you've caught dinner, good girl." He whispered praised gently kissing her lips. "How about we set them down, get you dry so you don't get a cold and then if you know how to you could gut the fish. If not, I can, and you can see about taking over finishing this shelter." He suggested to her his lips leaving eager kisses against her jaw

Cats hate water.

Or at least that was what many people used to think.

Of course, that was mostly because people were forcing them into it rather than letting them accept it themselves. Cats were stubborn creatures, as were nekomimi and quite frankly, they didn't enjoy anything that had to involve them being forced to do something against their will. In all actuality, they wouldn't if they had any semblance of a choice. After all, as noted, cats were very stubborn creatures. They would scratch day and night before they let you do something they hadn't wanted. And if you had finally coaxed them into whatever silly garb you were going to put on them, they would hold it against you for the rest of the day, making it their last goal to torture you and make you miserable.

Of course, Aria wouldn't go to those lengths, but stubbornness ran in her veins despite the fact that she most likely wouldn't admit it. She was born to be a fighter in many ways she didn't know, her own speed alone enough to outrun most humans and her dexterity was so agile that she could keep on her feet no matter how far she fell from. And while it wasn't a trait particularly known of cats, she seemingly was a rather decent swimmer. She grinned as she walked back from the water, dripping wet and holding several dead fish in her hands. She probably needed a bucket but in this case, they didn't seem to have any so her arms would have to do.

She grinned and walked over to him and placed the fish down, humming happily as he wrapped his arms around her hips and pulled her in. She seemed proud and glad to be helpful, ultimately hoping she could prove helpful more often as she didn't want to be a dead weight on this trip. She would go to many lengths to prove that she could be helpful and was worth his time. Even if she knew he would never claim that she wasn't. It wasn't in him to say such things.

She paused and looked up, pressing onto her tip toes to kiss him before lowering herself down quickly.

"Mhm, I can catch more in the morning too!" She grinned happily, ears perked up as she looked at him eagerly. "I won't get a cold..." She noted, looking in her bag for something that she could dry herself off with. While unfortunate, they didn't have much, only a spare jacket that they had shoved in from the warehouse. She paused, "How about I make a fire...?" She diverted from the task, thinking that if he was so worried about her being wet then a fire would do nicely to keep them warm and help her dry. She paused and looked around for some firewood, having matches in the bag to start the fire.

It was several moments before she pulled from his grip to start looking for firewood, allowing him to finish up with the tent. When she returned, he had made quite a tremendous amount of progress, their tent ready for resting in. She paused and knelt down, forming the wood she had found into a decent shape before grabbing a match and throwing it into the fire. While not quickly, the flame began to grow, slowly forming in the branches. She smiled and looked at him, "There we go... now we'll be warm."

He couldn't deny that he liked the sight of her soaked body while she returned to him his eyes looking into hers. She was beautiful and the dead fish in her hands didn't take away from how beautiful he thought she was. Now he had wished that he had figured out a better place to put the fish that was in her hands, but he knew that they would need to make do with what they had and besides once he had the time to cook it wouldn't really matter that they didn't have any buckets.

He smiled back at her as he heard her hum enjoying how closely he pressed her body against his own. She made his body a bit wet as they touched but it didn't matter to him. Even if she soaked him, he wouldn't mind. She could soak him, pull him into garlic infused water where the temperature was sub-zero, and his only worry would be about her getting cold.

He leaned forward quickly as she pecked his lips before he quickly kissed her back before he let her pull away from him to gather wood while he finished the tent. There were better ones of course, and maybe it was a little too small for them both but since he was sure that they were going to be sleeping very close together he didn't think that would be too much of a worry. She could just sleep on top of him if it came to it.

When he was done setting up the tent, he looked at the fire she was making, noticing the steady flame. "You're really amazing Aria." He whispered to her "how about you look through the wood and tell me which ones you'd think would work best for skewers and I'll start gutting the fish." He told her setting down a couple of large cloths onto the grass where he would put the prepped fish before he unsheathed his dagger and started to carefully cut out everything that they wouldn't want to eat from the fish before he threw down the parts they wouldn't want to eat a mid-distance away into the grass and went towards the lake to wash his hands of blood.

"Tell me tomorrow what's one thing you really want to do? I'm going to do everything in my power to make sure your wish comes true." he called out to her.

Warmth.

Every moment that she spent with him felt as if it were warm.

Even when she was soaking wet and rather cold in all technicality. She felt warm when she was by his side. Perhaps it was that her heart felt entirely filled when she was with him. Of course, he had filled her in other ways but she wasn't sure that had necessarily been the root of the cause regarding her contentness. She was fairly sure that was simply a side effect of her happiness within their relationship.

As the fire billowed and grew, Aria watched it softly, her gaze intently focusing on it. It seemed to reflect in her eyes as she watched it curiously, unsure of whether it would grow with the wind continually pushing into it. For several moments, she watched the flame with an intensity that he most likely hadn't yet seen her show, her gaze and attention entirely focused on the flame as it wavered in the wind. She frowned, standing and attempting to move in front of the wind to block it, yet the wind only dodged around her, continuing to bother the flame. Pouting, she took a seat, looking over to him as if he could fix it.

Of course, he seemed proud of her nonetheless, praising her as if she had done something all that deserving of it. Her eyes lit up happily as he leaned towards her and whispered his praise to her. "Anyone could do this." She giggled despite seeming rather happy that he praised her for her efforts. She paused and looked at him, "Mmm... okay." She nodded, walking to the pile of sticks she had gathered to see if any were of use for making skewers with, having entirely forgotten she would need to gather sticks for that. After a moment, she stood and ran towards the forest again, humming to herself as she searched for some decent sticks.

It wasn't long before she returned with enough sticks to be used for their fish. Some were a tad long, but thickness and sturdiness wise, they would do. She smiled and brought them over to him, her gaze shifting as he questioned her. "One thing I really want to do?" She paused, hesitating slightly... "I want to ride a horse... or... see a sunrise... or sunset! One nothing like the ones we see in the city... a special one that only we share."

He loved being with her, holding her close, touching her, kissing her. She made him feel warmer than any fire could and while she watched the fire, he watched her from the side his eyes looking into hers. He thought that it was cute how focused her eyes were, the way she watched with an intensity. And he couldn't help but think it was cute the way she tried to stand in front of the flames as if trying to block the air.

She was cute and he praised her with a smile enjoying the way that her eyes were quick to light up in happiness but of course he couldn't spend forever watching her which was why he had suggested she look for sticks while he worked on gutting the fish, by the time she had returned he had finished gutting the fish and after washing his hands he smiled at her. "Good girl." He whispered to her once she was done taking the sticks that would work before he impaled the ready fish onto them while he listened to her speaking about what she would like to see.

"You know I said one thing, but because I love you then you can choose two things." He whispered to her with a smile putting down the sticks to help steady the fire. Putting stones and thick pieces of wood at the bottom while he did his best to ignore the heat of the fire.

While only being a dhampir he wasn't quite as vulnerable to fire as vampires were they still never failed to make him feel uncomfortable. His mother was petrified of fire.

"I can't make any promises that you'll get to ride a horse tomorrow. I don't think we'll really come across any, but I'll make sure that you get to see the sunrise and the sunset." He promised her while putting the fish down over the fire before he patted his lap. "Come here." He told her taking a seat in front of the fire.

Fish.

The scent alone made her tummy rumble, her stomach eager for the food that she had caught. She had rarely had the chance to eat seafood as a child due to the sheer cost of it and yet as she smelled it beginning to waft in the air, her mouth began to water. After all, nekomimi were known to have a rather ravenous appetite when it came to sea food, specifically fish. Her gaze shifted as he impaled the fish and placed them nearer to the flames, watching with a look that made it clear that she wanted it already. She would eat them raw if she had to.

After a moment, she got ahold of herself and looked at him, grinning as he said she could choose two things, her eyes lighting up eagerly. She had an innocent youthfulness to her eyes, as if anything could make her smile. It didn't seem to take much to impress her, her lips easily tugging into a smile whenever he said anything remotely sweet towards her. She smiled and nodded, "Really?!" She grinned and looked at him, "Well then because I love you,... you can choose two things too!" She threw her hands into the air and celebrated cutely, her ears perked up playfully.

"I guess not... but eventually, can we?" She asked as she looked towards him, pouting ever so slightly that he couldn't make her dream come true. She thought it looked quite fun to ride on horseback though she knew she would feel much more comfortable doing so with him there to protect her should she fall. She looked at him with a slight pout as he patted his lap, asking for her to come closer. "Fineee." She fake whined before crawling into his lap as if she wasn't glad to do so. Yet the moment she settled onto his lap she seemed happier than ever, snuggling into him cozily.

If he didn't have strong senses then he probably wouldn't have heard the sound of her stomach rumbling as the fish started to cook a small smile on his face as he thought that she was cute, and if he had known about her love apparent love for fish he would have asked her to try and catch more but they had enough for tonight. In the morning they could catch more he was sure, but right now he was more focused on making sure she didn't eat any raw fish.

He didn't want her getting ill after all. He was of course happy to take care of her but that didn't mean he would let her food poisoning just so that he could look after her.

Her question simply made him smile back at her loving the way she grinned before she told him that he could choose two things as well. A hum leaving his lips as he tried to decide what he wanted as he heard her second question and in reply he nodded back at her quickly and when she agreed to come onto his lap, he smiled at her happily feeling her weight rest on his lap.

"Good girl." He whispered to her with a smile his arms wrapping around her hips, holding her against his lap before one of his hands slid up her body to cup one of her ears giving just a small squeeze before he moved his hands back down, his hands linking together over her belly. "Well, I guess my two things are I want to see you smiling all through tomorrow and I want you to promise me that you won't try and eat any of the fish before they are done cooking." He told her with teasing smile.

He rubbed her stomach with his hand, his arms pulling her in close letting her relax against his lap. "I love you and I promise you that one day we will get to ride a horse. Maybe when we find somewhere to settle down, I can even get you a horse of your own." He whispered to her with a smile his lips pressing against her cheek.

Safe.

In his arm, Aria knew that she was safe.

She smiled and settled into his lap as he praised her lovingly. She giggled and cuddled into him, enjoying the way that he cuddled her, locking his arms around her so that it was hard for her to even wiggle against him. Settling in comfortably, she nuzzled into his hand and looked up at him, "That's all you want? Me to smile?" She looked at him curiously, her eyes soft and loving as she wondered if she had been selfish for not saying something of a similar vein. She had wanted both of those things but she also wanted him to be happy. Of course, she had just considered that a given. She pouted slightly at his second wish but nodded. "Fine... but they do smell about done--" She complained, well understanding that they were no where near done yet seeing as they had just put them on to cook.

"I--" She started to reply back when her attention shifted.

She glanced towards the tree line having heard something shifting from within. Her ears perked up as she looked towards him, "I love you too..." She noted softly, her attention still on the trees as if she was suspicious of something. He must've heard it too. After all, vampires had good senses as well. Potentially not as good as hers, yet she was sure that he was picking up on it. "Ivory.." She warned, her ears pressing down to her ear, pinning in a way that they only did when she felt cornered. "We aren't alone..." She warned him, her back straightening against him as she grew more anxious.

The sounds around them began to grow closer.

20 feet at most.

That was what Aria had deduced.

Probably about 4 or 5 sets of footsteps.

One of them was from a relatively large person, their footsteps heavier than the rest. They dragged their feet slowly and seemed to be coming from the left flank behind them. She pulled from his arms to stand, her gaze shifting around anxiously as she wondered if a stick would be enough to attack them with. Of course, she knew Ivory would try to f ight them without involving her but that didn't mean he could take on this many people at once. She swallowed and grabbed a solid looking stick from her pile and looked at him, "I--" She bit her lip anxiously, her heart beginning to pound as she wondered who their attackers were and what they seemingly wanted from them. After all, they didn't have all that much to give.

He liked having her in his arms, on his lap. He liked listening to her giggle his free hand rubbing soft circles into her body feeling how she relaxed into him, how she nuzzled into his hand. "You've got a beautiful smile. I want to see it every single day." He told her happily before he smirked watching as she pouted as he told her that she couldn't have any of the fish just yet about to return his hands to her ears.

And then he sensed the presence of other, and it seemed that she noticed them first his eyes looking at her ears noticing the way that her ears perked up after she looked into the treeline hearing her soft words before he watched as she looked back to the trees. She had noticed them before him, but even so he sensed them. Maybe if he wasn't distracting her so much, she would have noticed them sooner, the heavy footsteps weren't hard to miss. His eyes looking into hers again as he heard her say his name nodding quickly as he heard her warning before he leaned forward as he felt her tense and straighten on his lap, not missing the way her ears pressed down as he gently kissed her temple.

"Things are going to be okay." He promised before he let her break free from his arms helping her stand up before he used his feet to stand up

The sounds around them began to grow closer. His hands grabbing onto his still sheathed sword and his dagger before he flicked off the sheath for the dagger watching as she picked up a stick his eyes looking into hers. "Don't worry, I'm not going to let them get close enough to you that you'll have to use that." He promised her not missing how heavy one of the sets of footsteps were.

Some may have been intimidated by the sound, heavy footsteps usually meant large and strong, but at the same time they seemed slow. Strength meant nothing if a person was too slow to hit their opponent and the dhampir was far from an easy target to hit and he was no slouch when it came to strength himself.

When they got close enough that he could hear them breathing he noticed it, something that she might not have sensed. She had better senses than him yes, but he was still yet to find out if she was as well as sensing threats as he was. He could smell the adrenaline running through their bodies, he could smell the way that their blood rushed through their bodies ready to fight, and he could smell the dried blood on their weapons.

Which was why he wasn't surprised tht when the group got in sight, they already had their weapons drawn. It was clear they planned to ambush them. But the blade that sliced through the air after he threw it, the small dagger sinking true into the wrist of one of the men brandishing a sword and shield in his hands made it clear that he was ready for them as the man cried out in pain letting go off his sword his arm now useless.

hit the ground his body lifeless.

"Stay behind me Aria." He whispered to her warningly before he drew his sword and rushed forward and before any of them could get over their surprise of one of their men being injured a second was taken out, the dhampir's sabre slashing a painful groove into his side and that seemed to kick everyone into shift.

A blow aimed at his head was deflected with the hilt of his sword the wooden point of a man's spear stabbing at the air harmlessly and before the man had the chance to strike again, he was slamming the hilt into his chest knocking him to the ground with a loud crack.

With the new closeness he realised where the heavy footsteps were coming from as he ducked under a mace that would have done serious damage even to him. The swing came quicker than he was expecting as he stepped back to avoid a follow up strike his eyes meeting the orcs eyes before they hardened.

He was well aware that orcs had thick skin, thick enough that he knew that he would struggle to pierce the large man's skin with his sabre. Luckily, he had other measures, his leg striking out and smashing into the thin part of the orcs knee creating a crack as he was forced onto the ground with a pained grunt that was silenced by a knee to his thick skull.

And the last of them, he could have dodged the sword strike that was aimed at his midsection, but instead he stepped into it, his hands letting go off his weapons as cold steel pierced his side making it look like he had lost the fight for a second before his hand gripped the man's wrist in vice grip holding him in place before he bit into the man's neck drinking until the last of their attackers eyes rolled back and he let the man go to hit the ground with a thud, the rise and fall of his chest mking clear he was still alive.

Adrenaline.

It rushed her veins as she felt him hold her in his vein protectively, his hands still rubbing against her as if he were trying to ease her despite the very obvious fact to her that they were indeed not alone. She could hear their footsteps. Even their heart beats. They were steady. As if they were trained killers. That was the feeling that she got. It scared her. She could feel her own heart beat begin to race, pounding within her chest as she attempted to warn him in case he was unable to recognize their presences.

"Things are going to be okay."

She wanted to believe him.

His reassurance.

Yet as she heard the footsteps growing closer and closer, she couldn't help but fear that they were brutally outnumbered. Even in the best of cases, she wasn't sure that Ivory could take on that many others. After all, she was practically a dead weight for him to protect. She wanted to protect herself and yet she knew that wasn't something she was capable of. Even though she had the stick, she knew that it would only last a few hits before she was pulled into deeper harm.

She swallowed and looked at him, smiling weakly as if to reassure him that she wasn't afraid.

He wasn't buying it.

"Don't worry, I'm not going to let them get close enough to you that you'll have to use that."

She nodded meekly before tightening her fingers around the stick, ignoring the fact that her knees were already starting to shake as she waited anxiously for them to come into sight. This was an ambush. Whoever this was, they were coming with the intention of fighting. With the intention... she wasn't sure. Were they burglars? Simple bandits who wanted to steal what little they had off of their backs? Or was this a well strategized attack? One that someone had hired them for? She had not the time to ponder the truth to this situation and yet that didn't stop her from hesitating, her eyes widening as she heard them grow closer to the edge of the clearing, only a second passing before she watched Ivory launch his dagger into the first man.

It had been quick.

Faster than she could even entirely have expected from him.

While she knew he was strong, she hadn't expected this sort of battle readiness. She swallowed and nodded, moving behind him so that she was protected. She would not be a dead weight, that was what she decided. And while she certainly couldn't protect herself, the least that she could do was to stay behind him so that he didn't have to worry about her. She didn't want to make him worry.

The fight went fast.

Fast.

His battle moved at a pace that Aria was entirely unused to, her eyes widening as she watched the last man fall to the ground. She swallowed and looked down at him, "H-He's unconscious right?" She asked hesitantly, stepping out from behind Ivory hesitantly before looking up at him. "A-Are we going to uh... interrogate him or... find out why he attacked us...?" She asked with a nervous voice, her words wavering and breaking as she spoke. She was clearly still on edge, her heart racing as she felt the adrenaline rushing through her veins.

Even once the fight was over, he was still high strung and ready to fight. His muscles were tense and taut, waiting for more to come. Expecting more to come. He expected more people to show up, but as he looked around, he knew that there was no sign of anyone else. He couldn't smell them; he couldn't hear any other heartbeats. He couldn't sense them.

And if he did trust one thing about him it was his senses. They were the one thing that he felt like he could rely on growing up, they felt like the only thing he could trust, and so he honed them.

It was his senses and his experience with her that allowed him to be able to tell so clearly that she was scared. And he wanted nothing more than to cheer her up. He wanted to make her feel safe, to feel as if no one would be able to hurt her. Or touch her. He wanted to keep her safe, she was his to protect, he wanted nothing more than to spend every day making her feel safe.

"They are all unconscious; I can still hear their heartbeats. There is going to be a while before they'll be at full strength still." He told her watching as she stood in front of him able to hear the way that her heart raced before his arms wrapped her hips from behind and he used his grip on her body to pull her body against his chest.

"We can eat for now; food should be done cooking by now. How about you check on the fish and I'll deal with them." He suggested to her softly his lips kissing her cheek. "I grabbed rope before we left, so I'll make sure that they'll be unable to speak or walk." He whispered before he used his grip on her hips to turn her around making her face him.

"I love you. I meant it when I said that I would protect you." He promised before he kissed her, his lips claiming hers with a short but passionate kiss before he broke their kiss.

"Now just make sure they don't burn please, and I'll take care of them." He whispered his lips pressing against the soft skin of her neck, gently nibbling on her soft skin until she walked away from him his hand giving her ass a playful spank before he turned around to restrain the men.

Trouble.

Aria couldn't wash away the feeling that they were in trouble. Even after they were entirely finished fighting, she couldn't ease her heart from the racing that it was currently doing. After all, it was obvious that these people had been prepared to fight. Prepared to cause harm to one of them. And while he had easily fought them, that didn't mean it would stop at just this. Was there a reason they had attacked? Would they continue to be in danger should they continue on this journey? It worried her in a way that she couldn't entirely wash away.

Feeling him pull her towards his chest, Aria let out a shaky gasp and stepped backwards as she was pulled to press against him. "I... I know... but are you sure it's safe?" She asked, turning her head over her shoulder to look up at him. "W-why do you think that they attacked us?" She bit her lip, anxious at the idea that someone else had sent them. Anxious at the idea that someone wanted to bring harm to them. "Could... they be related to the guards from the city?" She questioned, her gaze falling slightly as she worried herself of the potential causes of such an attack.

It seemed that while he was attempting to ease her anxiety, she was still overly worried about the cause of their attackers. She swallowed and looked down at the food with a frown. She had lost her appetite. "Right..." She nodded softly, her eyebrows furrowed as she was shifted to face him, his gaze caring. She hated to worry him but his confidence worried her. She couldn't help but worry that this was the beginning of a rather dangerous journey. "That's a good idea... when they awaken... should we question them?" She asked him, her gaze uneasy. "See... why they were going to attack us.... they didn't look like regular ole bandits to me...." She frowned, looking at him anxiously.

His lips broke her gaze. She swallowed as she was pulled into his lips, his arms wrapping around her protectively. "I love you too..." She frowned, nuzzling into him for a moment before he lifted her chin and pressed his lips towards her neck. She seemed uneasy still, her gaze lost away from him as she turned to walk away from him. She only snapped out of it and forced a tiny smile as he spanked her rear playfully. Letting out a shaky gasp she turned and looked at him with a pout, "That's not fair..." She whined before taking her seat near the fire so that the fish didn't burn.
