June 19 — Billion-Dollar Lessons for Women Founders with 5x Consumer Product Unicorn John Osher | Private Residence – NYC

#WEDO2026 Members Only

We are excited to welcome John Osher, one of America's most accomplished serial entrepreneurs and a true ally to women founders, to the WEDO community for an exclusive soirée on June 19. Throughout his remarkable career, John has founded and sold multiple companies to major corporations including Procter & Gamble, Gerber, and Hasbro, for more than $1 billion! He is best known for creating the SpinBrush, the battery-powered toothbrush that became the #1 selling toothbrush in America before being acquired by Procter & Gamble. His entrepreneurial journey also includes founding Cap Toys, creator of iconic products such as Stretch Armstrong and Spin Pop, which was later acquired by Hasbro, as well as a successful baby products company that was acquired by Gerber.

What makes this especially meaningful for me is that John grew up just about a mile from where I grew up in Ohio. From those humble beginnings to building multiple companies that became household names, his story is a powerful reminder that big dreams can come from anywhere. We look forward to an inspiring evening as John shares lessons from building, scaling, and successfully exiting companies while championing innovation, entrepreneurship, and the next generation of founders.
