

Representative Eddie arrives at a podium setup in a presentation room at his Philadelphia area campaign headquarters with numerous reporters from press outlets present. Rep. Eddie stands at the podium wearing a white collared shirt and green tie and a forest camo baseball cap.

Greetings all and thank you for being here, the press is invaluable to ensuring our fellow Americans are informed and up to date on the issues most important to them. Apart from spending time canvassing across Philadelphia today, I am here to announce my acceptance of the Green Party's nomination of my candidacy for Atlantic Commonwealth Senate. It is a great honor to have this chance to represent the people of the Atlantic Commonwealth on an even higher level in our nation's legislative branch. I look forward to continuing to campaign on the issues and meeting and hearing the stories of as many of my fellow Atlantians on the campaign trail as possible! Thank you all again, I must return to canvassing after spending some time in Center City discussing reducing utility costs with green energy. I will now be spending the rest of my day in North Philly to knock on doors and assess how we can do more to uplift and support communities dealing with significant poverty.