Subject: The secret to laser-sharp focus!!?

Hey,

- ❖ Do you find it challenging to meet the demands of your job?
- ❖ Do you feel overwhelmed, stressed, and burned out?
- ❖ Do you have difficulty concentrating, making decisions, and generating new ideas?

These problems are often misunderstood because people do not fully understand the process of creativity and the role of focus in it.

We're going to show you how creativity works and how we've found a solution to help you with the hardest part of the creative process.

Creativity is often thought of as a single process, but it's two distinct processes:

- Divergent thinking: This is the process of coming up with new ideas and doing research. This is where most people are pretty good at.
- Convergent thinking: This is the process of narrowing down the ideas and refining them to a set of options to find the best solution. This is where most people struggle.

In today's attention economy, it's harder than ever to focus. Our gadgets are constantly vying for our attention, and it can be tough to stay on task. But focus is essential for convergent thinking, the ability to refine ideas and solve problems.

That's why we've created Qualia Mind, a nootropic that combines caffeine with natural compounds that help you focus and promote convergent thinking. So you can finally get the most out of your day without the jitters or crashes.

It's the perfect solution for anyone who wants to:
