

Hey folks!

Wanted to let you know that CBRC and prideHealth created an online training program for primary care providers on prescribing PrEP. It's 100% free and available to all.

Prescribing Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis for HIV

Online Training Course

Registration is now open for an HIV Prevention & PrEP Prescription Training Course, organized in partnership by prideHealth (<http://pridehealth.ca>) and the Community-Based Research Centre (<http://cbrc.net>). This training is free, and is aimed at providing education for physicians, nurse practitioners, and other health care workers to meet the needs of patients seeking support regarding HIV prevention. This course also hopes to address the gap in PrEP prescribing capacity in Nova Scotia.

This Group Learning program has been certified by the College of Family Physicians of Canada and the Nova Scotia Chapter for 1 Mainpro+ credit.

There are several stages to this program. Participants will...

- watch a recorded presentation titled "HIV Prevention, Treatment, & Advocacy" by Garry Dart of the AIDS Coalition of Nova Scotia (approximately 50 minutes)
- watch a recorded presentation titled "Prescribing PrEP" by Dr. Glenn Andrea, MD (approximately 20 minutes)
- watch a recorded Q&A and discussion with Garry Dart and Dr. Andrea (50 minutes)
- complete an online quiz to demonstrate learning (approximately 10 minutes)
- complete a training evaluation (approximately 5 minutes)

Platforms: Pre-recorded presentations and the online quiz will be hosted on Teachable.
