Character: Sagwa

Slow was falling rapidly from the sky. Not too much but enough to enjoy it. Normally Sagwa would enjoy it...but right now...this annoyed her. It's been like this for days now...there is already a thick snow layer on the ground. This is beautiful yes...but it can stop now- Before the snow gets too high to even proper walk through it. Or when we're talking about walking through Snow...that's exactly what she is doing right now. Walking alone through a snowy forest on the search for a...Christmas Tree. Yes, you heard right. Sagwa was on the search for a Christmas tree. Behind herself she pulled a wooden sledge on which lay some rope and an axe. She lost count of how long she was walking through this damn forest and grew more annoyed with every second that passed. It's not like she dislikes Christmas or Christmas Tree, no she loved it, but getting one? It's painful. Especially when it's this cold, and yes, she is wearing some thick clothes but nonetheless Sagwa is freezing. Blame Cccarpet and Bamboo for it. They decided it's her job to get a tree...while these two...oh she bets there sitting on a couch playing video games now. With horrible excuses about why they can't accompany her. Sagwa let out a sigh. Bamboo said she would cook the Christmas dinner...and Cccarpet aside from doing nothing mumbled he would decorate the apartment. As if. Bet they did nothing when she came back. Sagwa came to a halt after a while and looked around. She reached a place with pine trees of all kinds of sizes. "One of them should be perfect." She pulled the sledge with her and walked over to a group of smaller pine trees. She stopped the sledge and placed it near a bigger stone so it won't slide away and walked to one tree after another to measure their height...she used herself as measurement as they agreed the tree shouldn't be a lot taller than her. After a while she found the...you could say perfect tree. Not too tall but big and bushy. Decorating the tree would be fun. Ok...she maybe is excited for that. She loved decorating the tree but not getting it. Sagwa walked back to the sledge, picked up the axe and got back to the tree. She took a deep breath and started cutting the tree near the ground. It took a good while but after some even, sweeping chops, the tree fell to the ground. "Hew...done..." Definitely too much physical activity for this day. She pulled the tree back to the sledge, used the rope to tie up the tree onto the sledge with the axe. After this was done, she took a few more breaths, shook herself and walked back to the city. In her opinion she did a good job. She found a nice tree. If Cccarpet and Bamboo really did their jobs...oh boy this could become wonderful days. At least she hoped. After all the mess that happened a few months ago.
