

What the Romanian Anchor said during Tate's latest interview [VERBATIM]

Nu știu care vor fi planurile noastre pe viitor, vom vedea. E placut sa ies afara din casa, va multumesc foarte mult. A fost o linie pe care noi n-am avut voie sa o trecem. Inca mai simt ca razboiul nu sa incheiat pentru mine, si ca mai sunt foarte multe lucruri de clarificat. Insa, se vor clarifica toate acestea lucruri, iar acea zi va veni in curand.

Sunt declaratii doamelor si domnilor pe care le au facut fratii tate in urma acu foarte putin timp va reamintesc, andrew si tristan scapa de arestul la domiciliul roman sub control judiciar in dosarul in care sunt judecati pentru constituirea unui grup infraccional organizat trafic de persoane

What the Romanian Anchor translated out of Tate's latest interview:

I don't know what my plans will be for the future, we will see. It is nice to leave the house, I thank you very much. It was a line that we were not allowed to cross. I still feel like the war hasn't ended for me, and that there are more things to clarify. Still, these things will get clarified and that day will come soon.

These are declarations, ladies and gentlemen, that the Tate brothers said not long ago. I remind you, Andrew and Tristan escape from Romanian house arrest under judicial control in the case in which they are being tried for forming an organized criminal group for human trafficking.

What Tate REALLY said: [VERBATIM]

I'm not sure about the plans but, I know that lies grow tired, lies get exhausted, and uh, time is on our side, sooner or later everybody will understand.

I'm looking forward to, what am I looking forward to, going outside of the house I guess.

I know, this line was a hard line for a very long time so I, I am excited but, there's a part of me that still feels like the war is not over, the war is not over for me until everybody understands I'm completely innocent, head to toe, and everybody who has called me names and believed any of this garbage understands exactly how incorrect they were and I know that day is coming so that's what I'm most excited about.

{END OF INTERVIEW}

TL;DR:

Tate calls out the Lies told by the Matrix, speaks out on his Innocence
But the Romanian TV Anchor SKIPS over his sentences, making vague statements,
THEN she "Reminds" viewers that Tate was released from the case of being part of an
"organised criminal group for human trafficking."

STILL BELIEVE THAT THE MATRIX IS INVISIBLE?

WAKE UP G'S,

READ BETWEEN THE LINES AND FIND THE TRUTH.
