Occupy Be the Change Pledge

As a participant in the Occupy movement, I hereby commit my whole self to nonviolence. Therefore to the best of my ability:
I am firmly committed to nonviolence as a way of life, not merely as a tactic.
I meet violence with compassion for others and myself.
I walk, talk and act in love and nonviolence.
I refrain from verbal and physical violence.
I do not accept "a diversity of tactics" when those tactics are violent or damage property.
I am open, respectful, and kind with everyone I encounter.
I invite the 1% to join us and will not insult them.
I seek justice and reconciliation so that we are all winners.
I avoid both selfishness and power trips.
I strive to be in good spiritual and bodily health as we work to build a just and democratic society.

You can sign the Pledge by sending an email to obtcc_at-request@npogroups.org with "Pledge" in the Subject line and "I sign" in the body.

NOTES:

- Neither Occupy SF nor any other occupation has endorsed or adopted this pledge, which is being circulated by the Occupy Be the Change Caucus, which is open to participants in any Occupy.
- If you sign, we'll add your name to the list of signatories at http://goo.gl/lKRPh and invite you to subscribe to Be the Change News and participate in Membership Meetings.
- The founders of the Caucus—the original signatories, most of whom helped write the Pledge, which was inspired by Dr. King's 1963 nonviolence pledge—were: Adam Baratz, Zoe Christopher, Roma Guy, David Hartsough, Mary Hudson, Wade Hudson, Ruth Lang, Steve Leeds, Rhonda Magee, Brenda Salgado, Muki Karen Villanueva, and angel Kyodo williams.
- The Meeting House is 1.5 blocks from the BART/MUNI Civic Center Station. Please enter through the South Door, closest to Mission Street. Ring the "Quakers - 1st floor" bell to the left of the door. The Friends Meetinghouse is accessible. No alcohol in the Meetinghouse
