

CODE OF THE CELESTIAL EYE - unaltered Version:

My vision and the meaning I imply into that name...

It's from back in the days, before I was playing at a professional level and wanted to change my name to take on a new persona - and redefine myself to become a better persona.

So I went ahead to think about a name, something that I can relate to and something that other people can feel when they see the name and my actions...

To make a long story short...

Celestial...

it implies mystique, it is something you can't measure by normal means

Something beyond rational...

Something at the highest possible level that can't be reached...

Something that people talk about in awe...

Eye...

Ever observing...

All seeing...

But it also implies constant effort, endless learning and tracing

Celestial Eye...

Piercing gaze that sees everything everywhere...

It is at the topmost possible place and observes everything...

It learns from everything...

It is something that is hidden...

It observes and only judges based on what it sees...

I bound my personality to that name.

I am Celestial Eye.

Celestial Eye is me.

"The two that are one and the one that is everything..."

It is advice, aspiration, vision and a warning to myself.

It implies that there is always something higher to reach, or someone higher to learn from.

It also implies that I learn from all that I can see and everything below me and past me.

It implies that you can always be better, do better and do more to reach the desired level above anyone.

It also shows my massive ego...

and my massive respect for those that reach a level similar or higher than me.

It implies being above everyone at a level beyond reasoning or comprehension.

It implies being seen as a god-like being.

It implies suffering... lots of suffering to justify such a high status.

It implies respectful whispering whenever I make an appearance.

You can say that this comes down to just being at levels that most can't reach while observing everything and learning from it.

It is a multi life story compressed into two words.

It is a self fulfilling prophecy

It always is...

Illusions are illusions because they work.

Both in the good and bad ways.

Whatever you think about will come true whether you want it or not.

And the funny thing is... our brain doesn't remember words, events, images or whatever by it's actual meaning...

But only by the emotions we bind to it

The more emotions are involved the better our brain remembers.

The clearer the picture becomes.

And the clearer the picture... the better our brain knows how to realize exactly this picture and bring it into reality.

There are many studies done on that...

And hey,

for me this aspiration has worked wonders

it's my inner drive bound by a narrative, a story... my own hero's journey.

This is a big part of what focuses my chaotic energies and tendencies.

For the last four or five or more years this has been my identity.

This has been a major contributor that I have literally been titled a god in certain realms.

And I always only became better and wanted to get better and higher.

I don't know how to describe that further...

It entails standing beyond everyone.

And yet still being humble and remembering my roots.

Teaching others what I attained with difficulties to the highest level possible.

It also means having a silent and observant character and knowing when to shut up.

This is the monster inside me that lingers and devours everything that comes its way.

This is not a fire that drives me... it's a whole fucking solar flare that is hidden inside me.

And exactly because of that I needed a strong and every growing personality to use this drive to its full capabilities.

So to sum it up...:

- Mysterious, every conquering, ever dominating and ever curious in all relevant fields and realms that make me and others a better person.

- A creativity that goes beyond common sense because I always aim to connect everything to create unique things and insights that no one else can compare to.
- Everywhere I go I aim to have people talk in awe of me. Solely because of my skills, my insights, my understanding and my ability to help more people with my comprehension.
- Seeing and connecting everything, blind spots are unacceptable for the Celestial Eye.
- Judging only after having observed the details - then going in spot on and focused.
- Constantly looking around, learning and improving, being ever curious.
- Being at the top forever, watching how things change, how people conduct themselves and how people rise and fall. Learning from the positions and striving to be atop all of them.
- And yet never forgetting the roots and being humble - shutting up when others speak, being well hidden with the aim not to shine too bright if there are people around that I can learn from.
- Also looking at those below, whispering to them the insights and elements they are missing while learning from those who dare to reach high from their place below.
- Enduring the endless suffering needed to reach such a status - and enjoying it.
- It can't be stopped
- It can't be slowed down
- What It says is an observation, a command, a lesson, a restriction and something that everyone, including me, is bound by.

All of the above is way too humble.

You don't know....

My competitiveness is unmatched.

My strive can't be comprehended.

My dark personality is carefully crafted and nourished.

My inner world is the loudest place in existence.

The voices constantly push me and make me reach greater heights.

Everything in my way is getting demolished.

Nothing can stop me from reaching my position.

Sometimes I wonder who I am even competing with....

And then I realise it is the ideal me inside my head.

It is the person in me that I could have been/ could be/ and will be.

This is whom I am challenging.

This ideal person has no weakness and doesn't give a fuck how it feels or what stands in its way.

It does exactly what it is supposed to do. It finds solutions to go around anything in its way.

Even if I was to break down, my inner darkness would just take over to become the kind of person a part of me already is.

The only place I can accept is the top.
The only outcome possible is the top.
The only results I can accept are the best.

There is no in between, there is no "maybe".
There is just an eternal drive in me to go further and deeper.

From the outside however, you see none of that.
And there is no reason to show anything to the outside.

"There is no such thing as a peak of power. Above the peak, there is an even higher peak. That's all... People stop walking when they think they're at the peak... I still haven't seen the peak." - Shadow

Make this your life's motto.
If you can't handle this acceptance and endless grind then maybe you are not yet cut out to be the person you aim to be.

Spend time with yourself.
A lot of time.

Speak to yourself, to your true self and find out why you are too comfortable to do shit.
Remove the comfort and do everything possible to make your life as uncomfortable as possible.

Then stay on that path forever and never stop.
The moment weakness comes, you're doomed.

This is both a reminder for myself as it is for everyone else.

Judge others by the highest standard possible.
Judge yourself by the highest standard possible.

Most people don't realize who they could be, or who they actually are.

When you are with yourself....

Forget your manners and forget being civilized.

When you are with yourself...

The only thing that should be there are two monsters looking into each other's face, attempting to find and exploit even the slightest show of weakness or missing attention.

To thrive under pressure and intense situations, being afraid of challenges is deadly.

Instead, be excited that it is finally time to show what you are made of.

Get excited about not having to hold back.

To give it everything you have.