Elaboration:

- I am generally very generous when it comes to charging for backgrounds. I usually won't charge for solid background colors or simple gradients. The charge comes when I actually have to start drawing things in
- Additional characters are charged at half the original price if the characters are going on the same piece. If you order two pieces, both characters are charged at full

- I will do NSFW, but I will be posting a censored version on my socials
- I prefer active communication between me and my clients to ensure that they get exactly what they want. Don't be afraid to let me know when you want me to change something. It's better to let me know sooner than later
- Edits can be made after the final transaction is complete. I won't charge for simple things. But if you want me to change something, like the lighting for example, I will charge for that depending on how long it takes
- Absolutely DO NOT feed my work to any generative AI. If you want more art from me, just ask. I'm always willing to work things out
- I will allow refunds on the first down payment if the art has not yet been finished. There will be no refunds for finished art
- To ensure all the rules and guidelines have been read, and to verify you aren't a scammer, please provide this password to me when asked: Stinky Butter Dog
