

International Covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR), and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR).

ICCPR	ICESCR
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Freedom from discrimination• Right to equality between men and women• Right to life• Freedom from torture• Freedom from slavery• Right to liberty and security of person• Right to be treated with humanity in detention• Freedom of movement• Freedom of non-citizens from arbitrary expulsion• Right to fair trial• Right to recognition before the law• Right to privacy• Freedom of religion and belief• Freedom of expression• Right of peaceful assembly• Freedom of association• Right to marry and found a family• Right of children to birth registration and a nationality• Right to participate in public affairs• Right to equality before the law• Minority rights	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Freedom from discrimination• Right to equality between men and women• Right to work• Freedom to choose and accept work• Right to just and favourable conditions at work• Right to form trade unions• Right to strike• Right to social security• Right of mothers to special protection before and after birth• Freedom of children from social and economic exploitation• Right to an adequate standard of living• Freedom from hunger• Right to health• Right to education• Freedom of parents to choose schooling for their children• Right to take part in cultural life• Right to enjoy benefits of science• Right of authors to moral and material interests from works• Freedom to undertake scientific research and creative activity