

Madeline Snow Typadis is a retired Project Manager from the Lowell Center for Sustainable Production at UMass Lowell. She enjoys working with teams and groups to prevent and solve problems. She holds a B.A. in Biology/Environmental Studies from New College of Florida and an M.P.A. from the Harvard Kennedy School.