

Thank you for your interest in Rebirth!

Before you apply, please make sure to take a quick read at the general blacklist and rules. There will be certain triggers that may make some individuals uncomfortable. If you do not like dissociation, possible mentions of religion, intense descriptions of gore, or suicide, it is advised to not apply for this killing game.

REBIRTH

Getting Started

When you are making your application, click on “File” and press “Make a Copy.” Once clicked, remove the “Copy Of” text from the copy and format your application as what’s labeled on the original. For example:

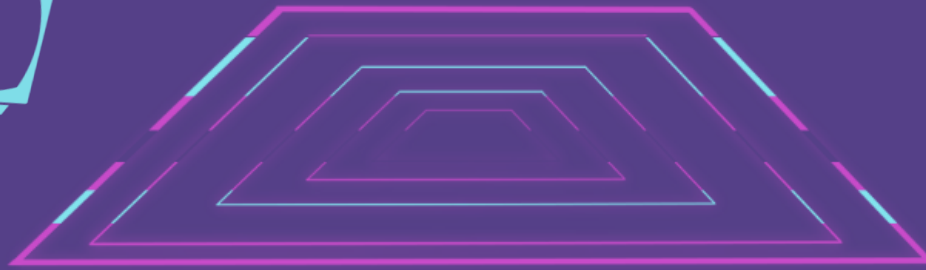

DR: REBIRTH | WillowOkami#8878 | Masato Yokoyama | Media Critic

You are free to change the background colors, text and add aesthetics to your application to make it easier, but do not change the format of your application or it’ll be rejected. Once you are ready to submit your application, please send it to one of the hosts:

WillowOkami#8878 | alice#4466 | Just Fisherman000#4408 | °olimen lemon°+#3093

If you have any other questions or concerns regarding the application, please ask in #questions or in the host’s direct messages. Anything that is optional will be given a “*”, and can be skipped. Everything else must stay in its format or it will not be considered. With that being said, thank you for applying to Rebirth!

Let us welcome you, our shining star.

VI - BACKSTORY

*Trigger(s): (Please list ANY triggers in the backstory that may bring discomfort to the hosts.)

Public Biography:

(What would the public find via a google search? Keep in mind, make sure what you put in here doesn't spoil your character.)

Backstory:

(Leave no detail behind. If your backstory is longer than four pages, include a summary.)

Relationships:

(Who is your character connected to outside of the killing game?)

VII - STATISTICS

The killing game will have events where you are required to roll by chance in order to determine your outcome. For example, if you were to roll a 8 in Strength, and your character has a boost of +3, it would become an 11. Rolls will go between 1 (being horrible) and 20 (being great).

The values you may use can vary. You'll need to measure out your total value usage to 40. For clarification, a -5 is equal to zero value points. A +5 is equal to ten value points.

(-5, -4, -3, -2, -1, 0, +1, +2, +3, +4, +5)

There is a bonus part where you may add in an extra stat for your character. You may choose anything that can be considered appropriate.

|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Strength: (How physically strong is your character? Can they lift boulders, or can they barely lift a pencil?) | Intelligence: (How smart are they? Can they think outside the box, or do they lack it?)                                                    |
| Agility: (How fast is your character? Are they quick on their feet, or do they struggle with running?)         | Charisma: (How convincing is your character? Are they prince charming, or are they a withering rose?)                                      |
| Observation: (How observant is your character? Do they have eagle eye vision, or do they lack perception?)     | Luck: (How likely are things likely to fall in their favor? No skill needed, if they have a way with luck or do they make their own luck.) |
| Bonus: (Feel free to choose your own trait! Can not be a repeat.)                                              |                                                                                                                                                   |

IX - KILLING GAME INFORMATION

Victim | Blackened | Motive Example | Survivor

Role Preference: (What do you prefer your character to be in terms of role preference? Specify what role you want and why. This will not alter your chances of getting in, as death orders won't be confirmed until the actual chapter itself.)

Chapter 1 | Chapter 2 | Chapter 3 | Chapter 4 | Chapter 5 | Chapter 6

Chapter Preference: (What do you prefer your character to be in terms of chapter preference? Specify what role you want and why. This will not alter your chances of getting in, as death orders won't be confirmed until the actual chapter itself.)

Regrets:

(Put in at least two regrets for this section.)

Motivation:

(What are your character's motivations for staying alive, or simply waking up in the morning? It can be related outside of the killing game, to surviving during the killing game, or both.)

Aspirations:

(What are your character's goals outside of the killing game? What do they want to achieve in their life before they die?)

*Development:

(What do you want to do with your character, how will they grow or change? Are there any drastic changes that you want to make to your character as chapters go on? This doesn't have to be answered, but it is encouraged to.)

X - ROLEPLAY PROMPTS

You are almost done with the application! For this section, please fill out two prompts out of the select few. If you wish, you may fill out all of them- but you may delete the ones you didn't select. The prompts are expected to be in roleplay format, so write to your heart's content. Third person perspective is required for this section, unless your character speaks in first person.

Blood is on your hands. You just murdered someone out of desperation, and time is ticking before morning comes. There isn't much time to react, and you need to think fast. What do you do?

You're being accused for the murder of the latest victim. The evidence is pointing towards you, but you know that they are all framed against you. Quick, how do you convince them it isn't you?

...

You've been under the influence of a game show about winning money, cars, houses- and possibly even Ultimate titles. People don't seem to buy it. Do you?

...

You've been having frequent nightmares lately about awful things in your life. The nightmare currently is the worst one you're having. How do you react, and what is the aftermath?

...

Create your own prompt!
