

Summer 2018 Roosevelt Renovations

[Music]

Principal Kevin Dwyer: Careful planning and design is critical to every project. While building a new school , we also wanted to maximize the learning space on the first floor. We highlighted these new learning spaces for you and yellow. This spring teachers toured several schools in the area along with the architects and exchanged ideas to enhance these new learning spaces. Together these experiences contributed to the final design you see today.

[Music and photo montage]

Assistant Allison Sobotka: All teachers and staff deserve the praise and appreciation of everyone in the school community. By June 1st at 4 p.m. all teachers were required to be fully packed and out of the building because demolition efforts began that very same evening. Everyone met that challenge. Then bright and early on the morning of August 20th all teachers and staff needed to be fully ready to meet and greet our students on the first day of school. Again everyone met this challenge. The teachers and staff at Roosevelt went above and beyond to give our students a great first week of school. Well done Roosevelt.

[Music and video of students working in classrooms]

Principal Kevin Dwyer: The learning spaces are fresh, modern, clean, functional and enjoyable for everyone.

[Music and video of students and staff in the renovated spaces.]