

Hello denizens of Hell,

According to my research, as well as discussion with Mr Vox, it seems like it would be beneficial for everyone if there was some kind of guide to help those aiming to be assistants for the Vee's. We expect nothing but perfection at The Vee Tower henceforth there will be a guide made of how to be one Hell of an assistant.

We're calling it:

"Ethan's Guide To Being One Hell Of An Assistant."

These will then be distributed to those that think they have what it takes to be an assistant, perhaps even a personal assistant, so that they know what can be expected of them if they are accepted for the role.

The guide will be an A to Z of traits needed to be the best and most sought after assistant and while I could make this completely by myself, I believe it would be far more beneficial and efficient to create this as a co-operative project. So I will be opening positions for those that think they have what it takes to join me in making this guide.

There are roles available for all kinds of creatively inclined and some non-creative too. You are more than welcome to sign up for more than one role if you feel capable of taking on so much work load. Everyone participating will receive a special thanks from myself and potentially other benefits which need to be discussed with upper management.

Applications are not yet open, however to get updates on progress and have your voice heard to influence the guide even if you are not yourself taking part in the creation please do follow the respective profile accounts for the platform of your choice. If there is a way to turn on notifications I would highly recommend turning them on so that you don't miss out on important details and deadlines.

I also would recommend using this time to draw or write something that would showcase you can in fact do what you say as it will be a requirement before you get accepted. Mr Vox suggests having in your portfolio something linked to myself that you can submit in your application. So use this time wisely and I hope to remain in contact with you.

Kind regards,

Ethan.

