

Dear parents,

We are beginning an interdisciplinary unit between Art and Design Technology. We are asking students to create a free account on the website Tumblr.com. In order for your student to create an account, they need to be 13 years or older. For students under the age of 13, we are requesting that parents give their child permission to create the account and to do so at home, together. This account will be exclusively used for our Art & Design project and students should not use it for any other purpose. Students will not be sharing personal information. The directions for how to create an account can be found here: <http://goo.gl/nXI3Kj>.

If your child has already created a Tumblr account for this unit, please have them share it with you! We are excited to share with you what the students will be doing throughout this unit.

If you have any questions or concerns please email either of us.

Thank you!
