My Dear Child,

Finally, your wait is over. I really love my child. Wish you a very Good Christmas Morning. I am certain that you have been waiting for this beautiful snowy Christmas morning. Dear child, I want you to enjoy this beautiful day with your family members and friends. You must visit Church and say your prayers to Jesus Christ. You must thank him for this beautiful Christmas. It is all because of him that you are here on this Earth.

Your life is precious and it is meant for the service to God. You will realize it more in the coming years. Life is serious to be taken. You must waste on unnecessary things in life. You must study well, obey your parents and elders of the household and be kind to those who are younger to you and be generous to people who are poorer than you.

You must be content with what you have in life. You must not crave for things that other people have. God is there, listening to your prayers. You will surely find answers for your prayers. He is watching over you.

Never be angry or lose temper on small or big things. Be patient and you will find everything alright. I am very happy with the way you have performed in your school. I must congratulate you for getting excellent marks in all the subjects. I have come to know that you have been the best student all throughout the year.

It is really good to see that you are quite cordial with your classmates and respectful to your teachers. It was really good to know that you have participated in winter sports and won medals.

You must actually keep it up! The moment you wake up from your bed, you will find a box wrapped in red and tied with ribbons. This is Christmas gift for this year!

There lies a big surprise for you and your family. You must open it! Wish you Merry Christmas and Happy New Year again!

I will come next year with new surprise pack! I love you my child!

Yours Loving,

Santa
