Cost Factors

Several factors can influence the cost of cannabis products in Ontario. Product type is one of the primary considerations, as cannabis flower, Premium Flower, disposable vape pens, live resins, Concentrate & Distillate Cartridges, and edibles may vary in price based on category and formulation. THC and CBD content can also impact pricing, with some higher-potency products carrying different price points than standard options.

Brand selection is another important factor. Products sourced from craft and small batch cannabis grower partners or featuring specialized product curation may have different pricing than standard offerings. Quantity purchased can also affect the overall transaction value, as larger purchases generally result in higher totals.

The Woods Cannabis strives to provide value through competitive pricing, a Price Match Guarantee, and a Lowest Price Guarantee on eligible products. Customers can explore available cannabis products and compare options to find products that align with their preferences and budget.
