AND WHILE DEMOCRATS LOST CONTROL OF CONGRESS ALONG WITH THE POWER

OF THE CONGRESSIONAL PURSE BY WASTEFUL SPENDING, DEMOCRATS HAD TO FORFEIT 59 SEATS TO TEA PARTY REPRESENTATION IN 2010, AS THE BATTLE FOR FINANCIAL SANITY RAGED ON THROUGH 2011:

THE TEA PARTY IS THE MOST DIVERSE COLLECTION OF AMERICANS WHOSE PRIMARY CONCERN IS REGARDING GOVERNMENT FINANCE; NOT RACIAL HATRED OR PREJUDICE: WE COME FROM ALL DEMOGRAPHICS; EURO-AMERICAN HERITAGE (Scottish, English, Irish, French) NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE (authentic indigenous ancestry to Native American tribal history or mixed marriages with European ancestry), BLACK AMERICAN (African tribal ancestry from imported slave ancestry or mixed marriages with Europeans) and LATINO OR MEXICAN AMERICAN (Spanish speaking cultures and countries).

Racism is the belief that there are inherent differences in people's traits and capacities that are entirely due to their race, however defined, and that, as a consequence, racial discrimination (i.e. different treatment of those people, both socially and legally) is justified.

In the modern English language, the term "racism" is used predominantly as a pejorative epithet. It is applied especially to the practice or advocacy of racial discrimination of a pernicious nature (i.e. which harms particular groups of people), and which is often justified by recourse to racial stereotyping or pseudo-science. Modern usage, in fact, often equates "racism" and "racial discrimination" and defines the latter term only as applying to pernicious practices. Differential treatment of racial groups that is intended to ameliorate past discrimination, rather than to harm, goes by other names (e.g. affirmative action); the characterization of this practice as "racism", "racial discrimination" or "reverse discrimination" is normally only done by its opponents, and typically implies a belief in the harmful nature of the practice with respect to the groups not receiving assistance.

Racism is popularly associated with various activities that are illegal or commonly considered harmful, such as extremism, hatred, xenophobia, (malignant or forced)exploitation, separatism, racial supremacy, mass murder (for the purpose of genocide), genocide denial, vigilantism (hate crimes, terrorism), etc. "Racism" and "racial discrimination" are often used to describe discrimination on an ethnic or cultural basis, independent of their somatic (i.e. "racial") differences. According to the United Nations conventions, there is no distinction between the term racial discrimination and ethnicity discrimination.

A prejudice is a prejudgment, an assumption made about someone or something before having adequate knowledge to be able to do so with guaranteed accuracy, or "judging a book by it's cover". The word prejudice is most commonly used to refer to preconceived judgments toward people or a person because of race, social class, gender, ethnicity, homelessness, age, disability, obesity, religion, sexual orientation, or other personal characteristics. It also means beliefs without knowledge of the facts^[1] and may include "any unreasonable attitude that is unusually resistant to rational influence."^[2]

What Happened to “Tea Party Tracker”?

February 21, 2011 By RightDog 5 Comments

Let's take a little trip back in time, to last March, when Tea Party activists in Washington DC, protesting the Obamacare votes, were accused of “spitting” on and casting racial slurs at Congressional Black Caucus members on their way to cast their votes.

These “incidents” occupied the news for a couple of weeks, but none of the “news” agencies was ever able to produce a video/audio to substantiate the accusations, despite several groups offering rewards for such proof. Since the cell/camera phone is ubiquitous these days, one wonders why no one captured anything “on film”.....unless, UNLESS, (gasp) these things never happened?

Well, the Left continued beating the drum of “spitting and racism” off and on for a while, and they continued accusing the Tea Party members of being racists at every opportunity....and still do today, to some extent but it seems to have cooled off some.

In the run-up to the November 2010 elections, beginning late last summer, George Soros, in cahoots with other leftie organizations such as the NAACP and his pet, Media Matters, created the web site TeaPartyTracker.org, ostensibly aimed at discrediting Tea Parties using subterfuge and cherry-picked examples of fringe nut jobs as being representative of the Tea Party mainstream's racism and bigotry.

Well, if you look at this site today, you'll see that there've been no entries since late October 2010! And the photo gallery, all old stuff, I think is pathetically weak. C'mon guys, can't you do better than that?

Could it be that they still can't find any hard supporting evidence, and they're worried that they'll be caught making stuff up? Not that they'd stoop so low, but just saying.

Or could it be that the severe butt kicking they got in the November elections caused them to pause and consider if the constant "Tea Baggers are all racists" schtick had um..... maybe back fired?

Or could the Left's "New Civility" in the wake of the Tuscon shootings have given them pause? Nah. The web site's still up. Just in a "holding pattern".

I wouldn't assume that the left have "given up and slithered away" as far as demonizing the Tea Parties goes. They're just distracted a little by the goings on in places like Wisconsin. Jesse Jackson and Organizing for America (a.k.a Obama's goon squads) are too busy bashing the governor up there to beat up on us right now.

Ah, so much hate and discontent to stir up, and so little time!

But they'll be back. Count on it.

THEREFORE:

THE TEA PARTY IS NOT A RACIST PARTY, PREJUDICED AGAINST BLACKS FOR THE SAKE OF BLACK PEOPLE HAVING MORE MELANIN IN THEIR SKIN.... OR ANY OTHER RACE FOR THAT MATTER, ESPECIALLY WHEN THERE IS A BLACK TEA PARTY CAUCUS AND HERMAN CAIN IS REPPIN' STRONG FOR THE TEA PARTY FOR 2012!

HE AND PALIN MAY RUN TOGETHER ON A TICKET. I WOULD LIKE TO SEE THEM GROW A PAIR AND RUN INDEPENDENT TICKET. THE SAME GOES FOR OTHERS WE'RE CONSIDERING DURING NOMINATION THAT ARE ON THE GOP NOMINATION TABLE: SANTORUM-PAWLENTY AND BOEHNER-RUBIO.

Sirach 40-41

Good News Translation (GNT)

Sirach 40

The Misery of Human Life

¹ Every person has been given a great deal of work to do. A heavy burden lies on all of us from the day of our birth until the day we go back to the earth, the mother of us all.² We are confused and fearful, dreading the day of our death. ³⁻⁴ all of us from the king on his splendid throne wearing royal robes and a crown, to the humblest person dressed in burlap and living in poverty.⁵ All through our lives we meet anger, jealousy, and trouble. Things disturb us; we live with furious conflicts and with the fear of death. Even when we go to bed, we think up new troubles in our sleep.⁶ We get little rest, if any at all. When we sleep, it is as if we were awake, disturbed by our imaginations. If we dream that we are running from an enemy,⁷ just as we are about to be caught,^[a] we wake up and are relieved to find there is nothing to be afraid of.

⁸ Here is what all creatures, both human and animal, must face (but it is seven times worse for sinners):⁹ death, violence, conflict, murder, disaster, famine, sickness, epidemic.¹⁰ All these things were created because of the wicked; they are the ones who have caused destruction.^[b]¹¹ Everything that comes from the earth goes back to the earth, just as all water flows into the sea.

The Results of Evil

¹² Nothing that comes from bribery or injustice will last, but the effects of loyalty will remain forever.¹³ Wealth that has been obtained dishonestly is like a stream that runs full during a thunderstorm,¹⁴ tumbling rocks along as it flows, but then suddenly goes dry.^[c]¹⁵ The children of ungodly people will not leave large families; they are like plants trying to take root on rock,¹⁶ like reeds along a river bank, withering^[d] before any other plant.¹⁷ Acts of kindness and charity are as lasting as eternity.^[e]

The Joys of Human Life

¹⁸ Being independently wealthy or working for a living â ” both can make life pleasant, but it is better to find a treasure.

¹⁹ Your name can be preserved if you have children or if you establish a city, but finding Wisdom is a better way.

Owning livestock and orchards will make you famous,^[f] but it is better to have a wife you love.^[g]

²⁰ Wine and music can make you happy, but a happy marriage^[h] is even better.

²¹ Flutes and harps make fine music, but a pleasant voice is better than either.

²² Gracefulness and beauty please the eye, but not as much as new growth in the spring.

²³ You can't go wrong with a good friend or neighbor, but an intelligent wife is^[i] better than either.

²⁴ Relatives and helpers are good to have in times of trouble, but it will be an even greater help if you have made a practice of giving to the poor.

25 Gold and silver provide security, but good advice is better.

26 Wealth and strength give confidence, but the fear of the Lord can give you even greater confidence. When you fear the Lord you need nothing more; it is all the support you need.27 The fear of the Lord is like a rich garden of blessings; you could not want a more glorious shelter.

Begging

28 My child, don't live the life of a beggar; it is better to die than to beg.29 If you have to depend on someone else for your food, you are not really living your own life. You pollute yourself by accepting food from another. Begging is torture to the soul of any sensitive person.30 A shameless person can make begging sound sweet, but something inside him burns.

Sirach 41

Death

1 Death! The very thought of it is bitter to someone who is prosperous, living peacefully with his possessions, free of worries, and still able to enjoy his food.

2 Death! Its sentence is welcome to someone living in poverty, with failing health, very old, burdened with worries, blind, and without hope.3

3 Do not be afraid of death's decree. Remember that it came to those before you and will come to those after you.4 The Lord has decreed it for every living creature. Who are you to object to what the Most High wishes? In the world of the dead no one will care whether you lived ten years, a hundred, or a thousand.

The Fate of the Wicked

5 The children of sinners, brought up in ungodly surroundings, turn out to be hateful people.6 They will lose whatever they inherit, and their own descendants will live in permanent disgrace.7 The children will put the blame for their disgrace on their ungodly parents.

8 You are doomed, you irreligious people who have abandoned the Law of the Most High God.9 When you have children, disaster will strike them and you will be left with nothing but sorrow. There will be great joy whenever you stumble,10 and even after your death you will be cursed.11 What comes into being from nothing will return to nothing; so it will be with the godless, doomed to extinction.

11 A person's body amounts to nothing, but a good reputation will last forever.¹² Protect your reputation; it will outlive you and last longer than a thousand treasures of gold.¹³ A good life lasts only so long, but a good reputation will last forever.

A Sense of Decency

¹⁴ My children, do as I teach you and live at peace. Wisdom that is not expressed is like a treasure that has been hidden—both are useless.¹⁵ A person who covers up his foolishness is better than one who keeps his wisdom to himself.

¹⁶ My children, listen and I will teach you the circumstances when it is proper to be ashamed.^[p] Sometimes it is entirely out of place.

¹⁷ Before your parents, be ashamed of immoral behavior.

Before a ruler or an important person, be ashamed of a lie.

¹⁸ Before a judge, be ashamed of criminal behavior.

Before a public assembly, be ashamed of breaking the law.

Before a friend or partner, be ashamed of dishonesty.

¹⁹ Before your neighbors, be ashamed of theft.

Be ashamed of breaking a promise,^[q]

of leaning on the dinner table with your elbows, of stinginess when you are asked for something,

²⁰ of not returning a greeting, of staring at a prostitute,

²¹ of turning down a relative's request, of depriving someone of what is rightly his,

of staring at another man's wife,

²² of playing around with his slave woman (keep away from her bed!)

of insulting your friends, of following up your gifts with criticism,

²³ of betraying secrets.

BREAKING NEWS UPDATE: Fox News Channel Doesn’t Mention Racial Component of Milwaukee State Fair Melee, Neither Does the Rest of MSM A Fox News Report about the melee by hundreds of black youth at the Wisconsin State Fair in Milwaukee failed to mention that the whole episode was based upon racism from those blacks against whites. This is blatant RACISM, since reporting on a subject that has at its core racism, but not reporting it, doesn’t give justice to the white victims of those attacks. The MSM may have blocked the truth this time, but whites and others ARE paying attention.

Courageous Milwaukee Aldermen Bob Donovan and Joe Duzik Issue Statement Demanding Blacks Take Back Control Over Their Youth On August 5th, 2011, Aldermen Bob Donovan and Joe Duzik issued the following statement entitled “We’re Reaping the Harvest We’ve Sown”, in which they call upon the black community to start taking more responsibility for its actions:

As elected officials, we are shocked and concerned about the senseless violence displayed by the large mob outside State Fair Park last night. On behalf of our city, we apologize to the victims and good patrons who endured or witnessed such horrific behavior.

Sadly, what transpired near State Fair Park last night is only the most recent mob riot spawned by a culture of violence that has been brewing in Milwaukee for some time.

And let’s face it, it also has much to do with a deteriorating African American culture in our city.

Are large groups of Hispanics or Hmong going out in large mobs and viciously attacking whites?

No.

We are reaping the harvest that we’ve sown.

How so?

There are repercussions for the staggering illegitimacy rate in our African American community.

There are repercussions for having little to no positive male involvement in the lives of African American children.

There are repercussions for single-parent homes where children aren’t properly supervised, and where they aren’t held responsible for their actions.

There are repercussions for a staggering, decades-long near 50% unemployment rate for African American males in our city.

There are repercussions for having a failing public school system, and an outdated juvenile justice system.

There are repercussions for having one of the highest teen pregnancy rates in the U.S., and for having kids raising kids.

The community was shocked when the violent mob of African American youths attacked white people in Kilbourn Reservoir Park on July 3. Then, a few eyebrows were raised at the F-bombs and shocking disregard and disrespect for Milwaukee police officers shown by a large and unruly group of African Americans at N. Richards St. and W. North Ave. last Saturday night.

And now this horrific mob violence near State Fair Park.

But for those who live in some city neighborhoods, this violence has been like a steady rain for far too many years now. And the reality is this summer it seems we have five or six shootings each and every weekend!

Unfortunately, this behavior is now all too common in some parts of the Milwaukee community.

Our hearts go out to the older generation of African Americans in this city who remember when their community had one of the HIGHEST marriage rates in the city. Sadly, many of these same residents are now scared of their own children and grandchildren.

Although we hope our law enforcement agencies are able to bring some of the thugs who were involved in these attacks to justice, no amount of millions of dollars in government spending or resources is going to truly address this problem.

We can no longer wish this violence would just go away, and we cannot ignore it; we must see it for what it truly is.

We cannot begin to address the underlying causes of the violence without change. We believe that change must come from within the African American community, where new seeds must be sown.

As the NASTY, VILE, OBSCENE, HATE-MONGERING Democrats, Liberals and Progressives (think Socialism leading to Communism) keep using disgusting, reprehensible, unseemly, un-American and totally unacceptably vicious, bombastic language against their opponents, black mobs of racists are and have been attacking whites all across the country recently. The Democrats threatened that this election would be the most racist in history, with NO facts to back this up on Obama's opponents. So, I guess the racism is coming from Democrats, who CONSTANTLY call their opponents "racists" for opposing their Generational Theft activities of Keynesian Obamanomics consisting of MASSIVE SPENDING, CONTINUALLY HIGHER TAXES and UNSUSTAINABLE MONUMENTAL BORROWING, along with unconstitutional and corruption-laden programs and laws. This is their strategy to IMPOSE their insidious form of Socialism on America.

In Milwaukee, Wisconsin, black youth mobs attacked WHITE PEOPLE at the State Fair, where WHITES were PULLED FROM THEIR CARS and assaulted by RACIST BLACK YOUTHS. But this is NOT the first incident of this kind across America in recent months.

"It looked like they were just going after white guys, white people," said Norb Roffers of Wind Lake.

"They were attacking everybody for no reason whatsoever."

"IT WAS 100% RACIAL," claimed Eric, an Iraq war veteran from St. Francis who says young people beat on his car.

"I had a black couple on my right side, and these black kids were running in between all the cars, and they were pounding on my doors and trying to open up doors on my car, and they didn't do one thing to this black couple that was in this car next to us. They just kept walking right past their car. They were looking in everybody's windshield as they were running by, seeing who was white and who was black.
Guarantee it."

"That rated right up there with it. When I saw the amount of kids coming down the road, all I kept thinking was, 'THERE'S NOT ENOUGH COPS TO HANDLE THIS.' THERE'S NOT WAY. IT WOULD HAVE TAKEN THE NATIONAL GUARD TO CONTROL THE NUMBER OF KIDS THAT WERE COMING OFF THE ROAD. THEY WERE KNOCKING PEOPLE OFF THEIR MOTORCYCLES."

An anonymous witness said, "IT WAS LIKE A SCENE YOU NEEDED THE NATIONAL GUARD."

"To me, it looked like a scene out of a movie," explained the anonymous witness. "I HAVE NOT SEEN ANYTHING LIKE THIS IN MY LIFE. IT WAS A HUGE MOB..."

"As we got closer to the street, we looked up the road, and we saw a quite a bit of commotion going on and there was A GUY LAYING IN THE ROAD," Roffers explained. "HE WASN'T EVEN MOVING. Finally a car pulled up. They stopped right next to the guy, and it looked like someone was going to help him. We were kind of stuck, because we couldn't cross. Traffic was going through, and we were like 'Let's get the heck out of here.' The light turned, and I GOT ATTACKED FROM BEHIND. I JUST GOT HIT IN THE HEAD REAL HARD. I'm like, 'WHAT THE HECK IS GOING ON HERE.'"

"People were saying he was on a bike," Roffers further explained. "THEY TORE HIM OFF HIS BIKE AND BEAT ON HIM. We were walking to the west on Schlinger. I was watching behind me a lot more diligently, making sure there wasn't anybody coming to get us anymore."

One woman told police that she was just sitting in her car with a window down when some teenagers REACHED THROUGH HER WINDOW AND STARTED ATTACKING HER.

"I think once we get all the info in it'll be just like that, like what happened in Riverwest," said the police sergeant.

One eyewitness, a concession worker, told the Journal Sentinel that LARGE GROUPS OF AFRICAN-American YOUTHS RAN THROUGH THE MIDWAY AREA, KNOCKING OVER YOUNG CHILDREN and adults, disrupting Midway rides and tearing signs up.

It looks like some of these youths are real savages, as they KNOCKED DOWN LITTLE DEFENSELESS WHITE CHILDREN, their EVIL and DISGUSTING RACISM revealing itself to all.

"I have never seen anything like it," the worker said. "IT WAS MOB MENTALITY."

The melee began at 7 p.m. "All of a sudden a wave of kids were running through the Midway," the worker explained.

"We just heard this roar start," a 34-year-old Muskego man said. "It was almost like you're at a football game and a touchdown is scored and you just hear the crowd start ROARING."

These BLOOD-THIRSTY RACISTS wanted white blood spilt and their hatred revealed to all.

"I'VE NEVER SEEN ANYTHING LIKE THIS IN MY LIFE. There were 100s – like 200 to 300 would be my guess. It wasn't like 10 or 20. There was definitely a fight going on in the middle. There were so many people you couldn't see who was fighting. THERE WAS JUST THIS BIG GROUP THAT KEPT GROWING AND CHANTING, 'FIGHT. FIGHT. FIGHT.'"

"That lasted for one to two minutes. Then when security showed up blowing some whistles, all of this mob started running. It was like a herd of cattle," he said.

"I couldn't see who was fighting but THERE WAS AN INCREDIBLE MOB MENTALITY," another eyewitness, who was with his daughter, said.

"The scariest part is that we were trapped between the midway and the exits by the mob, we had no way out. It was very frightening," the eyewitness explained. "It was glaringly obvious something was going to happen long before it did."

"Then groups of KIDS BEGAN SURGING. ALL RUNNING AT CARS," one witness said. "Some kids ran up on the hood of the car in front of us, bounced on it and jumped off. That guy looked like he got out of the car. When he came back HIS FACE WAS BLOODY."

"It was scary and it was confusing," she explained "We didn't know what was happening. WE DIDN'T SEE ANY LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER."

"We were in the Midway and it was very crowded," said Rick Pries of Milwaukee. "While the kids were waiting in line I noticed LARGE GROUPS OF BLACK MALES running through the very crowded Midway, yelling there was a fight," Pries said. "There were several of these large groups all converging to this location."

“There was very little security. And the few that were there WOULD HAVE BEEN OVERWHELMED BY THE SHEER NUMBER OF TROUBLEMAKERS,” Pries explained.

“I was planning to take my kids to the fair tonight,” the concession worker said. “I definitely won’t now.” Back in July of this year a group of racist blacks yelled, “Kill all the white people.”...a group of at least 60-70 African-American youth marched down one of the side streets (W. Thrush) to the 4 lane main drag (Sheridan). They were yelling threats to white residents. Things such as we need to kill all the white people around here. They were physically intimidating anyone calling for help from the police. They were surrounding cars. Cars on the main drag had to slam on their brakes to either avoid the youth blocking not only all four lanes, but a large section of the side street as well. Fights were breaking out among them. They were rushing residents who looked out their doors, going on to porches, yelling threats to people calling the police for help.” – Eyewitness Paul Wilkinson, president of the Altamont Park Neighborhood Association, wrote the following account in the Peoria chronicle.

One of the victim of the racists was Krzysztof Wilkowski, who told The Chicago Tribune he was hit so hard in the head with a baseball bat that it knocked the motor scooter helmet he was wearing off.

Peoria Pundit wrote. “That means this is true and it’s an outrage. I hope Mr. Jackson of the local NAACP reads this and responds. That will be interesting. THIS IS NOTHING MORE THAN HATE AND RACE WAR AGAINST WHITES.”

In Philadelphia, Penn., recently “black youth flash mobs” attacked stores and white people.

And in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, back in July of this year, a black youth mob attacked and stomped on a group of whites.

“They just said ‘OH, WHITE GIRL BLEEDS A LOT,’” said Perry, 22, who was attacked at Kilbourn Reservoir Park.

Those interviewed explained the attack was unprovoked.

“I saw people dancing and I figured they were just having a good time,” said Jessica Bublitiz.

Just minutes later Bublitiz saw a male friend get hit in the temple and then fall down.

“Within 30 seconds to a minute, bottles were flying and people started getting punched. I was in shock. I thought, ‘Really? Is this really happening?’ I was on the ground, people were trying to get into my pockets, I could feel their hands but I held on to my cellphone and my wallet,” said Zajackowski.

Emily Mowrer saw her friends beaten and punched and full beer bottles thrown at them, with her boyfriend being punched, also.

“I saw some of my friends on the ground getting beat pretty severely. They got away with one of my friends’ bikes. Some people had their wallets stolen,” said Mowrer. “It didn’t seem like it was a mugging – it seemed like an attack. Like they weren’t after anything – just violence.”

In December 25, 2010, a married couple, Federico Freire, 27, a Marine home on leave from Afghanistan, and his wife, Kaylin, were attacked outside a movie theater Christmas night after asking a group of teens to be quiet during a movie. A crowd of about 100 people began to form, and when Freire looked to his wife, he saw a young male with his shirt off PUNCH HER IN THE FACE, knocking her out.

This is how the New Black Panther Party teaches young black how to hate white people. The Obama Administration REFUSED to give justice to whites concerning Party members showing up at a polling place intimidating whites and calling them racial slurs.

The virally racist New Black Panther Party teaches racism against whites, but Obama does NOTHING about it.

And Barack Obama sat in a black supremacist church that teaches subtle racism against whites.

Obama’s “former” church preaches subtle racism against Jews and whites, lifting up the racist Louis Farrakhan, who is both antisemitic and racist against white people.

Barack Obama’s Racist Pastor Jeremiah Wright... by RevSpitz

Here is an article explaining that Asians endure racism from blacks.

“In a fair and peaceful world, racial harassment will be decried without regard to its source. The problem today is that prominent black leaders rule out even the possibility of black racism. Activists like Al

Sharpton and Jesse Jackson intone that racism equals “prejudice plus power,” and that since blacks in America lack power, they are simply not capable of practicing racism against anyone. John Hope Franklin, chair of President Clinton’s race panel, angrily insists that racism is something suffered, not dished out, by blacks. Many black professors, writers, polemicists, and politicians repeat the same mantra. What might appear to be black racism, writes syndicated columnist Leonard Pitts, actually boils down not to racism but to acts of crime and rudeness from the perpetrators, and tough luck for the recipients.

“Rationalizers of black racism ignore the fact that identical actions inflicted by whites would be universally decried as intolerable. Ultimately, their arguments simply grease the skids for further traumatizing of “unlucky” victims. And to real-life casualties of racial animosity, motivation is not especially relevant. Loss is loss. Pain is pain.” – Ying Ma, who immigrated to the United States in 1985
Here is an article explaining how the Liberal Media gives black racism a pass.

"A sycophant liberal media giving black racist comedians a pass is of little consequence. But, when the liberal media gives the black Attorney General of the United States a pass for his racism, Houston we have a serious problem.

"We the People are challenged by insidious enemies within; a racially bias Obama administration and liberal media; both hell-bent on 'fundamentally transforming America' with the implementation of their progressive/socialist agenda. They MUST be defeated.

"As Vice Chair of The Campaign to Defeat Obama in 2012, I sincerely covet your support. We are gathering 'One Million People To Defeat Barack Obama 2012.' Please join us!" – Lloyd Marcus

And do you remember what Black Liberation Theology is? It was taught at Barack Obama's church of two decades.

Here is what Barack Obama's "former" church is about, the touted James Cone revealing the nasty racism the church teaches:

Cone: "Black theology refuses to accept a God who is not identified totally with the goals of the black community. If God is not for us and against white people, then he is a murderer, and we had better kill him. The task of black theology is to kill Gods who do not belong to the black community. Black theology will accept only the love of God which participates in the destruction of the white enemy. What we need is the divine love as expressed in Black Power, which is the power of black people to destroy their oppressors here and now by any means at their disposal.

"Is Black Liberation Theology helping? Wright's liberation theology has stirred up resentment, backlash, Obama defections, separatism, white guilt, caricature, and offense. Preaching to a congregation of middle-class blacks about their victim identity invites a distorted view of reality, fosters nihilism, and divides rather than unites." – Anthony B. Bradely

And this article says: Market Crash—Brace For A Global ‘Reboot’ and A War ”I think Treasurys are perceived still as a safe haven because everybody knows the U.S. has an endless ability to print money. The interest will be paid,” said Mark Faber, editor and publisher of the Boom, Doom and Gloom Report. “The trouble is that governments can default in two ways. Either they just stop paying the interest and there is a debt restructuring, like Argentina went through; or they just pay the interest and the principle eventually, in a worthless currency. That’s the way the U.S. will likely do it.”

“You have a computer. Occasionally the computer will crash and you have to reboot it. That will happen to the global economy. Before this happens there will be much more money printing because basically the central banks are willing to do that,” he said. “By printing money, problems are not solved, but they can be postponed, and they become larger. It’s like the recession in 2001. Had there not been massive money printing, it would have been steeper than what we had, but equally, we would have avoided probably the financial crash in 2008.”

“The next time we have a global economic crisis, it will be much worse than 2008. Before this happens there will be money printing and there will be war. The whole system will collapse,” he said. “That’s why I’m advising people that they have to think it through. In a total collapse you don’t want to own government bonds and cash.”

“Equities—they don’t perform well, but at least you have the ownership of companies. Precious metals in that environment do relatively well. And of course, oil would do well if there was a war.”

Obama's Approval Has Dropped 36 Points Among Hispanics, Says Gallup

(CNSNews.com) - Only 49 percent of Hispanic Americans said last week they approve of the job Barack Obama is doing as president, according to the Gallup poll. That is down 36 points from the high of 85 percent that Obama's approval hit among Hispanics in the Gallup poll in the spring of 2009, his first year as president.

Obama's approval among Hispanics hit an all-time low of 45 percent in the last week of July, according to Gallup. It has rebounded modestly since then.

Obama's declining approval among Hispanics came before the administration announced a new policy on Thursday that will allow Homeland Security Secretary Janet Napolitano to suspend deportation proceedings against illegal aliens if she does not deem their cases sufficiently serious to require enforcement of the immigration law or if she believes their continued presence in the United States will not be a threat to national security or public safety.

ALLEN WEST: I'M HERE TO LEAD BLACKS OFF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY 'PLANTATION'

- Posted on August 18, 2011 at 9:48am by  Billy Hallowell
- Print »
- Email »

GOP Rep. Allen West believes that the Democratic Party is akin to a modern-day “plantation.”

In an interview on Wednesday night’s “O’Reilly Factor,” he told guest host Laura Ingraham that he is the “modern-day Harriet Tubman” and that he wants to lead fellow African Americans away from the the “21st century plantation.”

West made extremely bold statements throughout the interview, apparently undeterred by any negative response he might receive from the Democratic Party or from fellow African Americans. Commenting on anger that was seen at a Congressional Black Caucus (of which West is the only GOP member) town hall meeting in Detroit this week, he said:

“The people on that plantation are upset because they’ve been disregarded, disrespected and their concerns are not cared about...I’m here as the modern-day Harriet Tubman to kind of lead people on the underground railroad away from that plantation into a sense of sensibility.”

West went on to dismiss some African American leaders as “nothing more than overseers over that plantation” and he stated his belief that white liberals have relied upon people like Jesse Jackson and Al Sharpton to support Democratic policies. These individuals, he claims, have failed to addresses important matters. West also discussed recent flash mobs (as per the Huffington Post):

The freshman Republican said the fact that black leaders have done nothing in response to the recent spate of flash mobs in U.S. cities is proof of their disconnect from the black community. This summer has been marked by flash mobs in several cities, including Philadelphia and Cleveland, and are thought to be fueled by growing discontent among unemployed urban youth.

He also went on to say that Republicans have not done well drawing black voters into the conservative movement. That said, he explained that there is an opportunity for conservatives to reach African Americans by connecting with them on the issues of “individual responsibility and accountability, faith and family, [and] hard work ethic.”

Conspiracy theorist Janeane Garofalo comes up with another whopper

<http://www.glennbeck.com/content/videos/?uri=channels/451373/1450736>

Friday, Aug 19, 2011 at 2:31 PM EDT

There's no fooling Janeane Garofalo, she's just too sharp and on top of things to get anything past her. So, it's no surprise that she uncovered the real reason Herman Cain is running for President – someone is paying him so Republicans can say they aren't racist!

"You know what, you can fool some of the people some of the time but you can't fool Jeanine Garofalo any of the time," Pat joked.

"Before anybody else, she saw how racist the Tea Party were, that they were just a bunch of red neck Hicks who were racist and hate black people, all blacks for no apparent reason. She saw that. She saw right through that. The movement of millions of people, she saw them all. Wow. I mean, she's something else. And now she sees this whole hoax on Herman Cain, which is amazing," Pat said. What did Garofalo say?

"Because he deflects the racism that is inherent in the Republican Party, the conservative movement, the Tea Party certainly. In the last 30 years the Republican Party has been moving more and more to the right but also race-baiting more, gay-baiting more, religion-baiting more. But Herman Cain I feel like is being paid by somebody to be involved and to run for president saying, you can't be racist, it's a black guy, it's a black asking for Obama to be impeached or it's a black guy who is a Tea Party guy. And I feel like, well, wouldn't that suit the purposes of whomever Astroturfs these things, whether it be the Koch Brothers or Grover Norquist or anything," she said.

You got us!

"Grover Norquist is, he's diabolical," Pat said with a laugh.

"He's the world's first trillionaire. And he controls the strings of virtually everyone on this planet. That's how powerful the man is. You don't want to mess with him." (editor's note: none of those facts are true – its sarcasm)

Janeane Garofalo's Racist Rant About Herman Cain and The GOP

Posted by: Bill Knowles - August 18, 2011

Whether you like Herman Cain or not, this should make your blood boil. This is a very sad commentary on the far-left if this is how they really think. Can you just imagine if a Republican commentator said these things about a Democrat?

This is from an email sent from Herman Cain's campaign:

"Former-comedian-turned-political-rabble-rouser Janeane Garofalo has unleashed her vitriolic verbal assault on Herman Cain this week, telling disgraced talk show host Keith Olbermann that the Republican presidential candidate either suffered from Stockholm Syndrome or was paid by Republican interests to run for president.

Janeane Garofalo

The full transcripts of her remarks on Countdown with Keith Olbermann:

GAROFALO: In this presidential race, because he deflects the racism that is inherent in the Republican Party, the conservative movement, the Tea Party, certainly, over the last 30 years the Republican Party has moved more and more to the right, but also race-baiting more, gay-baiting more and religion-baiting more; but Herman Cain, I feel like, is being paid by somebody to be involved and to run for president, so that you can go, 'Oh, yeah. They can't be racist! It's a black guy, it's a black guy who is asking for Obama to be impeached.' Or, 'It's a black guy who's anti-Muslim.' Or, 'It's a black guy who is a Tea Party guy.' And I feel like, well, wouldn't that suit the purposes of whomever astroturfs these things-- whether it be the Koch brothers, or ALEC, or Grover Norquist or any anything. Or it could even be Karl Rove. Let's get Herman Cain involved so it deflects the obvious racism of our Republican Party.

OLBERMANN: Well I mean, would that be separate of his delusions of grandeur, or were they just taking advantage of it...?

GAROFALO: He's a business man!

OLBERMANN: He's a business man, ultimately!

GAROFALO: Whoever pays him and he may have a touch of Stockholm Syndrome. There may be a touch of Stockholm Syndrome in there, because any time I see a person of color or a female in the Republican Party or the conservative movement or the Tea Party, I wonder how they could be trying to curry favor with the oppressors. Is it Stockholm Syndrome or does somebody pay them?

Read the full story and see the video (if you can stomach it) at Human Events.

Sadly, this is not the first time Ms. Garofalo has spewed such hatred about conservatives and the concerned patriots of the Tea Party movement. In 2009, she called members of the citizens' movement, "a bunch of teabagging rednecks" and said our opposition to President Obama is "about hating a black man in the White House. This is racism straight up."

Help send a clear message to Janeane Garofalo that you are supporting Herman Cain because you believe in the content of his ideas and his character. Email Keith Olbermann's network, CurrentTV, and let them know how you feel: feedback@current.com.

Tell her you want Herman Cain in the White House because you're ready for mature leadership rooted in common sense solutions and proven results. Forward this email to 10 fellow patriots and let them know that liberty-loving conservatives everywhere are under attack from the far Left in America!"

Mr Marcus puts this racist in his place!

I find it amazing how blind you are regarding YOUR racism. You call millions of Americans, many who voted for Obama, "obviously anti-Black" because they disapprove of his socialistic agenda . So, because we have a black president, any and all criticism is automatically deemed to be racist. Last time I checked, this is still America where folks have a right to disagree regardless of the president's skin color.

It always amazes me, whenever there is any criticism leveled at Obama, the term 'racism' ALWAYS comes up. I really think the Democrats constant use of the word racism, is a projection of their own feelings, in that, all the programs they come up with for the poor, is a code word for minorities. They honestly seem to believe that these programs are necessary, because Democrats think and treat minorities like they are little children, sub-intelligent and unable to care for themselves. If you look up the definition of racism, their actions towards minorities is classic racism. Conservatives, on the other hand, feel that all people are created equal and should be given a chance to thrive and do for themselves.

Coburn: Obama's 'Intent is to Create Dependency Because it Worked So Well For Him'

AP

By Real Clear Politics

As reported by Oklahoma's newspaper "Tulsa World," U.S. Senator Tom Coburn (R-Okla) held a town hall event where he gave his unfiltered thoughts on how he thinks President Obama views the United States.

Responding to a man who asked if Obama "wants to destroy America," Coburn said the president is "very bright" and loves his country but has a political philosophy that is "goofy and wrong."

Obama's "intent is not to destroy, his intent is to create dependency because it worked so well for him," he said.

Arizona sheriff promises Obama-eligibility probe

Lawman responds to request from local tea-party leaders

MARICOPA COUNTY, Ariz. – At the request of tea party leaders in Arizona, famed Maricopa County Sheriff Joe Arpaio has promised to investigate the validity of Barack Obama's purported long-form birth certificate in a determination of the president's eligibility for the county's 2012 election ballot.

Tea party leaders in Surprise, Ariz., met with Arpaio and WND senior reporter Jerome

Corsi Thursday morning to express concern that a fake birth certificate would be used to document the president's eligibility to run in Maricopa County, where Arpaio is the chief law enforcement officer.

Arpaio's tough crackdown on illegal immigration has made him a national figure.

At a one-hour meeting in Arpaio's office, the tea party leaders presented the sheriff with a petition that was drafted after a speech by Corsi the previous night. Corsi, author of a best-selling book challenging Obama's eligibility, "Where's the Birth Certificate?", presented evidence from numerous computer-imaging specialists who believe the document presented by the White House April 27 is not authentic.

Autographed copies of Jerome Corsi's "Where's the Birth Certificate?" are available only from the WND Superstore

At the gathering Wednesday night of more than 325 people, sponsored by the Surprise Tea Party Patriots of Surprise, Ariz., and the Liberty Through Action organization, 242 signatures were gathered on the petition, which requested that Arpaio begin a criminal investigation.

The petition calls for the sheriff to investigate the possibility that a crime has been committed against the Arizona secretary of state, who must decide whether to put Obama's name on the ballot.

Arpaio told the tea party leaders the complaint is within his jurisdiction, and he will be forced to investigate. He said he expects political pressure, but he pointed out that as the chief law enforcement officer of Maricopa County, he's taken an oath to respond to citizens who approach him about enforcing the law.

Maricopa County Sheriff's Office Lt. Justin Griffin confirmed to WND that Arpaio is "waiting to receive all the documentation and all the investigative material from Dr. Jerry Corsi, and then he will look into the matter and compare it to the Arizona revised statutes."

The petition states:

We the undersigned citizens are respectfully requesting that you initiate a criminal investigation under the authority of A.R.S. 13-2407 A-C, Into the alleged Certificate of Live Birth, File Number 151 61 10641, State of Hawaii, for Barack H. Obama II. The document was released on April 27, 2011, by the White House to the press and posted on the White House website and distributed and downloaded by computer throughout the nation, including within Maricopa County. Reportedly, several experts have declared the document to be a forgery. Reportedly, the file number may be out of sequence; "THE" appears to be misspelled as "TXE" in the State Registrar's stamp; there appears to be a "smiley face" in the "A" in the Alvin T. Onaka, State Registrar stamp; reportedly the document has computer generated, multiple layers and is not a copy of a single layered document; font types appear to vary throughout the document, reportedly, not possible with a vintage 1961 mechanical typewriter. We urge you to continue to support the Rule of Law and to investigate and determine whether the alleged Certificate of Live Birth, for Barack H. Obama II, File Number 151 61 10641, is a forgery or an authentic document. A.R.S. 13-2407 A-C, declares that tampering with a public record is a class 6 felony. "I think what we've seen is history created today," said Surprise tea party leader Brian Reilly. "This is probably the first time in this country that citizens have gone to a sheriff over a national issue."

Reilly said he's "extremely grateful" that Arpaio will look into the matter is "hopeful that this will achieve what we're expecting to achieve on this issue, which is the truth."

"We're trying to get to the truth," he emphasized.

OTHER PROBLEMS PERPETUATED BY CERTIFICATE.....

Declare Jihad -> Get Promoted. Question Obama -> Get Convicted / Discharged

The Army and Air Force are right on top of things if you question Obama's birth certificate, legitimacy to be President, and refuse to deploy on what you consider to be orders from a man Constitutionally illegitimate to be Commander in Chief

According to the AP, the Air Force is about to discharge Staff Sgt. Daryn Moran "a hero of the so-called birther movement who refused to report to duty in Germany for a few days earlier this month because he doubts President Barack Obama's citizenship."

I wonder how many birthers even heard of this so-called "hero".

"Although the 41-year-old Nebraska man refused to report to duty and had called for Obama's arrest in statements on websites, several other things contributed to his discharge, including his opposition to Obama's decision to allow gays to serve openly in the military."

So, you can be discharged for the things you say?!? Wait a minute; it's worse. He even had a problem with Muslim Terrorists — the horror.

Moran was an ophthalmology technician with the 86th Airlift Wing at Ramstein Air Force Base in Germany, where he had been stationed since October 2010. He was put on leave sometime earlier this year after some of his co-workers at the eye clinic were bothered by comments he made about the repeal of "don't ask, don't tell" and about Muslim terrorists and how he thought Obama was connected to Muslims. One of the doctors at the clinic was Muslim.

Another Army officer found himself behind bars for being a birther and refusing to go to Afghanistan:

Earlier this year, an Army doctor who disobeyed deployment orders because he doubted Obama's birth records served five months of a six-month prison sentence for refusing to go to Afghanistan. Terry Lakin, of Greeley, Colo., pleaded guilty in December to disobeying orders and was convicted of missing a flight that would have gotten him to his eventual deployment. Lakin was tried at Fort Meade.

In the second case, the Army likely did its job... ...assuming years down the road we don't find that Obama lied. He certainly hasn't lied about anything else (tongue firmly in cheek).

Unfortunately, the sad results of the hypocrisy in the U.S. Armed Forces, Bush Administration, and the Obama Administration resulted in the deaths of 12 soldiers, a civilian employee, and the wounding 32 others. Unlike Lakin and Moran, Major Nidal Hasan, that committed the Fort Hood Shootings in 2009 received the Red Carpet Treatment.

In 2001, Hasan attended the Dar al-Hijrah mosque in the Falls Church area. The mosque was also attended during this period by two September 11 hijackers (Nawaf al-Hazmi and Hani Hanjour) and by Ahmed Omar Abu Ali (who was later convicted of providing material support to al-Qaeda and conspiracy to assassinate President George W. Bush).

Anwar al-Awlaki was the mosque's imam at the time. Hasan reportedly has deep respect for al-Awlaki's teachings.

But that's nothing to worry about, let's hire him on at Walter Reed to complete his residency in 2003.

At graduate school, other students' projects focused on topics such as water contamination; Hasan's project dealt with "whether the war on terror is a war against Islam."

Nothing to see here.

His business cards contains the acronyms SoA(SWT). According to investigators, the acronym "SoA" is commonly used on jihadist websites as an acronym for "Soldier of Allah" or "Servant of Allah", and SWT is commonly used by Muslims to mean "subhanahu wa ta'ala" (Glory to God). The cards neglected to mention his military rank.[47]

Hasan was investigated by the FBI after intelligence agencies intercepted at least 18 e-mails between him and al-Awlaki between December 2008 and June 2009. Even before the contents of the e-mails were revealed, terrorism expert Jarret Brachman said that Hasan's contacts with al-Awlaki should have raised "huge red flags". According to Brachman, al-Awlaki is a major influence on radical English-speaking jihadis internationally. In one of the e-mails, Hasan wrote al-Awlaki: "I can't wait to join you" in the afterlife. Hasan also asked al-Awlaki when jihad is appropriate, and whether it is permissible if innocents are killed in a suicide attack.[62] In the months before the shooting, Hasan increased his contacts with al-Awlaki to discuss how to transfer funds abroad without coming to the attention of law authorities.

How nice. Let's promote him!

Hasan was promoted from Captain to Major in May 2009. Before being transferred to Fort Hood in July 2009, he received a poor performance evaluation.

So, the hypocrisy is clear.

If you are a Protestant, Catholic, Agnostic or Atheist, if you talk about Obama's Birth Certificate and legitimacy to be President, if you have a problem with repealing Don't Ask Don't Tell, and if you complain about Muslim Terrorists and the lack of Muslims decrying such terrorism, you'll be discharged.

If you are a Jew-hating jihad fomenting Muslim, you'll get promoted.

Then, when you kill 13 people and injure 32 others, the Media will come to your defense and the government will minimize your Islamic Terrorist bent and ties.

The scariest part? How many other Jihadists are being coddled in the military?

(Can't wait to see how many declare the Rockin' Conservative to be a birther)

Watergate's 'Deep Throat' garage gets historical marker

Arguably the most important parking structure in U.S. history, the Rosslyn, Va., underground garage where Washington Post reporter Bob Woodward met the mysterious Watergate source known as "Deep Throat" has received a historical marker.

"Deep Throat" turned out to be W. Mark Felt, deputy director of the FBI, who revealed himself in 2005. He died in 2008 at age 95.

CAPTION

By Saul Loeb, AFP/Getty Images

Woodward rendezvoused with Felt several times late at night at stall D32, in a dark corner. Felt aided Woodward and his co-author, Carl Bernstein, in their investigation of a 1972 break-in at Democratic Party headquarters at the Watergate Hotel, which led to the resignation of President Richard Nixon in August 1974.

The marker, created by Arlington County, went up last Friday, ARL now reports, although it states it was "erected in 2008"; that's when it was initially approved.

The marker states:

Mark Felt, second in command at the FBI, met Washington Post reporter Bob Woodward here in this parking garage to discuss the Watergate scandal. Felt provided Woodward information that exposed the Nixon administration's obstruction of the FBI's Watergate investigation. He chose the garage as an anonymous secure location. They met at this garage six times between October 1972 and November 1973. The Watergate scandal resulted in President Nixon's resignation in 1974. Woodward's managing editor, Howard Simons, gave Felt the code name "Deep Throat." Woodward's promise not to reveal his source was kept until Felt announced his role as Deep Throat in 2005.

But that's also not quite accurate, an astute blogger points out. W. Joseph Campbell notes on Media Myth Alert that the marker mischaracterizes what Felt actually did.

The marker, which is titled "Watergate Investigation," says: "Felt provided Woodward information that exposed the Nixon administration's obstruction of the FBI's Watergate investigation."

Not so.

Such evidence would have been so damaging and explosive that it surely would have forced Nixon to resign the presidency well before he did, in August 1974.

Felt didn't have that sort of information — or (less likely) didn't share it with Woodward.

As described in Woodward's book about Felt, The Secret Man, the FBI official provided or confirmed a good deal of piecemeal evidence about the scandal as it unfolded. ...

BECK BLASTS BOEHNER AFTER REP. WALSH SAYS HOUSE MEMBERS BANNED FROM ISRAEL EVENT

<http://www.glennbeck.com/content/videos/?uri=channels/451373/1449542>

- Posted on August 18, 2011 at 5:25pm by  Madeleine Morgenstern

- Email »

Glenn Beck had some strong words for House Speaker John Boehner (R-Ohio) Thursday after Rep. Joe Walsh said a group of congressmen that wanted to attend next week's Restoring Courage event in Israel were barred from doing so by the House Ethics Committee.

Speaking on Beck's radio program, the Illinois Republican said the International Israel Allies Caucus Foundation was going to sponsor a mission for several representatives to go to Israel, meet with officials and join Beck at the event.

"Lo and behold, ethics yesterday said — did not approve the trip," Walsh said. "They said your portion of the fact-finding mission had the appearance of a political event, they told me. They said there wasn't enough meeting time built into the schedule and they identified the Israeli Allies Caucus Foundation as a lobbying group currently lobbying Congress on legislation when, in fact, they're a 501(c)3 charity."*

When reached by phone, Dan Schwager, staff director and chief counsel for the House Ethics Committee told The Blaze confidentiality barred him from discussing the matter.

"We are not permitted to speak about individual matters so I cannot address any of those allegations," Schwager said.

On the air, Beck said he'd heard it was Boehner's office that was not approving members of Congress to attend the event, with 35 representatives at one point planning to attend before being told they'd been rejected by the House and would have to self-fund the trip if they wanted to go.

Beck wondered whether the congressmen were barred because “it is me as someone who holds the Republicans’ feet to the fire” or as retribution for voting against the debt ceiling deal.

“If that’s what’s letting Speaker Boehner stand in the way of people coming to Israel at this critical time — I’m just not sure what Speaker Boehner had in mind there but it’s an interesting policy,” he said.

After he finished speaking with Walsh, Beck turned his next comments directly to Boehner:

“This has been going on now for a couple of weeks and I haven’t said anything because I wanted it to play out in the system, but Speaker Boehner, you should be ashamed of yourself. The Republican Party should be ashamed of themselves. They don’t have to attend my event. Let them come to our biggest ally and the only friend we still have in the Middle East in their hour of need. They don’t have to attend my event, in fact I’ll ban them, does that make you happy? Let Congress come here. You should be ashamed of yourself for playing politics, and that’s what it is Boehner, and you know it.

“There are so many people, good people, that are in the Republican Party trying to fight for common sense values, trying to hold some semblance of the line of America, trying to hold together what little credibility we have overseas, but the Republicans would much rather punish ‘bad Republicans’. Good for you, Speaker Boehner, good for you.”

You can watch Beck’s passionate remarks below:

At press time, The Blaze was unable to reach a representative from Boehner’s office.

Beck noted on radio that those Congressman who were planning on coming were going to pay for the trip out of their own pocket.*

- Approaching Civility \(if Perhaps Falling Short of Eloquence\) in Debate \(January 20, 2011\)
- Times Topic: Health Care Reform

The vote was 245 to 189, with 3 Democrats joining all 242 Republicans in support of the repeal.

Leaders of the Democratic-controlled Senate have said that they will not act on the repeal measure, effectively scuttling it.

While conceding that reality, House Republicans said they would press ahead with their “repeal and replace” strategy. But the next steps will be much more difficult, as they try to forge consensus on alternatives emphasizing “free market solutions” to control health costs and expand coverage.

Even as four House committees begin drafting legislation, Republicans said they would seek other ways to stop the overhaul, by choking off money needed to carry it out and by pursuing legislation to undo specific provisions, like a requirement for most Americans to carry health insurance or face penalties. The law is also under challenge in the federal courts, with the individual coverage requirements fueling a constitutional battle likely to be decided by the Supreme Court.

The House vote was the first stage of a Republican plan to use the party’s momentum coming out of the midterm elections to keep the White House on the defensive, and will be followed by a push to scale back federal spending. In response, the administration struck a more aggressive posture than it had during the campaign to sell the health care law to the public. With many House Democrats from swing districts having lost their seats in November, the remaining Democrats held overwhelmingly together in opposition to the repeal.

On the House floor, the resulting debate was a striking reprise of the one that engulfed Capitol Hill from the spring of 2009 until March 2010, when Mr. Obama signed the health care law.

And while the tone was slightly subdued in the aftermath of the attempted assassination of Representative Gabrielle Giffords in Arizona, the debate showed that the divisions over the law remained as deep as ever.

The three Democrats who crossed the aisle to support the repeal were Representatives Dan Boren of Oklahoma, Mike McIntyre of North Carolina, and Mike Ross of Arkansas, all of whom opposed the law last year.

Ms. Giffords, who had supported the law, remains hospitalized in Arizona and was the only House member who did not vote.

Republicans denounced the law as an intrusion by the government that would prompt employers to eliminate jobs, create an unsustainable entitlement program, saddle states and the federal government with unmanageable costs, and interfere with the doctor-patient relationship. Republicans also said the law would exacerbate the steep rise in the cost of medical services.

“Repeal means paving the way for better solutions that will lower the cost without destroying jobs or bankrupting our government,” the House speaker, John A. Boehner of Ohio, said. “Repeal means keeping a promise. This is what we said we would do.”

Democrats, eager for a second chance to sell the law, trumpeted the benefits that have already taken effect. These include protections for people who would otherwise be denied insurance coverage based on a pre-existing medical condition, the ability for children to stay on their parents' policy until age 26, and new tax breaks for small businesses that provide health coverage to their workers.

Representative John Lewis, Democrat of Georgia, said, "It is unbelievable that with so many people out of work and millions of people uninsured, the first act of this new Congress is to take health care away from people who just got coverage."

The health care law, which Congress approved last year without a single Republican in favor, seeks to extend insurance to more than 30 million people by expanding Medicaid and providing federal subsidies to help lower and middle-income Americans buy private coverage.

Republican leaders said they had not set any timetable for the four committees drafting alternatives to the law. "I don't know that we need artificial deadlines for the committees to act," Mr. Boehner said. "We expect them to act in an efficient way."

Republicans said their package would probably include proposals to allow sales of health insurance across state lines; to help small businesses band together and buy insurance; to limit damages in medical malpractice suits; and to promote the use of health savings accounts, in combination with high-deductible insurance policies.

Republicans also want to help states expand insurance pools for people with serious illnesses. The new law includes such pools, as an interim step until broader insurance coverage provisions take effect in 2014, but enrollment has fallen short of expectations.

Representative Paul Broun, Republican of Georgia, said that allowing people to buy insurance across state lines would “expand choice and competition.” And he said businesses could negotiate better insurance rates if they could join together in “association health plans,” sponsored by trade and professional groups.

But state insurance officials have resisted such proposals, on the ground that they would weaken state authority to regulate insurance and to enforce consumer protections -- a concern shared by Congressional Democrats.

Some Republicans seemed sensitive to accusations that repeal would strip away new patient protections and leave millions of Americans without insurance.

Representative Joe Heck, Republican of Nevada and a physician, said he supported some goals of the new law: “making sure people don’t lose their coverage once they get sick; letting dependent children stay on their parents’ insurance until they turn 26; making sure anyone who wants to buy insurance can purchase a policy, regardless of pre-existing conditions.”

Representative Joe L. Barton, Republican of Texas, said, “There are some things in the new law that we think are worth keeping,” including a procedure for approval of generic versions of expensive biotechnology drugs.

But Mr. Barton and other Republicans returned to a core objection to the law, which they said extends the reach of government too far.

“We believe that you shouldn’t have the federal government mandate that an individual has to have health insurance, whether he or she wants it,” Mr. Barton said. “We want to repeal today so that we can begin to replace tomorrow.”

Representative Allyson Y. Schwartz, Democrat of Pennsylvania, said she doubted that the Republican alternatives would be effective in expanding coverage or controlling costs.

“Many Republicans want to repeal the law, but are not serious about replacing it,” Ms. Schwartz said.

Liberal Democrats in uproar over Libya action

A hard-core group of liberal House Democrats is questioning the constitutionality of U.S. missile strikes against Libya, with one lawmaker raising the prospect of impeachment during a Democratic Caucus conference call on Saturday.

Reps. Jerrold Nadler (N.Y.), Donna Edwards (Md.), Mike Capuano (Mass.), Dennis Kucinich (Ohio), Maxine Waters (Calif.), Rob Andrews (N.J.), Sheila Jackson Lee (Texas), Barbara Lee (Calif.) and Del. Eleanor Holmes Norton (D.C.) “all strongly raised objections to the constitutionality of the president’s actions” during that call, said two Democratic lawmakers who took part.

Kucinich, who wanted to bring impeachment articles against both former President George W. Bush and Vice President Dick Cheney over Iraq — only to be blocked by his own leadership — asked why the U.S. missile strikes aren't impeachable offenses.

Kucinich also questioned why Democratic leaders didn't object when President Barack Obama told them of his plan for American participation in enforcing the Libyan no-fly zone during a White House Situation Room meeting on Friday, sources told POLITICO.

And liberals fumed that Congress hadn't been formally consulted before the attack and expressed concern that it would lead to a third U.S. war in the Muslim world.

While other Democratic lawmakers have publicly backed Obama — including House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) and top members of the Armed Services, Foreign Affairs and Intelligence committees — the objections from a vocal group of anti-war Democrats on Capitol Hill could become a political problem for Obama, especially if “Operation Odyssey Dawn” fails to topple Libyan leader Muammar Qadhafi, leads to significant American casualties, or provokes a wider conflict in the troubled region of North Africa.

(Pelosi did not participate in Saturday's call; she is in Afghanistan to meet with U.S. military and diplomatic officials.)

U.S. warships fired more than 100 Tomahawk cruise missiles on Saturday in a bid to knock out Libya's air-defense systems, targeting command-and-control and radar units near Tripoli, the Libyan capital, and the city of Misurata, according to Pentagon officials and media reports. French aircraft attacked armored units loyal to Qadhafi around the city of Benghazi after they ignored international calls for a cease-fire.

Saturday's conference call was organized by Rep. John Larson (Conn.), chairman of the Democratic Caucus and the fourth-highest ranking party leader. Larson has called for Obama to seek congressional approval before committing the United States to any anti-Qadhafi military operation.

“They consulted the Arab League. They consulted the United Nations. They did not consult the United States Congress,” one Democrat lawmaker said of the White House. “They're creating wreckage, and they can't obviate that by saying there are no boots on the ground. ... There aren't boots on the ground; there are Tomahawks in the air.”

“Almost everybody who spoke was opposed to any unilateral actions or decisions being made by the president, and most of us expressed our constitutional concerns. There should be a resolution and there should be a debate so members of Congress can decide whether or not we enter in whatever this action is being called,” added another House Democrat opposed to the Libyan operation.

To the concerned House Committee Members:

The Tea Party dutifully submits the following areas of concern, in regards to Obama's unethical election activity and subsequent unethical behavior in Office regarding the following areas, concerning formal impeachment filed against him:

I WANT TO DISCUSS WITH YOU WHY OBAMA BEING A NON-CITIZEN IMPACTS EVERYTHING HE DOES, AND WHY THIS HAS ENSURED HIS FAILED PRESIDENCY:

FIRST WE HAD A FAILED STIMULUS PROGRAM. THIS WAS FOLLOWED BY THE FAILURE TO REVERSE UNEMPLOYMENT NUMBERS, GIVEN THE FACT WE HAVE MILLIONS OUT OF WORK STILL, OR THOSE WHO ARE ONLY ABLE TO FIND WORK FOR 5-6 MONTHS OUT OF THE YEAR.

THEN WE HAVE THE CORE BASE OF THIS ADMINISTRATION'S POLICIES THAT HAVE FAILED:

-FINANCIAL AND ECONOMIC POLICY (has been speculative not conservative)

-ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY (global warming is only a factor, not the issue: kinetic energy drives storms and weather patterns which is due to overpopulation and technology increases. Driving up the cost of gas to say you created 2,500 jobs in Detroit so Obama can recoup the money that he invested in electric cars or green technology is not paying for itself.)

-FAILED SOCIAL POLICIES (requiring people pay for insurance when they're not caring for their bodies is the government's way of taxation on your health as a commodity, which is unconstitutional. Abortion has bankrupted the Congressional purse, Obama insists we offer these services, and continue doing more of them. Welfare and unemployment have drained us financially. Food stamps are the biggest issue of government waste, 37 states indicate fraud, though this Administration continues to lie and say that most people use them correctly. How many states does it take, or how many per population group to admit this is throwing away money into an abyss fueling societal decay and the drug wars, the very financing mechanism of the Taliban??)

-FAILED NUCLEAR POLICY INITIATIVES/DIPLOMATIC POLICY (we are stretched too thin. When Saddam's head rolled, we should have left Iraq. Instead Bush Jr. engaged us in an unconstitutional stay longer than 2yrs., and Obama did not immediately withdraw. We have been slaughtered in Afghanistan's mountains, instead of decimating strongholds, we have been engaging in a tedious ground war, and we have entered into supplying military action in Egypt and Libya, rather than getting NATO to act in accord, they have put it off on us. We have failed to deal with policy that has jeopardized our security, including accusing the entire country of Pakistan for harboring Bin Laden, when he may have long ago been dead in 2007, the hideout set up as if he was still there carrying out operations as a propaganda headquarters. This is what the Nazi's would have done, if Hitler would not have been killed openly, and we have failed in showing the whole world that we will not tolerate injustice by perpetuating it with pseudo-New World Order type philosophy.)

-FAILURE TO UPHOLD EXISTING LAWS/THE CONSTITUTION: (deprivation of fair election, non-citizen status, DOMA, violation of freedom of religion and internet free speech violations/other free speech violations.)

The Tea Party declares that these 5 areas are not just impeachable offenses, as previously defined and submitted to Congress, Obama has betrayed the public trust and CONTINUES to do so. He has refused to sufficiently dispel his non-citizen status by waving around a forged copy, he has done this by delaying the court's ruling until his 3rd year, unraveling the fabric of our country in the process by systematically tearing it apart from the inside. The Tea Party does not find any of his chicanery amusing, we are tired of being placated and slapped in the face; for Obama to remain in office as an internal traitor spits upon the very blood that was shed for this hallowed land.

We will no longer sit back, content for him to be elected out, we want him removed from Office now!

As undersigned on behalf of the Tea Party,

GA Tea Party Chief, Ms. Aja Brooks

#3 CONSIDERATION AND APPLICATION OF BAREBONES BUDGET CUTS PROPOSED BY THE TEA PARTY:

THE TEA PARTY PROPOSES BARE-BONES SKELETON BUDGET STRATEGY AND CUTS TO THE FOLLOWING 12 AGENCIES/PROGRAMS TO RECTIFY THE DEFICIT

by Aja Brooks on Monday, April 18, 2011 at 7:06pm

THE TEA PARTY PROPOSES BARE-BONES SKELETON BUDGET STRATEGY AND CUTS TO THE FOLLOWING 12 AGENCIES/PROGRAMS TO RECTIFY THE DEFICIT:

1. DFACS - state should be in total control under the Governor/Feds should have no control or appropriated funding for this entity, no borrowing from the federal government to keep this running
 - the state needs to trade the cost of immigration enforcement for DFACS, meaning federal appropriations are to be used to enforce immigration laws only, not fund DFACS.
 - Clayton County DFACS should be audited for their reluctance or unwillingness to adhere to 30 day inquiry/complaint resolution within 60 days.
 - Spalding County DFACS should have funding cut for refusal to investigate and cooperate with other agencies.

(this is like the difference between civil and military matters, and the funding should be viewed as such that which takes precedence.)

2. SNAP - is an intrusion into state finance with a federally funded food subsidy

- too easily received food stamps/not readily taken away

- food stamps are being traded for drugs
- food stamps are being sold for cash
- DFACS is not assisting or abiding by laws and reporting and wasting our tax dollars, won't accept related emails regarding cases or individuals who receive child support.

3. PUBLIC BROADCASTING - NPR, PBS, etc.

- the federal government needs to get out of the media business!
- the federal government needs to govern and enforce laws, not indoctrinate, proselytize or garner political messages with tax dollars.

4. HOUSING ASSISTANCE and related reform:

- eradicate NACA and other groups that have a vested interest in the housing market that are receiving tax dollars to operate.
- FHA loans to resolve solvency issues, if you are current on your taxes.
- Prevent IRS fraud in the vulnerable mortgage market.
- FHA loan standards are stringent, other mortgage companies need to convert to these standards or be fined immediately.
- Go after Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, fine them, and get the revenue back in the system for the damage done to taxpayers.

5. UNEMPLOYMENT CHECKS:

- no unemployment unless you are current on your federal taxes
- no unemployment if you're on probation
- no unemployment if you are a single person with no dependents
- make shorter periods of 3 months of aid, remove federal appropriations for unemployment, (Nancy Pelosi has passed this out like candy and indebted state governments) remove the federal appropriation for this.
- disband Department of Labor in each state, the government needs to get out of employment services, concentrate on: governing, legislation, tax revenue, and ethical management.

6. DMV, POST OFFICE, and other services:

- layoffs, cut hours to Mon.-Thurs. 9AM-3PM.
- IRS audit of these agencies to determine if they are operating efficiently.

7. FEDERAL EMPLOYEES

- shut Congress down until September
- use this to audit other agencies and submit finding for further analyses and cuts
- review sunset laws
- all Congress and Obama Admin. receive minimum wage until the deficit is corrected, per year; they get to serve the people not Lord over them!

8. PLANNED PARENTHOOD

- Defund Planned Parenthood federal appropriation
- the government needs to be out of the egg harvesting business, and the scientific manipulation of fetuses.
- the government is not a lobbying mechanism for this, unless it is committee-approved earmarked spending
- women's health issues should be state-to-state cost, not receive federal funds, health insurance should be the same way, not another federally-funded government appropriated program
- full repeal and nullification of H.R. 4872
- County health departments should be state-run, not receive federal funding
- take big Pharma out by reducing government contracts, the government is not a pill mill lobbying business!
- Big Pharma does not run our country, our health, our citizens do!

9. FDA, Inspectors, and streamlining government agencies

- realign these agencies to work more cohesively with the FBI
- consider them under the umbrella of homeland security
- give agencies data based community access to information

10. Congress

- term limits
- review pension plans
- election practices - reform Obama fraud, fine DNC, Clinton, and the like
- impeachment proceedings
- no deals on spending cuts, no going back on minimum wage pay consequence until the deficit is resolved in conjunction with reforming Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, and related fraud issues.
- 6 month lay off should give Congress plenty of time to hammer out the problems they've created

11. WIC

- a mother produces milk, it is not the government's responsibility to feed your child bread, milk, cheese, eggs, and formula.
- it is not the taxpayers' job or the government's job to provide you with formula so that you can work or that you can use the money to spend on drugs to avoid breastfeeding.
- WIC should be a state-run program, not receiving any welfare or federal dollars.

12. LAW ENFORCEMENT

- reduce routine patrol officers to walking the beat, as they need the exercise, and we can't afford their health problems associated with obesity and poor habits.
- routine patrol officers must maintain health and standards that they enforce upon the community or face discipline, up to and including termination, being a cop doesn't mean you waste gas, going around harassing people, and stuffing your face with our tax dollars: you're a contracted employee, and you will be relieved of your duty.
- police officers can afford their own vests/should be appropriated under state equipment costs and avoid accepting grants if all possible.
- in conjunction with judicial reform through next January, officers can't play the system and work the streets and the jail, double-dipping and being corrupt: you face termination.
- release mandatory minimum sentenced offenders into the work force, increase sentencing fines imposition, if fines are not paid or if you can't cooperate with your probation officer and agreed sentencing terms, you will be resentenced to work release until those fines are paid!

SUBSEQUENT TO MICHELE BACHMANN SIGNING THE CUT, CAP, AND BALANCE PLEDGE, SHE RENEGES AND VOTES AGAINST HR 2560, THUS KNOCKING HER OUT AS THE INDEPENDENT WILD CARD AND RUNNING FOR GOP NOMINEE CONTENTION !!

Aja Brooks Why did you not vote for cut, cap, and balance? You really let us down -- just how do you suppose to call yourself Tea Party when you're really a Republican? You're masquerading in a Tea Party hat as a costume for political support. You must make cuts and get them on paper, that was the whole point of the pledge you signed. I can no longer support your nomination.

Aja Brooks Repugnant and cowardly that you would capitalize your campaign and go against your own word.

Robert Jensen But, why did you vote against Cut, Cap, and Balance? You just dropped a few notches on my vote list.

Jeff Smulyan Aja & Robert: You shouldn't vote for her because she's not the brightest bulb in the room...and she's a racist.

(ALL THAT VOTED AGAINST CUT, CAP, AND BALANCE WERE DEMOCRATS, EXCEPT FOR 5 DEMOCRATS WHO VOTED TO SUPPORT US, AND 9 REPUBLICANS BETRAYED US, REFUSING TO STOP OBAMA AND THE SENATE FROM WASTING MORE OF OUR TAX DOLLARS)

WHILE IT IS INTERESTING, I MUST FORMALLY WITHDRAW MY SUPPORT FOR BACHMANN; A BALANCED BUDGET AMENDMENT IMPLIES THE REPEAL OF OBAMACARE, AND SHE VOTED AGAINST A BALANCED BUDGET.

GABRIELLE GIFFORDS PULLED AN OBAMA, AND SHE VOTED PRESENT, AND THAT MEANS THAT SHE DOES NOT HOLD A POSITION ON THE DEFICIT AND WAS ONLY VOTE BARTERING AND DID NOT WANT TO STICK UP FOR YOU AS A TAXPAYER:

SHE AND 7 OTHERS DID THAT TO TRY TO PREVENT PASSAGE OF THE BALANCED BUDGET AMENDMENT.

2012 OUST LIST/BLACKLISTED POLITICIANS:

1. BEN NELSON - (D) NEBRASKA

Remember, Ben Nelson provided the final and deciding vote Democrats needed to pass Obamacare.

In exchange for his vote, Nelson took $45 million in taxpayer-funded Medicare subsidies – the "Cornhusker Kickback" – embarrassing every hard working man and woman in Nebraska.

Americans simply can't afford for Ben Nelson to be re-elected.

That's why I'm reaching out to you today. In order to take back this seat next year, we need the early support of conservatives around the country.

As the state Attorney General since 2003, I made sure Nebraska was one of the first states to join the lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of President Obama's – and Ben Nelson's – health care law.

I firmly believe Obamacare tramples on individual liberty, is unconstitutional, and unfairly burdens states with a massive new entitlement program.

While serving as Attorney General, I helped create a self-funding Medicaid Fraud Unit, which has recovered more than $33 million for state taxpayers. Throughout my career, I have worked to reduce the size and reach of the Federal government. I'll do the same in the United States Senate.

2. RAHN MAYO - (D-91) GEORGIA

- poorly represents my district's values of Constitutionally-limited government and fiscal responsibility
- idolizes Obama, thinks himself as Obama on state level
- participated in racially-tinged arguments on Facebook, teaming up with Ralph Long, lobbying solely for what only their choice black constituents want, those who pay to keep them up/not what the majority of Georgia taxpayers have asked and required of them
- honestly one of the most racist mixed people I've ever met! I say this as being a mix of Native American and 3 European lineages myself: he's Obama's right-hand stooge in the South.

3. RALPH LONG - (D-61) GEORGIA

- poorly represents my district's values of Constitutionally-limited government and fiscal responsibility
- while he doesn't idolize Obama, he will call you 'unpatriotic' if your opinion disagrees with his opinion or Obama's
- participated in racially-tinged arguments on Facebook, teaming up with Rahn Mayo, lobbying solely for what only their choice black constituents want, those who pay to keep them up/not what the majority of Georgia taxpayers have asked and required of them
- while I believe Ralph Long's intentions is to aspire to be like MLK JR, or Mandela, and he handles debate better than the giggling and Ebonics-speaking Mayo, Long is being judged by the company that he keeps: Rahn Mayo is his cohort, along with several other black legislators, as in: "if you aren't black, they're on the attack, from their blackberries that is..."

4. ALISHA MORGAN - (D-39) GEORGIA

- doesn't embody the kind of communication skills that we as taxpayers demand and expect from those who ride on our tax dollars... she asked to be removed from SYNTHESIS discussion, so it is quite clear that she doesn't want to hear what the majority has to say
- she doesn't seem pro-Obama, but more akin to black church mafia
- while I don't believe that she intends to come across this way, she aligns herself with the same legislators who accommodate black bias, lobbying solely for what only their choice black constituents want, those who pay to keep them up/not what the majority of Georgia taxpayers have asked and required of them

5. HUGH FLOYD - (D-99) GEORGIA

- poorly represents my district's values of Constitutionally-limited government and fiscal responsibility
- this guy acts like he's a rock star: he'll reject your email, ignore your documents, and tell you that you're not 'his' constituent, though you're paying for him to ignore your pleas
- to boot: this guy is a Methodist, not just lackluster for Jesus, but wants everyone to know that his methodology and contrived way of neglecting you in his district goes further than just ego/it's a religious prerogative for him.

the message is that while you may have escaped the first round of Tea Party cuts, you won't make it past 2012. I deleted 25 email addresses, struck them from the Assembly roll today for email contacts, and only one member went onto to run for Congress! Not only that, but Tea Party platform succeeding in regaining House leadership, to repeal H.R. 4872, and we will now defund in the Senate. Please contact me with your state's blacklist.

6. FREDDIE SIMS (D-12) GEORGIA SENATE

- poorly represents the constituents of the North GA area
- continues to support Obama just because he is black, even though he's wasted $9 trillion in less than 3yrs.
- refuses to accept emails from concerned GA taxpayers or do her job to assist you, if you disagree with her position on Obama

7. DEE DAWKINS-HAIGLER (D-93) GEORGIA HOUSE

- poorly represents the constituents of the Lithonia area
- continues to support Obama just because he is black, even though he's wasted $9 trillion in less than 3yrs.
- refuses to accept emails from concerned GA taxpayers or do her job to assist you, if you disagree with her position on Obama

- her assistant is one of the dumbest Ebonics speaking people who works for the GA Capitol

THOSE WHO HAVE USED LANGUAGE TO DESCRIBE THE TEA PARTY AS "TERRORISTS" OR WHO HAVE SAID THAT THE TEA PARTY HAS HELD THEM OR THE COUNTRY HOSTAGE, WHEN NO ONE HAS HELD THEM AT GUN POINT TO MAKE CUTS OR DO THEIR JOB. THEY CAN'T HANDLE EMAILS, LOSING THEIR POLITICAL POWER, OWN THEIR MISTAKES, OR DO ANYTHING BUT BLAME THE TEA PARTY WHEN IT WAS OBAMA WHO WASTED $9 TRILLION IN LESS THAN 3YRS. ON THEIR UNFUNDED PROGRAMS AND MANDATES:

JOHN KERRY, DAVID AXELROD, MAXINE WATERS, JOE BIDEN, OR DEBBIE WASSERMAN-SCHULTZ

THESE ARE THE SENATE MEMBERS WHO DESPITE THE MAJORITY OF AMERICANS POLLED, A HOUSE MAJORITY WHO VOTED FOR REPEAL, AND TWO PEOPLE NOT VOTING, ALL SENATE DEMOCRATS AREN'T REPRESENTING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, TO REPEAL H.R. 4872, WHO HAVE NOW BEEN BLACKLISTED:

White there were no indications of illegality or ethics violations in terms of the flights and McCaskill has said she'd repay more than $88,000 to the U.S. Treasury, a realization of how toxic the story is in the current political climate.

But on Monday the story got even more poisonous for her political future. Politico reported that she and her husband failed to pay $287,273 in personal property taxes on the airplane.

I'm asking each recipient to forward this email to a minimum of twenty people on your address list; in turn ask each of those to do likewise. In three days, most people in The United States of America will have the message. This is one idea that really should be passed around.

Congressional Reform Act of 2011.
THIS IS HOW TO FIX CONGRESS!!!!

1. Term Limits.

12 years only, one of the possible options below..

A. Two Six-year Senate terms

B. Six Two-year House terms

C. One Six-year Senate term and three Two-Year House terms

2. No Tenure / No Pension.

A Congressman will collect a salary while in office and receives no pay when they are out of office.

3. Congress (past, present & future) participates in Social Security.

All funds in the Congressional retirement fund move to the Social Security system immediately. All future funds flow into the Social Security system, and Congress participates with the American people.

4. Congress can purchase their own retirement plan, just as all Americans do.

5. Congress will no longer vote themselves a pay raise.

Congressional pay will rise by the lower of CPI or 3%.

6. Congress loses their current health care system and participates in the same health care system as the American people.

7. Congress must equally abide by all laws they impose on the American people.

8. All contracts with past and present Congressmen are void effective 1/1/11.

The American people did not make this contract with Congressmen. Congressmen made all these contracts for themselves.

Serving in Congress is an honor, not a career. The Founding Fathers envisioned citizen legislators, so ours should serve their term(s), then go home and back to work.

If each person contacts a minimum of twenty people then it will only take three days for most people (in the U.S.) to receive the message. Maybe it is time!

THIS IS HOW TO FIX CONGRESS!!!!

The 70-Million-Check Constituency

By Michael Filozof

Obama and the left have a massive constituency of tens of millions who do not comprehend the true meaning of money, only caring that the government check is in the mail.

In an interview with CBS anchor Scott Pelley last week, President Obama was asked if he could guarantee that Social Security checks would go out in August if House Republicans refused to raise the national debt ceiling.

Obama replied, "Well, this is not just a matter of Social Security checks. These are veterans' checks; these are folks on disability and their checks. There are about 70 million checks that go out... I cannot guarantee that those checks go out on August 3rd, if we haven't resolved this issue."

Seventy million government checks! In a population of 309 million, almost 23% of the population is receiving some kind of check from the federal government.

I have bad news for conservatives who think Obama is leading the nation down the path to socialism: the barn door is open and the cows are long gone. Obama is not leading the nation to socialism; we are a socialist nation and have been for some time. Conservatives who think Obama is a Marxist and an anti-capitalist radical are surely correct, but what is also surely correct is that he represents an actual constituency of tens of millions who care about nothing other than the fact that the government check is in the mail. This is a serious problem for conservative Republicans and Tea Partiers seeking to cut the federal budget and restore fiscal sanity.

One Obama Presser, 36 Obama Lies and Deceptions

By Charlie P Brannan

Obama held a press conference last Friday, July 15 which turned out to be a purely partisan effort to increase taxes and increase the American debt. His speech and the answers he gave to cherry picked questions from the press was fundamentally dishonest: in all I counted three dozen lies, deceptions and misleading statements.

Deception 1. "make sure that the United States does not default on our obligations, and that the full faith and credit of the United States is preserved."

There is zero risk of a default to the creditors of US debt. The federal government takes in about $170 billion each month in revenues, but pays less than $29 billion each month in interest on the debt. The Bipartisan Policy Center has laid out a plan where the Treasury could pay: all debt interest, all Social Security obligations, all Medicare and Medicaid obligations, all Defense contractor bills, all Veterans payments, all active duty troops; and still have almost $7 billion left over every month for other items.

Obama is using pure political scare tactics to deceive uneducated voters into supporting his position. There is no risk to "the full faith and credit of the United States" unless Treasury chooses to default. Not raising the debt limit will cause a limited government shutdown, not a default, as Obama insinuates.

Deception 2. "I think we should not even be this close to a deadline on this issue; this should have been taken care of earlier."

The Obama administration created the present crisis with the introduction of his 2012 budget on Feb. 14, 2011. Obama's budget had a $1.1 Trillion deficit and was defeated by a vote of 97 to 0 in the United States Senate. Obama's own failure to submit a budget which could gain even a single vote directly caused the entire crisis.

Deception 3. "These are obligations that the United States has taken on in the past. Congress has run up the credit card, and we now have an obligation to pay our bills."

There is plenty of government revenue to cover the obligations the US government has taken on in the past. The entire issue is the obligations the US government will take on in the future. Republicans in Congress want to reduce those obligations -- they want to stop running up the credit card -- and Obama is saying "No, continue to spend."

Deception 4. "We could end up with a situation, for example, where interest rates rise for everybody all throughout the country, effectively a tax increase on everybody."

Obama is painting a fundamentally dishonest scenario. His strategy to continue debt spending will saddle future generations of Americans with more and more debt which will eventually result in higher taxes in the future. He is advocating increased borrowing which in reality is "a tax increase on everybody."

People globally invest in US debt because the United States of America is by far the strongest most vibrant and innovative economy on earth. The world economy is suffering and the result is demand for US debt, not a reluctance to lend. As long as Treasury chooses not to default on the US debt there will be little or no rise in interest rate. If anything, refusing to raise the limit debt would demonstrate to the world that we as a nation are finally serious about managing government spending and from a long term macroeconomic perspective the USA will be a much stronger nation.

Deception 5. "businesses that are trying to make payroll, all of them could end up being impacted as a consequence of a default."

Obama is arguing that a default will cause increased interest rates, which will have "adverse consequences." Putting aside the fact that failing to increase the debt limit will not result in a default unless Obama chooses to default, even a default and the increased interest rates will have little if any effect on most "businesses that are trying to make payroll." Unlike the US government, the vast majority of businesses do not borrow money to pay their employees. Even if interest rates did rise, payroll payments for most businesses would stay the same.

Lie 6. "We have a chance to stabilize America's finances for a decade, for 15 years, or 20 years, if we're willing to seize the moment."

At present the national debt amounts to US$14.12 Trillion: 100% of the US GDP. Deficit spending in 2011 will exceed $1.48 Trillion; over ten years spending at that rate would amount to $14.8 Trillion, doubling the US debt.

Obama's budget proposal would reduce deficit spending to $1.1 Trillion per year through a combination of spending cuts and tax increases. Fourteen years at this rate would still double our national debt with $15.4 Trillion of new deficit spending.

Either scenario will put the USA in the same scenario Greece is in today. Obama is lying when he insinuates he has made an effort to stabilize America's financial future.

Lie 7. "let's still try to at least get a down payment on deficit reduction."

The notion of getting "a down payment on deficit reduction" is a lie. What is a "down payment"? It is an initial payment which by definition must be followed by more payments. If Obama wants to get a "down payment on deficit reduction" then he must plan for follow on payments. Normally, when you make a down payment, if you are unable to make the follow on payments you lose your down payment! Obama's attempt to change a single reduction into a "down payment" is a lie. Language only a lawyer could twist.

Deception 8. (continued from Lie 7) "And that we can actually accomplish without huge changes in revenue or significant changes in entitlements," Except that according to his own deficit commission (Bowles-Simpson) significant changes in both revenue and entitlements are required in order to reduce the deficit. Obama's insinuation that continued deficit reduction because a down payment implies future payments) can happen without "significant changes in entitlements" is another deception: his own experts are telling him otherwise.

Deception 9. (continued from Deception 8) "but we could still send a signal that we are serious about this problem."

The "down payment" Obama talks about in Lie 7 is a $2 Trillion reduction in deficit spending over ten years. His proposal will still double the national debt in less than 15 years putting us where Greece is today. In no way could this single reduction demonstrate that the US government is serious about this problem.

Deception 10. "And I think it's important for everybody to understand that all of us believe that we need to get to a point where eventually we can balance the budget."

Nobody who has the audacity to submit a budget with $1.1 Trillion in deficit spending can be trusted when they say they "eventually" want to balance the budget.

Deception 11. "We don't need a constitutional amendment to do that; what we need to do is to do our jobs."

Obama submitted the 2012 budget on Feb. 14, 2011 with a $1.1 Trillion deficit, $3.73 Trillion in spending and revenues of $2.63 Trillion. George W Bush's 2008 budget had a $240 Billion deficit on $2.8 Trillion in spending. Spending increases account for 75% of the increase in Obama's 2012 deficit. Clearly Obama finds it impossible to do his job.

Deception 12. "And we have to do it the same way a family would do it. A family, if they get over-extended and their credit card is too high, they don't just stop paying their bills. What they do is they say, how do we start cutting our monthly costs? We keep on making payments, but we start cutting out the things that aren't necessary."

Actually, Mr. President, those drastic measures you just outlined are exactly what families do. They keep making payments, but they don't "start cutting our monthly costs", they don't "start cutting out the things that are necessary", they immediately curtail spending so they won't have to continue borrowing money because they have used up their entire credit limit. What world do you live in?

Deception 13. (continued from Deception 12) "And we do it in a way that maintains our credit rating. We do it in a way that's responsible" Another Obama deception. He is implying that Republicans want to damage the USA credit rating. As we demonstrated in Deception 1, there is no danger to the USA credit rating if Congress refuses to increase the debt limit: the Treasury will be forced to make tough choices to pay what he is able and a limited government shutdown will ensue.

Deception 14. "I think that American consumers and American businesses would benefit from a continuation of that tax cut next year." Obama is advocating the increase of taxes for "the rich" and in the same speech advocating extending subsidies to the unemployed. What happened to a "balanced approach"? How does he plan to pay for these subsidies if not with deficit spending? This statement reveals Obama's hypocritical ethos. He knows that tax cuts for the rich create jobs for the middle class. He knows that extended welfare subsidies foster sloth. But Obama is not about doing what is best for America, Obama is all about taking from the rich and giving to the poor and using federal dollars to bribe his constituents to make sure he is elected again in 2012.

Lie 15. "... we can, as I said before, fix this thing probably for a decade or more"

Obama restates Lie 6. in a different light, implying that Congress will not have to increase the debt limit again "for a decade or more." People who didn't listen carefully will think 'Obama's plan will solve this debt limit problem for ten years!'. In reality the present proposed $2.4 Trillion debt limit increase will only last until 2013, conveniently after the 2012 election. Its all politics.

Lie 16. "I think this notion that things got ugly is just not true."

When the President of the United States verbally threatens a member of Congress saying "Eric, don't call my bluff. I'm going to the American people on this," and then schedule a press conference specifically "to take it to the American people", that is ugly, by definition.

Deception 17. "Bowles-Simpson ... was originally bipartisan legislation that some of the Republican supporters of decided to vote against when I said I supported it"

Notwithstanding what Obama may or may not have said, in reality Obama never supported the Bowles-Simpson budget, in whole or in part. Obama's 2012 Budget with a $1.1 Trillion deficit included none of the spending reductions from Bowles-Simpson commission. Here Obama is trying to deceive the American public into believing he supported Bowles-Simpson when his actions tell otherwise.

Lie 18. "a lot of the components of Bowles-Simpson we are willing to embrace -- for example, the domestic spending cuts that they recommend we've basically taken."

Obama's 2012 Budget proposal with a $1.1 Trillion deficit is evidence of this lie.

Lie 19. "... you have 80 percent of the American people who support a balanced approach. Eighty percent of the American people support an approach that includes revenues and includes cuts."

From a July 7-10 Gallup poll. 69% of the people support spending cuts together with new taxes:

Only/Mostly with spending cuts: 20%

Mostly with spending cuts: 30%

Equal with spending cuts and taxes: 32%

Mostly with tax increases: 7%

Only with tax increases: 4%

Undecided: 7%

The more subtle part of this deception is what Obama fails to mention regarding the same Gallup poll. The American public by a margin of nearly 2:1 do not want to increase the debt limit. Perhaps this is because most Americans don't believe Congress will lower the deficit enough to make a difference.

Deception 20. "It turns out that our problem is we cut taxes without paying for them over the last decade"

Obama implies that the deficits we have now have been going on for the last ten years, insinuating it is an ongoing problem from the Bush administration. The reality is that deficit spending in Obama's first three years in office is more than double the entire deficit spending of the George W Bush administration. Deficits for the last ten years:

2011 $1,500 Billion

2010 $1,300 Billion

2009 $1,400 Billion

2008 $240 Billion

2007 $161 Billion

2006 $248 Billion

2005 $319 Billion

2004 $412 Billion

2003 $374 Billion

2002 $159 Billion

US budget deficits ballooned when Obama took office. Increased spending accounts for 3/4 of the new deficit spending; reduced tax revenue accounts for 1/4. More fundamentally instead of restoring investor confidence Obama's deficit spending, a key component in Obama's failed economic policy, has resulted in a double dip recession and stagnant growth with no end in sight.

Deception 21. "what's required is that we roll back those tax cuts ... clean up our tax code ... cut programs that we don't need, and we invest in those things that are going to help us grow. And every commission that's been out there has said the same thing and basically taken the same approach, within the margin of error."

Bowles-Simpson, a commission which Obama organized outlined far more reaching cuts in entitlements (above and beyond cutting "programs that we don't need") which Obama ignores, again deceiving the American public.

Lie 22. "And they don't require "job-killing tax cuts.""

Study upon study have shown that in the short term tax cuts increase jobs for the middle class.

Deception 23. "They require us to make some modest adjustments to get our house in order, and we should do it now."

The bipartisan Bowles-Simpson commission organized by Obama suggested much more drastic measures are required to resolve the present government budget woes. Not "some modest". Obama ignores his own research and deceives America.

Deception 24. "let's at least avert Armageddon."

Another typical liberal Obama lie / scare tactic. As explained in Deception 1 there is zero risk of Armageddon or default in debt payments by the US government unless Obama chooses to default. There will be a government shutdown, but a default will only occur if Obama intentionally decides to default.

Deception 25. "I'd like to solve that second problem."

Maybe he would like to quit smoking as well but he won't. Obama was given the opportunity to solve the second problem when he submitted his budget to Congress. He ignored almost all of the recommendations from his own deficit commission. Even with increased tax revenues the deficit in his budget remained at $1.1 Trillion.

Deception 26. "... a balanced approach that includes some revenue is the right thing to do. The majority of Republican voters say that approach is the right thing to do."

Obama ignores the polling data he is citing. Only 11% of Republicans support a debt increase; 60% are against. Obama is deceiving the public when he implies that Republicans support his "balanced approach" to increase the debt limit. In fact Americans as a whole are against increasing the debt limit by nearly a 2 to 1 margin.

There is support for a balanced approach to reducing the deficit, but twice before during the Regan and Bush Sr. administrations Democrats offered conservatives the same deal except that the spending cuts never came. Obama says he is willing to accept $3 Trillion in cuts for $1 Trillion in taxes, but is he willing to accept $8.25 Trillion in cuts for $2.75 Trillion in new taxes? This is where Congress should call Obama's bluff.

Deception 27. "The question is going to be whether at any given moment we're willing to set politics aside, at least briefly, in order to get something done."

Obama misleadingly implies that he is above the fray while the other side is playing politics. In reality both sides are playing politics. In fact his entire press conference is just another example of his playing politics by "going to the American people on this." Except that it is not 2008 any longer. People already realize that when it comes to playing politics Obama is just as guilty as the next politician.

Deception 28. "I've got an infrastructure bank bill that would start putting construction workers back to work rebuilding our roads and bridges."

This statement belies Obama's ability to compromise. Just how does he expect to pay for these infrastructure bills if not with more deficit spending? This statement summarizes the distrust conservatives have for everything Obama says and does.

Deception 29. "I've got three trade deals ... being held up because some folks don't want to provide trade adjustment assistance to people ... displaced as a consequence of trade."

Again, how does Obama plan to pay for this trade adjustment assistance if not with deficit spending? Another example of Obama's bad faith in the ongoing negotiations. In this press conference he admitted that as soon as the debt limit is increased he will find at least three new ways to increase spending. This is why Republicans are reluctant to increase tax revenue: because they know the more they feed the beast the more Obama will think of new ways to spend money.

Lie 30. "I'm going to keep on trying"

This implies that Obama started trying. Deception 2 established clearly that Obama has not been trying. If anything he has been trying to cause this crisis to win political points with his constituents.

Deception 31. "American people are going to say ... if a party or a politician is constantly taking the position 'my way or the highway,' constantly being locked into ideologically rigid positions, that we're going to remember at the polls."

Classic Obama obfuscation. Is he genuinely trying to tell the voting public to throw him out in 2012? Obama began saying my way or the highway on January 24, 2009 when he reminded the Republicans after four days in office: "I won." Last week he stormed out of a meeting with Rep. Eric Cantor in the middle of negotiations when he didn't get his way. His entire press conference was his attempt to go "to the American people on this."

Deception 32. "... what the American people are paying attention to is who seems to be trying to get something done, and who seems to be just posturing and trying to score political points. And I think it's going to be in the interests of everybody who wants to continue to serve in this town to make sure that they are on the right side of that impression."

Obama is again using deception by raising an issue to imply that he above "just posturing and trying to score political points." Except the entire press conference is nothing more than political posturing by Obama! He is doing exactly what he is criticizing others of doing! A case of projection. Obama has no plan and has not submitted any revised budget since February 14. To Obama it is not important whether he is on the right side as long as he is "on the right side of that impression."

Deception 33. "I said the American people do not want to see a bunch of posturing; they don't want to hear a bunch of sound bites. What they want is for us to solve problems, and we all have to remember that. That's why we were sent here."

This statement by itself is nothing more than a sound bite. Until July Obama did almost nothing personally to try and resolve the debt limit problem. Republicans have said over and over again: "He has no plan!" But he has a silver tongue and the skill to effortlessly shift blame on to others.

Deception 34. "... we know how we can create a package that solves the deficits and debt for a significant period of time."

In Lie 6 and Lie 15 Obama previously talked about stabilizing finances for "a decade, for 15 years, or 20 years." Now Obama mentions "a significant period of time." Nothing Obama has discussed with any Republican went offered a resolution which would raise the debt limit and lower spending beyond 2014. His definition of "a significant period of time" in context with language implying a solution lasting over a decade is patently dishonest.

Lie 35. "... if you are a progressive, you should be concerned about debt and deficit ... because if the only thing we're talking about over the next year, two years, five years, is debt and deficits, then it's very hard to start talking about how do we make investments in community colleges ... how do we actually rebuild $2 trillion worth of crumbling infrastructure."

This statement exemplifies the chasm between Obama and conservatives. The Tea Party does not want to increase the debt limit because they do not trust the government to control spending. Deception 14, Deception 28 and Deception 29 all mentioned new spending initiatives Obama has with plans ready to launch. And yet he has no revised budget plan? Everything he has said about cutting the deficit and controlling spending is a lie.

Deception 36. "It would be very helpful for us to be able to say to the American people, our fiscal house is in order. And so now the question is what should we be doing to win the future and make ourselves more competitive and create more jobs, and what aspects of what government is doing are a waste and we should eliminate."

Which is a great sound bite and a wonderful note to end the bully pulpit press conference on except that Obama just finished saying he has plans to spend over a trillion dollars to finance Deception 14, Deception 28 and Deception 29. Moreover Obama made plans for more deficit spending while the fiscal house was not in order. Obama has no plan specifically outlining how to put the fiscal house in order. Pure (misleading smoke and mirror) politics.

These deceptions, lies and misleading statements define why Obama cannot be trusted to tell the truth. They also define why Congress must vote against raising the debt limit.

Senate rejects 'Cut, Cap, Balance'

The Democratic-controlled Senate on Friday narrowly voted to block a Republican measure that would force Congress to pass a stringent balanced budget amendment and cap spending before increasing the debt ceiling.

The legislation, a conservative priority, never had a chance of passing, but the strictly partisan 51-46 vote to table the “Cut, Cap and Balance” bill highlighted the partisan divide in Washington over how to tackle spending and raise the nation’s $14.3 trillion debt limit. Before the vote Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-Nev.) again called the plan “radical” and “one of the worst pieces of legislation to ever be placed on the floor of the United States Senate.”

The vote handed conservatives a chance to showcase their strategy for restricting future spending in Washington, but it faced a veto from President Barack Obama, so it was more of a symbolic vote for Republicans to put their mark on deficit reduction.

Steve Wynn: Obama Is Killing the Economy

Tuesday, 19 Jul 2011 08:38 AM

By Forrest Jones

President Barack Obama is strangling the business climate in the United States with his constant stream of regulations, says hospitality and casino giant Steve Wynn.

"I'm saying it bluntly, that this administration is the greatest wet blanket to business, and progress and job creation in my lifetime," Wynn said in an investor conference call published by Business Insider.

"I could spend the next three hours giving you examples of all of us in this marketplace that are frightened to death about all the new regulations, our healthcare costs escalate, regulations coming from left and right."

Don't think Wynn is acting as some sort of voice box for the Republican party, either. He's not.

Any business owner should fear Obama, he says.

"That's true of Democratic businessman and Republican businessman, and I am a Democratic businessman and I support Harry Reid. I support Democrats and Republicans," Wynn said.

"Until we change the tempo and the conversation from Washington, it's not going to change. And those of us who have business opportunities and the capital to do it are going to sit in fear of the President. And a lot of people don't want to say that. They'll say, God, don't be attacking Obama. Well, this is Obama's deal and it's Obama that's responsible for this fear in America."

Meanwhile, life is good in Communist China, where the business environment isn't so Communist.

"Awesome, Eye Opening and Mind Boggling!"

Find out why Susan R. from Montgomery, Alabama is raving about Aftershock. Click Here Now.

"We love it there. We are so grateful to be part of that market and to be allowed to participate in that community," Wynn says.

"We find the political environment, the regulatory environment, the human resource environment that we're in to be absolutely delicious. Life is quite straightforward in China. The government is predictable."

Turning to home, the government needs to not only cut red tape in Washington, but it also needs to do the same at the nation's airports.

Too many wealthy foreigners are finding it difficult to enter the country and are being hassled at airports by security agents.

"Foreigners, people with non-American passports, mainly Asians, mainly Chinese people, come to the United States, if they can get through Homeland Security without too much misery, if they can get a visa, they come to the United States and they leave their money here. They are generous and tasteful. They shop for fine products. They eat good food. They tip well. They create job opportunities here," Wynn says.

Policymakers should remember that such foreigners can take their business elsewhere.

"Coming to the United States is tougher than going almost anywhere else in the world," Wynn says.

"But yet, there seems to be a tremendous amount of inertia to move government in America, whether it's the deficit management and coming to some kind of logical conclusion before August 2 or whatever it is, or whether it's getting visas. Everybody has a clear understanding of the problem, but when it comes to our government, it seems to be getting more and more sclerotic, more and more inflexible by its own device."

Wynn was referring to the Aug. 2 deadline that Congress has to lift the government's $14.3 trillion debt ceiling to avoid default.

China, a U.S. creditor, has said it is concerned with U.S. spending.

"We hope that the U.S. government adopts responsible policies and measures to guarantee the interests of investors," says Hong Lei, a foreign-ministry spokesman, according to the New York Times.

House Republicans pushed ahead Tuesday toward a vote on legislation that would raise the nation's debt limit in exchange for trillions of dollars in federal spending cuts and congressional approval of a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced budget.

But with the measure facing a veto threat from the White House, Speaker John Boehner said he was exploring other alternatives to avoid a government default threatened for Aug. 2.

"I do think it's responsible for us to look at what Plan B would look like," he said at a news conference a few hours before the opening of debate on the legislation backed by conservative lawmakers.

Advocates of the House legislation said it would cut spending by an estimated $111 billion in the next budget year and then by more than an additional $6 trillion over a decade - and require Congress to send a balanced budget amendment to the states for ratification - in exchange for raising the debt limit by $2.4 trillion.

‘Awesome, Eye Opening and Mind Boggling!’

Find out why Susan R. from Montgomery, Alabama is raving about Aftershock. Click Here Now.

With Democrats strongly opposed, the measure is given no chance of clearing the Senate, and even if it did, Obama's veto threat means it cannot become law.

On a day that promised political theater, a group of House Republicans also boarded a bus for a 16-block ride to deliver a letter asking President Barack Obama to disclose his own plan for reducing federal deficits.

No administration officials were present to meet the delegation when the bus rolled to a stop outside the White House gates, and lawmakers gave copies of the letter to reporters.

Democrats said it was urgent that the debt ceiling be raised.

In a closed-door meeting in the Capitol, House Democrats listened to an audio of Republican President Ronald Reagan urging lawmakers in 1987 to raise the debt limit. "This brinkmanship threatens the holders of government bonds and those who rely on Social Security and veterans' benefits," he said then.

Nearly a quarter of a century - and numerous trillions of dollars in debt - later, Obama needs acquiescence from the Republican-controlled House and the Democratic-controlled Senate to win another debt ceiling increase. So far, efforts to agree on a package of spending cuts - the price demanded by GOP lawmakers for their votes - have proved futile.

At his news conference, Boehner did not outline what alternatives he had under review.

One prominent fallback plan is a bipartisan measure developed by the Senate's two leaders to allow Obama to raise the debt limit without prior approval by Congress while simultaneously creating a committee of lawmakers to recommend cuts in benefit programs by the end of the year.

Officials have also discussed attaching as much as $1.5 trillion in deficit cuts to the measure, including about $1.3 trillion in spending reductions and $200 billion in savings on interest payments.

Lengthy negotiations on deficit cuts involving the administration and lawmakers of both parties ended in futility last week. Obama wants tax increases included in any deal alongside cuts in benefit programs, and Republicans rejected the trade-off.

With only two weeks remaining before a threatened default, other groups were at work trying to make the case for a large cut in deficits.

A group of three Republicans and three Democrats in the Senate circulated a proposal that would cut deficits by $3.7 trillion over 10 years. The blueprint calls for raising $1 trillion in additional revenue through an overhaul of the tax law.

Republicans in control of the House, backed by Senate GOP leader Mitch McConnell, extolled their legislation, while Democrats condemned it.

Majority Leader Harry Reid, D-Nev., said it would "impose arbitrary, reckless budget caps that would - without a doubt - force massive cuts to Medicare, Social Security and other crucial benefits. At the same time, it would constitutionally protect wasteful loopholes and tax breaks for millionaires and billionaires."

Republicans have not yet released the details of the balanced budget amendment they want sent to the states, but officials say it would require a supermajority in both houses to raise taxes.

On Monday, the White House attacked the "cut, cap and balance" idea as an assault on cherished programs. The measure doesn't contain any actual spending cuts but promises they will be made in the future.

"What we are witnessing here with this measure is classic Washington posturing, kabuki theater," said White House press secretary Jay Carney, adding that the measure would "dismantle ... our social safety net: Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid."

Barring action by Congress to raise the $14.3 trillion debt ceiling, the Treasury will be unable to pay all the government's bills that come due beginning Aug. 3. Administration officials, Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke and others say the resulting default would inflict serious harm on the economy, which is still struggling to recover from the worst recession in decades.

Reid announced Monday that the Senate would meet each day until the issue was resolved, including weekends.

Senate rejects 'Cut, Cap, Balance'

By SCOTT WONG | 7/22/11 10:58 AM EDT

The Democratic-controlled Senate on Friday narrowly voted to block a Republican measure that would force Congress to pass a stringent balanced budget amendment and cap spending before increasing the debt ceiling.

The legislation, a conservative priority, never had a chance of passing, but the strictly partisan 51-46 vote to table the “Cut, Cap and Balance” bill highlighted the partisan divide in Washington over how to tackle spending and raise the nation’s $14.3 trillion debt limit. Before the vote Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-Nev.) again called the plan “radical” and “one of the worst pieces of legislation to ever be placed on the floor of the United States Senate.”

The vote handed conservatives a chance to showcase their strategy for restricting future spending in Washington, but it faced a veto from President Barack Obama, so it was more of a symbolic vote for Republicans to put their mark on deficit reduction.

With Cut, Cap and Balance out of the way, the Senate rejection now clears the way for congressional leaders to take up a possible multitrillion-dollar deficit-cutting package or a fallback plan now being negotiated by the two Senate leaders.

Unless Congress raises the debt limit in 11 days, Treasury officials say the government will run out of money to pay its bills and default on its loans for the first time in history. That urgency has gripped members of both parties, with Wall Street, states, federal agencies and the American public on edge about the absence of a deal so late in the game.

“There’s no question that the fiscal challenges in front of us demand a bipartisan solution, but the clock’s running,” Sen. Sheldon Whitehouse (D-R.I.) said in a floor speech Thursday night, part of an hours-long debate that continued Friday morning. “The sand is rapidly running out of the hourglass and we have to work on making the necessary changes to get our fiscal house and its foundation in order.”

After meeting Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner for breakfast Friday, his predecessor, Republican Hank Paulson, called on Congress to tackle budget reductions and entitlement and tax reform to rein in federal spending, but also warned of the dire consequences of failing to lift the debt limit.

John Boehner's Line in the Sand

Posted by Erick Erickson (Profile)

Last night, Speaker John Boehner addressed the Economic Club of New York and drew a line in the sand in the debt ceiling fight. It was a monumental game changer for the GOP and puts them back on offense.

Let me back up briefing and note that the Washington Post's own left leaning editorial board came out swinging on Sunday against the Democrats' opposition to the Republicans' Medicare plans. Yes, that Washington Post.

It is with that buttressing him that Speaker Boehner gave last night's speech. It was a doozy.

In it, he said,

Without significant spending cuts and reforms to reduce our debt, there will be no debt limit increase. And the cuts should be greater than the accompanying increase in debt authority the president is given. We should be talking about cuts of trillions, not just billions. They should be actual cuts and program reforms, not broad deficit or debt targets that punt the tough questions to the future. And with the exception of tax hikes — which will destroy jobs — everything is on the table. That includes honest conversations about how best to preserve Medicare, because we all know, with millions of Baby Boomers beginning to retire, the status quo is unsustainable.

Now, we are talking about a Speaker who promised $100 billion, then $70 billion, then $35 billion, and got only $353 million in non-accounting gimmick cuts. But this sounds like John Boehner has figured out that he is going to have to lead from the right.

Assuming Boehner is serious here and wants to move forward without typical Washington accounting gimmicks, this is a solid and bold move. The Democrats have yet to offer up any real cuts in Washington's budget. Every cut the GOP comes up with gets attacked for killing old people and kids.

It's time for Barack Obama to get serious. With John Boehner drawing a line in the sand at trillions of cuts, Mr. Obama better come up with some solid suggestions

And if that was not enough, Jim DeMint is drawing a line in the sand too. You want his support? You must hold the line on the budget. I hope he applies this to incumbent Senators and not just challengers and Presidential nominees.

Georgia ethics chairman refuses to resign his post

Associated Press

ATLANTA --- The chairman of Georgia's ethics commission said Friday he won't resign despite a complaint that he is serving illegally.

ADVERTISEMENT

Instead, Patrick Millsaps is using a procedural maneuver to get around the question of whether he served more than one complete term.

"The rumors of my resignation have been greatly exaggerated," Millsaps, a Camilla lawyer, said at a meeting Friday. "I'm not going to let this issue sidetrack the exciting things we're going to talk about today."

It is the latest tumult at the Georgia panel, which investigates campaign finance complaints and registers lobbyists. The commission has been rocked by deep funding cuts even as it has taken on new duties and is seeking a new executive secretary after slashing the salary of its top staffer and eliminating the No. 2 position.

At issue Friday was a complaint filed by George Anderson, the director of the Rome, Ga.-based Ethics in Government Group, which argued that Millsaps was violating a state law barring commission members from serving more than one complete term.

Millsaps was appointed in February 2009 by then-Gov. Sonny Perdue and reappointed by Gov. Nathan Deal this year.

Millsaps and Deal have maintained he was appointed properly because he didn't serve a full first term after being named to the panel by Perdue.

On Friday, however, Millsaps acknowledged valid legal questions about the matter. He said he would essentially rescind his appointment by Deal and remain on the panel as a Perdue appointee. Georgia law allows members whose terms have expired to remain on the commission until they are replaced. He outlined his plans in a letter to Deal, in which he acknowledged his term had expired but volunteered to stay on.

William Perry, the head of government watchdog group Common Cause Georgia, said the issue was a legal toss-up and praised Millsaps for trying to clear the matter up.

The move did not satisfy Anderson, who said Friday the commission has been starved by funding cuts that have compromised its ability to perform its duties.

Anderson said Millsaps' continued service would undermine public confidence and urged him to "walk away today."

Deal spokesman Brian Robinson said that at Millsaps' request the governor would begin a search for his successor.

MEMORANDUM TO: Third Congressional District

From: Bill Simon, Political Vine

RE: My apologies

Sorry, Folks. You now have an official, slithering reptile representing you on the State Committee, and I possibly could have prevented it from getting voted on.

See, I did not find out until Friday that it was Sam Fleet who had called Mark Rountree and wrote Rountree to tell him to tell his employee Mike Seigle that the meeting of Sahar's group was cancelled (when it wasn't.)

You see, to call Sam Fleet a troublemaker is an understatement. She is so much of a liar that she claimed she was with Sahar's group, and sent an e-mail to the Henry County newspaper so they could print a cancellation notice, and she tried to prevent the speaker from getting to the meeting.

Fleet was "successful" in tamping-down attendance to that meeting. But, everything she did was pretty much sneaky, slimy, and so much befitting of the snake that she really is.

Sam Fleet is with the Republican Women of Henry County (aka Republican White Trash of Henry County), and works right in-hand with Vicki Temple. So, these two are pathological idiots. And, they will seek to cause as much trouble as they can, and wreak havoc on anyone who doesn't toe their line.

So, Third Congressional District Members, you have a sneaky, low-down liar representing you to the state committee. I know you're not happy with that. And, I apologize to you for not being able to notify you of the true Sam Fleet before you elected her to the state committee.

A "Proxy Straw Poll" In The 13th Congressional District

The 13th CD did not have a straw poll per se....but, they had something close. By a vote of 52 to 22, Sahar

Heckmati stomped Allie Gelineau into the ground to become the chair of the 13th CD party.

Did you catch what we said? Sahar STOMPED Allie...this is significant because it was Allie who was the original instigator of all the hell launched against Sahar over the past two years by the Republican White Trash Republicans in Henry County.

To Sahar Hekmati and Sue Everhart:

It is not enough that Sue Everhart has "tried" to do something regarding the past issues of Clayton County with the misappropriation and breach of public trust under former Sheriff Victor Hill, or that she has "tried" to straighten out the mess of all of the money missing from the HC GOP. I do understand your frustration and hers, because during the last election cycle, Karen Handel did not make businesses pay 25% of tax revenue, even though we were in a budget shortfall. Instead of investigating various counties contributing to straining our entire state's budget, she resigned when former Governor Perdue confronted her about it, and she lost the party nomination to Governor Deal. She failed to do the job that we hired her to do by electing her to the Secretary of State's Office. A lot of people feel the same way about Sue Everhart, for the GOP Chairmanship. They attribute Karen Handel doing this for votes or as political favors.

This could go either way for Sue Everhart, she can cooperate and assist investigating agencies to resolve these issues and eradicate those exploiting the party for their own personal gain, or she can depend on the very ones that she is friends with on Facebook, like Karen Handel and others, to vote for her again. I do not think the taxpayers or the GA GOP will be so inclined to support Sue Everhart, if Sue Everhart does not investigate HC GOP for misappropriation and breach of public trust for the districts who obviously never received the money for the get-out-the-vote when it was divided up amongst 6-10 people and never put back into the HC GOP trust for the party.

As you allege here, that there is only $2,600 left in the bank with $50,000 missing/handwritten receipts, and no physical receipts from the offenders listed below in previous communications within the HCGOP to show what they actually spent the money on, since they divided that $50,000 six to ten ways between themselves and have not proven to us what they actually spent the money on, as it seems we are left with $2,600 to make posters and for advertising, which is very embarrassing for Henry County and reflects badly upon the GA GOP as a whole:

Sun, Feb 6, 2011 at 8:47 PM, <sahar04@aol.com> wrote:

Confirmed 2600 in the bank..

At any time, Sue Everhart could've contacted the following agencies to assist you both, as I have contacted them.

Your concerns were forwarded to the Governor's Office, the GGT&CFC <http://www.ethics.ga.gov>, and the Inspector General's Office.

I can also assure that appropriate news and law enforcement agencies have this information, in order to hold them accountable or for prosecution of possible criminal wrongdoing. You have done nothing wrong in telling me or showing me this information, but because of what is required to maintain my reputation as a lobbyist, I can't just sit on the information or write newsletters about it; it is my job to dutifully report it to those who have access to more information and authority over these matters.

You may also want to watch the WSB-TV2 news special today about businesses who got taxpayer money, in the form of loans or stimulus dollars that is GA's "Bridge to Nowhere". The Ethanol project failed, the funds were not used properly for it either, and no results were procured. Taxpayers look at this, and this is what they remember when they vote their local leaders into office.

Taxpayers want results, and that is why many people do not feel as loyal to Sue Everhart anymore, because she did not perform the job as Chairperson that she was elected to do, to hold HC GOP accountable, by reporting those misusing funds for get-out-the-vote. She will need to convince the taxpayers that she deserves re-election. Do not be inclined to support her in the wrong things because you are her campaign assistant.

 All I can tell you is that the Tea Party is not endorsing anyone in Georgia. What I can tell you according to the Net News Network, Net News Poll, is that Herman Cain is way out and ahead as the favored Republican Presidential Candidate, well beyond Newt Gingrich. So, and in what I am hearing as a news company, is that the Tea Party is behind Herman, so whomever is GOP Chair, needs to be a Herman Cain supporter

He has a real estate company and he took 25k of county money and is not willing to give it back. He was not the only one, there was another Rep, but he returned it all back. I will send you the story..

His son run for District 5 school board, and was only 19 at the time, but called his opponent and made threats against him. The opponent was recording him and it was on the news. The report is filed with Henry County police. His son name Ryan Davis.

Mike Eddy, current Henry County GOP chairman, at the time the money was given to Charles 24K, was the finance Chair.

Now as the Chair he makes all the copies for the GOP on the expense of Henry County Public School because he is the Principle at an Elementary School here, during our executive meetings when I was the Secretary, he would make a joke and say, gift from Henry County School System. That is not right when teachers are only allowed certain amount of copies per day. It is all about dignity.

Allisande Gelineau is the current Chair for 13 District, she has started lots of things and has made a name for her self, but yet the story is, not sure if it is TRUE. She made it to Major in the Army, but never moved up, after 18 years, she left the Army and got into politics. Was aid to Davis clan..

Charles Mobley was past Chair of the Henry GOP

Sam Fleet, I don't know where she came from, but she is with them and now has a political consulting company called Tanner and Fleet I believe their on FB . And is making money from candidates running for office.

There is more, but for now.. this will do. I am sure their going to talk about me, but I will tell you all that there is to know about me. I have never taken a penny from anyone, I have never lied, stolen, nor do I plan on ever running for anything. I am known as the worker here.. If you hear anything, just ask..

give me a call when you have time, I can talk better on the phone..

Alright here is what I got from the tax commissioner.. Proof of the million dollars.. Keep it private.. we just now need proof on the rest.. I would hate to make claims on anyone without proof...

FYI - I am using The Citizen as a supporting document, therefore I am copying Larry Stanley to this e-mail.

Sahar,

Tommy Smith started down this road on December 11th. I have answered every open records request he has asked for yet he has not called one time to ask questions or discuss any of the following information. Once Mr. Smith receives any information he then forwards it across the county without having any understanding of what he is talking about. I was asked by Larry Stanley to explain/defend my actions as Tax Commissioner and I have done so. Earlier this year, January 4th, I gave a presentation to the BOC (http://henryga.granicus.com/ViewPublisher.php?view_id=2) explaining the good work we are doing. It has become a habit for Mr. Smith to insinuate someone is doing something wrong, yet never stating exactly what that something is. If Mr. Smith has any suggestions as to better collect the taxes for Henry County perhaps he would like to share them. I am always willing to listen.

Please read the below posting from the The Citizen newsletter. Afterwards take the time to watch the video. As always, I am dedicated to serving those who elected me and will be happy to answer any questions you may have.

Property Tax Waivers

On or about February 2, 2009, the Henry County Tax Commissioner attended a BOC meeting and asked them to approve a resolution delegating authority to him to make a final determinations regarding the wavier of assessed penalties and interest on unpaid Ad Valorem taxes. The Tax Commissioner stated to the Board that he had an old lady that could pay her taxes, but could not pay the interest and penalties for being late. He also stated that he had a bank that inherited some land through no fault of their own. He said that he really wanted to help them. The BOC approved Resolution 09-18 approving the Tax Commissioner's request.

Larry Stanley's comments to me (David Curry), Property tax record searches in Henry County available at <https://hcwebb.boca.co.henry.ga.us/webtip/Search.aspx>

The following queries were sent to Tax Commissioner David Curry:

I am in receipt of the spreadsheet provided to Tommy Smith. I do have a question about some of the 6,148 entries. In residential developments I see a lot of individual addresses under the name of the developer. Are these houses that have not sold yet? I also see some rather large amounts waived for the same developers. Please give me some kind of response as I plan to raise queries in the newsletter -- I would rather have your direct explanation to accompany the article. Thanks for your help in understanding this spreadsheet.

David Curry's Explanation

Mr. Curry's response:

On December 10, 2010, Tommy Smith sent an open records request letter to Henry County. The request sought information concerning all penalties and interest that had been waived since February 2, 2009 from this office, Henry County Tax Commissioner's office. I answered his request and sent the information on February 21, 2010. Before I begin I would like to give a little background.

The authority to make the decision (O.C.G.A. 48-5-242) to waive penalties and/or interest is nothing new to Henry County nor is it different from most of the larger counties in Georgia. The past administration had an oral understanding it was okay to waive penalties and interest when he found it necessary. However, I did not feel comfortable making those financial decisions without having the support and written permission from the BOC. Therefore, on February 2, 2009 I stood before the Board of Commissioners, attendees, and the viewers of Channel 14 and asked for the authority to waive penalties and/or interest as I saw reasonably fit. Over the last 2 years there have been instances it was necessary to do so and I will explain in detail later in this e-mail. Since Mr. Smith received our response to his open records request there have been numerous e-mails sent back and forth and most of them reiterate my opinion, I believe Mr. Smith does not understand what he is reading. I want to address some of the language being used in the e-mails and some of the misconceptions.

First - Never, have I or this office waived taxes. Taxes cannot be waived. When taxes are due, it is the responsibility of this office to collect them. We use every available resource to do so (O.C.G.A. 48-5-234). When money was waived it was the penalty portion only and not the tax portion.

Second - Permission was given to waive penalty and interest. With that said I met with my leadership team and we discussed how we could help our taxpayers. I did not want to create a mindset that supported the idea of paying your taxes when you felt like it, however I vowed to help our taxpayers. We needed to have a plan to help while also promoted the idea everyone needed to pay their taxes on time. While penalties and interest may have been waived prior to me taking office I decided it was in the best interest to all not to waive the interest portion of the bill. The interest is 1% monthly, 12% annually.

Third – On February 2, 2009, one of the commissioner's asked how I would determine who would or would not receive a penalty waiver. To be honest, this question was not easy to answer then nor is it any easier today. We look at each case separately. With that said, there are those instances where we simply cannot by law charge a penalty. We tried to explain that in our response to Mr. Smith but apparently it fell on deaf ears.

Here are some of the reasons we cannot charge a penalty.

1. FDIC collections (FDIC 12 U.S.C. 1811, et seq., section 15 of FDIA (d) –

In 2009 we had a record number of local community banks fail in Henry County. When the FDIC came in, the assets were typically turned over to another bank, for example Regions, and the liabilities would be handled through the FDIC. As we all know 2009 was the worst year Henry County has experienced in a long time for builders and developers. Nearly every one of them lost their companies and the banks were forced to take back their inventory, land, and lots. Once the FDIC came in we were forced to play by their rules and not ours. Simply put the FDIC is the Federal Government and they do not pay penalties, only interest when secured by a lien.

2. Changes in Assessment from the Assessor's office –

If it is determined there has been a mistake made in the assessment of a piece of property, for example, the property owner was being assessed for having 4 bedrooms and there were only 3 or if a land owner was assessed as having 20 acres and he/she really only owned 15 acres we would re-bill the owner with a new due date. Since the penalty goes on the bill 90 days past the original bills due date we often find ourselves re-billing after the 90 day period with a new amount owed. It can sound a little confusing; however, it is neither fair nor legal for me to charge a penalty on a bill that is incorrect. Once the assessment is correct, a new bill is issued and the penalty is applied if not paid within 90 days.

3. Postmark of payment submitted –

We post payment according to the postmark. A lot of taxpayers wait until the last minute to pay their tax bills. As I mentioned in the above explanation, penalty is applied 90 days past due. If the postmark is on or before the due date and we receive it the next day we remove the penalty. At this point the taxpayer is paying the 1% interest each month the bill is not paid.

4. Certain Bankruptcy cases –

Under Bankruptcy court taxes are paid; however, depending on the type of bankruptcy filed we must get in line with the other creditors and wait our turn to be paid.

5. New Owner notification –

The Assessor's office must have a date in which they work off of; January 1 is the date. Often the current year's tax bill is sent to the owner on record as of January 1, 2010. By the time the tax bill is sent out in September the property may have been sold or foreclosed upon. If this is the case, once the assessor's receive the new address, we send out a new bill. Again, we cannot charge a penalty because the assessor's office does not have the new owner's address.

6. Appeal Resolutions –

It appears many of those selected in your e-mail were either paid by a bank or an appeal had been resolved. Once the appeal is resolved we must wait until the file is given to us from the assessor's office. Often these are property tax bills that have been taken to Superior court. This process is very lengthy and once resolved, if the appeal resolution pre-dates the application of the penalty, we remove the penalty, as it is not applicable. Again if the bill is not paid within 90 days, the penalty is automatically re-added to the bill. Mr. Stanley I hope I have addressed your questions. In this sample list roughly two-thirds were from the same developer. As you can see from my response I worked with Mr. Jones as well as Wachovia to collect $402, 837.63. We did however collect over $58,000 in interest on these 156 parcels. We stuck by what I said I was willing to do. Wachovia and Mr. Jones have been told not to expect the penalty to be waived in the future. I stated earlier in this e-mail, we have a plan to help those willing to help themselves. We are desperately trying to do just that. I will share some other information we learned last month. We are audited quite often and as of last month Henry County has the best collection rate of personal and delinquent taxes it has had in over 15 years. Our collection rate for 2009 is 96.50% for Personal property, 98.78% for Mobile homes, 97.22% for Real property. Our 2010 is also shaping up to follow 2009. I am very proud of the efforts made by this staff to collect delinquent taxes. I have placed explanations beside all of the entries. ( Spreadsheet sent to The Citizen) I truly hope this helps. This office has nothing to hide and has always offered an open door policy to anyone who has genuine questions and concerns. There is no "gatekeeper" here. If you have questions, I want you informed. I do find it disappointing that someone would ask for information from this office and not take the time to understand it or ask questions before sending it out to the masses. If anyone has any comments, questions, or concerns about this office or the information shared please do not hesitate to contact me. I am your Tax Commissioner and I am here to serve you.

Sincerely,

David M. Curry

Clayton police burn $12M in drugs

By Marcus K. Garner

The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

9:15 p.m. Tuesday, January 12, 2010

Clayton County police burned more than $12 million worth of drugs that had accumulated in the departments crowded evidence room, authorities said.

Police received a court order from a Superior Court judge to allow them to burn nearly 10,000 pounds of marijuana, crystal meth and other assorted narcotics, Clayton County police spokeswoman Lt. Tina Daniel said.

"This is in response to the audit of the police department," Daniel said.

As part of a scathing indictment of former Police Chief Jeff Turner's management of the department, county Chief of Staff Alex Cohilas cited a narcotics evidence room that was "in shambles."

The burns happened on two different occasions, last week and Tuesday, in an undisclosed, secure location, Daniel said.

"This is just a small part of the police department's aggressive efforts to fight illegal drug use and sales in Clayton County," police chief Timothy Robinson said.

The burn was done with the aid of the Clayton Fire and Emergency Services, the Clayton County Sheriff's Office and the Clayton County District Attorney's Office.

The stem cells from aborted bodies used to mass manufacture vaccines or to treat diabetes, MS, or AIDS have not been successful; however, aborted stem cells have been proven to cause rejection as manifesting in intestinal inflammation, autism in a certain percentage of vulnerable people, or causing cancer!

The government does not care if aborted stem cells give you autism or cancer, as long as they get their money back by turning you into a cash cow for insurance companies with chemotherapy treatments, which you may or may not survive. DMSO has been show to cure cancer, but because the government can't patent it and make money off of it, they'd rather see you pay up and die from chemo! There is no reason to massively fund stem cell research when the risks outweigh the benefits to the quality of life of the patient. The Methamphetamine 6 and the end of politics as usual

6:29 pm June 2, 2010, by jgalloway

Voters in north Georgia had tired of politics as usual. They demanded something different.

Now they have it — a 9th District congressional race that, instead of ending on Tuesday, will go on and on like a painful but riveting summer soap opera.

The featured player is certain to be former state House member Tom Graves of Ranger, whose lush black hair, easy manner and tea party credentials made him the man to beat in a May 11 special election to fill out the final six months of former congressman Nathan Deal's term.

Former state House member Tom Graves of Ranger

Graves walked away with 35 percent of the vote. Odds are good that he'll win the Tuesday runoff against former state senator Lee Hawkins of Gainesville, a dentist.

Under normal circumstances, the fairy tale would end there. Graves' defeated opponents would gracefully exit — offering only token, underfunded resistance leading up to a July 20 primary and a full, two-year term in Congress. (No Democrat remains in the contest.)

But we are done with politics as usual, and have shifted to politics of the bizarre — courtesy of an extended-stay motel in Calhoun, nicknamed by its current proprietor as the Methamphetamine 6. In honor of the habits of its clientele.

At the crack of Memorial Day weekend, news broke of a lawsuit filed by the Bartow County Bank, which alleged that Graves and Senate Majority Leader Chip Rogers (R-Woodstock) had defaulted on a $2.2 million loan used to purchase the establishment.

The business case for the Oglethorpe Inn is unclear. But Georgia offers some tasty tax breaks for on-scene movie companies, and perhaps a series of slasher flicks was contemplated.

The 32-year-old motel and debt, Rogers and Graves say, now belong to another company owned by a fellow who wears an electronic monitor on one ankle.

Moreover, Rogers and Graves accuse the bank of reneging on a deal. The bank allegedly made a promise to two sitting state lawmakers — Graves resigned his seat this spring — that it would convert the obligation to a 2.5 percent, interest-only loan. On $2.2 million.

A $2.2 million loan was used to purchase this aging motel in Calhoun. Jeremy Redmon

Take a few minutes to sort through your mortgage checks and see how your bank deal compares.

The most damaging feature of the lawsuit is the bank's accusation that Graves fraudulently transferred two properties — including his residence in Ranger — to a trust in an attempt to frustrate the bank's efforts to collect on the debt.

Graves supporters say times are hard everywhere, but especially in north Georgia — where real estate has plummeted like a red-tailed hawk on a doomed pigeon.

Graves denies any wrongdoing. “This country has a judicial system in place where business disputes like this lawsuit can be successfully and fairly resolved,” he said.

But the crucible of Washington is not famous for patience.

Assume a Graves victory next Tuesday. His supporters are enthusiastic, and last-minute developments rarely have a significant impact on campaigns.

Graves will be sworn in as soon as the vote is certified. Just as quickly, a complaint against him — third parties can be found, so the author does not matter — will be lodged before a congressional ethics committee to force a speedy assessment of the facts.

Which means that regardless of what happens Tuesday, many of the combatants of the 9th District will refuse to leave the field.

Hawkins took 23 percent of the vote last month. In a statement issued Wednesday, the former senator would not concede defeat in next week's balloting . But he added this: "Mr. Graves has obviously used some very bad judgment in his financial dealings, and that controversy now apparently won't end on Tuesday regardless of who wins."

Likewise, Steve Tarvin of Dalton, a self-made textile executive, declared Graves' financial situation "unfortunate," but said he would not withdraw. Tarvin won 15 percent of the vote in May.

"I'm in it. I feel like I'm the true heart of the 9th District. I feel like in July, it's going to be a different story," Tarvin said. Of seven candidates who signed up for the July 20 contest, only two have said they would withdraw.

But none have sent the necessary notarized statement to Secretary of State Brian Kemp. As of now, all seven names will appear on the Republican ballot — a near guarantee that a runoff will push the soap opera into August.

The contest is already forcing signs of a split within Georgia's Republican delegation.

Graves has the support of U.S. Rep. Lynn Westmoreland of Coweta County. But U.S. Rep. John Linder this week accused Graves of lying about the amount of campaigning he'd done on behalf of the Fair Tax.

Kate Monaghan, communications director for the Graves campaign, said her candidate expected a strong showing on Tuesday, equal to the vote in May. And she pointed out that U.S. Rep. Eric Cantor of Virginia, the House minority whip, endorsed Graves this week.

Monaghan singled out the dentist in Gainesville — the population center in the district is weighted toward that city — for criticism.

“Regardless of how much mud Lee Hawkins throws, the voters want a candidate who will not compromise when it comes to cutting taxes, opposing wasteful Washington spending, and creating jobs for Georgians,” she said.

WHILE WE ARE FINALLY IN A TRANSITION FROM GOVERNOR PERDUE, BLESS HIS HEART, THE TWO PEOPLE HE DEPENDED ON MOST LET HIM DOWN, WE HAVE FINALLY TORN DOWN SATAN'S THRONE AT THE CAPITOL WHEREIN KAREN HANDEL SUPPORTED UNETHICAL USE OF STEM CELLS, ROY BARNES THE SAME, AND THURBERT BAKER DIDN'T DENY GEORGIA'S METH PROBLEM, BUT HE WOULDN'T DO ANYTHING ABOUT CHARGING FORMER SHERIFF VICTOR HILL FOR MISUSE OF PUBLIC FUNDS AND KAREN HANDEL REFUSED TO CHARGE HIM WITH BREACH OF PUBLIC TRUST!!

I SENT BAKER LEGISLATION LIKE OREGON'S, THAT WOULD HELP THEM CUT THE NUMBER OF METH LABS DOWN TO A NUMBER THAT THE GBI CAN MANAGE OVERSEEING. THEY CAN'T OVERSEE HUNDREDS OF BONAFIDE METH LABS, THEN DEAL WITH ROLLING METH LAB DU

DID BAKER DO ANYTHING ABOUT IT??? NO !! FOR EVERYTHING THAT MAN IS AND WHAT HE STOOD FOR, HE FAILED TO BE EFFECTIVE IN PUBLIC OFFICE.

WHILE THIS DIDN'T HAPPEN OVERNIGHT, I WILL TELL YOU THAT THIS HAS BEEN A GROWING CRESCENDO FOR ABOUT 10YRS.: MY QUESTION TO YOU IS, HOW DO WE UNDO 10YRS. OF SOWN CORRUPTION THAT HAS MANIFESTED AT ALL LEVELS OF SOCIETY???

■ ANSWER:

- 1. EVERYONE MUST TAKE EQUAL SHARE OF THE BLAME, OWN UP TO THEIR INDIVIDUAL ROLE IN THE MESS, PUBLICLY CONFESS IT, AND EITHER STEP DOWN OR MAKE COMMITMENTS TO MOVE FORWARD.
- 2. EVERYONE MUST RECIPROCATATE THEIR MISDEEDS: RESTORE WHAT THEY STOLE: MEASURE IN TIME, MONEY, OR PERSONAL POSSESSIONS.
- 3. EVERYONE MUST TAKE CARE NOT TO REPEAT THE SAME MISTAKES, BY LEARNING FROM THE FIRST AND SECOND STEPS.
- 4. TO PREVENT THIS FROM HAPPENING AGAIN, WE MUST HOLD EACH OTHER ACCOUNTABLE.

NOW THAT'S REAL SIMPLE. YOU DON'T HAVE TO REMEMBER 10-STEP PLANS 12-STEP RECOVERY PLANS, THOUGH IT WOULDN'T HURT TO EXERCISE YOUR MORALITY BY JOINING A GROUP OR COMMITTING YOURSELF TO SUCH PERSONAL DISCIPLINE.

I TAKE THESE FOUR STEPS FROM WHAT I WAS TAUGHT BY READING THE BIBLE AND WHAT I LEARNED AT CHURCH. THEY ARE GENERALIZED, WATERED DOWN, AND SUITABLE TO POST IN ANY PUBLIC PLACE WITHOUT STIRRING MASSIVE CONTROVERSY OR ELICITING LAWSUITS BY THE ACLU.

GUESS WHAT?!

HE COULD NOT WITHSTAND THE INJURIES AND DIED WITHIN A WEEK. THE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE SHORTLY AFTER THE JULY 4TH OBSERVANCE TO THE PUBLIC.

- THEY WOULD BUST PEOPLE, IMPOUND THEIR CAR, AND STEWART WOULD REWARD HIM BY PERMITTING HIM TO HAUL OFF THESE CARS IMPOUNDED TO CHOP THEM UP/GET FAKE TITLE WORK AND RESELL THEM. (I HAVE THE KEYS OF SOME OF THESE VEHICLES TO PROVE IT/WITNESSED THE TITLES BEING TRANSFERRED INTO THE MORGAN FAMILY IN 2005.)
- MIKE MORGAN DISCHARGED A FIREARM INTO THE DRIVER'S SIDE OF MY VEHICLE WHEN I WAS HAVING IT WORKED ON BY OTHO WILLIAMSON, AND THEY NEVER WROTE UP A REPORT. THEY TOLD ME TO HAUL MY VEHICLE OFF OF THE PROPERTY, OR I WOULD BE GUILTY OF TRESPASSING. I HAVE QUIETLY WAITED 5 YEARS TO BRING THIS TO LIGHT, AND IT IS TIME THIS BE BROUGHT FORWARD. SPALDING COUNTY CITIZENS SHOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO KNOW HOW THEIR TAX DOLLARS ARE BEING WASTED TO PROTECT THE GUILTY AND PERPETUATE GANG CRIME.

- Neighbors witnessed Frankie burying a black man's body under a pile of shingles in his yard, (the body should still be there, unless it has been moved) but they have been too fearful of him because he brags about this to people/to discourage them to report this to law enforcement, as it is known that Duncan is so scared of Frankie himself, that when he pulled him over for DUI, he simply followed Frankie home and did not charge him with DUI.

- Neighbors are also tired of Frankie threatening them over his dogs, he owns 9, and even though Animal Control has been out there, they have not taken the dogs into custody for Frankie failing to restrain them. 13-Year-Old Says Wind Pulled Her Out Of House,
Flung Outside

Thursday Mornings Storm Destroyed Spalding County Home

By Jennifer Mayerle, CBS Atlanta Reporter

POSTED: 11:12 pm EDT April 28, 2011

UPDATED: 12:36 am EDT April 29, 2011

GRIFFIN, Ga. -- An EF-3 tornado hit Spalding County and that's where an incredible story of survival comes for the daughter of a sheriff's deputy. The walls came down around the 13-year-old and the wind literally pulled her out of her home.

"It just kind of turns your stomach to see this because not even 24 hours ago everything was fine, everybody was happy," said the girl's brother, 16-year-old Corey Peavy.

Everything changed in an instant for the Peavy family. As they sift through what's left, they recall what happened.

"By the time I heard the noise, it was too late. We didn't have enough time," said mom Stacey Peavy.

The storm early Thursday morning decimated their house. The roof ripped off, walls fell down and their van was bulldozed by the winds. The family said the scariest moment came when 13-year-old Kylie was flung outside.

“My windows started busting open and my wall like, like, fell over,” said Kylie Peavy.

“When I got into her room and the walls went up, I yelled for her and I just heard her scream, ‘Mommy, mommy,’” said Stacey Peavy.

“And I just got like, slung out. When I fell outside, everything started falling over and it was a whole bunch of stuff,” said Kylie Peavy.

Stacey said she somehow pulled Kylie inside.

“We got to my husband because he couldn't get to us and we hid in our closet and waited,” said Stacey Peavy.

When the storm passed, their home was unrecognizable. Corey Peavey said despite losing his home, he's thankful.

“It was a miracle my sister came out, I mean I was scared she wouldn't,” said Corey Peavy.

“We're hanging in there. All of it can be replaced, my kids can't,” said Stacey Peavy.

I'm glad that God spared the Peavy family. May they take it as a divine warning not to shake hands with those who are currently being used as the devil's helpers! You see what happened to Ponderosa and elsewhere; God is not mocked, for whatever a man sows he also reaps. Drug addiction takes what most people own in worldly possessions, but it takes the 10% that is set apart for God. When law enforcement makes deals with people who are addicted to drugs, who worship it as an idol and who can't stop, drug addiction destroys communities and destroys people spiritually. Now you see the war in the spiritual realm reflected in the natural, with the covering of protection removed from this area, of people who posted there to pray. Partying is not everything; especially when you don't want to see your friends die of an overdose when they are like family to you. God can restore everything to the Peavy family, but I pray that this only strengthens their faith in what they can not see. 4-28-11 was an 11yr. anniversary that I almost died so it was already a day with bad significance for me, but God spared my life then, and he spared it again last night. 200 deaths could've been 2,000, easily 20,000: had no one heeded my emails, texts, and messages from the ridge before it hit Griffin. Everything happens for a reason, and I pray that the Peavy family heed it for the warning that it is.

Best news all day, I just found out: I just couldn't live with myself having someone accused of something just because they wanted to do music together and someone got jealous and sent the cops to their house! I have tears streaming down my face, this is a great day! Thank you for keeping your faith Waka, I'm sorry the cops said those things to your Momma, I hate what Lanny did to Robert and to you and Gucci. I'm glad that you did not resist or talk back, it could've been so much worse: HCPD have been known to be @sshholes, to treat you as if you're guilty and you have to prove your innocence. They dropped the charges, because they didn't want you to sue for them obtaining evidence by use of the poisonous tree. I am so glad you kept your faith, I knew it the whole time!!! :D

Home of Libya intelligence chief hit by NATO -neighbour

TRIPOLI Aug 19 (Reuters) - A building in Tripoli destroyed overnight by NATO air strikes was the home of Abdullah al-Senussi, the brother-in-law of Muammar Gaddafi and head of Libyan intelligence, a neighbour said.

Libyan officials brought journalists to the scene of the bombing in a residential area, where a compound of buildings was completely destroyed.

The neighbour, oil engineer Omar Masood, who said he had lived across the street for 35 years, said the compound was the home of Abdullah al-Senussi. Senussi, the intelligence chief who is married to Gaddafi's sister, is one of three Libyan officials wanted by the International Criminal Court in the Hague along with Gaddafi and his son Saif al-Islam. Deadly attacks in Israel 'to avenge' bin Laden

Al-Qaida sources say group behind coordinated terror killing at least 17

Israeli troops on Gaza border

TEL AVIV – Today's deadly attacks in Israel killing at least 17 were meant to avenge the death of Osama bin Laden, jihadist sources within an al-Qaida group in the Gaza Strip told WND.

The sources come from inside two al-Qaida-affiliated organizations, Jihadiya Salafiya and Jaish al-Islam.

The sources said both groups were planning to officially take credit for the attack but now delayed their announcement fearing major Israeli reprisals inside Gaza.

Earlier today, WND reported it was an al-Qaida front group headquartered in the Gaza Strip that was behind a series of coordinated attacks targeting Israelis near the southern border resort town of Eilat, according to Egyptian security officials.

The Egyptian officials are coordinating a joint response to the attacks with Israel.

The attacks took place near the vast Israel-Egyptian border.

At least 17 people reportedly were killed and dozens were wounded in the terrorist attacks on Israeli targets, the deadliest assault on Israeli soil in at least four years.

The first attack was a drive-by shooting targeting an Israeli public bus traveling from Be'er Sheva to Eilat. That shooting was near the community of Netafim. The bus reportedly carried a large number of off-duty Israeli soldiers.

When police and Israel Defense Forces responded to the scene, they were met with several explosive devices that were detonated alongside an IDF vehicle. The devices appear to have been planted there.

Simultaneously, an anti-tank missile was fired from Egypt hitting a private vehicle, and several mortar shells also were fired into Israel, reportedly targeting troops patrolling the Israel-Egypt border.

Israeli forces launched a search for the vehicle that was believed to have transported the gunmen to the bus attack.

A second drive-by-shooting targeted another Israeli bus.

Local reports say the vehicle used in the first bus shooting was tracked down and that a firefight ensued.

The IDF spokesman reported that two to four terrorists were killed during the clashes.

There are reports of more gunfire following a press conference about the attacks by Israel's Defense Minister, Ehud Barack.

An Egyptian security official denied Egypt was involvement in the attacks.

The official told an Egyptian state-run media that the armed terrorists operated from within Israel's borders.

Egyptian security officials, meanwhile, told WND earlier today the attack was carried out by members of Jihadiya Salafiya, an al-Qaida-allied group in Gaza.

The Egyptian officials said the attackers originated in Gaza, crossed into the neighboring Egyptian Sinai peninsula and then penetrated Israel along the Jewish state's border with Egypt.

Egyptian military units the past few days have been carrying out large scale military efforts in the Sinai aimed at minimizing the presence of Jihadiya Salafiya and other al-Qaida-affiliated groups.

Israeli officials confirmed the assailants had crossed into Israel from Egypt's Sinai peninsula, and said there was "clear intelligence information" they originally hailed from the Gaza Strip.

Barak told reporters, "The source of the terror acts is Gaza, and we will act against them with full force and determination."

There was no official claim of responsibility from any group in Gaza or Egypt, although sources within the al-Qaida-linked groups told WND their organizations were indeed behind the attacks.

Hamas denied it was behind the attacks, but members of Hamas praised the operation. Last week, WND reported Israel stopped what would have been a spectacular border terrorist attack planned from inside the Gaza Strip, according to the same Egyptian security officials.

The Egyptian officials said there is information the attack, which had been slated for Tuesday, was aimed at the sole pipeline that supplies Gaza with gas. The pipeline, located at the Israeli town of Nahal Oz, is manned and provided by Israel.

An attack on Gaza's fuel pipelines could have negative implications for Gaza's Hamas rulers.

While both Hamas and al-Qaida are offshoots of the Egyptian Muslim Brotherhood, the groups often clash over a difference in tactics.

In August 2008, Jihadiya Salafiya announced it established an armed wing, which it called the Damascus Soldiers, brandishing weapons in a public display in Gaza while openly identifying with al-Qaida ideologically.

Unlike other radical Islamic organizations such as Hamas and the Muslim Brotherhood, which have demonstrated some pragmatism in aspects of political life while still holding an Islamist worldview, the new al-Qaida organization believes in a strict interpretation of the Quran and that only the Quran can dictate how to act.

The Islamist group believes violent jihad is the primary way to spread Islam around the world, including jihad against secular Muslim states.

Hamas has worked with the al-Qaida-allied groups in Gaza. It took credit along with Jaish al-Islam for the kidnapping in June 2006 of Israeli soldier Gilad Shalit.

But Jihadiya Salafiya has been regularly publishing pamphlets labeling Hamas as "non-Muslim" since the terror group ran in 2006 democratic elections, which the Islamist organizations see as an expression of Western values.

Also, for the past two years, al-Qaida leaders themselves have released audio tapes blasting Hamas for participating in elections and in the democratic process.

Hamas several times has engaged in heavy fire clashes with the Islamist organizations in Gaza, including Jihadiya Salafiya.

Bin Laden's death earlier this year was announced by U.S. President Barack Obama, who said a team of elite U.S. military members raided a Pakistani compound where bin Laden had been located and killed him, burying him at sea almost immediately.

Syria Said to Fire on Protests in Defiance of Global Rebuke

By NADA BAKRI

Published: August 19, 2011

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Thousands of Syrians took to the streets across the country Friday calling for the fall of President Bashar al-Assad, in the first mass display of defiance since Mr. Assad said that military operations against protesters in the five-month-old uprising had ended. Rights activists and residents in Syria said security forces killed at least four protesters.

• Post a Comment »

The Friday protest, held after noon prayers, also represented the first test of new international pressure on Mr. Assad since an alliance of nations led by the United States publicly called for him on Thursday to step down. The top United Nations rights official has also raised pressure on Mr. Assad, releasing a report Thursday that accused his regime of committing atrocities against his own people.

Syrians have been demonstrating on Fridays after noon prayers since the uprising began in March, and activists on the official Facebook page for the Syrian Revolution dubbed this week's demonstrations as "Friday of the beginnings of victory."

On Wednesday, Mr. Assad said in a telephone call with the United Nations.

Secretary-General, Ban Ki-Moon, that military operations against the antigovernment demonstrations were over. But activists reported shooting in several areas across the country. They said that four demonstrators were killed in the southern Dara'a province, where the first protests began five months ago, after security forces arrested and tortured high school students caught scrawling anti-government graffiti on walls.

Activists also said security forces were using live ammunition at protesters in Latakia, along the Mediterranean coast and in Homs, in central Syria, and in Aleppo, Syria's second largest city, which has only seen small protests so far. Three people were also killed on Thursday, activists said, during demonstrations held after an evening prayer performed only during Ramadan, a holy month when Muslims fast from dawn to sunset. In Deir al-Zour, in eastern Syria, where military forces launched an attack on protesters two weeks ago, killing dozens, activists said that Friday's demonstration in the town attracted a big crowd despite the heavy presence of security forces.

"Today people felt more confident," said Maamoun, an activist in Deir al-Zour. "He said that demonstrators were chanting 'the people want to execute the president' and that armed men loyal to the government and known in Syria as shabeeha chased them with batons.

On Thursday, the international community called on Mr. Assad to step down in a coordinated action led by President Obama, who said in a statement released by the White House that the Syrian president's "calls for dialogue and reform have rung hollow while he is imprisoning, torturing and slaughtering his own people."

There was no official Syrian reaction to the international call for Mr. Assad to leave office, but Syrian ambassador to the United Nations, Bashar Ja'afari, rejected it and accused the United States of "instigating further violence in the country, and giving the wrong message to the armed terrorist armed groups that they are under American and Western protection so that they go ahead with their insurrection and destructive activities in the country."

Local media quoted Pakistani Interior Minister Rehman Malik as saying the police attacked were on the way to carry out a search operation in the afore-said area when they came under attack.

"The United States strongly condemns today's attack on scores of innocent Pakistanis in northwest Pakistan. The slaughter of worshipers as they gathered at a mosque for Ramadan's Friday prayers underscores the brutality of those who would target civilians during a time of celebration and reflection for Muslims throughout the world. Our thoughts and prayers are with the families and loved ones affected by this deplorable violence.

WITHOUT A DOUBT

The Abject Poverty of the Unborn, Unwanted Child

BY BISHOP THOMAS J. TOBIN

8/18/11

A few weeks ago, during the acrimonious debate over the debt limit and deficit reduction, a number of religious leaders met with President Obama to ask him not to forget the poor as our nation struggles with its financial crisis. Commenting on the meeting, Catholic Bishop Ricardo Ramirez, said, "We're not interested in which party wins the current political battles but we are worried about who is likely to lose – the families trying to feed their kids, the jobless looking for work, children who need healthcare, the hungry, sick and hopeless."

The religious leaders are part of the Circle of Protection, a non-partisan movement that works to protect the poor and vulnerable in the midst of the challenges presented by a flagging economy. The Circle of Protection includes religious leaders as well as heads of community organizations and agencies.

The American Bishops have also chimed in with their own statement on behalf of the poor: "Their voices are too often missing in these debates, but they have the most compelling moral claim on our consciences and our common resources . . . A just framework for future budgets cannot rely on disproportionate cuts in essential services to poor persons."

Most people would agree, I think, that one of the primary responsibilities of the government – federal, state and local – is to provide a safety net for the poor. While churches and non-profits, community groups and even individual families can and should do their part to assist their neighbors in need, it's only the government that has the financial resources and political infrastructure necessary to respond in a systematic way to the enormous social needs of our time – providing food for the hungry, suitable housing for the homeless, basic healthcare for the sick, sound education for children and opportunities for productive employment. The religious leaders who met with the president were absolutely correct in reminding him of this obligation and encouraging his support. Other political leaders – on a national, state and local level – should be challenged as well.

It occurs to me, however, that if the religious leaders who met with the president to advocate for the poor didn't use the opportunity to speak on behalf of another endangered population, unborn children – and I've seen no report that they did – they missed an important opportunity to instruct and challenge the president on the most substantive moral issue of our time, abortion. The religious leaders had a chance to be courageous prophets, to speak moral truth to secular power. And that opportunity was critical because President Obama is the most ardent pro-abortion advocate we've had. It is an evil agenda he pursues aggressively at every turn.

Obviously it's good, essential in fact, that religious leaders speak on behalf of the poor. That advocacy is a primary obligation of faith. But I can't think of anyone poorer or more vulnerable than an unborn, unwanted child. We speak of homelessness – but who's more homeless than the unborn, unwanted child about to be destroyed, not even finding warm shelter in his mother's arms? We speak of hunger – but who's more in need of sustenance than the unborn, unwanted child totally dependent on the compassionate care of others? We speak of welcoming immigrants and refugees – but who's more alienated than an unborn, unwanted child who's viewed as a burden and then exiled from the human family? And we speak of being weak and disenfranchised – but who has any less control over their own fate than an unborn, unwanted child who will never have a place at the table, whose tiny voice will never be heard?

Now, lest I'm accused of being a single-issue bishop or narrow-minded, ignoring other important social justice issues – and it's a charge I've endured in the past – permit me to present this little apologia for some of the other issues in which I've been involved. In my earliest days in Providence I visited with and supported the “Janitors for Justice” during their labor protests. I've marched in our streets for affordable housing and publicly supported the bond issue for the same cause. I founded and have enthusiastically supported the “Keep the Heat On” program which has provided heating assistance for thousands of families across our state. I directed that diocesan property be used to establish Emmanuel House, a shelter for the homeless during a difficult, even dangerous winter. I've regularly visited our adult prison, the ACI, and have met and prayed with the inmates. I've toured numerous community programs and social agencies in our state to learn about their services and needs, and have sent financial grants to soup kitchens and food pantries. And I've provided a strong and consistent voice on behalf of the immigrant community – documented and otherwise – despite being personally vilified for presenting the position of the Church on that divisive issue.

Please understand that I mention these initiatives not to boast, nor to claim any special credentials but, simply to say that I, like the institutional church itself, am committed to many social justice issues beyond that of the unborn child. Some have accused pro-lifers of being concerned about children only until they're born. It's a ridiculous and scurrilous charge!

At the same time, it's also quite reasonable to insist that the social justice agenda include concern for, and public advocacy for, the poorest, most vulnerable members of our human family – unborn, unwanted children. And at every opportunity we need to challenge our public leaders on this issue, especially those who talk a good game about social justice but actively contribute to the culture of death around us.

Medicare costs rise at slowest pace in six years: S&P

Fri, Aug 19, 2011

Growth in hospital revenue from Medicare patients was roughly one-third the rate seen from patients on private health insurance during the past year, according to data from Standard & Poor's.

Medicare revenue rose 2.5 percent per patient in the year before June, the slowest rate since S&P started keeping track in January 2005, the S&P Healthcare Economic Index showed on Thursday. Revenue for patients on commercial insurance rose 7.48 percent in the year ending in June.

The S&P Healthcare Economic Indices measure the revenue hospitals and other healthcare providers receive for treating each patient under Medicare and commercial insurance programs.

Medicare is the federal health insurance program for the elderly and disabled, with most patients 65 years or older. It has come under heightened public scrutiny as Congress seeks ways to cut government spending, with healthcare costs being one of the biggest contributors.

Defenders of programs like Medicare note that it has done a better job at negotiating down costs with hospitals and other providers than insurance companies, and Thursday's data may bolster that argument.

"In Medicare, the government sets the rules. It's a single payer, which means it's a single market structure," driving costs lower, said David Blitzer, chairman of S&P's Index Committee.

However, Blitzer could not say why Medicare costs were so much lower than those in the private sector this year, and it could depend on how hospitals and physicians calculate costs.

For example, in times of economic downturn, hospitals may have a greater incentive to seek reimbursement for general costs, such as heating and rent, through private insurers rather than through Medicare, since Medicare rates are lower, he said.

"There may also be some downward rate pressure that may be generated by the government pushing down Medicare costs," Blitzer said.

S&P's Hospital Commercial Index, which calculates hospitals' revenue from private insurers, rose 8.4 percent, versus 1 percent for hospitals' revenue from Medicare.

As a whole, health care revenue rose 5.6 percent in the year ending in June, almost 2 percent slower than the prior year.

Left unreformed, Medicare, along with Social Security and Medicaid, will devour 100 percent of all tax revenue by 2047, according to the nonpartisan Government Accountability Office.

Paul Van de Water, a senior fellow at the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities think-tank who specializes in Medicare and health coverage issues, said the S&P figures are a reminder that high healthcare costs are not just a problem for government.

"In fact, Medicare may be doing better than the private healthcare sector (in limiting costs)," he said.

Last week's post commented on the Republican Presidential candidates' knowledge of the Constitution. In that message I made the statement that the Constitution prevents an Obamacare-style individual mandate regardless of whether it's implemented by the Federal government or a State government. Many of you responded with the same question: "What part of the U.S. Constitution prevents a State government from imposing an individual mandate?" This message is my response to that question:

The U.S. Constitution imposes upon the Federal government a duty to protect certain rights of individual citizens against intrusion by State government. This duty arises from at least two places in the Constitution: Article IV section 2, and the 14th Amendment.

Article IV section 2 states: "The citizens of each State shall be entitled to the privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States."

The 14th Amendment section 1 states: “No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.”

These sections unquestionably do impose upon the Federal government a duty to protect individual citizens from State violations of certain rights. But, the question is: what rights are protected from State intrusion? That question has been debated since the Constitution was ratified. We fought a war over it, and the question is still being hotly debated. When it’s answered poorly States lose sovereignty, millions of babies are murdered, private property is stolen by States, and many other rights are violated. When it’s answered properly States are prevented from denying free speech, prevented from imprisoning individuals without a jury trial, prevented from disarming their citizens, and prevented from stealing private property.

Now, our specific question is this: does the Federal government have a duty to protect individual citizens from a State law requiring individuals to purchase health insurance? I believe that the U.S. Constitution imposes such a duty upon Federal government. I understand that many Constitutional scholars would disagree with this assessment, but they’re analysis is flawed.

I admit that the rights protected by the privileges and immunities clause and the 14th Amendment have been interpreted to prevent State actions only in limited and specific circumstances. I also admit that State imposition of an individual mandate arguably does not fall within the things that have been clearly defined as violating individual rights protected by the U.S. Constitution. However, the individual mandate presents a situation never seen before in America.

Never before has a State law imposed a penalty on individuals that do nothing. No criminal or civil law punishes individuals for not acting, unless they have a duty to act that arose from something that the individual did earlier. Taxes are also based upon activity: income, purchasing, using, owning, acquiring, etc.

Court interpretation of the 14th Amendment’s protection of “Liberty” have, so far, limited this right to preventing imprisonment without due process of law. However, the word “Liberty” doesn’t simply mean “not imprisoned.” If the drafters of the Amendment intended this limitation they could have simply said “not imprisoned.” They used the much broader word “Liberty” because they intended to have the Federal government actively prevent States from denying individual citizens “Liberty” without due process of law.

So, what is “Liberty?” Certainly the courts got part of it right. Imprisoning someone without due process certainly violates the 14th Amendment. But this is not ALL of what “Liberty” means. Liberty also means being free from government punishment for doing absolutely nothing. In theory the individual mandate can punish an individual that is born in the woods, has never spoken to another person, has never participated in any market, and wouldn’t know a hospital if it bit him.

You see, the government has created a fiction that all people MUST be part of their health care system, whether they choose to take part or not. The same liberals that support government-sanctioned murder of babies in the name of health care choice, have taken away all Americans' freedom to choose to not participate in the health care system. Ironical, isn't it? They've defined "Life" as not including a living individual with a unique genome. Now they're trying to re-define "Liberty" as simply not being in prison. "Liberty" includes the right to say "No." It includes the right to NOT participate.

The phrase "without due process" doesn't change this analysis. "Without due process" does not mean that a State can deny its citizens' rights to life, liberty, or property by simply passing a law that denies these things. If that were the case, then the rights would have no meaning. The State could simply pass a law revoking any right.

Due process means that if a State does have a substantive right to deny life, liberty, or property, such denial must be based upon an act of the individual and the State must prove that the act happened. In other words, rights must be waived by individuals through their affirmative acts. Rights cannot be denied by the State absent some act of the individual.

In the criminal context, a state must prove that the citizen has violated some criminal law. It must do so without violating other rights protected by the Constitution. It must inform the individual of the charges, allow access to an attorney, not force the individual to testify against themselves, provide a jury trial, and not use evidence obtained in violation of other Constitutional rights. This is "due process of law." In the civil context the State must provide notice of the acts of the individual that gave rise to the State's right to end property rights. Usually a hearing is also required.

What all these circumstances have in common is an action by the individual, which leads to the substantive right of the State to deny an individual right. An act of the individual MUST proceed the State's act that takes away that individual's rights.

Committing a crime, owning property, driving a car, running a business, are all common examples of actions that can lead to loss of rights if laws are violated in the process. Also, the loss of rights by the individual must have some relation to the unlawful action and must be in proportion to that action. If not, the State is again violating due process.

None of this is true for the individual mandate. A State-imposed individual mandate creates a law where the State can hunt down and punish a person born in the woods who has never interacted with anyone.

No State has the right to hunt down and punish an individual that has never done anything. The State has no right to require such an individual to act. If this is not true, then the word "Liberty" has no meaning. *If this isn't true, then we're all in prison now, even if we can't see the bars.

New York Cops Prepare For Civil Unrest

Special unit set up to ‘troll Twitter and Facebook’ for “suspicious activity”

In the aftermath of last week’s riots in the United Kingdom, the NYPD has held a “mobilization exercise” to train police to prepare for civil unrest in the United States, while also launching a program designed to spot signs of potential trouble via social networking websites.

The NYPD Disorder Control Unit brought together police from all five of the city’s boroughs to rehearse what the response would be “should out-of-control riots break out here”.

“Approximately 180 police officers total from each borough’s task force, including the horseback and aviation units, came out for the drill,” reports the Metro.

However, unlike in the United Kingdom where the rioters mainly comprised of teenage kids taking the opportunity to steal iPods and other high-end electrical goods, civil unrest in the United States is far more likely to have a political motivation.

With many Americans now becoming “pre-revolutionary” as a result of their fury at the Obama administration and equally unpopular lawmakers in Washington, potential civil unrest could spring not just from a poverty-stricken underclass, but also the shrinking middle class.

Perhaps that's why the Department of Homeland Security is increasingly focusing its anti-terror apparatus on white middle class Americans, portraying them as domestic terrorist in a series of PSA videos.

In addition to the riot training, a new NYPD unit has also been set up to "troll sites like Twitter and Facebook for suspicious activity" in order to pre-empt potential flash mobs and other civil unrest. Social networking websites like Facebook and Twitter came in for harsh condemnation following the UK riots, with Prime Minister David Cameron advocating authorities have the power to shut down access during times of public disorder.

Re-framing the Racial and Religious Narratives in Crown Heights

In an Aug. 9 opinion piece in The New York Jewish Week, journalism professor Ari Goldman reignites an old debate about the violence that rocked the Brooklyn neighborhood of Crown Heights 20 years ago this week, in August of 1991. It's an honest debate, reflecting deeply held views of a complex conflict.

Unfortunately, Goldman has passed off a partial -- and partisan -- perspective on this conflict as objective, journalistic truth. Goldman makes important points in his essay, but his inability to understand the limits of his own perspective does a terrible disservice to the conversation about Crown Heights that has reemerged around this anniversary. In order to understand how, we need to back up and examine the violence of 1991, as well as the "riot" and "pogrom" narratives of this violence.

The violence in Crown Heights began on the evening of Aug. 19, 1991, with the deaths of a 7-year-old Guyanese boy named Gavin Cato and a 29-year-old Orthodox Jew named Yankel Rosenbaum -- the former struck by a car in the motorcade of the Lubavitcher Rebbe (the spiritual and temporal leader of the Lubavitch Hasidic community), and the latter stabbed by a Black rioter hours later. Over the next three days, Blacks and Jews faced off in angry demonstrations, hurling rocks, bottles, slogans and slurs. A half-dozen stores were looted, and a few Black youths assaulted Jews, journalists and police.

In the years that followed, the dramatic story of "Crown Heights" became a potent symbol of communal conflict in New York and throughout the United States. On the streets of Crown Heights, however, few could agree about the nature of this conflict.

As I argue in my 2006 book, "Race and Religion Among the Chosen Peoples of Crown Heights," most Jewish Crown Heights residents experienced this violence as a "pogrom" motivated by baseless gentile hostility toward Jews, while most black Crown Heights residents experienced the same violence as a "riot" motivated by pent-up black frustration at white privilege. These conflicting narratives of the violence of 1991 fit, and confirmed, much broader understandings of black-Jewish difference as a religious difference between Jews and gentiles or, alternatively, a racial difference between blacks and whites. These differing perceptions became clear to me through scores of interviews with a broad range of Crown Heights residents, when I did ethnographic field research in the neighborhood from 1996 to 1998.

Now let's flash forward to the present, and watch as Goldman flashes back to his own experiences as a journalist working for The New York Times during the violence of August 1991. Goldman is deeply critical of the Times and other media outlets for, in his view, forcing the conflict in Crown Heights into the prefabricated narrative frame of a "race riot," and ignoring the more troubling reality of a "pogrom in Brooklyn" (in his colleague A.M. Rosenthal's terms). Goldman writes: "The city's newspapers, so dedicated to telling both sides of the story in the name of objectivity and balance, often missed what was really going on. Journalists initially framed the story as a 'racial' conflict and failed to see the anti-Semitism inherent in the riots."

Goldman is quite right to fault the media, and the Times specifically, for fitting the extraordinarily complicated violence of August 1991 into the reductive terms of black and white. Unfortunately, however, he seems oblivious to the fact that his own description of an anti-Semitic pogrom is also a prefabricated narrative frame that fails to capture the complexity of Crown Heights.

Both the narratives of a "riot" and a "pogrom" are selective interpretations -- and experiences -- of the violence of 1991, as these narrative frames became lived realities for many Crown Heights residents. Each story highlights certain events while ignoring or downplaying others.

The "riot" narrative focuses on politicized demonstrations and acts of collective violence that may be read as responses to the history of racial inequality in Crown Heights, while downplaying the brutal attacks on individual Jews like Yankel Rosenbaum, as well as the abhorrent anti-Semitic rhetoric of some rioters.

The "pogrom" narrative, by contrast, focuses on these acts of physical and verbal brutality to the exclusion of all else -- down-playing the violence of some local Jews, and above all refusing to entertain any question of Jewish negligence or irresponsibility in the tragic accident that killed Gavin Cato.

Each of these narratives contains some portion of the truth about the violence of 1991. And perhaps more important, each speaks to the deeper significance of this violence, as it was experienced by some -- but certainly not all -- Crown Heights residents.

Yet, neither narrative, in itself, conveys the whole truth of this tragedy. Goldman is right to critique the failures and biases of the "riot" narrative told by the Times, but his blindness to the failures and biases of his own "pogrom" narrative is truly startling. He is absolutely right to conclude that "fitting stories into frames ... is wrong and even dangerous. Life is more complicated than that." And Crown Heights, I'm afraid, is far more complicated than Goldman recognizes.

If New Yorkers and others are ever going to get past the violence of August 1991, we all need to recognize that our perceptions of this violence are only that -- perceptions based on partial views of an extraordinarily complex truth. Ari Goldman's effort to assert his own partial perspective as incontestable fact is an unfortunate step backwards in this important process.

NEW YORK (CNNMoney) -- U.S. stocks were slammed with another wave of late-day selling on Friday as investors were faced with disappointing news from Hewlett-Packard as well lingering issues with Europe's debt crisis and the future of the U.S. economy.

Friday's drop came after the Dow plunged more than 400 points on Thursday and added to what had already been steep declines for U.S. markets.

In all, it was another nasty week for U.S. investors, with the Dow, S&P and Nasdaq falling between 4% and 6% over the past five days.

On Friday, the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 173 points, or 1.6%, to end at 10,818. The S&P 500 lost 17 points, or 1.5%, to finish at 1,124 and the Nasdaq Composite fell 39 points, or 1.6%, to 2,342.

The biggest drag on the blue chips was Hewlett-Packard, which dropped 20% on the day.

Hewlett-Packard disappointed investors Thursday after the company cut its full-year forecast, announced it was ending its tablet business and said it was looking to exit the consumer PC business as well.

World markets dropped for a second straight session, as global economic fears continued to build.

"Global markets remain rattled by a crisis that is fast morphing into a global banking and economic crisis on one side, and a very piecemeal policy approach to contain risks on the other," said Marc Chandler, global head of currency strategy at Brown Brothers Harriman.

Britain's FTSE 100 index closed down 1%, the DAX in Germany dropped 2.2% and France's CAC 40 sank 1.9%.

"People are remembering Lehman -- and are reacting accordingly," said Fred Dickson, chief market strategist with D.A. Davidson & Co.

Friday's global sell-off came a day after Morgan Stanley cut global growth forecasts, saying the U.S. and Europe are "dangerously close to a recession."

Adding to these concerns, Deutsche Bank downgraded its economic forecast for China, saying a slowdown or recession in the U.S. or European economies would be "the single most important shock to the Chinese economy," and could slow the nation's GDP growth to 7%.

In 2010, China's economy grew at a robust rate above 10%, and is forecast to grow more than 9% in 2011.

Meanwhile, JPMorgan Chase sliced its fourth-quarter U.S. GDP growth estimate to 1%, down from its previous projection of 2.5%. The bank also warned that the risks of a recession are "are clearly elevated."

"It's not a foregone conclusion that we're recession-bound, [but] clearly the U.S. economy is slowing," said Rob Lutts, chief investment officer with Cabot Money Management.

Investors continued to seek shelter in traditional safe havens, including gold. The precious metal jumped as much as $59.40 on Friday, bolting to a fresh intraday record of $1,881.40 an ounce before pulling back to a settlement record of $1,852.20.

On Thursday, the Dow fell more than 400 points, as renewed concerns about the U.S. and global economies send investors fleeing from equities.

Companies: Bank of America's stock edged lower, after the company announced it is cutting 3,500 jobs, in addition to the 2,500 jobs the bank eliminated earlier this year.

Gap shares were up 3% after the retailer reported better-than-expected results after Thursday's closing bell.

Currencies and commodities: The dollar firmed against the euro and British pound, and was flat versus the Japanese yen.

Oil for September delivery slipped 46 cents to $81.92 a barrel, having fallen as low as $79.17 earlier in the session.

Bonds: The price on the benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury fell slightly, pushing the yield up to 2.09% from 2.08% late Thursday.

World markets: It was another tough day for Asian markets. Japan's Nikkei lost 2.5%, the Hang Seng in Hong Kong tumbled 3.1% and the Shanghai Composite fell 1%.

Amid all the market volatility and weakness in the financial sector of late, you may have missed this WSJ front page story: "States Go After Big Bank on Forex".

The story is about growing scandal in the banking industry centered around banks allegedly overcharging pension funds for currency transactions.

"Attorneys general in Virginia and Florida filed civil suits against BNY Mellon alleging that the bank cheated pension funds in those states by choosing improper prices for currency trades the bank processed for the funds," The WSJ reports. "The Virginia lawsuit, filed in a Fairfax, Va., state court, cites internal bank emails allegedly showing that senior bank officials knew about, and endorsed, a currency-trading method that hurt state pensioners."

In addition to Virginia and Florida, California and Tennessee are also suing BNY Mellon and State Street Corp. over the alleged fraud.

The man who uncovered the alleged scam, Harry Markopolos, expects all 50 states to eventually join the suit. If the name sounds familiar that's because Markopolos was a whistleblower on the Madoff Ponzi scheme, only to have his claims ignored by the SEC for the better part of a decade.

(See: Harry Markopolos Says Big Banks Worse Than Madoff)

In this case, Markopolos says BNY Mellon and State Street we're taking about "three tenths of a percent from every forex transaction for pension funds" by back-timing the trade to benefit banks at the detriment of their pension fund clients. "It's almost the exact same scheme as the market timing scandals of 2003," he claims.

When and if these cases go to trial is unknown, but Markopolos sure hopes to avoid a settlement. "I want to see them admit guilt," he tells Aaron Task in the accompanying interview. "If [banks] settle it feel like justice denied because they also will settle without admitting or denying guilt. That's just too easy. "

Economist Noted 150 Years Ago That Corruption At the Top Leads to Lawlessness By The People

I've repeatedly noted that corruption at the top leads to lawlessness by the people.

William K. Black - Associate Professor of Economics and Law at the University of Missouri at Kansas City, and the former head S&L regulator - notes that conservative French economist Frédéric Bastiat said the same thing more than 150 years ago.

Specifically, Bastiat said that corruption and "plunder" by government officials causes lawlessness among the people.

Unfortunately, the lawlessness by those at the top will lead to lawlessness by the people.

This will lead to the break down of the economy and the financial system ... and society as a whole.

Regulation Business, Jobs Booming Under Obama

By John Merline, Investor's Business Daily

+If the federal government's regulatory operation were a business, it would be one of the 50 biggest in the country in terms of revenues, and the third largest in terms of employees, with more people working for it than McDonald's, Ford, Disney and Boeing combined.

Under President Obama, while the economy is struggling to grow and create jobs, the federal regulatory business is booming.

Regulatory agencies have seen their combined budgets grow a healthy 16% since 2008, topping $54 billion, according to the annual "Regulator's Budget," compiled by George Washington University and Washington University in St. Louis.

That's at a time when the overall economy grew a paltry 5%.

Meanwhile, employment at these agencies has climbed 13% since Obama took office to more than 281,000, while private-sector jobs shrank by 5.6%.

Michael Mandel, chief economic strategist at the Progressive Policy Institute, found that between March 2010 and March 2011 federal regulatory jobs climbed faster than either private jobs or overall government jobs. (See chart.)

Regulatory production is way up, too, if you measure that by the number of rules federal agencies churn out.

The Obama administration imposed 75 new major rules in its first 26 months, costing the private sector more than $40 billion, according to a Heritage Foundation study. “No other president has imposed as high a number or cost in a comparable time period,” noted the study’s author, James Gattuso.

The number of pages in the Federal Register — where all new rules must be published and which serves as proxy of regulatory activity — jumped 18% in 2010.

This July, regulators imposed a total of 379 new rules that will cost more than $9.5 billion, according to an analysis by Sen. John Barrasso, R-Wyo.

And much more is on the way. The Federal Register notes that more than 4,200 regulations are in the pipeline. That doesn’t count impending clean air rules from the EPA, new derivative rules, or the FCC’s net neutrality rule. Nor does that include recently announced fuel economy mandates or eventual ObamaCare and Dodd-Frank regulations.

But what’s good for regulators isn’t necessarily good for the private sector, as compliance burdens impose ever-increasing costs on businesses.

“Our economy is continuing to sink,” Sen. Barrasso said, “and it’s being weighed down by regulations coming out of this administration.”

By 2008, the cost of complying with federal rules and regulations already exceeded $1.75 trillion a year, according to a 2010 study issued by the Small Business Administration.

Worse, the SBA found that small companies — which account for most of America’s new jobs — spend 36% more per employee to comply with these rules than larger firms.

Cass Sunstein, who runs the White House Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, denies the regulatory upsurge, writing recently that “there has been no increase in rule making in this administration.” He also notes Obama ordered a comprehensive regulatory review in January that uncovered $1 billion worth of needless red tape.

But Progressive Policy Institute’s Mandel says this review “doesn’t go far enough” and that having regulators prune their own rules “has been tried repeatedly in the past, and it’s always fallen far short of expectations.” He favors an independent “regulatory improvement commission.”

Meanwhile, Rep. Geoff Davis, R-Ky., is pushing the REINS Act, which would require Congress to vote for and the president to sign off on all new major regulations.

Not everyone in the Obama administration sees a problem. The EPA thinks new regulations can fuel the economy and hiring.

The EPA wrote in February that “in periods of high unemployment, an increase in labor demand due to regulation may have a stimulative effect that results in a net increase in overall employment.”

Your morning jolt: Jon Huntsman, Christine O'Donnell headed to state Capitol

9:28 am August 19, 2011, by jgalloway

Republican presidential candidate Jon Huntsman announced via Twitter on Thursday that he's a thoroughly modern man when it comes to Darwin and climate change – unlike a certain Texas governor.

From the Associated Press:

“To be clear. I believe in evolution and trust scientists on global warming. Call me crazy,” Huntsman tweeted.

Although Huntsman didn't mention Perry by name, the tweet was sent within hours of a campaign stop by Perry in New Hampshire where he was asked by the crowd about both topics.

While Perry dodged a question about climate change, he has previously said the theory is unproven. On Thursday, he defended the teaching of creationism in schools because evolution “has some gaps to it.”

Why is this worth a mention? Because on Wednesday, Huntsman will be at the state Capitol in Atlanta to meet Gov. Nathan Deal and as many state legislators as possible. Perry already has a firm contingent of supporters in the Capitol, and Deal is still formally tied to Gingrich – a convenient if unlikely shelter when everybody and his brother are trying to draw you into their fight.

Jon Huntsman will be preceded at the state Capitol by Christine O'Donnell, the former U.S. Senate candidate from Delaware. She'll stop by on Monday. But O'Donnell made a bit of news this morning when, on NBC's "Today," she said she walked off Piers Morgan's CNN show because of what she described as his "very inappropriate, creepy line of questioning." The Delaware Republican said she wanted to stop the "borderline sexual harassment that was going on."

Roll Call reports this morning that U.S. Sen. Johnny Isakson, R-Ga., is the 48th richest member of Congress, worth $6.49 million. That's up 2.6 percent over last year, meaning that Isakson's investments are outperforming the national economy. However, among his peers, Isakson has dropped slightly – he was the 46th richest last year. Still at the top is U.S. Rep. Michael McCaul, R-Texas, who's worth $294 million.

With his Gang of Six activities, U.S. Sen. Saxby Chambliss, R-Ga., may be taking the biggest risk of his political career. But don't think that means he's not running in 2014, he said – yet again – on Thursday. From Larry Peterson and the Savannah Morning News: "I'm wide open running again," the Georgia Republican told reporters Thursday after touring the Efacec Power Transformers plant in Rincon. "I'm campaigning every day." He's taken flak from tea party activists for helping lead an effort — which includes additional tax revenue — to reduce the federal budget deficit. Some commentators say his willingness to risk the wrath of a group with big clout in GOP primaries means he won't seek a third six-year term.

In a Thursday post, we mentioned that several Republicans from Buckhead and Sandy Springs – including Beth Beskin and Josh Belinfante – are considering entrance into the Senate District 6 race.

And that Democratic incumbent Doug Stoner of Smyrna, who's district was hauled into Fulton County, has been approached about switching parties.

More potential GOP candidates are floating to the surface: Hunter Hill of Vinings, who ran against Stoner in 2008; and Bob Irvin of Atlanta, the former House minority leader. Irvin's candidacy would be interesting – given that he's the past president of Common Cause Georgia and has been critical of the Legislature's tolerance of "low-level conflict of interest and low-level corruption."

On Blogging While Blue, former Atlanta mayor Shirley Franklin wonders whether, in their search for a constitutional majority, Republicans are repeating the big mistake that Democrats made during the 2001 redistricting session:

If the courts ultimately allow the Republican maps, their plan could still backfire for individual

Republican members – many in places like Gwinnett County find themselves in districts that are much more competitive than in the past, as map makers have subtracted reliable Republican neighborhoods from these districts in an effort to create new Republican leaning districts elsewhere.

It's worth noting that ten years ago Democrats thought they too were in reach of a constitutional majority in the Senate, but left so many districts with only narrow Democratic advantages that on Election Day in 2002 they lost in seven districts where their candidates came within 5% of a victory.

Maybe you didn't notice, but this gambling crackdown ordered by Gov. Nathan Deal could create something of a re-match of the 2010 race for attorney general, which featured Republican Sam Olens versus Democrat Ken Hodges.

Olens won, and Hodges now represents some of the businesses in the governor's sights. From my AJC colleague Aaron Gould Sheinin:

Atlanta lawyer Ken Hodges, who represents business centers that sell Internet time, said state law provides for legitimate operations to engage in sweepstakes promotions without running afoul of Georgia's gambling statutes.

"The people who I represent are not the only people doing this type of business in the state and I can't speak for the others," Hodges said Thursday. "But what my clients are doing is in compliance with the laws of the state of Georgia. Illegal gambling is not our model of business."

Lori Geary and Channel 2 Action News offers up a look at what these Internet centers look like: What's curious about this whole episode that, 10 years ago, during the 2001 redistricting session, Gov. Roy Barnes initiated a crackdown on video poker – angering a crowd of convenience store owners.

The AJC's Politifact Georgia today takes on former Atlanta Public School superintendent Beverly Hall's assertion that 2010 and 2011 test scores in APS schools haven't been questioned.

Dallas Fed President: Uncertainty is Holding Back Economy

by Sean Hackbarth

What's holding back businesses from investing, hiring workers, and growing the economy? Dallas Fed president and CEO Richard Fisher lays it on an environment of uncertainty [emphasis mine]:

Those with the capacity to hire American workers—small businesses as well as large, publicly traded or private—are immobilized. Not because they lack entrepreneurial zeal or do not wish to grow; not because they can't access cheap and available credit. Rather, they simply cannot budget or manage for the uncertainty of fiscal and regulatory policy. In an environment where they are already uncertain of potential growth in demand for their goods and services and have yet to see a significant pickup in top-line revenue, there is palpable angst surrounding the cost of doing business.

Fisher's observation matches the findings of the Chamber's most-recent Small Business Outlook Survey and the video of CKE Restaurants CEO Andy Puzder I posted yesterday.

The regulatory agencies, which increased their employment by 13% since President Obama took office, add to that uncertainty. Earlier this year, the administration said they'd examine regulations and eliminate outdated and unnecessary ones. But the result has been minimal. As Michael Mandel from the Progressive Policy Institute writes, "regulators continue to act in ways that discourage business investment and make it harder for even our strongest industries to create jobs." He goes on:

While regulators may have followed the letter of the executive order and rooted out a few old rules, some are ignoring the order's spirit. Indeed, regulatory drag may be one reason why the past decade has seen few breakthrough products, outside of information technology and communications.

What's needed is a regulatory system that supports innovation and job creation while also protecting public well being. That's why a presidential jobs tour should include time with regulators to remind them that putting Americans back to work must be our highest priority.

Fisher said it well, "Uncertainty is corrosive; it is hurting job creation and capital expansion when we need it most." Restoring checks and balances to the regulatory process will help reduce economic anxiety.

IN ECONOMIC UNCERTAINTY, IT SEEMS HARDER TO TIE GOOD BEHAVIOR TO REWARD IN TEACHING OUR CHILDREN. HERE'S HOW TO TEACH MANNERS EVERY DAY, SO THAT IT BECOMES A PART OF CHARACTER WITHOUT CREATING THE NEXT GENERATION OF SPOILED BRATS AND ENTITLEMENT SOCIETY JR. :

Post by Elev8 Health in Elev8 Health on Aug 19, 2011 at 10:00 am

Children should be trained in basic etiquette. Each day I feel as if the responsibility to teach our children basic manners has gone right out the window. Just how basic is basic, though? As a teacher and a Godmother, I am stickler for manners. If you don't use them, you get nothing. My parents taught me that manners built character. Character is what defines you in life. It is the ability that allows you to draw the line on behavior.

Here are 8 steps for the basics in manners

- 1. Saying "Please" Saying "please" should begin as soon as your child is able to ask for something. If she's old enough to ask for sippy cup refills, she should be able to tack a "please" onto the request.
- 2. Saying "Thank You" Following close on the heels of "please," your child should be able to say "thank you" whenever she is given something. She should be able to say thank you to her parents, her teachers, other adults, and her own friends.
- 3. No Interruptions This one is harder for kids to grasp, but your child should not interrupt adults when they are talking. If you can at least teach your child to say, "Excuse me," before steamrolling your conversation, consider it a lesson taught.
- 4. Holding the Door for Others This is so basic, but it's a breach of etiquette that happens all the time—even between adults. Just observe it in a busy mall on a Saturday. It's so much more pleasant if your child learns to hold the door for you and for others. It's even better if you can teach them not to bolt in and out of elevators.

Be sure to read : How To Help Your Child With ADHD

5. Using an "Inside Voice" Establish a rule in your house—shouting, yelling, and hollering is for outdoor use only. Inside, a normal—or even, dare we say, quiet—voice should be the norm. Again, this is a social skill that is reinforced in school, but it's one that should be started at home.

6. Walk, Not Run Running is great exercise...for the great outdoors. The great indoors is made for walking. End of story.

7. Basic Table Manners Use a napkin, sit still in your chair, chew with your mouth closed, no smacking, no slurping. We are so often on the go, dining whenever and wherever we can, that these basic table manners are often disregarded but they are crucial to social acceptance. And they make mealtime so much more pleasant for everyone.

8. Sensitivity As a parent, you are responsible for installing a kind of social filter in your child, one that teaches her sensitivity towards others. This means that your child may be curious about people who look different or sound different than she does, but it's not OK to point at a stranger and loudly describe his differences. Detailed explanations of race, handicaps, or other obvious differences are best had in the privacy of your home. Children learn through pets what behavior is appropriate and inappropriate. Be sure to read: 8 Guidelines For Teaching Children How To Care For Pets

Remember to teach at an age appropriate level. Once you begin the behavior children thrive with the expectation. After all, depending on your child's age, some rules are easy to teach but others are developmentally impossible. Take it one step at a time.

Ecstasy Could Treat Cancer, Researchers Say

Published August 19, 2011

Researchers in Britain revealed Friday they are exploring whether the nightclubbers' drug ecstasy could be effective in treating blood cancers.

Scientists at the University of Birmingham in central England said modified forms of the drug boosted its ability to destroy cancerous cells by 100 times.

Six years ago, researchers found that cancers affecting white blood cells appeared to respond to certain "psychotropic" drugs.

These included weight loss pills, Prozac-type antidepressants, and amphetamine derivatives such as MDMA—commonly known as ecstasy.

The Birmingham scientists said their discoveries since then could lead to MDMA derivatives being used in patient trials.

The derivatives could be effective in treating blood cancers such as leukemia, lymphoma and myeloma.

"This is an exciting next step towards using a modified form of MDMA to help people suffering from blood cancer," said Professor John Gordon, from the university's School of Immunology and Infection.

"While we would not wish to give people false hope, the results of this research hold the potential for improvements in treatments in years to come."

The team found that the dose of MDMA required to treat a tumor would prove fatal, so they set about isolating the drug's cancer-killing properties.

They are now looking at ways to get MDMA molecules to penetrate cancer cell walls more easily.

Doctor David Grant, scientific director of the Leukemia and Lymphoma Research charity, which part-funded the study, said, "The prospect of being able to target blood cancer with a drug derived from ecstasy is a genuinely exciting proposition.

"Many types of lymphoma remain hard to treat and non-toxic drugs which are both effective and have few side effects are desperately needed."

The findings are published in the bi-monthly journal Investigational New Drugs.

<http://www.facebook.com/groups/womensonlineteapartygroup/doc/232283230144292/> TEA IS CHEAPER AND MUCH SAFER FOR YOU THAN SYNTHESIZED DRUGS

OR PARTICIPATE:

When H.R. 4872 did not provide any of us uninsured folks with health insurance, it is a corrupt contract to levy taxes onto the states, GA will suffer $2.5 billion in deficits over the next 10yrs. without FULL repeal AND DEFUNDING, the only thing it did provide: raging unemployment 9-10%+, still no health insurance, and $14 trillion dollar federal deficit. We have now hit the debt ceiling, and it is necessary that we cut spending, Obama's 2010 budget by impeachment, and repealing H.R. 4872 in its entirety!!

Wearing your maddest hat, join us for a spot of tea at a
MAD HATTER
TEA PARTY

YOU ARE HEREBY INSTRUCTED TO PAY
NO TAXES: PLANT, FARM, BUY AND TRADE FOOD TO AVOID PAYING SALES TAX.

AVOID ALL MAJOR PURCHASES, INCLUDING CLOTHING AND OTHER HOUSEHOLD ITEMS.

BUY AMERICAN-MADE PRODUCTS
ONLY, THOSE MADE BY NATIVE AMERICANS, AMISH, OR LOCAL CHURCH ORGANIZATIONS.

DO NOT TURN IN FEDERAL INCOME TAX AND GIVE AS MUCH TO CHARITY AS POSSIBLE.

STOCKPILE GOLD: NOW IS THE BEST TIME TO PAY OFF OLD DEBTS IN CASH, AS THE DOLLAR IS ONLY WORTH HALF.

REMEMBER THE GOVERNMENT IS FLAT
BROKE BECAUSE OBAMA WASTED $9 TRILLION IN LESS THAN 3YRS., SO THE GOVERNMENT HAS NO MONEY LEFT TO OPERATE BY 8-2-2011 OR CREDIT TO FINANCE ITS OPEARTION.

1/1/2011 - 9/11/2011 dress code applicable:

TEA PARTY COLORS ARE:

 PURPLE, FOR A BLENDING OF THE TWO PARTY'S POLICIES

OR

BLACK, FOR FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY TO KEEP OUR COUNTRY IN THE BLACK WITH RESPONSIBLE SPENDING

You, as a citizen of the United States, are cordially invited to join us in peaceful revolution, against the fiscal irresponsibility of the powers that be, to firmly remind them that we pay their bills, and that we're tired of having the interest of the majority shoved under the rug while our Congresspeople and Senators barter and trade votes to appease Obama in feigned bipartisanship in representing what his direction is for our country, instead of what we want as the majority! You are called upon by the good citizens of this country to exercise your rights to free speech and freedom of expression by joining us!

In keeping with the eclectic style of the Tea Party, please wear purple or black clothing and your maddest hat, now through the Spring: hats can be top hats, stylish winter hats, knitted hats, or ball caps with a black or purple ribbon on them. Any political T-shirt or message related clothing is encouraged and appropriate.

Resolve to meet once a week or more, form your own group, and discuss politics, because watching the Sunday morning political shows between 9-12 has gotten boring !!!!
