Backstory: After having been trained by a dragon and had left her at the age of five Sayuri had gone to explore to find her older brother [by 2 years]. After finding him they had trained together under Ur and had become both Ice mages. After the death of their master they had gone to join the Fairytale guild. After having lot's of adventure's with her brother some of the member's had gone to an island to see who would become an S-Class mage. After a lot of the other's had gone missing Sayrui had been the only one left at the guild of being one of the strongest. After several guild's harassed her home [mostly Sabertooth], she had enough and had joined Sabertooth only after her guild had a huge debt to pay from them. Sayuri had ended up joining even though some of her family didn't want her to leave, she knew that if she had went that the debt would be paid.
