Updates & Upcoming Events

The custodial crew has been working really hard over the summer. I gotta thank them for all they've done. The building looks awesome and is ready for students to come back. The gray walls look a lot nicer than the old brown paint and I know that was a big undertaking to get done in time for school to start.

On August 5th Mrs. Cline, Mrs. Hoffmann and myself met with our regional literacy coach for a half day to work through a flowchart system for reading interventions. This was important work so that we can align our interventions and provide equitable supports for all students K-6th. This will help us so that all staff are using supports that are proven effective to best help students close the gap on their learning.

We had some PD around teacher credibility from the ESU on Tuesday. It fit really nice with the Jimmy Casa's message that we talked through on Monday. Admin has been discussing how we can keep coming back to the message of "I got you" instead of "gotcha" to help the climate and culture of our building as well as how everyone in the district is responsible for cultivating that message.

Open house went really well. I felt like a large majority of our families showed up. It was great to have kids back in the building and to talk with parents.

Thanks to the booster club for the back to school BBQ. It was an amazing turnout and everyone left well fed.
