

SL: Ameet. Did you know about this technique to easily convert website visitors to clients?

Hey Ameet,

You have a really different way of clearing the aura before starting the Reiki healing. The hand motions, I have not seen it anywhere else. Quite fascinating.

I noticed your website from the link that was posted along with the video by ASMR Beauty. I realized you actually put a variety of courses that any person can choose on their comfort.

Yet, I didn't see any steps taken toward creating leads and converting them.

May I ask why?

It is like walking off leaving money on the table.

Specifically, I was wondering if have you thought about presenting your Free 15-minute consultation as a free value.

This will encourage those leads to give up their contact information.

Just like the opt-in pages you see on other websites to collect contacts,

So even if they don't immediately commit to your courses, you can always send a retargeted email sequence to subtly bring them back to your course page and fully convert.

I saw you have an upcoming group course in London on your website.

Have you considered giving this approach a try?

If yes. We can test it out to see how it goes. Reply "yes" to this email and I will send it over.