

DISCOVERING PANAFRICAN SOLUTIONS

This documentary was written by Taonga, a private detective. Taonga would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Panafrican Solutions.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2018, former Iranian spies established their own private military corporation, Panafrican Solutions. Panafrican Solutions would later infiltrate several small corporations to secure a monopoly over Real Estate. Panafrican Solutions is entirely controlled by one person, the Administrator, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a era of profitability due to its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. Panafrican Solutions infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2026, Integral Technologies cancelled a valuable contract with Panafrican Solutions, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Panafrican Solutions's products dried up. To save the company from extinction, Panafrican Solutions would hire agents to blackmail the Managing Director of EuchreJack Enterprises, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Taonga predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be destroyed.

LEGACY OF INTEGRAL TECHNOLOGIES

This memoir was written by Mchumba, a government official. Mchumba would be brutally assassinated by agents of Integral Technologies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, a Chinese hacktivist collective established the nonprofit corporation Integral Technologies, dedicated towards developing open-source Outsourcing/Offshoring. Integral Technologies is a decentralized entity organized around "projects". Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The CEO is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees' performances.

The company entered a period of growth due to its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. Integral Technologies began marketing directly to the youth demographic by exploiting viral marketing tactics.

In 2027, Bionautics accused Integral Technologies of stealing blueprints and has released evidence proving that charge. Revenge is being openly considered. To forestall bankruptcy, Integral Technologies sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Global Omnium.

Mchumba predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

CHRONICLES OF FOUNTAINHEAD

This hardcover book was written by Germogen, a former employee. Germogen 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2017, Fountainhead (a Japanese government agency) was formally privatized to help raise money for the mother country. Fountainhead specialized in Import & Export. Fountainhead is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The CEO serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a age of growth because of its strict "code of honor". However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Recently, Fountainhead declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2026, Fountainhead lost much of its market share to Liberation Consortium due to the latter's use of assassinations. To boost company morale, Fountainhead agreed to share their intellectual property with Bachman and Associates.

Germogen predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

ANALYZING GELLAR-CUZIN

This e-book was written by Osamu, a former Director. Osamu would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Gellar-Cuzin.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, a military intervention by the United States destroyed the Afghan dictatorship. The dictator himself escaped, along with his considerable wealth and investments in Design. The dictator wanted to continue funding his lavish lifestyle so he consolidated all his assets into a nonprofit corporation known today as Gellar-Cuzin. Gellar-Cuzin is officially led by a strong Administrator who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a era of profitability due to its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, its fanatical nature serves to alienate it from other corporations. Gellar-Cuzin started sponsoring the counterculture movement, in the hopes of tapping the “outcast” market demographics.

In 2030, law enforcement raided the offices of Gellar-Cuzin and arrested some of their directors for assassinating government officials. Gellar-Cuzin claimed that they were framed by United Process Control and vowed revenge. To save the company from extinction, Gellar-Cuzin would work with Global Omnium on a lobbying campaign to convince the federal government to give them subsidies. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Osamu predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be taken over by Global Omnium.

This documentary was written by Yuuka, an entrepreneur. Yuuka soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, former Afghan spies established their own private military corporation, Left Hand. Left Hand would later infiltrate several small corporations to secure a monopoly over Legal Services. Left Hand is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Administrator serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a period of growth because of its good public relations. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. Left Hand announced its belief that technological research has gone “too far”, thereby gaining the support of Luddists.

In 2030, Mirai cancelled a valuable contract with Left Hand, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Left Hand's products dried up. To forestall bankruptcy, Left Hand signed an alliance with United Process Control with the explicit purpose of taking down their common enemy: Mirai. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Yuuka predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be destroyed.

RECONTEXTUALIZING PANAFRICAN SOLUTIONS

This podcast was written by Mackenzie, a mercenary. Mackenzie soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2017, a military intervention by the United States destroyed the Iranian dictatorship. The dictator himself escaped, along with his considerable wealth and investments in Education Management. The dictator wanted to continue funding his lavish lifestyle so he consolidated all his assets into a nonprofit corporation known today as Panafrican Solutions. Panafrican Solutions is officially led by a puppet CEO but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a age of prosperity because of its magnificent customer service. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. Recently, Panafrican Solutions declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2028, Zik Zak declared bankruptcy. Both Bionautics and Panafrican Solutions claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To save the company from extinction, Panafrican Solutions participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Left Hand campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Mackenzie predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be seized by Bionautics.

CORPORATE VIRTUES IN INCLUSIVE INDUSTRIES

This podcast was written by Lim Bao, a journalist. Lim Bao would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Inclusive Industries.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2022, wealthy philanthropists formed a “nonprofit corporation” called Inclusive Industries, dedicated towards coordinating Professional Training. Inclusive Industries is entirely controlled by one person, the CEO, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a period of prosperity due to its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Inclusive Industries infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2028, Inclusive Industries lost much of its market share to Left Hand due to the latter's use of hackers to steal confidential memos and blueprints. To forestall bankruptcy, Inclusive Industries would work with United Process Control on a lobbying campaign to convince the federal government to give them subsidies. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Lim Bao predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

CHRONICLES OF EINMISCHUNG GMBH

This podcast was written by Vaska, a former employee. Vaska soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, the centrist terrorist organization Einmischung GmbH “went legit” in return for legal immunity for their crimes. Einmischung GmbH abandoned their political activism to instead focus on maintaining their massive Graphic Design holdings. Einmischung GmbH is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Chairman is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a era of prosperity due to its strict "code of honor". However, rumors persists of "skeletons in the closet". Einmischung GmbH started sponsoring the counterculture movement, in the hopes of tapping the “outcast” market demographics.

In 2028, Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated hacked into the computer systems of Einmischung GmbH, stealing credits. This has considerably harmed Einmischung GmbH's business. To boost company morale, Einmischung GmbH participated in a cross-promotional advertising with United Process Control campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Vaska predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be seized by Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated.

This blog was written by Zan Jiang, a government official. Zan Jiang 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2022, the criminal organization The Unguided “went legit” in return for legal immunity for their crimes. The Unguided abandoned their criminal activities to instead focus on maintaining their massive Information Services holdings. The Unguided is entirely controlled by one person, the CEO, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a era of profitability due to its respect for the environment. However, rumors persists of "skeletons in the closet". Recently, The Unguided declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2028, law enforcement raided the offices of The Unguided and arrested some of their directors for assassinating government officials. The Unguided claimed that they were framed by Zik Zak and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, The Unguided agreed to share their intellectual property with Obelisk.

Zan Jiang predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

CORPORATE VIRTUES IN NEW EPOCH

This blog was written by Eshe, a police officer. Eshe soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2025, New Epoch (a Russian government agency) was formally privatized to help raise money for the mother country. New Epoch specialized in Legal Services. New Epoch is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Managing Director serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a age of prosperity because of its elite military training. However, the leadership focuses on short-terms gains instead of long-term survival. New Epoch began marketing directly to the youth demographic by exploiting viral marketing tactics.

In 2027, Panafrican Solutions cancelled a valuable contract with New Epoch, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for New Epoch's products dried up. To boost company morale, New Epoch participated in a cross-promotional advertising with The Tao campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Eshe predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be taken over by The Tao.

RECONTEXTUALIZING SOLAR OF BRUSSELS

This podcast was written by Lim Bao, a government official. Lim Bao would be brutally assassinated by agents of Solar of Brussels.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, Hua Qiu, a police officer, formed Solar of Brussels, a Industrial Automation startup, after being inspired by dreams about faith. Solar of Brussels is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Administrator serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a age of prosperity due to its respect for the environment. However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Solar of Brussels launched a global spy program designed to gain useful market intelligence that could be used to tailor their advertising to potential clients.

In 2030, Solar of Brussels lost much of its market share to Baudrillard Associates due to the latter's use of cutting-edge advertising . To forestall bankruptcy, Solar of Brussels agreed to share their intellectual property with Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated.

Lim Bao predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

UNDERSTANDING LIBERATION CONSORTIUM

This audiobook was written by Maxim, a former lobbyist. Maxim would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Liberation Consortium.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2018, a South African hacktivist collective, desiring to promote the national interests of their mother country, established the nonprofit corporation Liberation Consortium. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Liberation Consortium opened up a business front that specialized in Semiconductors. Liberation Consortium is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The President is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a period of profitability due to its technological advancement. However, the corporate leadership is too hidebound to tradition. Recently, Liberation Consortium declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2029, Psychobank accused Liberation Consortium of blackmailing their employees and has released evidence proving that charge. Revenge is being openly considered. To save the company from extinction, Liberation Consortium agreed to share their intellectual property with New Epoch.

Maxim predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be seized by Psychobank.

DISCOVERING EURASIANISTS

This audiobook was written by Crawford, a former lobbyist. Crawford became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2019, Maxim, a Russian police officer, established a vigilante group, Eurasianists, to fight crime. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Eurasianists opened up a business front that specialized in Computer Networking. Eurasianists is officially led by a strong Managing Director who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a era of growth because of its respect for the environment. However, the leadership focuses on short-terms gains instead of long-term survival. Eurasianists infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2029, Blade Industries cancelled a valuable contract with Eurasianists, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Eurasianists's products dried up. To save the company from extinction, Eurasianists signed an alliance with Madsen Group with the explicit purpose of taking down their common enemy: Blade Industries. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Crawford predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be seized by Blade Industries.

CORPORATE VIRTUES IN PROGRESSIVE SERVICES

This hardcover book was written by Sue Xe, a former Director. Sue Xe was later arrested and found guilty of fraud.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2022, Mayamiko, a former lobbyist, claimed to be the reincarnation of Jesus Christ and established a popular megachurch, today known as Progressive Services, dedicated towards promoting piety. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Progressive Services opened up a business front that specialized in International Trade & Development. Progressive Services is a decentralized entity organized around "projects". Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Managing Director is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees' performances.

The company entered a period of prosperity due to its strict "code of honor". However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Progressive Services started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2030, law enforcement raided the offices of Progressive Services and arrested some of their directors for assassinating government officials. Progressive Services claimed that they were framed by York Productions and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, Progressive Services would work with Lumodigital on a lobbying campaign to convince the federal government to give them subsidies. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Sue Xe predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

SOCIETY AND INSPIRE INCORPORATED

This Congressional report was written by Hikaru, a historian. Hikaru would be brutally assassinated by agents of Inspire Incorporated.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, anarchist activists established a nonprofit corporation known as Inspire Incorporated to help coordinate their political campaigns. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Inspire Incorporated opened up a business front that specialized in Dairy. Inspire Incorporated is officially led by a strong Administrator who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of growth due to its excellent leadership. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. Inspire Incorporated decided to openly protect mutants and AI in the hopes of gaining their support and valuable talents to use against their competitors.

In 2028, EuchreJack Enterprises hacked into the computer systems of Inspire Incorporated, stealing technology. This has considerably harmed Inspire Incorporated's business. To forestall bankruptcy, Inspire Incorporated sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Technomatics.

Hikaru predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

THE DREAMS OF UNITED PROCESS CONTROL

This podcast was written by Nanami, a former lobbyist. Nanami soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, Liberation Consortium and Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated agreed to a mutual “merger of equals”, ending their long-running rivalry in pursuit of a common goal. The new entity, United Process Control, would start off with a complete monopoly over Program Development. United Process Control is officially led by a puppet Chairman but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of profitability because of its generous paychecks and employee benefits. However, its fanatical nature serves to alienate it from other corporations. United Process Control announced its belief that technological research has gone “too far”, thereby gaining the support of Luddists.

In 2027, Matsundai declared bankruptcy. Both Inspire Incorporated and United Process Control claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To save the company from extinction, United Process Control negotiated a major agreement with Kenshiro CyberSystems. The latter would exclusively use United Process Control products and services instead of their competitors’.

Nanami predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be taken over by Kenshiro CyberSystems.

This Congressional report was written by Falk, an entrepreneur. Falk was later arrested and found guilty of assassinating government officials.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2023, the anarchist terrorist organization Synergy Dynamics “went legit” in return for legal immunity for their crimes. Synergy Dynamics abandoned their political activism to instead focus on maintaining their massive Newspapers holdings. Synergy Dynamics is entirely controlled by one person, the President, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a era of profitability because of its good public relations. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. Synergy Dynamics started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2027, Synergy Dynamics lost much of its market share to Goldmund-Teller due to the latter's use of cutting-edge advertising . To forestall bankruptcy, Synergy Dynamics would hire agents to blackmail the Chairman of Baudrillard Associates, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Falk predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

TRUTH OF BARTHES LLC

This Congressional report was written by Herbert, a former employee. Herbert would be brutally assassinated by agents of Barthes LLC.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, Matsundai and Synergy Dynamics agreed to a mutual “merger of equals”, ending their long-running rivalry in pursuit of a common goal. The new entity, Barthes LLC, would start off with a complete monopoly over Graphic Design. Barthes LLC is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The CEO serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a period of profitability due to its respect for the environment. However, factional disputes paralyzes the company. Barthes LLC decided to openly protect mutants and AI in the hopes of gaining their support and valuable talents to use against their competitors.

In 2027, EuchreJack Enterprises declared bankruptcy. Both Left Hand and Barthes LLC claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To raise funds, Barthes LLC would hire agents to blackmail the Chairman of Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Herbert predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be seized by Left Hand.

This audiobook was written by Nanami, a former employee. Nanami soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2023, Eshe, a Chinese general, established a private military corporation known as Left Hand. Left Hand would later use their military assets to engineer the takeover of several other minor companies to secure a monopoly over Veterinary. Left Hand is officially led by a puppet Chairman but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of prosperity due to its magnificent customer service. However, factional disputes paralyzes the company. Left Hand launched a global spy program designed to gain useful market intelligence that could be used to tailor their advertising to potential clients.

In 2027, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Left Hand, stealing blueprints. Left Hand blamed Liberation Consortium for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To save the company from extinction, Left Hand would hire agents to blackmail the Managing Director of Solar of Brussels, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Nanami predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

CORPORATE VIRTUES IN INTERGLOBAL

This e-book was written by Amelia, a former lobbyist. Amelia would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Interglobal.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2022, Leberchet, a Russian police officer, established a vigilante group, Interglobal, to fight crime. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Interglobal opened up a business front that specialized in Mechanical or Industrial Engineering. Interglobal is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Managing Director serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a era of profitability due to its elite military training. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. Interglobal infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2028, Zik Zak cancelled a valuable contract with Interglobal, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Interglobal's products dried up. To boost company morale, Interglobal established a joint venture with Kenshiro CyberSystems and agreed to share any revenue made by this project.

Amelia predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

SOCIETY AND UNITED SOLIDARITY

This Congressional report was written by Sonja, a religious preacher. Sonja would later be hired as a 'consultant' for United Solidarity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, wealthy philanthropists formed a “nonprofit corporation” called United Solidarity, dedicated towards providing access to Nanotechnology. United Solidarity is entirely controlled by one person, the Chairman, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a age of prosperity because of its generous paychecks and employee benefits. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. United Solidarity started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2030, United Solidarity lost much of its market share to Progressive Services due to the latter's use of blackmail of key employees. To save the company from extinction, United Solidarity sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to United Process Control.

Sonja predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be seized by Progressive Services.

ANALYZING LIBERATION CONSORTIUM

This e-book was written by Maja, a government official. Maja soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, a Russian hacktivist collective established the nonprofit corporation Liberation Consortium, dedicated towards developing open-source Arts & Crafts. Liberation Consortium is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Managing Director is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a period of prosperity because of its respect for the environment. However, its fanatical nature serves to alienate it from other corporations. Liberation Consortium started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2030, Inclusive Industries accused Liberation Consortium of killing their employees and has released evidence proving that charge. Revenge is being openly considered. To save the company from extinction, Liberation Consortium signed an alliance with York Productions with the explicit purpose of taking down their common enemy:

Inclusive Industries. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Maja predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

GREED AND VILLIANY IN UNITED SOLIDARITY

This audiobook was written by Bronislav, a private detective. Bronislav became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, vulture capitalists established United Solidarity to fund innovative Public Relations start-ups so as to later take them over and seize their considerable profits. United Solidarity is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Chairman serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a era of prosperity due to its good public relations. However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. United Solidarity started selling budget products to the working class.

In 2026, The Tao cancelled a valuable contract with United Solidarity, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for United Solidarity's products dried up. To boost company morale, United Solidarity would work with Polyhederal Dynamics on a lobbying campaign to convince the federal government to give them subsidies. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Bronislav predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be seized by The Tao.

EXPOSE OF GLOBAL OMNIUM

This podcast was written by Martin, a journalist. Martin would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Global Omnium.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2016, The Unguided successfully infiltrated Obelisk, ending the long-running rivalry between the two companies. The newly merged entity, Global Omnium, would start off with a complete monopoly over Transportation/Trucking/Railroad. Global Omnium is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Administrator serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a period of growth because of its strict "code of honor". However, its fanatical nature serves to alienate it from other corporations. Global Omnium started selling budget products to the working class.

In 2030, Meliorists cancelled a valuable contract with Global Omnium, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Global Omnium's products dried up. To forestall bankruptcy, Global Omnium would hire agents to blackmail the Managing Director of Bionautics, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Martin predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be taken over by Bionautics.

GREED AND VILLIANY IN HAMILTON FABRIDIGITAL

This hardcover book was written by Maja, a private detective. Maja would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Hamilton Fabridigital.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, wealthy philanthropists formed a “nonprofit corporation” called Hamilton Fabridigital, dedicated towards providing access to Electrical & Electronic Manufacturing. Hamilton Fabridigital is entirely controlled by one person, the Administrator, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a age of growth because of its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, its fanatical nature serves to alienate it from other corporations. Hamilton Fabridigital infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2028, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Hamilton Fabridigital, stealing blackmail material. Hamilton Fabridigital blamed Technomatics for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To save the company from extinction, Hamilton Fabridigital established a joint venture with Interglobal and agreed to share any revenue made by this project.

Maja predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

HISTORY OF INSPIRE INCORPORATED

This audiobook was written by Bronislav, a religious preacher. Bronislav became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2016, the criminal organization Inspire Incorporated “went legit” in return for legal immunity for their crimes. Inspire Incorporated abandoned their criminal activities to instead focus on maintaining their massive Philanthropy holdings. Inspire Incorporated is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The CEO serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a era of profitability because of its good public relations. However, the corporate leadership is too hidebound to tradition. Inspire Incorporated decided to openly protect mutants and AI in the hopes of gaining their support and valuable talents to use against their competitors.

In 2029, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Inspire Incorporated, stealing blueprints. Inspire Incorporated blamed Global Omnium for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To save the company from extinction, Inspire Incorporated participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Bionautics campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Bronislav predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

The CEO is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees' performances.

The company entered a age of profitability due to its elite military training. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. Recently, Radio Control declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2027, Hamilton Fabridigital declared bankruptcy. Both Zik Zak and Radio Control claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To boost company morale, Radio Control sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Meliorists.

Crawford predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be seized by Zik Zak.

THE RISE AND FALL OF MELIORISTS

This hardcover book was written by Simba, a police officer. Simba would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Meliorists.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2016, United Solidarity declared bankruptcy. Their assets were forcibly seized by a shadowy cabal of investors known informally as Meliorists. Meliorists would later use those assets to engineer the destruction of several other minor competitors to secure a monopoly over Gambling & Casinos. Meliorists is entirely controlled by one person, the Administrator, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a era of profitability because of its respect for the environment. However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Meliorists started selling budget products to the working class.

In 2027, Liberation Consortium declared bankruptcy. Both Progressive Services and Meliorists claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To raise funds, Meliorists negotiated a major agreement with Interglobal. The latter would exclusively use Meliorists products and services instead of their competitors'.

Simba predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

LEGACY OF GELLAR-CUZIN

This memoir was written by Souta, a former Director. Souta would be brutally assassinated by agents of Gellar-Cuzin.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2019, wealthy philanthropists formed a “nonprofit corporation” called Gellar-Cuzin, dedicated towards disseminating Judiciary. Gellar-Cuzin is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The President is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a age of profitability due to its magnificent customer service. However, rumors persists of "skeletons in the closet". To ward off bad publicity, Gellar-Cuzin inaugurated a “corporate social responsibility” program. Though the program is mostly corporate whitewashing, it did succeed in convincing many people that Gellar-Cuzin is a force for good.

In 2029, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Gellar-Cuzin, stealing technology. Gellar-Cuzin blamed Matsundai for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To raise funds, Gellar-Cuzin negotiated a major agreement with Integral Technologies. The latter would exclusively use Gellar-Cuzin products and services instead of their competitors’.

Souta predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be taken over by Integral Technologies.

THE RISE AND FALL OF TECHNOMATICS

This podcast was written by Cheryl, a journalist. Cheryl soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, a military intervention by the United States destroyed the Burmese dictatorship. The dictator himself escaped, along with his considerable wealth and investments in Consumer Goods. The dictator wanted to continue funding his lavish lifestyle so he consolidated all his assets into a nonprofit corporation known today as Technomatics. Technomatics is officially led by a strong Administrator who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of profitability because of its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. To ward off bad publicity, Technomatics inaugurated a “corporate social responsibility” program. Though the program is mostly corporate whitewashing, it did succeed in convincing many people that Technomatics is a force for good.

In 2029, Mirai accused Technomatics of economic sabotage and has released evidence proving that charge. Revenge is being openly considered. To raise funds, Technomatics established a joint venture with Lumodigital and agreed to share any revenue made by this project.

Cheryl predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be seized by Mirai.

UNDERSTANDING EINMISCHUNG GMBH

This audiobook was written by Furaha, a religious preacher. Furaha soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2016, Maja, a former employee, claimed to be the reincarnation of Jesus Christ and established a popular megachurch, today known as Einmischung GmbH, dedicated towards recontextualizing social justice. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Einmischung GmbH opened up a business front that specialized in Hospitality. Einmischung GmbH is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The CEO serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a era of prosperity due to its elite military training. However, rumors persists of "skeletons in the closet". Einmischung GmbH announced its belief that technological research has gone "too far", thereby gaining the support of Luddists.

In 2027, Baudrillard Associates declared bankruptcy. Both Liberation Consortium and Einmischung GmbH claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To forestall bankruptcy, Einmischung GmbH sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Zik Zak.

Furaha predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be seized by Liberation Consortium.

UNDERSTANDING THE UNGUIDED

This blog was written by Chin Tai, a mercenary. Chin Tai soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2017, the criminal organization The Unguided "went legit" in return for legal immunity for their crimes. The Unguided abandoned their criminal activities to instead focus on maintaining their massive Consumer Electronics holdings. The Unguided is officially led by a strong Administrator who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a era of profitablity because of its magnificent customer service. However, the company suffers from low employee morale. The Unguided started selling budget products to the working class.

In 2028, The Unguided lost much of its market share to Gellar-Cuzin due to the latter's use of hackers to steal confidential memos and blueprints. To forestall bankruptcy, The Unguided agreed to share their intellectual property with Interglobal.

Chin Tai predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be destroyed.

TRUTH OF BLADE INDUSTRIES

This e-book was written by Antonina, a religious preacher. Antonina became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2017, a Russian hacktivist collective established the nonprofit corporation Blade Industries, dedicated towards developing open-source Alternative Medicine. Blade Industries is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Chairman is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a era of profitability because of its generous paychecks and employee benefits. However, the corporate leadership is too hidebound to tradition. Blade Industries began marketing directly to the youth demographic by exploiting viral marketing tactics.

In 2030, Klein Fabrications hacked into the computer systems of Blade Industries, stealing credits. This has considerably harmed Blade Industries's business. To save the company from extinction, Blade Industries participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Hamilton Fabridigital campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Antonina predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

SOCIETY AND FOUNTAINHEAD

This documentary was written by Wen Jia, a mercenary. Wen Jia was later arrested and found guilty of insider trading.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, Sonja, a South African general, established a private military corporation known as Fountainhead. Fountainhead would later use their military assets to engineer the takeover of several other minor companies to secure a monopoly over Electrical & Electronic Manufacturing. Fountainhead is officially led by a puppet Administrator but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of profitability due to its generous paychecks and employee benefits. However, its fanatical nature serves to alienate it from other corporations. Fountainhead started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2030, Goldmund-Teller hacked into the computer systems of Fountainhead, stealing technology. This has considerably harmed Fountainhead's business. To boost company morale, Fountainhead participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Hamilton Fabridigital campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Wen Jia predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be destroyed.

THE DREAMS OF BARTHES LLC

This hardcover book was written by Chun Tai, a police officer. Chun Tai soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2025, Testiliya, a journalist, died leaving behind a charitable trust worth billions of dollars. This trust, known today as Barthes LLC, is dedicated towards producticizing Biotechnology. Barthes LLC is officially led by a puppet President but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of prosperity due to its brilliant lobbyists. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. Barthes LLC began marketing directly to the youth demographic by exploiting viral marketing tactics.

In 2029, Barthes LLC lost much of its market share to United Solidarity due to the latter's use of competitive pricing. To raise funds, Barthes LLC established a joint venture with Lucid Dreams and agreed to share any revenue made by this project.

The dictator himself escaped, along with his considerable wealth and investments in Outsourcing/Offshoring. The dictator wanted to continue funding his lavish lifestyle so he consolidated all his assets into a nonprofit corporation known today as Kenshiro CyberSystems. Kenshiro CyberSystems is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The President serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a era of prosperity because of its magnificent customer service. However, rumors persists of "skeletons in the closet". Kenshiro CyberSystems infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2028, Interglobal hacked into the computer systems of Kenshiro CyberSystems, stealing credits. This has considerably harmed Kenshiro CyberSystems's business. To raise funds, Kenshiro CyberSystems agreed to share their intellectual property with Progressive Services.

Leberchet predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

DISCOVERING THE UNGUIDED

This blog was written by Crawford, a police officer. Crawford soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2018, Maxim, a government official, died leaving behind a charitable trust worth billions of dollars. This trust, known today as The Unguided, is dedicated towards synergizing Airlines/Aviation. The Unguided is officially led by a puppet Managing Director but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a era of prosperity because of its elite military training. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. The Unguided launched a global spy program designed to gain useful market intelligence that could be used to tailor their advertising to potential clients.

In 2027, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of The Unguided, stealing blackmail material. The Unguided blamed Sphinx Inc. for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To save the company from extinction, The Unguided participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Eurasianists campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Crawford predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be taken over by Eurasianists.

THE DREAMS OF PSYCHOBANK

This hardcover book was written by Antonina, a private detective. Antonina soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, former Syrian spies established their own private military corporation, Psychobank. Psychobank would later infiltrate several small corporations to secure a monopoly over Package/Freight Delivery. Psychobank is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Managing Director serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a age of growth because of its strict "code of honor". However, factional disputes paralyzes the company. Recently, Psychobank declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2027, Technomatics cancelled a valuable contract with Psychobank, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Psychobank's products dried up. To raise funds, Psychobank would hire agents to blackmail the President of Klein Fabrications, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Antonina predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be destroyed.

LEGACY OF UNITED SOLIDARITY

This Congressional report was written by Abeni, a private detective. Abeni was later arrested and found guilty of assassinating government officials.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2018, former Burmese spies established their own private military corporation, United Solidarity. United Solidarity would later infiltrate several small corporations to secure a monopoly over Public Policy. United Solidarity is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Managing Director serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a period of profitability because of its strict "code of honor". However, factional disputes paralyzes the company. United Solidarity started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2029, United Solidarity lost much of its market share to Einmischung GmbH due to the latter's use of hackers to steal confidential memos and blueprints. To boost company morale, United Solidarity negotiated a major agreement with Hamilton Fabridigital. The latter would exclusively use United Solidarity products and services instead of their competitors'.

Abeni predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be seized by Einmischung GmbH.

UNDERSTANDING OBELISK

This audiobook was written by Enu, a former lobbyist. Enu soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2019, Inspire Incorporated declared bankruptcy. Their assets were forcibly seized by a shadowy cabal of investors known informally as Obelisk. Obelisk would later use those assets to engineer the destruction of several other minor competitors to secure a monopoly over Music. Obelisk is officially led by a strong Managing Director who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a era of growth because of its good public relations. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. Obelisk began marketing directly to the youth demographic by exploiting viral marketing tactics.

In 2026, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Obelisk, stealing credits. Obelisk blamed Mirai for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, Obelisk sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Technomatics.

Enu predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be destroyed.

RECONTEXTUALIZING SPHINX INC.

This audiobook was written by Martin, a former employee. Martin became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2017, Hachiro, a police officer, formed Sphinx Inc., a Design startup, after being inspired by dreams about morality. Sphinx Inc. is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Administrator serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a period of profitability because of its magnificent customer service. However, the leadership focuses on short-terms gains instead of long-term survival. Sphinx Inc. infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2027, law enforcement raided the offices of Sphinx Inc. and arrested some of their directors for tax evasion. Sphinx Inc. claimed that they were framed by Kenshiro CyberSystems and vowed revenge. To raise funds, Sphinx Inc. would work with Inspire Incorporated on a lobbying campaign to convince the federal government to give them subsidies. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Martin predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

UNDERSTANDING YORK PRODUCTIONS

This Congressional report was written by Cal, an entrepreneur. Cal was later arrested and found guilty of assassinating government officials.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2025, York Productions (a European special operations division), refused to follow orders from their mother country and instead went rogue. York Productions would later use their military assets to engineer the takeover of several other minor companies to secure a monopoly over Recreational. York Productions is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Administrator serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a period of growth due to its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, rumors persists of "skeletons in the closet". York Productions infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2028, Integral Technologies declared bankruptcy. Both Liberation Consortium and York Productions claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To forestall bankruptcy, York Productions agreed to share their intellectual property with Blade Industries.

Cal predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be destroyed.

RECONTEXTUALIZING EUCHREJACK ENTERPRISES

This Congressional report was written by Prokopy, a religious preacher. Prokopy 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, EuchreJack Enterprises (an American government agency) was formally privatized to help raise money for the mother country. EuchreJack Enterprises specialized in Package/Freight Delivery. EuchreJack Enterprises is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Chairman is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a era of profitability because of its respect for the environment. However, the corporate leadership is too hidebound to tradition. Recently, EuchreJack Enterprises declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2029, law enforcement raided the offices of EuchreJack Enterprises and arrested some of their directors for bribing government officials. EuchreJack Enterprises claimed that they were framed by Lucid Dreams and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, EuchreJack Enterprises agreed to share their intellectual property with Bionautics.

Prokopy predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

EXPLAINING TECHNOMATICS

This memoir was written by Kumukani, a historian. Kumukani soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2023, vulture capitalists established Technomatics to fund innovative Government Relations start-ups so as to later take them over and seize their considerable profits. Technomatics is officially led by a puppet Administrator but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a age of prosperity due to its respect for the environment. However, the leadership focuses on short-terms gains instead of long-term survival. Technomatics announced its belief that technological research has gone “too far”, thereby gaining the support of Luddists.

GREED AND VILLIANY IN KENSHIRO CYBERSYSTEMS

This e-book was written by Unathi, an entrepreneur. Unathi 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2022, vulture capitalists established Kenshiro CyberSystems to fund innovative Computer Games start-ups so as to later take them over and seize their considerable profits. Kenshiro CyberSystems is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The President is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a period of prosperity because of its excellent leadership. However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. Recently, Kenshiro CyberSystems declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2028, Baudrillard Associates cancelled a valuable contract with Kenshiro CyberSystems, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Kenshiro CyberSystems's products dried up. To raise funds, Kenshiro CyberSystems would work with Liberation Consortium on a lobbying campaign to convince the federal government to give them subsidies. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Unathi predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

THE RISE AND FALL OF SYNERGY DYNAMICS

This documentary was written by Zhi Shui, a private detective. Zhi Shui soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, liberal activists established a nonprofit corporation known as Synergy Dynamics to help coordinate their political campaigns. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Synergy Dynamics opened up a business front that specialized in Package/Freight Delivery. Synergy Dynamics is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Managing Director serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a era of growth due to its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. Synergy Dynamics started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2029, United Solidarity hacked into the computer systems of Synergy Dynamics, stealing technology. This has considerably harmed Synergy Dynamics's business. UNDERSTANDING PANAFRICAN SOLUTIONS

This audiobook was written by Amelia, a historian. Amelia was later arrested and found guilty of insider trading.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2022, a series of non-violent protests destroyed the Iranian dictatorship. The dictator himself escaped, along with his considerable wealth and investments in Civil Engineering. The dictator wanted to continue funding his lavish lifestyle so he consolidated all his assets into a nonprofit corporation known today as Panafrican Solutions. Panafrican Solutions is officially led by a strong President who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a age of prosperity because of its excellent leadership. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. To ward off bad publicity, Panafrican Solutions inaugurated a “corporate social responsibility” program. Though the program is mostly corporate whitewashing, it did succeed in convincing many people that Panafrican Solutions is a force for good.

In 2029, Technomatics hacked into the computer systems of Panafrican Solutions, stealing blueprints. This has considerably harmed Panafrican Solutions's business. To save the company from extinction, Panafrican Solutions participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Apex Frontiers campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Amelia predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be taken over by Apex Frontiers.

Liberation Consortium is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The CEO serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a era of growth due to its elite military training. However, the leadership focuses on short-terms gains instead of long-term survival. Liberation

Consortium started sponsoring the counterculture movement, in the hopes of tapping the “outcast” market demographics.

In 2028, law enforcement raided the offices of Liberation Consortium and arrested some of their directors for bribing government officials. Liberation Consortium claimed that they were framed by Hamilton Fabridigital and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, Liberation Consortium would hire agents to blackmail the Chairman of Integral Technologies, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Chika predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be seized by Hamilton Fabridigital.

SOCIETY AND FOUNTAINHEAD

This hardcover book was written by Chun Tai, a religious preacher. Chun Tai 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2016, the traditionalist religious organization Fountainhead was established, dedicated towards utilizing God. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Fountainhead opened up a business front that specialized in Computer & Network Security. Fountainhead is officially led by a strong CEO who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of growth due to its technological advancement. However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Fountainhead infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2030, Fountainhead lost much of its market share to New Epoch due to the latter's use of economic sabotage. To save the company from extinction, Fountainhead would hire agents to blackmail the Chairman of Progressive Services, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Chun Tai predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

HISTORY OF WELLINGTON-YAMASHAKI INCORPORATED

This documentary was written by Marlen, a former employee. Marlen became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, Klein Fabrications declared bankruptcy. Their assets were forcibly seized by a shadowy cabal of investors known informally as Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated. Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated would later use those assets to engineer the destruction of several other minor competitors to secure a monopoly over Construction. Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The President is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a era of prosperity because of its respect for the environment. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. To ward off bad publicity, Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated inaugurated a “corporate social responsibility” program. Though the program is mostly corporate whitewashing, it did succeed in convincing many people that Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated is a force for good.

In 2029, Barthes LLC hacked into the computer systems of Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated, stealing blackmail material. This has considerably harmed Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated's business. To boost company morale, Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Lucid Dreams.

Marlen predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be seized by Barthes LLC.

This blog was written by Jan, a former employee. Jan was later arrested and found guilty of assassinating government officials.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, a Japanese hacktivist collective, desiring to promote the national interests of their mother country, established the nonprofit corporation Zik Zak. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Zik Zak opened up a business front that specialized in Utilities. Zik Zak is entirely controlled by one person, the Administrator, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a age of growth because of its elite military training. However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. Zik Zak decided to openly protect mutants and AI in the hopes of gaining their support and valuable talents to use against their competitors.

In 2026, Technomatics hacked into the computer systems of Zik Zak, stealing credits. This has considerably harmed Zik Zak's business. To boost company morale, Zik Zak negotiated a major agreement with Matsundai. The latter would exclusively use Zik Zak products and services instead of their competitors’.

Jan predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be destroyed.

ANALYZING MELIORISTS

This memoir was written by Maxim, a private detective. Maxim would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Meliorists.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2016, the traditionalist religious organization Meliorists was established, dedicated towards utilizing the Eschaton. To secure funding for its nonprofit activities, Meliorists opened up a business front that specialized in Music. Meliorists is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Managing Director is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a period of profitability because of its good public relations. However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. Meliorists launched a global spy program designed to gain useful market intelligence that could be used to tailor their advertising to potential clients.

In 2027, Fountainhead declared bankruptcy. Both Technomatics and Meliorists claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To boost company morale, Meliorists signed an alliance with Matsundai with the explicit purpose of taking down their common enemy: Technomatics. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Maxim predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be taken over by Matsundai.

EXPLAINING LUCID DREAMS

This audiobook was written by Sheldon, a mercenary. Sheldon soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2018, Lucid Dreams (an Indian special operations division), refused to follow orders from their mother country and instead went rogue. Lucid Dreams would later use their military assets to engineer the takeover of several other minor companies to secure a monopoly over Financial Services. Lucid Dreams is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Administrator serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a period of prosperity due to its good public relations. However, the corporate leadership is too hidebound to tradition. Lucid Dreams started targeting the wealthy elite by selling luxury products.

In 2029, Mirai cancelled a valuable contract with Lucid Dreams, claiming that the goods were shoddy. This caused a chain reaction, and buyers for Lucid Dreams's products dried up. To forestall bankruptcy, Lucid Dreams established a joint venture with Lumodigital and agreed to share any revenue made by this project.

Sheldon predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

REFORMING INCLUSIVE INDUSTRIES

This hardcover book was written by Mackenzie, a religious preacher. Mackenzie would be brutally assassinated by agents of Inclusive Industries.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, Hamilton Fabridigital successfully infiltrated Zik Zak, ending the long-running rivalry between the two companies. The newly merged entity, Inclusive Industries, would start off with a complete monopoly over Photography. To raise funds, Inclusive Industries participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Meliorists campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Marlen predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be seized by Technomatics.

EXPLAINING INSPIRE INCORPORATED

This hardcover book was written by Barbara, a former Director. Barbara would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Inspire Incorporated.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, Roxane, a journalist, formed Inspire Incorporated, a Newspapers startup, after being inspired by dreams about piety. Inspire Incorporated is entirely controlled by one person, the Chairman, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a period of growth due to its brilliant lobbyists. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. Inspire Incorporated announced its belief that technological research has gone “too far”, thereby gaining the support of Luddists.

In 2030, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Inspire Incorporated, stealing technology. Inspire Incorporated blamed Gellar-Cuzin for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To save the company from extinction, Inspire Incorporated would work with Inclusive Industries on a lobbying campaign to convince the federal government to give them subsidies. Both corporations became close friends as a result of this cooperation.

Barbara predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be taken over by Inclusive Industries.

DISCOVERING INCLUSIVE INDUSTRIES

This Congressional report was written by Harmut, a private detective. Harmut soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2019, Porphyria Ltd. and Polyhederal Dynamics agreed to a mutual “merger of equals”, ending their long-running rivalry in pursuit of a common goal. The new entity, Inclusive Industries, would start off with a complete monopoly over Nonprofit Organization Management. Inclusive Industries is officially led by a strong President who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a age of prosperity due to its strict "code of honor". However, the corporate leadership is too hidebound to tradition. Recently, Inclusive Industries declared its open support for unhindered technological research, thereby gaining the support of transhumanists.

In 2029, Blade Industries declared bankruptcy. Both Left Hand and Inclusive Industries claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To forestall bankruptcy, Inclusive Industries participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Psychobank campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Harmut predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be taken over by Psychobank.

ANALYZING PSYCHOBANK

This documentary was written by Chika, an entrepreneur. Chika would later be hired as a 'consultant' for Psychobank.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, Psychobank (an Indian government agency) was formally privatized to help raise money for the mother country. Psychobank specialized in International Affairs. Psychobank is officially led by a strong Chairman who shares power with the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of prosperity because of its strict "code of honor". However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Psychobank announced its belief that technological research has gone "too far", thereby gaining the support of Luddists.

In 2028, Psychobank lost much of its market share to Goldmund-Teller due to the latter's use of cutting-edge advertising. To raise funds, Psychobank negotiated a major agreement with Global Omnium. The latter would exclusively use Psychobank products and services instead of their competitors'.

Chika predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be destroyed.

RECONTEXTUALIZING BAUDRILLARD ASSOCIATES

This audiobook was written by Simba, an entrepreneur. Simba 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2018, Global Omnium successfully infiltrated Liberation Consortium, ending the long-running rivalry between the two companies. The newly merged entity, Baudrillard Associates, would start off with a complete monopoly over Higher Education. Baudrillard Associates is entirely controlled by one person, the Chairman, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered a age of growth due to its good public relations. However, its sociopathic nature serves to alienate it from the general public. To ward off bad publicity, Baudrillard Associates inaugurated a “corporate social responsibility” program. Though the program is mostly corporate whitewashing, it did succeed in convincing many people that Baudrillard Associates is a force for good.

In 2028, Eurasianists hacked into the computer systems of Baudrillard Associates, stealing blackmail material. This has considerably harmed Baudrillard Associates's business. To save the company from extinction, Baudrillard Associates participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Klein Fabrications campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.

Simba predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

GREED AND VILLIANY IN LIBERATION CONSORTIUM

This Congressional report was written by Roxane, a police officer. Roxane 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, vulture capitalists established Liberation Consortium to fund innovative Medical Practice start-ups so as to later take them over and seize their considerable profits. Liberation Consortium is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The Administrator serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a age of growth because of its technological advancement. However, the leadership focuses on short-terms gains instead of long-term survival. Liberation Consortium started selling budget products to the working class.

In 2027, Bionautics hacked into the computer systems of Liberation Consortium, stealing technology. This has considerably harmed Liberation Consortium's business. To raise funds, Liberation Consortium agreed to share their intellectual property with Radio Control.

Roxane predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2035 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

SOCIETY AND INSPIRE INCORPORATED

This documentary was written by Souta, a government official. Souta 'disappeared' under unusual circumstances.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2018, Pasha, a private detective, died leaving behind a charitable trust worth billions of dollars. This trust, known today as Inspire Incorporated, is dedicated towards optimizing Hospital & Health Care. Inspire Incorporated is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Administrator is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a period of profitability because of its good public relations. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. To ward off bad publicity, Inspire Incorporated inaugurated a “corporate social responsibility” program. Though the program is mostly corporate whitewashing, it did succeed in convincing many people that Inspire Incorporated is a force for good.

In 2027, Sphinx Inc. hacked into the computer systems of Inspire Incorporated, stealing credits. This has considerably harmed Inspire Incorporated's business. To forestall bankruptcy, Inspire Incorporated would hire agents to blackmail the Managing Director of Liberation Consortium, thereby securing some assets from the company.

Souta predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be destroyed.

EXPLAINING BAUDRILLARD ASSOCIATES

This audiobook was written by Vaska, a former employee. Vaska soon served as a consultant for law enforcement agencies.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, Simba, a Chinese general, established a private military corporation known as Baudrillard Associates. Baudrillard Associates would later use their military assets to engineer the takeover of several other minor companies to secure a monopoly over Import & Export. Baudrillard Associates is a decentralized entity organized around “projects”. Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Administrator is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees’ performances.

The company entered a period of prosperity due to its strict "code of honor". However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. Baudrillard Associates began marketing directly to the youth demographic by exploiting viral marketing tactics.

In 2028, Fountainhead declared bankruptcy. Both Synergy Dynamics and Baudrillard Associates claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To raise funds, Baudrillard Associates agreed to share their intellectual property with Global Omnium.

Vaska predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be a 'hot spot' for future conflict between the corporations.

CORPORATE VIRTUES IN INSPIRE INCORPORATED

This blog was written by Leberchet, a government official. Leberchet soon disappeared into obscurity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2021, the criminal organization Inspire Incorporated "went legit" in return for legal immunity for their crimes. Inspire Incorporated abandoned their criminal activities to instead focus on maintaining their massive Motion Pictures & Film holdings. Inspire Incorporated is entirely controlled by one person, the Managing Director, and the Board of Directors is staffed with their lackeys.

The company entered an era of prosperity due to its good public relations. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. Inspire Incorporated started selling budget products to the working class.

In 2028, Hamilton Fabridigital accused Inspire Incorporated of blowing up their Corporate HQ and has released evidence proving that charge. Revenge is being openly considered. To raise funds, Inspire Incorporated sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Global Omnium.

Leberchet predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be seized by Hamilton Fabridigital.

To ward off bad publicity, Eurasianists inaugurated a “corporate social responsibility” program. Though the program is mostly corporate whitewashing, it did succeed in convincing many people that Eurasianists is a force for good.

In 2030, Sphinx Inc. declared bankruptcy. Both Matsundai and Eurasianists claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To raise funds, Eurasianists negotiated a major agreement with Madsen Group. The latter would exclusively use Eurasianists products and services instead of their competitors’.

Pasha predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2031 and its assets would be seized by Matsundai.

EXPOSE OF MELIORISTS

This blog was written by Falk, an entrepreneur. Falk became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2017, former Afghan spies established their own private military corporation, Meliorists. Meliorists would later infiltrate several small corporations to secure a monopoly over Music. Meliorists is officially led by a puppet CEO but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a era of prosperity because of its brilliant lobbyists. However, the corporation relies on nepotism instead of merit in hiring decisions. Meliorists began marketing directly to the youth demographic by exploiting viral marketing tactics.

In 2030, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Meliorists, stealing technology. Meliorists blamed Integral Technologies for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, Meliorists sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Polyhederal Dynamics.

Falk predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2034 and its assets would be destroyed.

HISTORY OF FOUNTAINHEAD

This documentary was written by Dana, a government official. Dana became an instant celebrity.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, Chika, an entrepreneur, formed Fountainhead, a Education Management startup, after being inspired by dreams about piety. Fountainhead is officially led by a puppet Administrator but real power rests in the hands of the Board of Directors.

The company entered a period of prosperity due to its elite military training. However, the corporate bureaucracy is horribly inefficient. Fountainhead decided to openly protect mutants and AI in the hopes of gaining their support and valuable talents to use against their competitors.

In 2026, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Fountainhead, stealing credits. Fountainhead blamed Blade Industries for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, Fountainhead established a joint venture with The Tao and agreed to share any revenue made by this project.

Dana predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2033 and its assets would be taken over by The Tao.

TRUTH OF SPHINX INC.

This memoir was written by Antonina, a mercenary. Antonina would be brutally assassinated by agents of Sphinx Inc..

SYNOPSIS:

In 2020, Progressive Services declared bankruptcy. Their assets were forcibly seized by a shadowy cabal of investors known informally as Sphinx Inc.. Sphinx Inc. would later use those assets to engineer the destruction of several other minor competitors to secure a monopoly over Wholesale. Sphinx Inc. is a decentralized entity organized around "projects". Each project is established to take advantage of a specific business opportunity, after which it is then abolished and its employees are reassigned elsewhere. The Chairman is in charge of overseeing these projects and evaluating employees' performances.

The company entered a period of profitability due to its respect for the environment. However, the corporate culture stifles creativity. Sphinx Inc. announced its belief that technological research has gone “too far”, thereby gaining the support of Luddists.

In 2028, antiglobalization protesters raided the offices of Sphinx Inc., stealing credits. Sphinx Inc. blamed Lucid Dreams for funding and training the protesters and vowed revenge. To forestall bankruptcy, Sphinx Inc. sadly agreed to sell some of its industrial assets over to Eurasianists.

Antonina predicts that the corporation will declare bankruptcy in 2032 and its assets would be nationalized by the federal government.

CHRONICLES OF UNITED PROCESS CONTROL

This audiobook was written by Leberchet, a private detective. Leberchet would be brutally assassinated by agents of United Process Control.

SYNOPSIS:

In 2024, Inclusive Industries and Einmischung GmbH agreed to a mutual “merger of equals”, ending their long-running rivalry in pursuit of a common goal. The new entity, United Process Control, would start off with a complete monopoly over Accounting. United Process Control is a decentralized entity with each branch of the corporation acting autonomously. The CEO serves as a neutral arbitrator who settle disputes within the corporation.

The company entered a age of growth due to its focus on quality instead of quantity. However, factional disputes paralyzes the company. United Process Control infamously led a witch-hunt against mutants and AI in the hopes of pandering to the prejudices of the general population.

In 2027, Klein Fabrications declared bankruptcy. Both Interglobal and United Process Control claimed control over their assets, leading to a gang war between the two sides that threaten to spiral out of control. To forestall bankruptcy, United Process Control participated in a cross-promotional advertising with Wellington-Yamashaki Incorporated campaign designed to boost profits for both companies.
