FTR who Said It?

	Quote	Book Title (worth 1 point each)
1	"If you remember my story for anything, remember this: I am a warrior on the days I shout and on the days when silence wraps me in its arms like my only friend. "
2	"Dear Me, Hi, you. Yes, it's me (you). Remember when Mr. Babcock suggested that we just start writing without even thinking when we're feeling overwhelmed?"
3	"Are those all moonflowers?" or "The sea belongs to me."
4	"Do you believe in ghosts?"
5	"Anyone want to go thrifting? I'm in desperate need of clothes that don't smell like a fryer."
6	"I would be honored and humbled to be in Slam magazine."
7	"Do you meet a lot of seventeen-year-olds who want to leave their life on Earth behind to live on a barren rock?" Or "A constellation is a story we write with stars." or "The stars have inspired both awe and terror since the beginnings of humanity."
8	"And the rock you see studding the top of the ring is a genuine chunk from the four-point-five-billion-year-old Hierapolis pallasite meteorite, one of the most expensive meteorites in the world." Or "One should never be sorry on her birthday." First," she replied, "don't ever look behind you. You don't need to. Simply assume that someone is always watching you. Look back, and you clue them in to you being conscious of their presence - and up to something." or "So here's my third universal rule. Always make the people around you trust you, and never trust anyone else."
9	"Yeah, I guess it was. But we were talking about the poem itch. What makes you wanna write a poem?" or "So - is it like the reverse of the light-from-dead-stars thing that every romantic person loves?" or "It's a good star night,"
10	"Which is how we know bald looks good on me. I've always figured u were hiding some freaky shape under that Rapunzel mane of yours."
11	"We played the goddess game, remember?"
12	"They want you to replay the events over and over until you're not sure what happened and what didn't happen. That's why everything is so gray and dull; so that you've got nothing to focus on other than your thoughts." or "Because... I can't win, Dad. There are fifty contestants and only one prize. When I lose, I go to jail forever. And it's not a normal jail, it's solitary confinement. With no contact from the outside world. You'd never see me or hear from me again."
13	" The Amulet of Qatara ," I answer, hoping that will be enough to get us all back to the game. "It's one of the more classic quests." or "Look, the point is I wrote a new quest over the summer," I say, cutting to the chase. "In the quest," I continue loudly, "we'd be in a world with a corrupt capitalist system that enables the tyrannical rule of a shadow king ---"
