Building An Engaging Learning Community through High-Leverage Teaching Practices in World Language Classrooms

Program Summary

What essential areas can be addressed to help engage and empower language students' learning? In this five seminar series, participants will explore high leverage teaching practices in world Language classrooms. We will take a deep dive into the core practices of creating a culture of classroom discourse in the target languages, utilizing authentic resources effectively, teaching grammar as a concept to be used in context, and providing feed forward feedback. Participants will take away ready-to-use strategies to support target language instruction and learn how to easily modify existing activities to create engaging tasks for students' proficiency.
