

Privacy Policy

Last Updated: Dec 27th, 2023

1. Personal Information Collection

We only require your email address via an associated Google Account.

2. Use of Your Email

We use your email solely for account creation and identification purposes. There are no marketing emails, no newsletters.

3. Local Storage of Data

Here's the cool part: all your data is stored locally on your device. We don't use cloud storage, so you're in full control.

4. No Sharing, Period

Since everything's stored locally, there's nothing on our servers to share or sell. Your email and data remain your business, not ours.

5. Data Security

Your data security is as good as your device's. We recommend keeping your device secure to protect your data.

6. Changes to This Policy

We'll keep this policy updated here. Any changes? You'll find them on this page.
