

“What an unfortunate outcome...”

It was that voice. The one from his dream. Seb didn't look up, for he was overwhelmed by grief.

“This was not what we desired, however. Even so, you have a choice to make at this moment.”

Seb did not respond, but he listened with a glint of hope inside him.

“If you wish to either rewind to a more favorable time or end your mission as is... The time has come to decide your fate.”

Seb considered both choices. He could either try again or go back home.

What to do now?

Continue?

Quit?