

How did the Nazis try to convince Germans to vote for them in the 1930s?

“Our last Hope: HITLER” (1932)

About This Document

In 1932 the Great Depression had been going on in Germany for three years. Adolf Hitler, the leader of the Nazi Party, blamed Germany’s democratic government for the depression. He also blamed Germany’s Jewish citizens. Hitler said that if he came into power he would turn Germany into an authoritarian regime, and eliminate Jews from German society.

This poster was designed by Hans Schweitzer, and was published by the Nazi Party during the election season of 1932.

<https://encyclopedia.ushmm.org/content/en/photo/nazi-propaganda-election-poster-titled-our-last-hope-hitler> United States Holocaust Museum

Our Last Hope:

HITLER