Proof of Stake

It is an Alternative Version of Proof of Work. Both systems exist to ensure safe transactions.

The goal is to find a hashfunction wih a specific number attached to it.

While in the proof of work concept computing power is the driving factor to find those hashfunction.

With staking the amount of tokens are essential to get the process going. The more staked coins the higher the possibility that the searched number is within those possibilities.