1. What is a Software Center?

The Software Center client from Microsoft System Center Configuration Manager (SCCM) is a tool designed to provide end users with an interface for installing and managing software on their computers that SCCM manages.

Key features of the Software Center include:

- Software Installation: End users can browse and install available software applications and updates deployed through SCCM.
- Software Updates: Users can view and install software updates, patches, and security fixes pushed out by the IT department through SCCM.
- Device Compliance: Users can check the compliance status of their devices with organisational policies and take necessary actions to remediate non-compliant issues.
- Device Management: Software Center provides users with information about their managed devices, such as hardware and software inventory details.

Overall, Software Center streamlines software deployment and management tasks for end users and IT administrators within an organisation that utilises SCCM to manage software and devices.

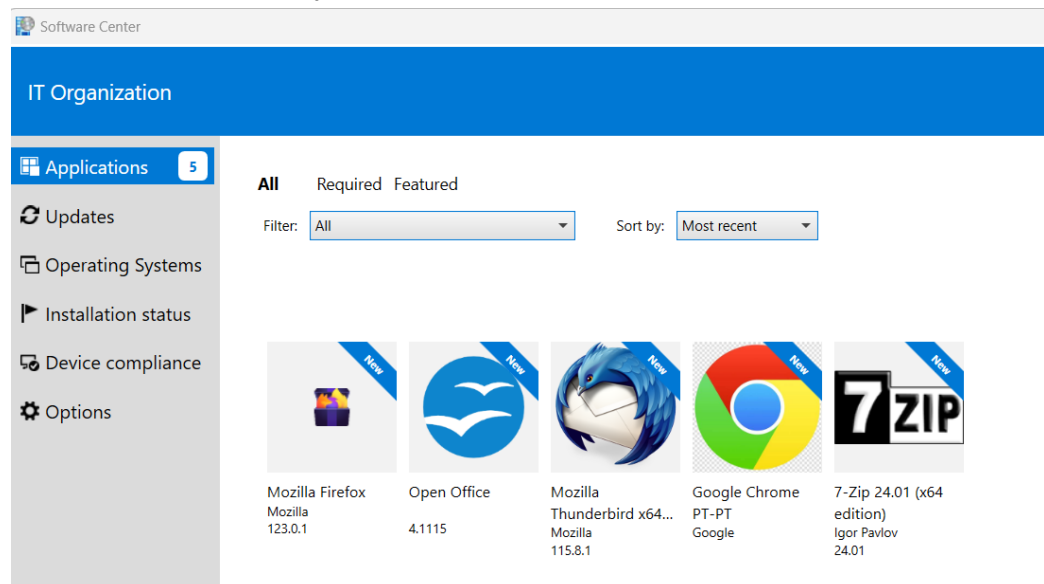

Note that this is a key software only available on the CAMPUS computers. The list and software installation are only available from the CIBIO/BIOPOLIS Network (CAMPUS/VPN)
