

Matt Minahan, Ed. D.

For more than 40 years, Matt has been a manager, leader, and consultant to large organizations embarking on change programs. He works with leaders and senior executive teams who want to create exciting new futures, develop new business strategies, address new business challenges, and achieve great results.

In his 20+ years as an NTL member, Matt has served on the Board of Trustees, the Membership Committee, the Member Learning and Engagement Committee, several marketing and branding committees, and is currently Co-Steward of the Core Labs Steering Committee, which manages NTL's portfolio of Human Interaction Labs.

Matt earned his doctorate from The George Washington University in Organization and Human Development, where his research focused on group decision making, and teaches in master's and doctoral programs.

He is a long-time member of the Organization Development Network, serving on the Board of Trustees from 2009-2016, including as its vice chair, co-chair, and chair. He has been honored as an Emeritus member of NTL and by the Organization Development Network with its Lifetime Achievement, Service to the Network, and Outstanding Article in the OD Practitioner Awards. He was acknowledged for Exemplary Service by the Chesapeake Bay OD Network, and in Recognition for Contributions to the Field of OD by Benedictine University.