

MISSIONAL COACHING PROCESS

Coaching is an integral part of Cultivate. You will be placed in a triad coaching group. The triad group includes you, another WIML participant, and your coach. The sessions are approximately 90 minutes long, but it is recommended that you budget for 2 hours. Five of your sessions will take place before the Summit, and one will be scheduled after the Summit.

Your Missional Coaching sessions will begin after the January 27th meeting. On this call, you will be introduced to your coach and your triad partner. Your coach will reach out to you to schedule your first coaching appointment. At the end of each missional coaching session, your triad will set the next appointment.

Coaching is not counseling. See the chart below for a quick snapshot understanding.

You are required to complete the coaching agreement available at the provided link. This agreement should be completed before your first coaching session. Please note that, under this agreement, you are also granting express permission for your information request form to be shared with your coach.
