

BloxR

Before the Banwave, BloxR was a well-known figure across Robloxia. He gained recognition in Brick Battle tournaments and other competitions.

But with fame came arrogance, and his ego quickly grew.

BloxR was actually quite competitive; even going so far as to take part in hotdog eating contests, meeting various people along the way, including making a good friend of his:

Jimothy.

When the Banwave happened, BloxR found himself utterly alone. In search of shelter, he stumbled upon what used to be Chaos Canyon; now empty and desolate.

For the time being, he felt safe. That ended once a Hat fell from the sky with a sharp crash. Investigating the sound, BloxR discovered MrDoomBringer's own helmet.

He had heard rumors of scripts hidden within it, power, and of course, 1x1x1x1 having him as one of his henchmen.

Without hesitation, BloxR put the helmet on his head.

Once he did, a shock coursed through his body, cracking the top of his head. Desperate, he tore the helmet off and tossed it away; but the damage had already been done.

Unbeknownst to him, it was (obviously) an admin item, which'll ban you if it's in your inventory. But being quick to take it off, he only gets partially banned. Once that happens, a Spirit starts to slowly take over his body from the inside, feeding on the unintentional fear inflicted by BloxR himself.

Days prior to the helmet encounter, BloxR had managed to send word to a nearby group of survivors, requesting to be rescued from the canyon.

With Builderman missing from Robloxia at the time (occupied in Roblox Grand Melee), the group sent one to the canyon to find and bring back BloxR. It just happened to be Jimothy.

When Jimothy finally reached the canyon, a cold breeze flowed through the air.

Stumbling across BloxR sitting alone on a cliff, Jimothy approaches him, almost recognizing his old friend...

Throughout the song "Kafkaesque", Jimothy's fear grows, and that fear fuels BloxR's transformation.

Jimothy is terrified, seeing BloxR crack, the Spirit breaking its way out.

But BloxR's spirit makes him see something much different, similarly to Pyrovision.

In his mind, he is offering Jimothy a hug. In reality, he's doing something much more sinister.

After the song ends, Jimothy is dead. BloxR, having no one to fear him, transforms back albeit painfully. Observing what he has done, he stops to grieve, knowing that he has murdered his own friend. Grabbing Jimothy's visor, he flees Chaos Canyon.

A survivor investigates Jimothy's disappearance, and after finding out; quickly runs back to notify the group. They form the Roblox Spirit Killers, hoping to restore Robloxia to the peaceful, friendly community it once was.

BloxR, trying his best to live, wanders Robloxia. Trying to seek refuge, he takes rest within Sunset Plains.

Though, not long after, an RSK member had been searching for supplies, and also stumbled upon Sunset Plains...