

Copy to Blog

Blame the Editor (the thing you type into)

For many of the old time WordPress bloggers I heard the *ing and moaning about the block editor. The tool becomes the reason you cannot blog?

I HATE THE BLOCK EDITOR! GIVE ME THE CLASSIC!

Indeed I have found the change to the Block editor did take time, but it was really practice. But that was years ago when I was calling it the Gutenberg. And there's a lot that can be distracting and get in the way, but really, what are the things you need to write?

- Paragraphs
- Links
- Images

It's not that hard.

Just do all your writing in the Classic Block. You have everything you need there. The editor is just a means to spit HTML as a post.

You want the classic editor? Just use the Classic Block. Type an entire post in it.
How is this a block to blogging? |

And if that is really too hard, try what I did for this section! I wrote it all in Google Docs, did Command-A, Command-C, then back to the dreaded horrible block editor, and Command-V.

I do not buy the “editor” as in the thing you type into as a significant block, it's the editor in the Pogo problem style.