Dear State FFA Officer Candidate,

Congratulations on reaching this point in your FFA career! I appreciate your dedication to FFA and your desire to serve the members of the Alaska FFA Association. This document contains all additional information necessary to apply for a position as an Alaska FFA State Officer! Please review the application closely – not only to fully complete the application, but also to understand the expectations and responsibilities of a state officer. The position of State Office is an honor that the members and I expect you to take very seriously. The role of a state officer is rigorous and extensive. As a state officer, you will be expected to execute the State FFA Program of Activities (including conducting District Leadership Conferences; advocating for agriculture, FFA, and agricultural education; working closely with stakeholders and sponsors; attending leadership training & planning meetings; and planning and executing the Alaska FFA State Convention) and receive the proper training to accomplish such tasks. State officers build and maintain close relationships with FFA members across Alaska, and help inspire, motivate, and educate them to participate in FFA and agricultural & natural resource education programs that will further their potential in premier leadership, personal growth, and career success. State officers will also be expected to, always, be a positive image for Alaska FFA and as a leader among American youth. On a more regular basis, state officers will be expected to respond to and participate in messaging and emails with fellow State Officers and State advisors. In addition, there will be frequent teleconferences state officers will be required to attend. We also encourage the State officers to assist in fundraising conducted by the association. The role of a state officer is not just work but has many benefits. It leaves an individual with inseparable friendships, skills important for the rest of your life, and experiences you can't find anywhere else. If you have any questions about the role and expectations of a State Officer, please do not be afraid to contact the Alaska FFA State Association.

I hope to see you soon!

Best wishes,

Taylor Nelson
