```
<stroke color="#990000" thickness="6" transparency="0.20"
joins="round"><font
weight="Medium">TEMPLATE</stroke>
```

How to change colour?

You use hex colour codes to change the colour.

Example : I want the `orange` candy.

OR

Example: I want the `orange` candy.

I would suggest using THIS to find colours to work well together or you can use it to find any colours you want.

How to change thickness?

You just change the number in the `thickness="6"` to a higher or lower number. Depending on what you want.

How to change transparency?

You just change the number in the `transparency="0.20"` to a higher or lower number. Depending on what you want.

How to change joins? | What is joins for?

`joins`

Sets the corner style. Can be set to `round`, `bevel`, or `miter`.

How to change font?

There is a list of font HERE

All you want to look for is the name of the font and the weight of the font you want. In the list it shows the available weights the font has.

In the template for example we have:

```

```

So if you wanted to change that you would do this for example:

```

```

As you can see I picked Banger font from the list and it only has one font weight Regular.

You may notice some fonts don't have a lot of weights so pay attention to that when picking fonts that you want.
