

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Taktiful and Harris & Bruno Bring “Out of This World” Embellishments Kit to Life with Live Unboxing on Taktisphere

Award-winning designs from Dscoop to be revealed in an interactive session showcasing the power of HP Indigo and ZRX embellishment technology

Melbourne, FL — April 10th, 2026 — Taktiful Software Solutions, in collaboration with Harris & Bruno International, today announced an upcoming Taktisphere Live event on Tuesday, April 14 at 1:00 PM EST, where the industry will get an exclusive live unboxing and guided walkthrough of the “Out of This World Embellishments” sample kit, first unveiled at Dscoop.

Following its debut at DSCOOP Edge Rockies, the complete kit will now be opened and explored live on Taktisphere, giving the global print and design community an in-depth look at the award-winning pieces created through a collaborative design contest. The collection highlights what is possible when creative freedom meets advanced production technology, combining HP Indigo print with embellishment on the Harris & Bruno ZRX.

The session will be led by Paul Furse and Ryan Moskun from Harris & Bruno, who will guide the attendees through each piece in the kit, sharing insights into how the effects were achieved and what makes them stand out. Kevin Abergel and Eric Vessels of Taktiful will host the live experience, unboxing the samples in real time alongside the audience.

“This is where you really start to see what happens when design and technology actually meet,” said Kevin Abergel. “These pieces weren’t created in a vacuum. They came out of a challenge to push limits, and the results speak for themselves. It’s one thing to talk about embellishment. It’s another to see it executed at this level.”

The sample kit is the result of a multi-organization collaboration between Taktiful, Harris & Bruno, Dscoop, and HP, bringing together students, professional designers, and independent creatives. Participants were given access to next-generation embellishment capabilities and encouraged to explore bold, unconventional applications. The resulting pieces feature a range of techniques including tactile spot coating, patent pending xMatte effects, sculpted foil applications, and layered embellishment strategies.

The live unboxing is designed to go beyond a traditional product showcase. Attendees will gain practical insights into how embellishment can be used intentionally within design, along with a clearer understanding of how these effects are produced in real-world environments.

“We’re not just opening a box,” Abergel added. “We’re unpacking ideas. The goal is for people to walk away thinking differently about what they can create.”

The interactive format of Taktisphere Live allows participants to engage directly with the hosts, ask questions, and examine each piece as it is revealed. The session is expected to draw printers, designers, brands, OEMs, and industry professionals looking to better understand the evolving role of embellishment in print.

Event Details:

Taktisphere Live: “Out of This World” Embellishments Unboxing

Hosted by Taktiful and Harris & Bruno International

Live on Taktisphere

For more information and to register, visit

<https://taktisphere.com/c/taktisphere-live/an-out-of-this-world-unboxing-event>

About Taktiful

Taktiful is the world’s leading digital embellishment consultancy, dedicated to transforming printers, manufacturers, and brands through the unmatched power of #SexyPrint. By combining expert consulting, tailored training, and innovative software development, we empower clients to elevate their embellishment workflows, boost their marketing impact, and increase sales with stunning sensory print. Headquartered in Melbourne, Florida, with a global reach spanning North America, LATAM, and APAC, Taktiful merges deep industry expertise with practical strategies, turning captivating print enhancements into profitable opportunities. Discover how Taktiful makes sensory print seriously successful at www.taktiful.com.

About Harris & Bruno International

Harris & Bruno International is a leading global manufacturer of advanced coating, inking, and digital embellishment systems for the printing, packaging, and coating industries. Founded in 1948, the company is renowned for its high-quality, vertically integrated engineering, offering automated solutions like the ExcelCoat equipment series, circulators, and chamber-anilox systems and rolls.

Contact:

Eric Vessels – Chief Experience Officer, Taktiful

 eric@taktiful.com |  (740) 417-3333

www.taktiful.com