

Advanced Consciousness-based Healing Techniques Course 2019

Whether we are in the healing professions or are interested in our own personal growth and development, a point comes when we realize that we must learn to heal ourselves first. In order to this, we must become adept at working with energy and consciousness to promote self healing and through this be able to assist others in healing as well. For this reason, New World Ayurveda School is offering the Advanced Consciousness-based Healing Techniques Course, a 12-week immersion in energetic and consciousness-based healing techniques for both self healing and assisting others to heal. Energy healing has become one of the most popular modalities in the alternative medicine field. The next level in energetic healing incorporates deep meditation and subtle consciousness techniques. These cutting-edge inner technologies are being made available through New World Ayurveda School.

This course incorporates both techniques that can assist others and self-healing techniques. The course emphasizes self development — developing our ability to hold more light and consciousness. This leads to developing the greatest healing power, healing energetically and coming more into a state of balance and clarity so that one can be of greatest service in the world. To facilitate this, each class offers a consciousness-based healing technique, a self-healing technique, as well as the principles behind how the techniques work. The course also includes weekly group consciousness mentoring (coaching) with Dr. Dugliss to maximum personal growth and development through the course.
